Prexy to Attend Educators' Meeting

President C. H. Clapp left this morning for Chicago, where he will attend the convention of the National Association of State Universities.

According to Mr. Clapp, the National Association is perhaps the most important scholastic tribunal in the country. The organization is for the discussion of common problems and difficulties. Centralization of university endeavor is brought about by a general round table discussion.

The attempt of outside organizations to control and dictate university policy is one of the more important problems to be discussed at this year's meeting.

President Clapp is to return from the meeting on Sunday or Monday before Thanksgiving.

KAIMIN CHIEF LEAVES TO ATTEND CONCLAVE

Woodard Dutton left last night for Boulder, Colorado, where he will represent the Montana chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalistic fraternity, at the eleventh annual conclave to be held in that city November 16, 17, 18.

Mr. Dutton will return to Missoula directly after the convention.

LITERARY REVIEWS GIVEN BY HOUSMAN

Robert L. Housman, instructor in journalism, was the main speaker at the regular meeting of the Press club Wednesday evening in the journalism shack. "Book Reviews" was the subject of Mr. Housman's talk.

"A book reviewer is usually an antagonist to the writer," said Mr. Housman. "A hundred dislike him to every one that likes him," he stated.

"The reason is self-evident and ancient. The function of a reviewer is to criticize, but he must have knowledge to be in a position to criticize. The gift of criticism," he continued, "may be innate and may be acquired by hard work. George J. Nathan, associate editor of the American Mercury magazine, says that the critic in all forms of criticisms is the person who shows off at the price of the artist, and I agree with him."

"The book is the medium whereby the book reviewer expresses himself, but he must have some kind of a background," he said. In a footnote the speaker outlined 'background' as style, relation of author to book, place of book in literature, etc." He warned embryo book reviewers or critics that they are limited by experience, culture and background.

"There are various types of criticisms," he pointed out. "Among these are the resume form, the quote form, and the critique form. The latter often affords the inexperienced opportunity to display his ignorance," he warned. "In fact, there are but few accomplished critical book reviewers in the game today. Then, too, there is the raw-oyster kind."

Mr. Housman illustrated forms of book reviewing by reading Christopher Ward's criticism of "The Tat-tooed Countess," "The Green Hat" and "The Alaskan," and H. L. Mencken's criticism of "Love Complex" by Thomas Dixon and "Salt Water Ballad" by John Masfield, illustrating both the humorous and serious types.

A short business session followed Mr. Housman's talk, in which Eddie Reeder, president of the Press club, reminded the members of the Press club banquet, which takes place early in the winter quarter. He appointed a committee to take charge of the annual affair which consists of Helen Walsh, Ben Quessel, Harold Hepner, Louis Stevens, Al Shack, Winifred Wilson, Holda Miller, Ann Nilson and Annabelle Desmond.

Following the business session refreshments were served.

CAMPUS RED CROSS DRIVE IS DELAYED

Failure to receive material for the Red Cross drive has delayed the launching of the annual membership campaign on the campus, according to Catherine Reynolds and Ann Nilson, who are in charge of the drive.

As soon as the supplies arrive, each fraternity and sorority house, as well as the residence halls, will be canvassed for members. Enrollment dues in the Red Cross are $1 a year and membership may be taken for one, two, five, ten years or life.

Rodney Zachary of Kalispell will have charge of the drive at South hall. The Tanans are also to assist in the drive.

WEISBERG GIVES TALK; GERHARDT TO APPEAR

The life of Elena Gerhardt, well-known soprano, was the theme of a talk given by Professor A. H. Weisberg to the Music club last night. Elena Gerhardt will appear in Missoula next Thursday, under the auspices of the Artists' Course, which has presented several programs here in the past.

Other features of the club's program were a series of sketches of the lives of famous composers. Lucille Rector read a paper on "Strauss," Nan Walsh on "Tchaikowski," and Helen Reeves on "Schubert." The program concluded with a piano solo by Jean Cowan.

BOARD HEARS WORLD COURT PARLEY CALL

ASUM May Send Two Delegates to World Court Conference at Princeton University

Further discussion of the advisability of sending delegates to the World Court conference was the chief business of the Central board at its meeting Tuesday afternoon in the ASUM store.

Princeton university will be host at the conference on December 13 to 15, to which two representatives, preferably a man and a woman, are invited from every college in the country. A straw vote on the World Court is being taken by The New Student from all colleges, the results of which, together with resolutions from the conference, will be presented to President Coolidge and the senate.

Montana will wait until a preliminary survey of the vote is taken before definitely considering the proposition. The committee appointed to revise the ASUM constitution reported that progress has been made on the work and that a definite account will be made to the Central board at a later date.

