LAUREL RESIDENT PUTS ACADEMICS TO WORK

MISSOULA –

Laurel resident Henry Daniel Philhower, a senior majoring in accounting at The University of Montana, put academics to work in a summer-semester internship offered through UM's Center for Work-Based Learning.

As office manager for Evergreen Health Care and Rehabilitation Center in Missoula, Philhower was responsible for business transactions, payroll and marketing for the facility. Philhower is a 1998 graduate of Laurel High School. His parents are Jerry L. and Atha Philhower of Laurel.

UM's Center for Work-Based Learning's internship program provides opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students to integrate academic theories and principles with practical job experience related to their chosen fields. The program serves about 1,800 students each year, placing 400 to 500 of them as interns throughout Montana, the United States and overseas in more than 35 fields of employment.
