SOPHOMORES TAKE TITLE AFTER HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Seniors Take Second Place, Nosing Out First Year Men in Close Game

Class	Won	Lost
Sophs	3	0
Seniors	2	1
Juniors	1	2
Fresh	0	3

Highest interclass honors go to the sophomore quint which made a clean sweep of its three tournament games by nosing out the juniors 24-22 in a hotly-contested, desperate battle Saturday afternoon. A long shot by Jimmy Graham and a foul conversion by Bill Kelly in the last minute and a half of play, proved too big a margin for the scrappy junior five to overcome. The seniors took second place in the tournament by winning a hard-fought 21-19 victory over the yearlings in the closing contest of the tournament.

Both games of Saturday's double-header featured some of the most frantic fighting of the entire tournament, the result of both contests being in doubt until the last two minutes of play. Only a handful of spectators witnessed the finals as compared with the crowd that attended the struggles on Monday and Thursday nights.

Juniors Lead First Half
Bill Kelly made the first basket of the first game, connecting with the hoop on a shot almost directly under the goal. However, the juniors displaying unexpected form, assumed the lead early in the half, when Baney, Berg, and Neill found the hoop. The third year men kept the lead throughout the half, but as the period drew to a close the sophs gradually crept up with them, with the elongated Jimmy Graham, sophomore center, connecting with the hoop four times in this half, which ended 14-13 with the sophs trailing.

The sophs increased the pace a trifle as the second half opened and took the lead a few minutes after the period started when Sweet made a sensational shot almost from mid-door, Baney's sharpshooting keeping the juniors in the fray, the Libby flash contributing three field goals during this half. He was high point man of the game with five field goals and three foul conversions for a total of 13 points. Jimmy Graham with six field goals was runner-up for the highest number of points. Graham, Kelly and Sweet starred for the sophs, the floor work of the latter two being sensational, while Baney and Berg were the stars for the juniors.

The freshmen took the lead early in the second game on two foul conversions by Rottler, and field goals by Kain and Rottler. Two field goals by Bus Graham and another by Rottler gave the yearlings 12 points as the half ended, while Hersom, Oscar Dahlberg, and McDonnell contributed the seniors' three field goals for this half. However, the seniors spurted strongly in the second half when Jiggs Dahlberg found the hoop, coming through with four field goals this period. Oscar Dahlberg contributed two field goals, while Miller and Rottler kept the frosh in the running with scores. However, Hersom's long shot within a minute or two before the end gave the upperclassmen their 21-19 victory and second place in the series.

Old Heating Plant Will Be Scrapped

The old heating plant in use since 1897 is being torn down to make way for a store-room and repair shop. The machinery consists of four boilers, three in use since '87, and will be scrapped by the contractors, the Nordberg Machinery company. The other boiler was purchased in 1918. It will be sent to Twin Bridges, to be used in the orphan asylum.

The work is under the supervision of the maintenance department and will be completed in about a month.

Manager Announces Vacancies in Dorm

"There will be several vacancies in the men's dormitory at the beginning of the winter quarter," according to R. W. Neill, student manager of South Hall. "Students who are not already residents there and wish to live in the hall should make their reservations with the Business office before the end of the present quarter," continued Mr. Neill.

With the exception of two weeks during this quarter, the hall has been filled to capacity. During those two weeks the number living at the hall dropped to 112. The dormitory is accommodating 117 men at present. Rates are as follows: Single room, $15 per month; double room, $10 per month; board, $25 per month. Several reservations are already reported by the Business office.

OREGON DEAN ENVIES MONTANA RESOURCES

"I'm rather envious of Montana's opportunity for expansion in forestry, and of the close co-operation that this school has with the local forestry offices," said George Peavy, dean of the Forestry school at Oregon Agriculture College at Corvallis, in his short visit here last week.

Mr. Peavy stopped over here while en route to Washington, D. C., where he will attend a meeting of all forestry heads, called by Colonel W. B. Greeley, chief of the Forest Service. This gathering will be held immediately after Christmas.

CLAPP ATTENDS BUTTE MEETING

No Arrangements Completed for Game in Butte Next Year

President C. H. Clapp attended a meeting last week at Butte at the invitation of Butte business men in an attempt to make arrangements to have one of the University's football games played in Butte next year.

