RINGING OF BELL TO START
ANNUAL VARSITY DAY SOON

Interclass Contests, Speeches, Dance to Feature Second Day in Honor of "M" Men

"Ringing of the bell at 8 A. M. some morning soon will be the announcement that Varsity day has dawned," said George (Jiggs) Dahlberg, manager of festivities, yesterday.

The program for the second Varsity day in the history of the University is as follows:

The bell in Main hall tower will ring continuously for five minutes at 7 o'clock to make known that Varsity day has arrived. The band will lead the assembled students to the bleachers, where Prexy Clapp will speak for a few minutes explaining Varsity day and its purpose. Immediately following the president's speech, there will be a presentation of "M" men to the student body. At 10 o'clock, Dr. M. J. Elrod will give a brief history of the University's first football team and its hardships and accomplishments. Following this talk, a history of and interesting incidents about different University football heroes will be given by different "old timers" on the campus. The noon hour will be observed regularly.

Athletics In Afternoon.

At 1:30 students will assemble on the bleachers for the athletic contests, which will continue until 4 P. M. These games will consist of a novel football game, a water fight, cage ball fight, shuttle race and relay race between the sophomore and freshman classes. Other new and different contests are being planned, according to Vivian (Crab) Corby, in charge of the athletic program.

Candidates for positions on the football teams should apply to members of the committee in charge at once, in order to be assured of a position in the line ups.

At 4 P. M. a yell practice in the bleachers will be conducted by Yell King Chuck Keim, while the Grizzly squad goes through its scrimmage practice.

Dancing from 8 o'clock until 10 o'clock at the new gymnasium will complete the day's program.

Varsity Replaces Sneak Day

Varsity day was created in 1923 to take the place of Sneak day, that was so long a tradition on the University campus. Varsity day is recognized by University officials as a legal holiday in honor of the University's letter men.

The committees in charge are: Jiggs Dahlberg, manager; Fred Martin, assistant manager; Einar Strommes and Marian Fitzpatrick, in charge of tales of Montana Alumni; Chuck Corby, athletic contests; Chuck Keim, cheers and songs; and Bert Williams, dancing.

CANDY PULL HELD
BY HOME EC CLUB

The Home Economics club held its first meeting of the year Wednesday evening in the foods laboratory of the Home Economics department. The meeting was in the form of a candy pull, at which the upper class majors entertained the freshmen majors, according to custom. Thirty-six attended.

Winifred Brennan, vice-president of the club, welcomed the girls and explained the purpose of the Home Economics club, its ideals and objectives. The second Wednesday evening in each month was selected for the regular meetings of the club. Plans for the coming year were discussed and suggestions will be presented at the next meeting.

The officers of the club are Jessie Taylor, president; Winifred Brennan, vice-president, and Mary Kimball, secretary and treasurer.

This club was one of the first University clubs in the country to affiliate with the National Home Economics association. It is also a member of the state association. At the present time there are only 41 clubs in the United States that are members of the national organization.

There are 39 students majoring in the department this year. Twelve of these are freshmen.

MONTANA'S CUBS
TO MEET W.S.C.
BABES SATURDAY

CAPT. CUMMINGS' TEAM HAS HARD GAME AHEAD

Coach Bohler's Youngsters Will Engage Grizzly Cubs in First Game on Home Field.

Football fans will witness the Montana Cubs in action on Dornblaser field Saturday afternoon, when Coach Cummings' proteges tangle with the Washington State frosh.

Roy Bohler, coach of the Washington Cougar babes, will bring a fast, heavy team over the mountains to meet strength with the light but fast Montana Cubs.

The young Cougars swamped Whitworth college last Friday in a one-sided game, 52-0. With Herbert Meeker, ex-Lewis and Clark high school star, directing the battle, the W. S. C. yearlings showed some brilliant football against Whitman. The aerial attack used by Bohler's youngsters was as effective as their line plunging and netted them many long gains.

Two years ago the W. S. C. frosh opened the freshman football relations with the Montana frosh on Dornblaser field by defeating the local frosh 40-0. Skipper Carney, midge cut quarterback, was the star of the game. The Grizzly Cubs journeyed to Pullman last year, where they handed their heavier opponents the short end of a 19-6 score. This year the Cougar Babes come to Montana primed to revenge the defeat of last year.

Frosh in Poor Shape.

