CRONYN ANNOUNCES CAST OF MASQUERS' FALL PLAY

Will Present "Fashion," Five Act Farce, Late in November.

The cast for "Fashion," the five-act farce to be presented by the Masquers, under the direction of Professor George W. Cronyn, the latter part of November at the Wilma theater, has been announced by Mr. Cronyn.

Mary Fleming will take the part of Mrs. Tiffany, who imagines herself fashionable; Jay McCarthy, Mr. Tiffany, a New York merchant; Edwin Buck, Adam Truman; Katherine Roach, Prudence, a maiden lady of a certain age; D'Arcy Dahlberg, T. Tennyson Twinkle, a modern poet; Edward Holman, County Jolimaire, a fashionable European importation; Ronnie McDonnell, Captain Howard, an officer in the United States army; Martin Hudloff, Augustus Fogg, a drawing-room appendage; Howard Dossett, Snobson, a rare species of confidential clerk; Roger Fleming, Zeke, a colored servant; Dorothy Dall, Millette, a French maid; Maureen Desmond, Gertrude, a governess; Margaret Maddock, Seraphina Tiffany, a belle.

Mr. Cronyn was very much pleased with the work of the cast in the first rehearsal. The definite date for the presentation has not been set yet and it might be moved up from November 28 to November 21. This will give the cast only four weeks for rehearsals.

Costumes to Be Made Here.

Members of the producing staff have already started the work of designing the costumes for the production. The costumes will be made up in Missoula, thus eliminating the extra expense which the Masquers have incurred in the past by renting them from Seattle or Chicago. Mr. Cronyn intends to preserve the costumes used in each production and in that manner build up a wardrobe of costumes which can be used in costume future productions.

Meredith Stage Manager.

Claude L. Meredith, a senior in the law school, has been appointed stage manager by Mr. Cronyn. Meredith has had a great deal of experience along this line and will be of a great deal of assistance to the Masquers.

The Physics department plans to start the actual construction of the station very soon. It will occupy a part of Simpkins hall. FRESHMEN TEAM TO TANGLE WITH HELENA SAINTS

WILL BE FIRST REAL CONTEST FOR CUBS.

Yearlings Will Play Team That Lost to Varsity; Hard Battle Promised for Cummings' Charges.

The Grizzly Cub football team leaves in the morning at 8 o'clock for Helena, where they will meet Mount St. Charles college tomorrow afternoon. It will be the first game of the season for the charges of Cap Cummings and Tom McGowan, and it will be a tough one. The Saints have been seen in action at Dornblaser field this season. Click Clark's crew defeating them 41-7, in the opening game of the season here two weeks ago Saturday, after the Saints had led 7-0 at the end of the first half.

The game with the Saints was scheduled after Montana State and other local colleges had called off their games with Coach Red Maher's men, when the Saints insisted on playing Dibbs Mitchell, all-star half-back last year, and Murphy, despite the protests of the other state schools over the eligibility of these men.

Coach Cummings and Assistant Coach McGowan will take a squad of 16 or 17 men to the Capital city for tomorrow's battle. The following men will make the trip: Converse, Streit, Mains, Colby, Ronglin, Virhus, McLaughlin, Brittenham, Ted Hodges, Meagher, Bessey, Carson, Schults, Kain, Smith and Burns. One or two others who have not been selected yet will be taken.

With the exception of scrimmages with the Varsity and a scrimmage with Missoula high, the Cubs' practice has been confined to evening workouts in signal practice, and the fundamentals, with occasional scrimmages between two Cub squads. Although the team is not one of stars, Coaches Cummings and McGowan have some steady and reliable material. Injuries have handicapped the Cubs in recent workouts.

The Cubs have two more games on their schedule at present, tangling with the Washington State college Cougar Kittens here October 25, and meeting the Idaho frosh at Moscow the following week.

Although no definite lineups have been announced the two teams probably will take the field like this:

Cubs	Saints
McLaughlin	Tieran
Ronglin	Center
Meagher	Right guard
Brittenham	Right tackle
Ted Hodges	Right end
Schults	Quarterback
Kain	Fullback
Bessey or Burns	Left half
	Right half

AWS SETS DATE FOR COED PROM

Appoint Martha Reichle to Manage Annual Party for Women Only.

The executive board of AWS appointed Martha Reichle manager of the Co-Ed Prom, the women's annual frolic, at a meeting held in Main hall Tuesday afternoon. The tentative date for the affair has been set for November 1.