An attempt is to be made to have one of the strong coast teams meet the Grizzlies in Butte, a contest that for financial reasons would be impossible in Montana except for the support of some such backing as Butte is willing to give.

No definite arrangements were made at this meeting as it was thought better to send a representative from Butte with Dr. W. E. Schreiber and Head Coach J. W. Stewart of the University to the conference meeting to ascertain if it will be possible to schedule such a game in Butte. Accordingly, Fred Furman of Butte will accompany Coach Stewart and Dr. Schreiber to the conference meeting which will be held December 11, 12, and 13, at Portland, to let the conference know the Butte people's attitude in attempting to secure and finance such a proposed game with the Grizzlies.

Bulletin to Show All Military Cuts

A bulletin showing all unexcused cuts has been posted on the bulletin board of the Military Science department. Sergeant Truman wishes to call attention to the fact that all unexcused absences must be made up before December 17.

Anyone having such absences should report to Sergeant Kirkwood to make them up. Men failing to do this will get incomplete grades. Any errors in the bulletin are to be reported to him.

No change in schedules will be made next quarter in Military Science, but some of the old courses will be replaced.

The seniors will take up Tactics; the juniors will start Military Law; the sophomores will be given a course in Musketry and Infantry Weapons; the freshmen will receive instructions in Marksmanship, Scouting, Patrolling and the Rifle.

COMMITTEE OFFERS ECONOMICS AWARDS

Hart Schaffner & Marx Announces Competition; Will Close October 1926

A prize of $5,000 has been offered by Hart Schaffner and Marx for the best original treatise on the subject, "Theory of Wages—That the Theory of Wages is of exceptional importance, and that constructive study of it should be stimulated."

A committee composed of Professor J. Laurence Laughlin, Professor Edwin F. Gay, and Professor Wesley C. Mitchell has been authorized by Messrs. Hart, Schaffner and Marx to make the award for the best treatise.

The committee places no restrictions upon the scope, method or character of the studies submitted beyond the requirement that they make genuine contributions toward their understanding of the problem. Emphasis may be laid upon analysis of the economic principles underlying the determination of wages, upon the conditions which set maximum and minimum limits to the prices paid for important types of labor, upon quantitative studies of the factors involved, or upon any other aspect of the problems which a writer can throw new light.

The prize will not be awarded except for a work of high merit. Contestants are not limited to any country; but the manuscripts must be in English. This offer is entirely separate from the annual competition in Classes A and B of the Hart, Schaffner and Marx prizes elsewhere announced.

The ownership of the copyright will vest in the donors, who will arrange for the publication of the book. Competitors should inscribe their manuscripts with assumed names and in sealed envelopes, give their real names and addresses, together with degrees, distinctions or positions held. Manuscripts should be sent on or before October 1, 1926.

Inquiries concerning the competition may be addressed to J. Laurence Laughlin, University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois.

J. Donald Gillespie, former student of the University, is employed with the Burroughs Adding Machine company at Seattle.

J. M. BURLINGAME GIVES FIFTY BOOKS

The Law school has just received a collection of 50 law books from J. M. Burlingame of Great Falls.

The books are of value in that the procuring of such books will add greatly to the law material that is now obtainable in the school.

Since the founding of the Law school, many such donations have been received from men of the state in the legal profession.

MANY WANT WORK DURING HOLIDAYS

"There has been a large number of applications by students for work during the Christmas holidays," said Helen Newman, student employment secretary, yesterday. Many are not going home during the vacation and need work for that time, according to Miss Newman.

Any kind of work will be acceptable and anyone who has work is asked to report it to the student employment bureau. The bureau is using every means possible to locate work for students and postal card inquiries are sent out every week to prospective employers.

"The cause of the unusual demand for work is due no doubt to the Christmas vacation being so long, nearly three weeks, and the fact that many are not going home for the holidays," stated Miss Newman.

Students Arrange For Big Program

The Spanish club will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 in the basement of the Law building. A big program has been prepared for the meeting.

Professor B. E. Thomas will give a talk on the Philippine Islands, where he taught some years ago. W. J. McCormick, former representative to Congress from this district, will sing a solo. The song is entitled "Las Golondrinas," a Spanish love song. There will also be a debate in Spanish. Resolved: That co-education should be abolished in this university. It will not be based on facts, but upon humorous observations of the debaters.