Coach Cummings has met with more than usual tough luck this year by losing several of his best bets. Hansen and Carpenter, both of them weighing well over the 200 mark, are lost. The former has withdrawn from school, while Carpenter is nursing an injured knee. Whitcomb, the heavy tackle from Intermountain Union college, has been declared ineligible along with Bill Hodges, midge cut quarterback candidate. Gordon Squires, a likely contender for one of the guard positions is out for the rest of the season with the ligaments in his knee badly torn.

The W. S. C. line will average 184 pounds while the backfield will hit 165. The Montana backfield will be exceptionally light and the line will not average within 10 pounds of their opponents.

A general admission of 50 cents will be charged to all who attend the game as ASUM tickets do not cover freshman contests.

The probable lineups are:

Montana	W. S. C.
Ronglin	Exley
Meagher	Left end
Davenport	Left tackle
Dills	Center
DeVaux	Right guard
Rumberg	Right tackle
Mitchell	Right end
Meeker	Quarterback
Henry	Right halfback
Cox	Fullback

ASUM MEETING
HELD TUESDAYGid Boldt Explains ASUM
Constitution; Carstens
Receives Answers

A student convocation was held in the University auditorium Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock to discuss campus problems of interest to the students.

President Gid Boldt opened the meeting with an explanation of the ASUM constitution and the duties of the freshman bible. He announced that he wished students would express their views both in the Kaimin and at convocations.

Arthur Carstens, '26, requested information regarding the relation of ASUM disbursements for athletics to other student activities. In answer to his queries, Einar Strommes, ASUM manager, said, "The student body needs something to unite their interests and to promote harmony on the campus. It is student opinion that our interests and campus harmony are best promoted by athletics." He further explained that the state supports to some extent the activities referred to by Mr. Carstens, while athletics depend almost entirely upon the students for financial support.

A general discussion of the status of the Frontier as a student activity followed. The ASUM officers contended that the Frontier is self supporting and can not receive ASUM financial assistance without the sanction of the students. Carstens and D'Arcy Dahlberg explained the merits of the publication, and asked for ASUM support.

Argument blocked further action. Carstens was asked by Einar Strommes to present concrete arguments. Evan Reynolds, chief Grizzly of the Bear Paws, defended that organization against attacks made by Carstens. Further argument was prevented by Red Neill, '25, who said, "I have not been in favor of this convocation because some of the speakers have not prepared sufficiently to present their arguments. I believe that we have wasted a greater part of an hour." The supporters of the Frontier argument withdrew from the meeting. After taking a straw vote upon the presidential candidates, the convocation was adjourned.

Dahlberg and Meagher Will Not Start Game Because of Coast Injuries

The fourth game of the season in as many weeks for the Grizzly football team is slated for tomorrow afternoon with Charley MacAniff's Oregons at Clark park in Butte. A Varsity squad of 22 men accompanied by Coaches Clark and Stewart will leave tonight on the Milwaukee at 6:21 for the Mining City, which plays host to the Grizzlies for the second year in succession.

The Varsity has been going good in scrimmage this week, despite the mauling received in Seattle from the ponderous Husky eleven, and Coach Clark will be able to present his usual strong lineup with but one or two exceptions. All pre-game dope indicates that tomorrow's fray should not prove a very difficult barrier for the Grizzlies to surmount, as the Miners have lost both their games played so far this season by large scores, losing to the Utah Aggies by the score of 47-0, and to the College of Idaho by the count of 49-7.

Loss of nine of last year's lettermen has been the main cause of the mediocre showing of MacAniff's charges, who furnished the upset of the season in state football circles last year by defeating Ott Romney's crew 12 to 2, and losing only to the Grizzlies, who decisively defeated them 25-0 at Clark park last October. After getting away to a poor start, the Varsity launched a vicious attack in the second half, completely outplaying the Miners and making a total of 345 yards from scrimmage to the Miners' 95. Both aerial attack and straight football proved too much for the Oregons last year, and with a weaker team this year to face the Grizzlies, it is only a question of how many times Clark's men can cross the Mines' line. Were it not for injuries sustained in the Seattle game by Cammie Meagher and Oscar Dahlberg, who will not start tomorrow's fray, Montana should pile up a much bigger score than was made last year, but the probabilities are that the score will be large enough anyway.