SOCIAL SCIENCE WORKERS SPEAK

John Calder, Hubert Herring Address Student Body at Convocation

John Calder and Hubert Herring addressed the student body at a special convocation this morning at 10 o'clock in Main hall auditorium. The speakers were introduced by William L. Young, student pastor.

"Where do we go from here?" was the subject of Mr. Calder's talk, in which he spoke of his work of teaching foremen in various industries how to train their men while they carried on their work."

The speaker included in his talk the wants and conditions of workmen and some of the average employers' methods, both good and bad. "In body politic and body social," he said, "envy is at work and we must rid ourselves of this in order to solve our social problems." Mr. Calder cited examples regarding the relation between employee and employer, especially during the past war. In concluding, the speaker advised, "Work on the elementary instincts of self-satisfaction and you will succeed in solving many of these problems and perhaps strike a happy medium."

Hubert Herring's talking concerned chiefly the fallibility of several world established ideas and traditions, saying "That even the idea of one God that rules all peoples and all things may be revolutionary. The word patriotism is subject to just claim of investigation," he continued.

Mr. Herring cited the example of Edith Cavell, the English martyred nurse, whose last words were, "Patriotism is enough." He told, from his own observation, how it was the custom of both the French and German people to teach their children, from the elementary grades up, to hate one another, giving them examples of one another's unfairness, some of them untrue and some of them true. At this point he said, "Patriotism is not enough." The speaker criticized Mussolini's recent political tactics in Italy and then spoke of the suppressed true spirit of that nation, again maintaining, "Patriotism is not enough."

MRS. CLAPP SPEAKS TO YWCA MEMBERS

"What's the Use?" was the subject of Mrs. C. H. Clapp's talk, principal speaker at the YWCA convocation held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Main hall auditorium.

Mrs. Clapp read a paper concerning YWCA activities in which she included the welfare of the society regarding individuals and also the welfare of individuals regarding the organization. In discussing religion Mrs. Clapp said, "Respect each other's religious differences and do not ignore them." In concluding the speaker advised, "Do not starve your soul but be just as indignant as if some one suggested to starve your mind."

Preceding the meeting President Catherine Reynolds presided at a short business session in which she reminded the members of the YWCA which is to take place Wednesday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock at Craig hall. All women were urged to attend. It was announced the Red Cross drive, which the YWCA is sponsoring, had been postponed until the first of next week. President Reynolds notified the organization that because of such extensive Homecoming plans their Thanksgiving day program would be limited. A brief outline of future plans of the society were discussed. The chairman urged the members to co-operate with the various committees and passed around slips of paper to have each member pledge her co-operation.

Miss Dawes sang "New Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter, and "Cradle Song" by Brahms. She was accompanied by Miss Cowan at the piano.

KUOM Prize Program Heard in Monterey

KUOM has awarded its box of Montana applies to Mrs. C. L. Williams of Monterey, Cal. The box was offered to the radio fan who reported last Tuesday's program from the greatest distance.

Mrs. Williams said that KUOM drowned out the Warner Brothers station, located in Los Angeles. In furtherance of the state advertising policy, which the station has adopted, KUOM is to broadcast a series of short talks which will advertise Montana products, produce, and natural resources. The experiment will be tried as a result of the belief that radio is fast becoming one of the most valuable advertising mediums known today.

The program broadcast last night, consisted of several orchestra selections played by the Grizzly band. The band numbers were played in the women's gym and were relayed to the station by special phone line.

The department of station publicity has been sending KUOM's weekly programs to several of the metropolitan newspapers. Programs are also being sent to several Radio magazines.

The program for the week of November 15, is as follows:

MISSOULA ROTARIANS HEAR MAJOR SMITH

Problems of Maintaining Peace Are Reviewed and Explained by Army Officer

Major G. L. Smith, stationed at the University, Wednesday addressed the Missoula Rotary club on the maintenance of peace. He reviewed previous plans for peace in the future and pointed out the weak points of each.

"The problem of maintaining peace is one which has engaged the most brilliant minds in the country," said the speaker. "There are three different beliefs as to what should be the proper way to handle the situation. One group advocates that the nation keep up a standing army to a sufficient standard to meet any emergency that might arise. Another group advocates total disarmament and a reliance upon the brotherhood of man to keep the peace, while a third party holds for an adequate permanent military power to insure domestic tranquility and to impart a knowledge of national defense to the citizens who enjoy the liberties of a democratic grant and hence should be willing to do their part to perpetuate it."

"The first plan was passed over with little discussion and ruled out by its prohibitive cost. The second is the dream of the idealist, while the third is the one followed by this country from the colonial days. No nation goes to war unless it believes that that is the cheapest way to attain its ends and believes that it has a good chance to win its campaign."