This will be the last meeting this quarter. It is the hope of Elsie Eminger, president of the club, that a large number of Spanish students will attend, so that they may become interested and join the club next quarter.

WORK STARTS AGAIN FOR SKATING RINK

Sparks in Charge of Construction; Leveling and Flooding Began Friday

Perry Sparks, head janitor of the University, has again started work on the University skating rink. "Indications are that the present cold weather will hold out long enough for the completion of the rink," Mr. Sparks said yesterday.

Work on the rink began last Friday with the leveling of the ground. The first flooding was done Saturday. The rink was not flooded again until Monday in order that the first flooding might freeze solidly and insure a good foundation.

The low rink was first started by South hall residents late last winter, but warm weather came before the rink was ever used. The present attempt is the second this year. The work is now under the supervision of University authorities and if weather conditions permit, the rink will be completed before the end of the quarter. Skating will be permitted to University students only and no fees will be charged.

Ferguson Speaks at Press Club Meeting

"Accuracy is the motto of the Associated Press and has enabled it to become the institution that it is today," French Ferguson said at a meeting of the Press club last Wednesday night. "All stories are carefully edited and checked before they are sent out over the United States. Since its founding in 1892 the Associated Press has not paid enough libel to buy the pencils its employees use in one year."

Mr. Ferguson traced the history and organization of the Associated Press and told of its position in the newspaper world.

In addition to Mr. Ferguson's talk the Press club made additional plans for their banquet that is to be held sometime in January.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT GETTING STATISTICS

The health department of the University of Montana is co-operating with the United States department of public health this week in a campaign to gather statistics on the past influenza epidemic and the commonly classed "colds" and "grippe" which make their appearance each year.

A blank form is given to each student as he registers. "It is hoped that all students will fill out the forms and mail them," said Mrs. A. F. LeClair, head of the University health department, today.

Universities all over the United States are assisting in the movement, and the government hopes to gather some very valuable information on the general health of the nation.

STROMNES TO LEAVE

Ingolf Stromnes, head bookkeeper in the University business office, will leave for California December 20. He will accept a position as assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Monida, California.

Packed House Hears English Style in University's First International Contest.

Before an enthusiastic Missoula audience of 1,100 that crowded the high school auditorium Montana was awarded the decision in her first international debate, against the Oxford university team. The vote taken by the members of the audience gave the debate to the Montana team by a vote of 588 to 248.

The ballot taken on the question showed 581 favored the affirmative and 185 the negative. This is the first time that a debate has been decided by an audience decision in Missoula.

Last night's debate was presided over by President C. H. Clapp, who gave the welcoming address to the Oxford team. Gid Boldt, speaking for the affirmative, stated that he did not believe the referendum to be an essential part of representative government, but that it made for a better government. He then cited many countries that have a representative government without the referendum. Examples were then taken from the United States in which he pointed out the fact that 22 states have adopted the referendum in which it works admirably. Boldt then showed by comparison how the referendum helped to prevent corruption in politics.

The reply of Malcolm MacDonald at first startled the audience by his personal reference to Boldt, the tearing of his argument to pieces, and the light sarcasm. His style differed from that practiced by American debaters. He went on to show the fallacy in Boldt's argument, pointing out the many countries which have successful representative government without the referendum and traced briefly the history of the English government. The Englishman was prone to take generalities where the Montana man used facts.

Johnson, speaking for the affirmative, humorously told how the Saxons invaded England to run the country and in 1066 Harold was shot in the eye and an Englishman had not been able to see a joke ever since. He then launched into his argument, showing the success of the referendum in Switzerland where every canton but one used the referendum in its government. He then pointed out that it was not on the details of government that the referendum was to be used, but on the large national problems. It was necessary, he said, for the preservation of the natural resources of a nation to have the referendum.

In upholding the negative Woodruff said that the referendum was not so successful in Switzerland as Johnson had pointed out and that France and England were both large nations with representative governments that were successful without the referendum. The people of a nation as a majority do not have a keen enough interest in political affairs to vote intelligently on large national questions by means of the referendum, Woodruff believed. The statesmen were paid enough to enact the laws and by adopting the referendum a nation would be doing the work itself for which it paid its law makers.

Einar Stromnes closed the constructive speeches for Montana in which he clarified the question and again declared that the protection of the natural resources from corrupt influences rested with the people in the referendum. Hollis concluded the argument for the negative.