Neither the injury to Meagher or Dahlberg is serious enough to keep them out of the big game with the Gonzaga Bulldogs a week from tomorrow, and Coach Clark does not want to take the chance of aggravating any old injuries by using these men in the Mines game. It is probable that Thompson will take care of the end vacated by Dahlberg for the Mines game, and that Axel may be shifted from guard to tackle in place of Meagher for this game. Otherwise the same lineup that faced Idaho and Washington will be used.

We Have With Us--

COUNTLESS thousands have died in crossing lines—street car, railroad, national, state and territorial. These are the unbelievers. These are the Belgium-invading Germans; these are the Huns and the Visigoths swooping down into Roman domains; these are the bootleggers, trying to make a second crossing of the Red sea, in reverse; these are the hurrying business men, disputing the way with tearing trolleys; these are the motorists, tooting their last horn in the face of onrushing juggernauts. Men may come and men may die, but these unbelievers still cross lines.

Back in the ages when the United States was not a world power and free silver was still a topic, the first warnings, exhortations, pleadings, commands, urgings and cautionings were given on this subject. Editors racked their brains for epithets in denouncing these people. To the meas-ureless galleys recorded we should like to add.

Don't cut the campus.

Oh, How Far That Little Candle--

WHEN you tell a friend a little secret and he forgets and passes it on in idle conversation or in order to make a letter interesting, can you stop and imagine how far it will travel? It will travel in its scope. If it concerns one of a group, it is spread throughout the group. If it concerns this city, it will travel throughout the city. And so with the state. And so with this University. Remarkably good or remarkably bad, the news concerning this University, as any other, reaches every citizen interested in it by personal contact. You have the opportunity of doing a service in this decimation of news.

Everyone has a skeleton. If there anyone in the audience, which means ourselves and the linotype, that will dispute this? Then why rattle your skeletons? Common things. When you write and talk, don't blaa-a-a proudly of how many rules you have broken, or seen broken or heard of being broken. Put your best foot forward. And go well-heeled. Take some of this brain-racking erudition off the campus.

Here's some. Take it home and spread it around the kitchen, the butler's pantry and the living room. President Clapp has issued a statement on University finances which is printed on another page. Read it. Look around you now and find out for yourself if President Clapp is not correct in his statement. Pass it on to those interested, the taxpayers and the law-makers of the State of Montana.

THE GRIST

Darwin Sez:

Now that the social calendar is out the boys will pick their dates with greater care.

She went home first with a timorous mate
And rushed right back for the second date.

She was a frail little piece of merchandise;
Just the kind that men forget

Was spent in a Winston Salem factory.

And now, she was to fall into the hands of this brute.

"A guy took a bath in the hall today."
"How come?"
"Oh, it was in South hall."

Slave—"Say, old top, your fiddle's out of tune."

Nero—"Oh, that's alright; the fire will soon be over, and a note's a note for a 't' and a 't' that."

The Snakes

Writhing and worming it winds its way across the campus. Throbbing with a hidden life it resembles the fabled dragons of old. Half hidden in the grass it could easily be mistaken for a huge snake. Its life must be short though, for it groans and gurgles, and palpitates with suppressed wrath. Soon it will die and lie flat and motionless on the grass, its grey body lifeless until somebody turns on the water... the fire hose!

MEN APPEAR WEAKER THAN FEMINE SEX

"Men make more office calls at the Health office than women do," said Mrs. A. F. LeClair, student nurse. She also said that more men than women had appeared before the Absence Committee this fall. This is unusual as there are usually more women absentees. The probable cause is that during the football season more men are forced to cut classes because of minor accidents.

The general health situation on the campus at present is very good, according to Mrs. LeClair. Most of the colds are much better this week and there have been fewer calls made.

Rifle Teams Schedule Three College Matches

Practice in marksmanship will start next Monday according to Major George L. Smith. Four sections for women and five sections for men have been arranged. Bulletins have been posted in the ROTC shack and in North and South halls, giving the practice periods.

A match has been arranged between the girls' rifle team of the University of Michigan and the women's team here. The men will compete with the University of Delaware and Oregon Agricultural college. The Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical Arts college has challenged, but so far the challenge has not been accepted.

The intercollegiate matches in the ninth corps area will be held from January 26 to February 25. The winners of this group will shoot in the national contest of collegiate rifle teams.

Among those who intend to leave for Butte today to attend the Montana-Mines game are Frank Meeker, Horatio Kilroy and Calvin Pierce.