The various committees which have been appointed are: Invitations, Helen Graff, chairman, and Maureen Desmond; refreshments—Ellen Garvin, chairman; Myrtle Shaw, Helen Chaffin, Winnifred Baptiste, Miriam Wayman, Helena Wright, Betty Peterson, Julia Ziebarth; music and stunts—Katherine Roach, chairman; Lucille Rector, Eleanor Stephenson, Henrietta Wilhelm; and floor—Mary Angland, chairman; Susan Fenn and Stella Skulason.

"We want every organization and each of the dormitories to put on a stunts," said Martha Reichle. "A time limit of ten minutes for each stunt has been set and we ask the various groups to time their acts accordingly."

The dance probably will be held in the men's gymnasium. The various committees will meet the first of the week in order to make definite arrangements.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE DOES BIG BUSINESS

The student employment bureau has issued a report for the three weeks elapsing from the beginning of school until October 12. Practically no employment was handled through this office from the end of the summer quarter until the opening of school.

According to the report, 87 students have made application for work since the opening of the fall quarter. They include 48 freshmen, 20 sophomores, 13 juniors, four seniors, one graduate student, and one special student. Twenty students now are employed regularly. Fifty-two employers are offering work and 101 jobs have been offered and filled. Two jobs have been offered that could not be filled.

More freshmen apply for work than upperclassmen and the majority of men getting jobs through the bureau are in their first year at the University. The steady jobs are mostly working for board and room, working in restaurants, and delivering for groceries and dairies. Most of the odd jobs are for digging potatoes, picking apples, and housecleaning. The average pay for such work runs from 40 to 50 cents an hour.

Post cards have been sent out by the bureau to prospective employers in Missoula, asking them to call the employment secretary when they need help. Ads have also been run in the Missoulian and Sentinel. The bureau feels that these have been fully justified since they have brought good returns.

Skeels Is Speaker at Forestry Meet

Professor Dorr Skeels was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Forestry club held Wednesday evening in the Forestry school library. Eighty men were present at the meeting. Other talks were given by freshmen members of the club. After the talks cider and hot dogs were served.

Changes in Montana Line Expected to Help Against Coast Team

Coaches Click Clark and J. W. Stewart and a squad of 22 men left yesterday morning at 10:35 on the Northern Pacific for Seattle, where the Grizzlies will meet Enoch Bagshaw's University of Washington Huskies tomorrow afternoon. A fairly large crowd of students and townspeople were at the station to give the team a good send-off. Immediately before the departure of the train Yell King Chuck Keim led the students in a series of snappy yells. The Varsity will return at 5:50 Sunday evening via the Northern Pacific, and a large crowd is expected to welcome them.

Washington Powerful

A report from Washington received yesterday says that Captain Ed Kuhn, big tackle, and the Huskies' sensational halfback Wilson, will not be able to play in tomorrow's contest because of injuries. The Huskies have won two conference games this season, securing their first triumph over Willamette by the score of 57-0, and defeating Whitman last Saturday by the count of 55-0. The Grizzlies were the first team to score on Washington last year, and they have the same opportunity again tomorrow, and it is not a bad bet that Montana will be the first conference team to score on the Huskies two years in succession.

The Huskies will have such stars in their lineup as Tesereau, fullback; Dabo, end; Shidler, halfback; Walters, center, and Cole, left end, and others of less reputation.

Grizzly Line Changed

Coach Clark expects to make some changes in the line for tomorrow's struggle. It is probable that Cammie Meagher will return to his old position at tackle, after playing end in the St. Charles and Idaho games. Ritter or Thompson may take the wing position vacated by Meagher, and big John Shaffer will probably be used at guard, with Bennie Plummer at center and George Axtel at the other guard. Oscar Dahlberg will guard the other wing position, and Wee Maudlin the other tackle job. The backfield probably will be the same that started against the Vandals, with Kelly at quarter, Ilman at full, and Sweet, Silvernale, and Sgrue ready to take care of the halfback jobs, with probably the first two starting.

Besides the two coaches, Doc Schreiber, University physical director, and Archie Blair, student football manager, the following men made the trip: Grant Silvernale (captain), Bill Kelly, Russell Sweet, Ted Ilman, Pat Sgrue, Jimmy Powell, Milton Ritter, Warren Maudlin, George Axtel, Ben Plummer, John Shaffer, Cammie Meagher, Oscar Dahlberg, A. C. Borel, Claude Fletcher, Andy Cogswell, Carl Martinson, Steiner Larson, L. Thompson, Howard Varney, Hungry Griffin, and H. Murray. Danta Hanson, whose ankle was sprained in the Idaho game, did not accompany the team.

