GARDNERVILLE RESIDENT PUTS ACADEMICS TO WORK IN MONTANA

MISSOULA -

Brian Sundeen, a University of Montana senior from Gardnerville, put academics to work in a summer-semester internship offered through UM's Center for Work-Based Learning.

A recreation management major, Sundeen worked as a park management intern with the Montana Department of Fish, Wildlife and Parks in Missoula, where he was in charge of coordinating and promoting the agency's summer interpretive programs.

Sundeen is a 1998 graduate of Douglas High School. His parents are John and Laurie Sundeen of Gardnerville.

UM's Center for Work-Based Learning's internship program provides opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students to integrate academic theories and principles with practical job experience related to their chosen fields. The program serves about 1,800 students each year, placing 400 to 500 of them as interns throughout Montana, the United States and overseas in more than 35 fields of employment.