The question was summed up in the rebuttal for Oxford by Woodruff and Stromnes presented the affirmative rebuttal for Montana.

Throughout the debate the Englishmen were prone to speak in generalities where the Montana men quoted facts. The entire debate was carried out as nearly as possible along the English style, which presented many new phases of debating that had not been heard here before in forensic contests.

Debate

ENAR SIROMNES, GROVER JOHNSON and GIM BOLDT are to be congratulated for their excellent work against the polished Oxford team last night, not only for winning, but for their ability to maintain enough of the logical and yet inject some spice. Theirs is a signal honor in that their victory was won in the first real international debate in which Montana has engaged.

Montana's debate teams have, for a long time, reflected the highest credit on the University. Congratulations are in order for Coach Norvelle.

The Kaimin wishes to point out at this time the importance of building reserve debaters for the future. There is a team for freshmen in debating this year. It is highly essential that those freshmen who have the ability to debate to go out for this team. If you have any powers of address make it a resolve to put in the coming quarter in taking advantage of this excellent training.

The Masquer Plays

THE University Masquers are presenting four one-act plays in the auditorium tonight and Thursday. These plays will be the result of a quarter's work, both in acting and directing. Students who wish an inexpensive evening's entertainment and who realize the importance of the one-act play as a vehicle in community and little-theater work should attend this presentation.

These cold mornings are not the most appreciated in the world, but there is no evil without some good. The University has provided a rink for skating that will be frozen, Hellgate permitting. Students should take advantage of this fine exercise during this intense period of studying, in order to get the best from their library efforts.

Pants are like molasses: They are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold weather. There has been much discussion as to whether pants are singular or plural. Seems to me that when men wear pants it is plural, and when they don't wear pants it is singular. If you want to make the pants last, make the coat first.

CLARK SHOWS CLASS
GREEK MASTERPIECES
IN LECTURE ON ART

The Classical club met last Wednesday night in the Natural Science building where Professor W. P. Clark gave an illustrated talk on "Some Aspects of Greek Sculpture."

He divided his lecture into three phases, tracing the development of the nude male form in Greek sculpture from the primitive down to Praxiteles and Lysippos, or to the fourth century, B. C., and followed the treatment of the draped female form similarly. He concluded by illustrating certain interesting masterpieces in Greek sculpture.

The next meeting will be held some time next quarter.

VARSITY GRADS MAKE GOOD AS TEAM COACHES

DAHLBERG AND DAYLIS COP STATE TITLES

Many High Schools in State Have Hired Former University Athletes as Athletic Coaches.

Montana graduates are fast becoming the important athletic mentors of the state. Though Montana coaches have been in the field but a short time they have already won four state championships. Two of them in football and one each in track and basketball.

Harry (Swede) Dahlberg has been one of the most successful of the graduate coaches. In the past year he has coached Butte High School to three state championships. His teams won the basketball championship last March at the Boreman tournament and the track meet at Missoula in May. This fall he defeated Miles City for the football championship of the state.

Steve Sullivan, as coach of Butte Central, has always had teams that were among the best. His team won sixth place in the last basketball tournament and eighth place in last spring's interscholastic track meet. He also won the two relay races in his two years of coaching. The Butte Central football team recently played Butte to a scoreless tie, but withdrew from the state title race in favor of Butte High.

Lloyd Madsen, coaching Hamilton high, developed a strong basketball team and an unusually powerful track squad. His team was nosed out of the state track title by four points when Butte copped the low hurdles the last day of the meet. Madsen is now Boy Scout executive at Deer Lodge. Ralph Christie, a former Grizzly, has taken his place as coach at Hamilton.

Fred (Cubs) Daylis won the 1923 football championship for Billings the first year he coached. Since then he has developed some strong teams in other branches of sport.

Loenard Daems coached Harlowton High School through the 1923 football season. His team played Anaconda to determine which would play Billings for the state championship. The passing machine of Anaconda proved too much for Harlowton and they were defeated 27-10.

Ernest (Hop) Prescott, the only Montana man to make the all-Northwest basketball team, has coached the last three years at Alberton and is now occupying that position at Superior. Tom McGowan coached last year at Fergus county high school and is now assistant freshman coach at the University.

Sam Crawford has coached Forsyth for three years and has developed some good men especially in basketball and track. He was unable to participate in the last track meet because of late registration.