"Let us not discard a reality for an ideal until we are sure that the ideal is a reality," continued Major Smith. "To attain this ideal we must first educate the people to the point where they are able to think beyond their patriotism. Not only have we the civilized countries to educate, but the savage as well."

"Only a student who has studied the entire background of history would be able to talk or conceive intelligently on a subject so great as the present one, as most people do not know of the disgraceful military episodes that have occurred in the past, as our histories do not tell all of the stories of the but rather bring out the glorious side. The idea that we have never committed wrong is fast coming to be a thing of the past."

"Indication of a D grading does not always call for a yellow slip, as the office is making a careful comparison of grades in all departments before sending out the notices. Those having a single D but having their other grades well above passing may not receive slips," said Dean Jesse. "However, if a student's report shows several D's he will get a slip for each one."

Montana Yearlings to Make Final Try for Victory Tomorrow Afternoon

Two football teams, both unsuccessful in starts this season, will clash Saturday afternoon in a game which will decide for both schools the success or failure of the 1925 gridiron schedule. Yearling elevens representing Idaho and Montana are slated for the battle, which will start at 2:30 on Dornblaser field.

The game will mark the initial and final appearance of Montana's freshman team on the home field this year. The Grizzly Cubs have played two games, dropping the first encounter to the Bobkittens 21 to 7, and the second one to the Cougar Babes of W.S.C. by a 33 to 0 count. Idaho has also been defeated twice, losing a 9 to 0 tilt to the W.S.C. freshmen in addition to being beaten by Cheney Normal college.

None of the Grizzly Cub backs have ever felt the thrill of crossing the enemy goal line, as the touchdown scored against the Bobkittens was made by Tom Davis, end, who gathered a fumble and raced 25 yards for the tally. Coach "Wee" Mandlin will not spare men in the struggle Saturday and fully two teams will likely be used against the Vandal "Babes."

Montana's line will outweigh the Idaho freshmen by a few pounds, but this will be off-set by the poundage and speed of the Vandal "Babe" backs, which are rated among the largest and fastest in Northwest yearling football circles. Idaho has three all-state football stars of 1924 in her freshman backfield. Stars of the Vandal "Babe" eleven are Pa-goga, halfback, Boise high school; Brown, end, Boise high school; Itawlings, halfback, Boise high school; Welo, quarterback, Sandpoint high school; and two giant linemen from Rupert high school, Burgher and Stone. Montana is given an even break to win Saturday, even though the Grizzly Cubs were trounced 33 to 0 by W.S.C. while Idaho lost 9 to 0 to the same school. The great improvement shown in the University freshman team during the past three weeks has boosted the stock of the Cubs.

The probable line-up for Montana is: Center, Taylor; left guard, Jones; right guard, Kell; left tackle, Polich; right tackle, Barford; left end, Fogarty; right end, Davis; quarterback, Olson; left half, Ehrig; right half Sweetman; fullback, Parmalee. Others likely to see action include: Heffern, Smith, Jelly, Stewart, Edge, Dugan, Rice, Leverich, Evans McKinley, Henry, Haines, James, Ross, Johnson, Tarbet, McCarthy, Marsh, Hagen and Ernest.

Returns on the Montana-U.S.C. game which will be played in Los Angeles, will be given on the field Saturday during the course of the Grizzly Cub-Vandal "Babe" struggle. Officials are: Beall, Denver, referee; Dee, Denver, umpire; Lansing, Beloit, head linesman.

OFFICE SENDS OUT YELLOW SLIPS TO ERRING STUDENTS

More than 250 students received a total of 387 yellow slips during the last week, according to figures given out from the registrar's office yesterday. Men lead in the figures, 176 getting 200 slips. This amounts to 1,477 notices for each of the recipients. Women were a little lower, getting only 117 notices distributed among 81 individuals, or 1,444 apiece.

"Owing to the change in policy there is no definite basis for comparison between the number of yellow slips sent out last year and those issued this quarter," said R. H. Jesse, dean of men, yesterday.

The faculty has been asked to turn into the registrar's office slips for D averages as well as for E or F grades. Last year the slips were sent in only for E or F standing.

"Indication of a D grading does not always call for a yellow slip, as the office is making a careful comparison of grades in all departments before sending out the notices. Those having a single D but having their other grades well above passing may not receive slips," said Dean Jesse. "However, if a student's report shows several D's he will get a slip for each one."

California--Here We Come!

TOMORROW the Grizzlies face U.S.C. at Los Angeles in the last conference game of the season. It is the longest trip ever undertaken by a Montana football team and the first in history the University has engaged the southern California school in any dual contest.