The Grizzlies went through light practice for the most part during the week, although scrimmage with the evening squad was held Tuesday night. Clark has been giving every member of the squad a chance to show his stuff, and many of the second string men were used in Tuesday's workout with the yearlings. If the new line combination works well, the Huskies will be given a stiff struggle tomorrow, and may even be due for a big surprise.

Neither coach has announced a regular lineup for the fracas, but the two teams probably will line up something like this:

Montana	Washington
Plummer	Center
Axtel	Right guard
Maudlin	Right tackle
Ritter	Right end
Kelly	Quarter
Ilman	Fullback
Sweet	Right half

We Come to Bury--

WE might expound at great length on the recent communication by Mr. Carstens, famed last year as the correspondent in the "Who Is Mr. Carstens?" case, but next Tuesday afternoon there will be a general convocation for the benefit of Carstens et al and for the redress of grievances. We hope that all students who do any thinking on the subjects presented by Mr. Carstens, pro and con, will attend and present their views. Otherwise our columns will be flooded by Vox Populi, Old Subscriber and Constant Reader.

Consideration

S. O. S. was marred the other night by the sound of music. A startling statement in view of the harsh criticism that has been thrown at our finest tradition, but true. The practice of the orchestra interfered with the speaking and detracted the attention of the students. Let us hope that at the next S. O. S. more consideration will be shown for the student group by our musically inclined friends. There is a place for everything and the brief half-hour devoted to S. O. S. should be given up to that function and students in the orchestra permitted to attend S. O. S.

Ten Years Ago

The ASUM hop Friday evening in the gymnasium opens up the official dancing season at the University. These dances are given partly for the spirit of get-together among the students and partly to swell the finances of the ASUM. The charge for admission will be 50 cents.

The Grizzly football team left last night for Moscow where they will face the husky eleven of the University of Idaho Saturday. The Idaho team is heavier than Montana, which has not yet been scored against, but the team with the exception of "Belgian" Daems, whose leg is still bad, is in excellent condition and the Grizzlies are confident that with their fight and the support of the student body that they will return victorious.

The new building for the Forestry school has been assured and new students are constantly entering the school. Dorr Skeels is the dean of the new school.

F. D. Brown, old-time Montana settler, spoke to the students at the regular weekly convocation Wednesday morning. Mr. Brown spoke on the value of a college education to a young man entering upon the threshold of life and asserted that the educated man had been the one who had always reached the front in Montana's history. Mr. Brown cited an instance of where the state legislature had appropriated $125,000 to keep up the state game warden's office and told the students that it was almost next to impossible to get the law makers to turn free even $100,000 annually for the upkeep of the training places of the coming citizens.

The University cafeteria at Craig hall opened Wednesday, serving lunch for 10 cents. The cafeteria will be open from 12 to 1 o'clock and nothing but the best of food will be served. Grace Sauer, a graduate of the University last year, is teaching the little aborigines' minds the rudiments of civilization. Miss Sauer is teaching at St. Ignatius. She is a frequent campus visitor, spending most of her week ends visiting friends here.

Walter Small of Butte and Barney Childs of Great Falls, former University students, spent last week-end visiting at the Sigma Chi house.

Iota Nu's were hosts at a smoker held at the house Saturday evening. The hours were spent informally and late in the evening a buffet supper was served.

The Delta Gamma girls were hostesses at a dinner party at the Bitter Root Inn Saturday. The girls left in automobiles about 4 o'clock and returned in the evening. An elaborate dinner was served after which the girls enjoyed dancing.

The Sigma Chi men were hosts at a dancing party at the Elks' temple Friday evening. After several hours of enjoyable dancing the party adjourned to the fraternity house where a delicious supper was served.

The Kappa Alpha Theta girls were hostesses at a delightful fireside party on Saturday evening. Music and marshmallow toasting were enjoyed and delicious refreshments were served.

The girls at Craig hall will be at home to University people on Saturday evening between the hours of 8 and 10.

The women's suffrage movement is attracting the attention of the entire student body and faculty. At the meeting of the University of Montana Forensic club Monday evening May and Baird proved to the satisfaction of a slight majority of the persons present, that the proposition to give the women of Montana the suffrage is very foolish and unwise. Three other debaters, Horst, Lester, and McMenome, composed the affirmative team.