The issue of the Kaimin contained an outburst by the editor on the poor showing which the student body has made in backing up the football team. After the Idaho game there were but 21 men at the train to welcome the boys back.

John Keran weighed in with his suit on after the game and tipped the beam at 207. This minus 233 pounds of real weight, leaves 82 pounds of mud and suit that the big fellow carried through the game. The other members of the team carried nearly as much.

Burris played an unusually strong game behind the line and put a stop to most of Idaho's gains. Owsley and Vance were the best ground gainers for Montana, and each of them played good defensive football.

Clark and Bentz were the most dependable of the linemen and made a good many of the tackles. Considering that the field was slow, Clark's work at getting down under punts was splendid. Time after time he dropped the receiver in his tracks.

In the three games so far this season Montana has scored 97 points against their opponents' 0.

Percy N. Stone was the editor of the Kaimin in 1914. Miss Grace Mathewson, society editor; Aubrey A. Clapper, business manager, and Jay J. Ector, advertising manager.

DEBATERS WANTED FOR FINAL TRIAL

The final tryouts to select the debate team for this year will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in room 110, of the library, said Coach Norvell yesterday, "and all men who are interested in debate should be there, for this will be the last chance to try out for the team."

The six men who make up the squad at present are: Charles Conley, Gid Boldt, Archie Blair, Einar Strommes, Grover Johnson and Louis Aronowsky. It is necessary that more men be on the squad, according to Mr. Norvell and all who have any ability along this line are encouraged to come to the final tryouts Tuesday night. The team will be announced Wednesday.

Mrs. Virginia Wilson was a dinner guest of her daughter, Gladys, at North hall Tuesday.

JOY-KILLER

Library Is Deprived of All Its Attractiveness

No more will we hear the dainty laugh of the pretty co-ed in the library. No more will we be able to take the rivas of Venus home after pretending to study in the library for a few minutes. In short, the library could be correctly labeled "The Temple of the City of Zion." All frivolity has been stricken from the archives of that building of books. The crisis came Wednesday evening shortly after 8 o'clock. The usual gang of merry makers were in the corridor; there was an unusual amount of noise; the campus sheiks were smiling their best and the co-eds were giggling their gayest. As if a sudden plague had stricken the vocal powers of all, the room became hushed, there was a deadly silence and then the storm broke. Mrs. Sedman appeared at the head of the stairs and quietly requested that mum be the word. No sooner said than done. Immediately mum was the word and continued to be so for the remainder of the evening. Plans for remodeling the lower floor of the library for a second reading room have been passed into the discard. For some reason students have discovered that they can study at home equally as well as at the library.

President Clapp Reports on University Finances

The State University derives its income from four sources:—(1) federal, (2) local, (3) self-supporting, and (4) state.

(1) The federal income is derived from the interest on investments made with money obtained from the sale of land granted to the State University by the federal government and on the rentals of unsold lands. This income is known as the interest and come fund and yields annually between $25,000.00 and $30,000.00; $26,13.98 for the fiscal year closing June 30, 1924.

(2) It is contrary to law to collect a tuition fee from resident students. Local revenues are derived on fees for matriculation, late registration, change of courses, non-resident tuition, etc. The sum derived from this source is sent to the state treasury and is there known as the revolving appropriations accounts. The amount transmitted by the State University to this account during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, was $7,914.40.

(3) The self-supporting activity fund is derived from those enterprises which pay for themselves, such as special vocational instruction for veteran bureau trainees, correspondence study, individual instruction in applied music, and summer school instruction, and the money derived from endowments, of which only one, the William H. Dixon endowment, yields more than a few hundred dollars or may be used for any purpose other than the purchase of scholarships or prizes. The William H. Dixon fund yields about $5,000.00 a year and may be used solely for instruction and books in the law school. The self-supporting activity fund also includes the money derived from dormitories, and aid in for student activities, and for health service. These are in the nature of trust funds and are in no wise resources of the institution. Of including these three trust funds the total sum derived from self-supporting activities amounted to $56,59.48 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924.