Burt Smith wrenched his ankle during basketball practice recently and is now on crutches.

Debaters Talk on Youths' Differences

When questioned as to the great difference between the American youth and the English youth, J. D. Wodruft of the Oxford debating team said, "When the American youth goes to college he is a great nothing. However, he is much older in self reliance, which shows itself for instance in his ability in getting jobs."

Malcolm MacDonald's reply was: "The American youth is much more independent. The English youth has no provision for working his way through school, while, I am told that even in your high schools it is possible for youth to do so. The American youth comes in contact with life far more than the English youth. He is hardened to the world. The Englishmen have no such contacts but they are more specialized, scholastically. The English youth gives all of his time to books and little to outside activities."

M. C. Hollis stated: "Your women mature sooner than English women but your men much later. The American youth is more afraid of eccentricity. The biggest thing about you Americans is your hospitality. You are much more hospitable than the Englishmen."

"I hear that Jones' wife is kicking over the traces."
"Yes, Jones should have seen to it that his Finchley coat was more thoroughly brushed."

For Young Men
There is nothing like a
STETSON

MOST young men today know the importance of looking fit. Good appearance counts much in the game of life. The young man who dresses with taste has a decided advantage.

But—it is surprising how little thought the average man gives to his hat. It is his crown, yet he seems to stop dressing at the neck.

O.A.C DEAN TALKS TO FORESTRY MEN

Dean C. W. Peavy of the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis, addressed the Forestry club at its regular meeting last Wednesday night in the library of the Forestry school. Mr. Peavy used as his theme "The Idealism in Forestry." In commenting on the Montana Forestry school Mr. Peavy said, "You have the most complete and beautiful forestry building I have ever seen."

Following Mr. Peavy, Roy Wilson of the Geology department of the University spoke to the club, telling of many interesting things which took place during his summer work in North Dakota.

Preceding the speeches the club held a business meeting.

Thompson Accepts Position With N. P.

Cardwell Thompson, ex '23, of Billings, has accepted a position as private secretary to the division superintendent of the Northern Pacific railroad. He is located in Missoula most of the time although his work takes him as far west as Seattle. Thompson withdrew from school early this quarter, and until two weeks ago was at home in Billings. While attending school he majored in English and was a regular contributor to the Frontier.

CANFIELD TO BE EDITOR OF FORESTERS' KAIMIN

Plans for Annual Pamphlet Also Have Been Made

Roy Canfield, '23, of Sutton, West Virginia, and Raymond Bitney, '25, of Shell Lake, Wisconsin, were appointed editor and business manager respectively for the Foresters' Kaimin by the executive committee of the Forestry club at the last meeting. The Foresters each year put out a publication in the form of a pamphlet. This year it is the plan of the staff to edit a 96-page book. The book will contain interesting features in regard to the Montana Forestry school and many other items in regard to forestry. The pamphlet will be out the week after the Forestry ball.

54 Higgins Bldg. Ph. 341 J

EAST of the Law Building is Memorial Row, with a tree for each former student of the University who died for country during the last war. Some of these trees were torn up in laying pipes and have not been replaced. None of the markers are attractive.

There are a number of unused trees in the forestry nursery and it would be small trouble to make simple and artistic standard markers. So would MEMORIAL ROW be not an insult to the memory of our dead but a token of our appreciation of their service.

MONTANA TIES OREGON AGGIES

Idaho and Gonzaga Head Northwest Conference With No Defeats

Montana finished in a tie for fifth place with the Oregon Aggies in the Northwest conference standing, the highest rating secured by the Grizzlies since their entrance into this circuit in 1916. Idaho with four victories and no defeats in this conference, and Gonzaga with three victories and no losses, top the circuit. The Bulldogs, however, played two scoreless ties, one with the Idaho Vandals and the other with the Washington State college Cougars Thanksgiving day. They had defeated the Cougars 14-12 earlier in the season. Montana lost three Pacific coast conference games, while Washington lost four, thus placing both teams at the foot.

Standings of the conferences follow:

WATSON TO ATTEND ALPHA TAU MEETING

Chester Watson, '25, will represent the local chapter of Alpha Tau Omega at the twenty-ninth biennial convention of the fraternity to be held in Philadelphia, December 31 to January 3, inclusive.