MISSOULA MERCANTILE COMPANY

For Young Men
There is nothing like a
STETSON

MOST young men today know the importance of looking fit. Good appearance counts much in the game of life. The young man who dresses with taste has a decided advantage.

But—it is surprising how little thought the average man gives to his hat. It is his crown, yet he seems to stop dressing at the neck.

Be careful in your selection of your headwear. When you buy a hat, select a Stetson. Its style is right, its quality means long wear.

Finest, But Still Popular

That Will Be a Revelation to the Women of Western Montana

We have contemplated this for a long time. We have personally consulted and communicated for months with one of the largest and wealthiest and most successful ready-to-wear concerns in this country about this undertaking. We have jointly taken a census, compiled the same and obtained data of the possible women customers we could reach here in western Montana that are not buying their clothes in Missoula but with usual buying inducements these women would be coming to Missoula. Thus creating a volume of business absolutely necessary to conduct this close margin, short profit, quick turnover, big town merchandising method.

Remember

That the same high grade merchandise this store has had the reputation of selling in the past will still be sold in the future. The only difference will be the price.

Our Cash Discounts Many Times Will Be Our Largest Profit

We have associated with one of the largest wholesale ready-to-wear houses in New York City. Also one of the best buying agencies and with our more frequent personal buying trips to New York, we will show the women of western Montana values in Coats, Suits, Dresses and Hats which their minds never dreamed of before.

That Right Now Exists in Front of Your Eyes Knocking at Your Doors

We were going to launch this new business method next spring, but there has been such a large demand for good merchandise at popular prices this fall that here are the results.

ASA WILLARD HOLDS RECORD AS SPECTATOR

HAS NOT MISSED A GAME FOR TWENTY YEARS

Picks All-Time All-Star Montana Team; Believes This Outfit Could Cope With Best of Them.

Dr. Asa Willard probably holds the record for attendance at Varsity football games. He has not missed a game for 21 years. At some of the games he has spent part of the time behind the bleachers patching up battered warriors, but he has always been on hand.

Speaking of the first Montana game he ever saw, Dr. Willard said: "It was an Aggie game in 1904. Prior to that time the Aggies had been scuffling the University rather frequently, and that fall they came over with a large bunch of rooters to duplicate the previous performances. In the first kick-off Holmes of Montana caught the ball and ran the full length of the field for a touchdown. The final score was Montana 70, Aggies 0."

Dr. Willard gave, off-hand and without considering present players, what he would consider to be an "all-time, all-star Montana eleven": Ends, Click Clark and Bob Carey; tackles, Paul Dornblaser and Sam Cook; guards, Chris Bentz and Tiny Keeran; center, Paul Freeman; quarterback, Ribs Robertson; halfbacks, Bill Burris and Sandy Sanderson; fullback, Bill Ittner; with Earl Barry around to pass and Steve Sullivan, Punk Owsley, Emmett Ryan, Arthur Bishop, Belgian Dams, and Jack Layton to call upon. "As an offensive machine I doubt if any university in the country could produce an all-time eleven to surpass this one," said Dr. Willard. "I have put some of the players in positions which they did not play in school, but I think they could be used effectively where I have placed them."

"Click Clark was the best all-around end ever in school. Bob Carey played quarter about 1904 and five and was one of the fastest runners ever at the University. Paul Dornblaser, for whom the field is named, weighed about 200 pounds and opposing teams were not in the habit of putting any plays on his side of the line. I think it is no detraction from the others to say that he was the most popular player, and I think the most popular student ever at the University."

"I sat on the bench with the Syracuse coach when Sam Cook was playing. One of the players said, 'I'd a lot rather have him with us than against us.' Chris Bentz played tackle, too. If he wasn't tackled below the knees it didn't make any difference to big Chris whether there was one or eleven of the opposing team hanging to him. He proceeded just the same, and when the play was over he used to lift up a few of the fallen opposition. Tiny Keeran played guard in the Syracuse game. He weighed about 225. Freeman was the headiest center I ever saw play. He wasn't large, but no quarter ever outplayed him. Ribs Robertson played in the Syracuse game also. That was in 1915. He was fast and strong. Bill Burris was here but one season. He was a veritable battering ram. Sandy Sanderson, after his University days, starred in the Army games. Bill Otter played in 1910. He was fast and powerful and seldom failed to gain."

"There are two men on the present Varsity team who, if they live up to present promise would improve the above team and usurp a couple of positions."