(4) The last and greatest part of the income is from the state and is derived almost entirely from the 1 1-2 mill tax authorized by the initiative in 1920. This initiative measure orders a levy of 1 1-2 mills on all taxable property for the maintenance of the four teaching units of the University of Montana, the State University at Missoula, the State College at Bozeman, the State School of Mines at Butte, and the State Normal College at Dillon. This tax yielded $651,943.28 in the fiscal year 1922-23; and was expected to yield about $700,000 during the last fiscal year, but since taxes were almost 17 per cent delinquent, it actually yielded only about $280,000.00; I have not been informed of the exact sum. The amount expended by the State University from this fund which is merged with the general fund of the state amounted during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, to $359,050.06.

Previous to the last legislature the appropriation bill for the University of Montana stated that the sums appropriated were in addition to all the income of the university institutions from whatever source they might be derived and from all contributions derived from public or private bounty. In the appropriation bill passed by the last legislature it was stated that the amounts appropriated were the maximum amounts which were to be expended by each institution for all purposes and from all funds, and that only so much should be taken from the general funds of the state as was necessary to make up the maximum appropriation after first exhausting all other funds, provided that this provision did not apply to the expenditures of the dormitories and dining rooms, nor to other self-supporting activities, nor to monies collected for student activities.

It is not true that the local earnings and federal income has been deducted from the 1 1-2 mill tax instead of being added to it. But these funds have been used to reduce the amount that must be drawn from the general fund of the state to make up the total appropriation to the State University. This plan of requiring that the institutional incomes be applied as a resource of the state budget is not followed in other states, and takes away all incentive to secure additional funds by increasing the amount obtained by fees or from private sources. It is just the same as saying to a business concern you can do just so much business and no more. It is inelastic and does not permit us to meet an emergency by using the income from an increased number of students, and does not permit us to undertake those things which almost but not quite pay their own way.

During the past fiscal year the maximum expendable amounts, not including the self-supporting activities, appropriated to the four teaching units of the University of Montana was $943,855.93. The income from federal and local sources amounted to about $244,500.00. If the estimated income from the 1 1-2 mill tax had been realized the total income would have been $944,500.00 or over $900.00 more than the amount appropriated. However, because of delinquent taxes, the actual income was about $120,000.00 short of the amount estimated; so that if the four teaching units of the Greater University had spent all of the money appropriated it would have been necessary to draw $120,000.00 from that part of the general fund derived from other sources of taxation than the 1 1-2 mill tax. But, although about $20,000.00 less than the total appropriation was expended, it was necessary to draw on the general fund of the state for about $100,000.00 more than the income from the 1 1-2 mill tax.

In addition to the four teaching units, the Greater University of Montana also includes the Agricultural Experiment station and sub-stations and the Agricultural Extension service. The income for the support of these units is derived from federal, local, county, and state sources. The maximum amount appropriated for these units for the past fiscal year was $252,688.41 not including the self-supporting activities supported by local and county sources. The amount of money from federal sources was $70,064.49 leaving $182,623.92 that had to be drawn from the general fund of the state.

The danger to the State University will come from an attempt to support these agricultural service organizations from the income from the 1 1-2 mill tax, which by reason of delinquent taxes has been inadequate to care for the four teaching units of the university this past year. At the present time the work of the State University is seriously curtailed in several ways. Certain departments are so overcrowded as to endanger our Class A rating; no work is offered in such important fields as German and philosophy; and an entirely insufficient amount is allowed for the repairs and replacements of a $2,000,000 plant. If the income of the State University is reduced by deducting the support of the agricultural experiment stations and extension service from the income from the 1 1-2 mill tax, you may be very sure that the work of the State University will be very seriously crippled.

MANY NEW VOLUMES ADDED TO LIBRARY

Three thousand, six hundred and sixty-one books have been added to the library since last year. These books represent 14,168 different references in the card indexes in the library. These 14,168 references give the undergraduate a better chance to get more work at the library.

These books include history, social and economic problems, pamphlets on agriculture, books of religion, an eight-volume set of art books, and many other interesting books for the college student.

"Students of this year have a decided advantage over those of last year, since there are so many more sources of references in the shelves of the library," says Miss Buckhous, librarian.

Earl Diermyer, 21, is candidate for county surveyor of Mineral county.

The University of Idaho leads the Pacific coast conference in the averages compiled after last Saturday's games. Washington, U. S. C. and Stanford have each won one and lost none, while the other teams are all on the losing side of the ledger thus far:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Idaho	2	0	1.000
Washington	1	0	1.000
U. S. C.	1	0	1.000
Stanford	1	0	1.000
California	0	0	.000
O. A. C.	0	1	.000
W. S. C.	0	1	.000
Oregon	0	1	.000
Montana	0	2	.000

No upsets marred Saturday's frays, for the teams that came out on the heavy end of the scores were the ones generally expected to win.