Mr. Watson is a charter member of this chapter, and is a senior in the law school. He will visit relatives in Minnesota during the holidays.

CAMPUS STORE SELLS CARDS FOR ART FRAT

Delta Phi Delta, national art fraternity, is selling Christmas cards, to be on sale at the campus store this week and next. The cards are the work of the members of the fraternity. The designs are original and are made with wooden blocks and are hand tinted and lettered. Hand decorated gift boxes filled with candy are also on sale at the store.

Leland Harper, '23, of Superior, was a visitor in Missoula over the week-end.

FORESTRY STUDENTS VISIT LUMBER CAMP

J. H. Ramskill, instructor in Forestry school, and the 13 members of his logging class spent the week-end near Ronan, getting information concerning the various phases of logging operations of the Polleys Lumber company at that place. They also watched the work of caterpillar tractors in logging.

"Our trip was successful, and the company officials treated us nicely. They gave us a bunk house for the personal use of the class," said Mr. Ramskill in commenting on the experience. This was the third annual trip of a logging class to this particular operation.

PLEDGES OF SIGMA PHI EPSILON ENTERTAIN AT DANCE

The pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon entertained at a dance in honor of the active members of the fraternity Saturday evening, December 6, at the chapter house.

The house was decorated in white, the lighting being carried out in purple and red, fraternity colors. Late in the evening a light lunch was served. About 45 couples attended.

Patrons and patronesses were: Professor and Mrs. Edmund Freeman, Professor and Mrs. A. A. Applegate, and Dr. Roy Wilson.

JUNIOR CLASS IS HAPPY GROUP

Contentment rules today in the junior class. A smile of satisfaction can be seen on the face of every member, for no longer is their identity to be suppressed. Soon will every male member loom out on the campus as a clean ace in a dirty deck.

Freshmen, sophomores and seniors, yes, even the faculty, will know them to be members of the junior class. "Junior Cords," something very "distingue," (as Mrs. Tiffany says in "Fashion") in habiliments for the lower limbs, trousers—pants, if you please, will be the distinguishing garb worn by the third-year chaps, practically all of whom after anxiously waiting for the special material to be produced and the garments made up in true college style, have procured them at the M. M. Co.

Grace Shaw of Great Falls, who has been visiting at the Phi Beta house, has returned to her home.

Miss Monica Burke, business manager of the University dormitories, Raymond Nagle, '22, and Edwin Bailey, '23, were luncheon guests at South hall Monday noon.

Sunday dinner guests at South hall were: Professor and Mrs. J. E. Miller, Kathleen Andrus, Mary Fleming, Ruth Gonzer, Alice Lease and Charlotte Woolfolk.

ADS FOR SENTINEL ARE NOW ARRIVING

Advertising for the Sentinel has commenced to arrive and during the Christmas vacation an active advertising campaign will be conducted by the Sentinel staff and students interested in journalism. Editor Louis Stevens expects to make a trip during the holidays to Butte, Helena, Great Falls and Anaconda in the interests of Sentinel advertising.

Several fraternities and sororities have neglected to return their chapter pictures to the photographer. This should be done immediately. No more pictures will be taken until after the Christmas vacation.

With the opening of the winter quarter the honorary and professional fraternities and organizations will have their pictures taken. These will be taken in groups.

The design on the cover of the book will be the same this year as last, in accordance with the rule adopted two years ago. The binding will be of stiff leather.

Sport Sparks

Here's the choice of 312 football coaches, officials, and sports writers, appearing in the current issue of All Sports magazine for All-American:

Stout, Princeton, end.
Gowdy, Chicago, tackle.
Garbisch, Army, guard.
Lovejoy, Yale, center.
Papworth, Pennsylvania, center.
E. Weir, Nebraska, tackle.
Lawson, Stanford, end.
Dooley, Dartmouth, quarterback.
Grange, Illinois, halfback.
Crowley, Notre Dame, halfback.
Hazel, Rutgers, fullback.

The choice of an All-Pacific coast team brings bricks instead of bouquets, but here is our choice:

FIRST TEAM:
Lawson, Stanford, end.
Anderson, U. S. C., tackle.
Bellman, Washington, guard.
Horrell, California, center.
Rau, California, guard.
Quinn, Idaho, tackle.
Mautz, Oregon, end.
Stivers, Idaho, quarterback.
Kelly, Montana, halfback.
Wilson, Washington, halfback.
Jones, Oregon, fullback.