"We have had all classes and types of players from Shorty Corbin, who used to double up into a ball and roll down the field, to Spud Murphy of many years ago, who played with an iron hook for one hand which he had lost."

Dr. Willard says that he has met ex-football boys all over the country and had letters from many of them. He thinks that as a class they have done and are doing their life's work in a square, dependable way and some of them have done outstanding service.

ROTC HAS ADOPTED SYSTEM OF DEMERITS

Grades in the Military department will be based upon the demerit system during this year, according to an announcement made by Major Smith yesterday. A list of those men who have demerits has been posted on the bulletin board in ROTC headquarters. Cadets are requested to watch this board.

Kenneth Rorback, Ph. G. '24, who has been employed by the Budd-Fisher Drug company of Helena for the past year, is now working for the Pachen Drug company of that city. This company now employs four graduates of the pharmacy school.

M'KOWN EMPLOYED ON HAWAIIAN PAPER

Nat McKown, '24, is working on The Maui News of Kailuku, Hawaii.

In a letter to Dean A. L. Stone of the School of Journalism he tells of some of his experiences in the islands. The letter reads: "Bill (Aho) and I docked at Honolulu about 9:30 on the evening of the 19th of July with the moonlight flooding the harbor and the fragrance of the ginger leis wafted out to us from the dock. George Armitage met us with 'Where are those Montana boys?' which made the prickles chase up and down my spine. We were decked with leis and then whisked up to George's home far above the city. That first night was beautiful and I shall never forget it. There have been many since then but none have the thrill of the first one. The novelty has worn off a bit; however, not enough so that I am discontented with the 'Paradise of the Pacific.'"

"I came to Maui on July 28. The Maui News is only a semi-weekly, but I am getting that old stuff called 'experience.' As you know, on a small town semi-weekly one gets all the jobs. When I arrived to take the job I was told my part in the scheme of things was to promote sports and write advertising. The first baseball game I covered, I drove 22 miles to the grounds and was so confused with the mixture of Japanese, Hawaiian, Chinese and Portuguese names that my story was anything but vivid. However, I have overcome that and can talk pidgin English with the best of them now. So far I have run across two bloody murders perpetrated by jealous Filipinos. They are the worst class the islands have to offer."

"Cogsell has made the grade with the Hawaiian Tourist Bureau as I got word of his appointment about a week ago. Already he has started sending publicity to the News and I'm sure he likes the job there. I think that by Christmas time I will have had enough of the complacency of Maui and will head for Honolulu and perhaps the Orient."

"The news I get from Montana is sometimes pretty old, but down here where we are isolated from the mainland by at least six days by fast steamer it all seems good to hear. By now the gang ought to be getting into shape for the coming season. Believe me, Montana has some ardent backers in the islands. Bill and I have laid a few iron men on the Grizzlies and I'm sure we won't be disappointed. But as an additional source of news I would like my name entered on the Kaimin mailing list."

"My aloha to the school."

"Sincerely,"

"Nat McKown."

Sport Sparks

Montana's last victory over the University of Washington came in 1920, when Bernie Bierman's Grizzlies downed the Huskies to the count of 18-14. Scores of other games in recent years follow: 1921, Montana 7, Washington 28; 1922, Montana 0, Washington 26, and in 1923 Montana 14, Washington 26. In the last game the Grizzlies journeyed to Seattle picked to lose by a big margin. In fact it was thought that Montana was hopelessly outclassed, but the small, game, Grizzly eleven put up the fight of its life, and with an even break might have defeated the Husky.

Leo Spogen, '21, letterman in track, is a Missoula visitor. Spogen coached and taught at the Roundup high school last year. During the past summer he visited San Francisco and several coast cities. Spogen tied Irving of Idaho in the broad jump in the dual meet between Idaho and Montana in 1921, thereby knotting the total points made by both teams, and Montana took the meet when the Grizzly relay team defeated the Vandal relay team. He also took first in the broad jump against the Aggies that year with a leap of 21 feet.

Grizzly football warriors enroute to Seattle to meet the Huskies tomorrow had the company of two of baseball's most prominent players as far as Spokane. George Herman (Babe) Ruth, home run king and best drawing card in sport, and Bob Meusel, Yankee outfielder and teammate of Ruth, were passengers on Northern Pacific train No. 1, which the Grizzlies boarded yesterday morning at 10:35.

The big Yankee slugger and Meusel are on a barnstorming tour of the Northwest and the Pacific coast, where they will play with various professional and semi-pro clubs, their first stop being Spokane. They will also play at Seattle and several of the larger coast towns.