The University of Southern California downing O. A. C. 17 to 3 at Portland, Stanford winning 28 to 13 from Oregon at Palo Alto, and the Cougars losing 3-19 to the Idaho Vandals. California barely managed to come through against the Olympic club of San Francisco, winning 9-3.

The Washington State college frosh will attempt to get revenge for the trouncing the Grizzly Cubs handed them last year when they mix with Cap Cummings' charges tomorrow afternoon. The Cougar frosh secured one of the best known high school football players in this region when Herbert Meeker, ex-Lewis and Clark high quarterback, picked that school. He has the rep of being a brainy quarter, a vicious line plunger, and a good passer. Lots of guys get by on less than that.

Andy Smith faces the hardest test of his career when he leads the team for the Bears to beat in the conference when W. S. C. journeys to Berkeley to meet the Bears tomorrow. The Cougars won the last game won from Andy Smith's crew, defeating it 14-0 in 1919. Now the Cougar war cry is, "Last to win from California and first to win." Even if he gets by the Cougars he will have a better Washington team to beat than the Bears barely nosed out last year.

The Gonzaga Bulldogs also have a tough tussle in line for tomorrow afternoon, when the Multnomah Athletic club of Portland stacks up against them.

The Bozeman Chronicle says that the State College had an "off" day Saturday, despite the fact they trounced the Centerville Independents of Butte 31-0. Hope we have an off day like that against the Gonzaga Bulldogs a week from tomorrow.

Harry Adams' DePaul University football team secured a 9-6 triumph over De Kalb Normal Saturday. Harry coached the champion Grizzly Cub team last year, that went through the season undefeated, winning all five games on the schedule and being scored upon but twice during the entire season. Among the victories on the Cub's list last year were the powerful University of Idaho and Washington State college.

Adams coached the freshman team after graduating from the University in 1920. He also produced a championship Cub basketball team last winter. The Cub machine won 11 games on its schedule, completely outclassing every crew it stacked up against, averaging around 44 points to its opponents' 8 per game.

MAULING

Here's a Good Remedy for Your Indigestion

Prospective candidates for the opposing armies that will face each other in deadly scrimmage on Dornblaser field the afternoon of Varsity day are requested to report as soon as possible to Doctor Corby for a physical examination, assignment to training quarters, and football toga.

The committee has received 23 applications from members of last year's frolic who aspire to either captain a squad or play in the money-back positions. Numerous berths are to be filled from center both ways.

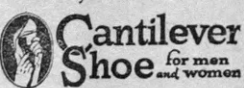

The Central board will not have the opportunity to pass on the officials for the melee. These positions will be filled by the use of the Australian ballot immediately after the first attraction on the program.

The presidents of the frosh and soph classes must report their strength to Corby at the Journalism shack before 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, where inside information will be handed out for the benefit of the classes.

University of Washington, Oct. 20.—A group of University of Washington Chinese students has brought to the United States a priceless exhibit of Chinese art and industrial wares to be exhibited in Seattle January 1, in the new Olympic hotel.

These young men, less than a year ago, organized what is known as the Chien society of China, an international organization whose place of organization and present headquarters are in Seattle, but which is spreading all over the whole area of China.

University of Washington, Oct. 20.—Thirty more men added their names to the freshman crew list last week, making a total of 140 aspirants for the frosh shell.

Of this number, however, only 80 men have been showing up regularly at practice. Rusty Callow, crew coach, in a talk to the first-year men Wednesday, urged that all men turn out every night if possible. The elementary training which they are now going through has a direct and important bearing on the work which is to follow.

The program has not varied since Monday, and probably little change will be made in the next two weeks. The yearlings are making rapid strides in the art of rowing and on the whole Callow is pleased with the way the men are taking hold.

University of Denver, Oct. 20.—Pre-season basketball practice started on Tuesday, October 7, when twenty-eight men appeared on the gym floor attired for work. Coach Devine picked sixteen men of possible basketball calibre out of which number he sincerely hopes to build a team that will make a strong bid for the conference pennant. Several football men are out, but most of these men who desire to play basketball will not be ready for practice until the gridiron season is over.