SECOND TEAM:
Reid, Oregon, end.
Thomas, U. S. C., tackle.
Carey, California, guard.
Walters, Washington, center.
Swan, Stanford, guard.
Kuhn, Washington, tackle.
Mell, California, tackle.
Hawkins, U. S. C., quarterback.
Imlay, California, halfback.
Sweet, Montana, halfback.
Tesreau, Washington, fullback.

Now for the reasons—there is no question about the superiority of Skippy Stivers over the rest of the conference quarters, he is a veteran, can receive and hurl passes with great skill, is heady, and is a hard man to stop. Kelly and Wilson are the halfback choices, both being demon broken field runners, both bears as defensive backs, and Kelly is unexcelled as a safety man. Kel can pass with the best of them, and is tricky and resourceful. Wilson and Kelly can both smash the line and skirt the ends with astonishing power and speed. Jones is a smashing fullback, hits the line harder than Tesreau, and is equally good on defense. King Tut Imley cannot be kept off the second string team. Although small, he is fast and almost impossible to stop, can kick and is a good pass receiver. Sweet had a season's average of 44 yards as a punter, has no superior in this conference as a pass receiver, and was second in the country kicking goals after touchdowns with 23 to his credit. Tesreau is a big, smashing fullback who hits the line with all the power in the world. He can run interference excellently.

Lawson of Stanford, All-American choice of 312 football officials, critics and coaches for end, cannot be kept off. The other wing position goes to Mautz of Oregon, one of the best wingmen in the conference. Tackles go to Anderson and Quinn. The former is the best tackle in the conference—he has everything. Quinn is fast, heavy, and knows how to use his hands. No question about the selection of Babe Horrell, third All-American choice for center. Rau and Bellman are veterans, both capable of holding down the guard positions with their experience, size and weight. Reid of Oregon and Mell of California are second team ends, both being capable to hold this job in all respects. Kuhn, big, heavy, experienced and good, holds one guard position, while the other goes to Thomas of Stanford, who is a world of strength on defense. Second string center goes to Walters of Washington, big, strong, and active, an accurate passer. Carey of California and Swan of Stanford get the second string guard choices, both being aggressive and scrappers with the necessary experience.

Chick Meehan, mentor of the Syracuse eleven, which has defeated by U. S. C. 6-0 Saturday, played quarterback on the Syracuse eleven that tied Montana Thanksgiving day, 1914.

Brandon Opera Group to Appear in Missoula

Local music and amusement lovers are indeed fortunate in that the Brandon Opera company is to play a short engagement at the Liberty theater starting next Friday in some of the world's most popular light and comic operas.

The company comes with an enviable record of long engagements in the larger cities of the country. The principals include Theo Pennington, Harry Pfeil, Ed Andrews, Esther Sniker, a Montana girl, Irma Tice, Carl Bundschu, Chester Bright, Edmund Kearns and George Olson and what is declared to be the best singing chorus that ever left Broadway, New York.

In the repertoire of this splendid company are the old favorites, "The Bohemian Girl," "The Chimes of Normandy," "The Mikado," "The Spring Maid," "Girofle-Girofla," and "Robin Hood." Each opera is staged with artistic splendor and the admission prices are a veritable bargain.

Old songs, like old wines, are the best and real art never loses its charm of influence with time. This is best demonstrated by the fact that the old masters of painting today are regarded more highly than when they were living.

We need more revivals of operas that were popular twenty and thirty years ago. They are not only a splendid education and a stimulus for the young but they give an idea of the wonderful artistic tastes of our forebears, who were able to be happy without jazz.

Performances like those of the Brandon Opera company may be infrequent.

INDIVIDUAL PRODUCTION

Pins are made in factories producing innumerable articles just alike.

So are safety-razors, shirts, and nearly everything you buy.

Your printing is done in a smaller plant which does not produce thousands of articles of exactly the same pattern.

While many people may have automobiles just like yours, your stationery, programs, and other printed forms are made for you, and you alone.

They should be distinctive. That is, they should express your own individuality, and the particular use to which they are put.

We value the smallest job, and make a study of the needs of each customer, and what he desires to express. That accounts for the fact that those desiring distinctive printing bring their work to our shop.