Ruth was kept well-occupied in the ten minute stop the train made here. The home run king and the departing football team were the center of attraction of a large crowd of University students and townspeople. The big fellow autographed tickets to the Liberty theater for Saturday's play by wire account of the Grizzly-Husky football game, and was introduced to Click Clark and

Jim Stewart, Montana coaches; Grant Silvernale, Varsity captain; Hugh Campbell, of the Independent Oil company, Owen Kelly, and other sport enthusiasts. He also autographed a ball, which had former president Woodrow Wilson's autograph, for one of the local fans.

When told the University team was leaving to play Washington at Seattle, Ruth stated that he had once wanted to play football, but that he had never had the opportunity. The "Sultan of Swat" is a heavily built, broad-shouldered fellow, with a mass of heavy black hair surmounting his jovial and rotund face.

Yell King Chuck Keim injected some pep into the Grizzly sendoff by leading several snappy Montana yells, the farewell to the team being one of the best had here in some time. And he it added the welcome should be about ten times as hearty as the sendoff, which means everyone be at the train Sunday night at 5:50.

Babe got most of the spotlight yesterday, in fact the crowd hardly noticed his teammate Meusel. However, Bob should be used to being ignored by now as he has been traveling with Ruth for some time. A University photographer got an action picture of Ruth, as the slugger took the bat and ball offered him and sent a high fly into a crowd of small boys waiting eagerly for the ball down the track a ways.

Handicapped by the loss of a few men within the past few weeks the Cubs have a tough tussle ahead of them when they meet the Saints, who have some mighty good men in Mitchell, halfback; Risteen, fullback, and Frank Brown, quarter, to say nothing of Tierman, a 190-pound end. However, the Cubs have been facing a tougher team in the scrimmages with Click Clark's Grizzlies.

Two football games tomorrow, but both away from home, which means the best University students can do will be to attend the returns at the Liberty.

Oregon Agricultural College, Oct. 16.—A two term course in wireless telegraphy is offered by the department of physics this year. Wireless telegraphy and advanced wireless telegraph, both three credit courses, are to be offered in the fall and winter quarters respectively. At present there are but ten students enrolled in the class.

University of Denver, Oct. 16.—Inter-class rivalry at Denver University ended with the decisive defeat of the freshmen at the hands of the sophomores in the annual flag rush this year. The battle for the flag, in which two freshmen were knocked unconscious, has been accepted by the yearlings as final, and the freshmen will wear their green caps until the end of the year without official complaint.

The sophomore class president stated that if the freshmen are will-

University of Denver, Oct. 16.—Widespread popularity of the idea of dispensing with the good old Paris and Boston garter has led to a manifesto from students of Washburn University to the effect that this style is entirely proper for upper classmen in order to show worldliness and sophistication, but for the freshmen it should not be tolerated. There should be an official inspection by the upperclassmen and all freshmen found wanting in this element would be promptly and unceremoniously paddled.

University of Colorado, Oct. 10.—In order to raise sufficient funds for the Hawaiian football trip a parking space has been set aside for the Boosters Club for use at the games. A fee of twenty-five cents will be charged for each automobile. Plans have also been made by this club to raise $1,500 necessary for the trip by collections in the stands, the jitney dances in Varsity hall, and probably by the sale of cushions at the games.

University of Colorado, Oct. 17.—Green bandannas are being favored as the proper insignia for freshmen women at the University of Colorado, although nothing definite has been decided upon as yet. Suggestions range from green stockings to green caps.

At the University of Arizona first year girls are required to wear a wide green ribbon on one wrist until six o'clock. In several California schools green stockings are worn. The general feeling is that there should be some distinctive mark for freshmen women, although not too conspicuous or ridiculous.

Oregon Agricultural College, Oct. 16.—Students of the School of Forestry will make a trip to Portland the latter part of this month to attend the annual Pacific logging congress, scheduled for October 23 and 24. Dean's Faithful Pal Discontinues Trips to Montana Campus

Tam, Dean Stone's pal, friend of all students who know him, especially to those of the School of Journalism, and a familiar character on the campus for the past seven years, has had to discontinue his daily trips to the campus with the dean.

Tam, while riding on the running board of a car last spring, fell off as the car turned a corner, and broke a front leg. After a short time he was again trotting to and from the campus with the dean, but has had to stay at home all this quarter, as new complications set in.

It is hoped by all who know the dean and his pet, that he will recover. Tam will be greatly missed if he is forced to go on a long, long sleep.