The Grizzlies are up against terrific odds. Not only are they meeting the strongest aggregation on the Pacific coast, but they will go into the game handicapped by the change of climate and the loss of two star performers. While the Trojans were defeated by Stanford in an early season game and thereby virtually eliminated as a conference contender, the 51-to-7 trouncing they handed Idaho two weeks ago bears out the assumption that Coach Jones has built up a marvelous scoring machine.

Though Southern California is picked to beat Montana by a wide margin, one thing is certain,—the Grizzlies will not go into the game a whipped aggregation at the start. They are going in there to do or die, and that means to win or know the reason why. If the Trojans expect to play tag with a team broken in morale and spirit, they have another guess coming. They will face eleven alert, aggressive Grizzlies—a team light in weight but heavy in spirit—an opponent ready and eager to take advantage of the slightest opening.

Tomorrow Montana will show California fans what a few ounces of fight can do to barrels of odds.

Give 'em hell, Grizzlies!

Winter Is Here

THE signs are unmistakable. During the past few weeks, everything which was green turned to a burned brown and thence to white. Lawn-mowers have been taken back to the store-room for their winter's hibernation; birds which arrived early last spring have returned to their southern homes and have been replaced here by that variety which can live on mountain scenery and snowballs.

The "kids," too, have ceased congregating on the corner lot to engage in "cammie" and "aggie" hostilities. They have put away their marbles and bikes, and are now spending their spare time in sharpening skates and repairing toboggans, in anticipation of a long, hard winter. The care-free Montana boy no longer trudges merrily along a dusty road, shirtless and barefooted, happy in the thoughts of a plunge in the ol' swimmin' hole or an afternoon's fishing.

But the "kids" are not the only announcers of the new season. The "grown-ups" play their part, as well. Grandpa has discarded the old, black, wide-brimmed hat and has donned the woolly scarf, heavy overcoat and ear-muffs. Cane in hand, he rather falteringly wends his way to a friend who is less fortunate than himself, in that the winter's rheumatism has already set in.

And, on the campus, everybody and everything seems to cry out "Winter is here". The rah-rah boys no longer blossom forth, hatless, in rainbow sweaters and golf sox all in readiness for a day's golfing. And at evening, despite Boreas's kindness, students in "campus" have ceased indulging in romantic, moonlit strolls. Instead, they seek the comforts of a cozy davenport and a cheery fire as a stimulus for whispering "sweet nothings" to their temporary affinites.

Yes, winter is here.

Montana Fight

November 4, 1900

Main hall auditorium echoed with the glamour of women students. One of them mounted the stage and a hush spread through the assemblage.

"Loyalty to Montana teams and Montana traditions does not belong to the University men only."
"Tonight, tomorrow night and the night after we are going to be out there with the football squad and we are going to yell our heads off."
Bursts of applause greeted the speaker.

Fifteen minutes later seventy-five University women were out on the football field.

Donohue's

COMMUNICATION

November 7, 1925.

Editor of Kaimin:

I wonder what results can be expected from the visits and speeches of Dr. Wirt on behalf of peace and the World Court. I, myself, heard only the address on War in History. This so completely distressed and disheartened me that I dared not hear more.

I believe in peace and not in war. I believe in the application of intelligence, not force, to the solution of international problems. But must we not insist that those who advocate intelligence, use intelligence in its advocacy. This we cannot say that Dr. Wirt did. War in History is a staggering subject, calling for calmness as well as courage, for insight as well as knowledge, for sympathy as well as excitement in its treatment. Of these qualities Dr. Wirt had emotional excitement and some knowledge. The rest we cannot credit him with.

Not a single illustration used by Dr. Wirt, so far as I can now recall, really pointed the lesson he sought to make it point. Spain, for instance, made war and Spain is now the least of the small. But England has also been a nation of war and is now today a great nation of great nations. But all nations have been warrior nations and so no conclusion on War in History can be drawn from this sort of reasoning. The Turks made a powder magazine of the Parthenon and it was blown up. Therefore war destroys the finest works of art. But many of the finest buildings in antiquity were paid for from the spoils of war. In fact the Parthenon itself was, at least in part, financed by tribute wrung by force from unwilling "allies" of Athens. Therefore war fosters art.

Take one more, a big one. The Abolitionists were unpopular but prepared the way for the Emancipation Proclamation, which could not have been issued had not Garrison and others made all things ready for it. But Garrison, John Brown, and others did not by intelligence, arbitration, or a World Court prepare the minds of Jefferson Davis, and a few others to resign themselves to this Proclamation. The logic of this illustration is: Force your ideas of right and liberty on others at the point of the bayonet.

The total effect of Dr. Wirt's speech would seem to be the encouragement of a narrow self-complacency on the part of its citizens of the U. S. and a determination to compel the rest of the world to take our view of justice. "For peace must come and will come," he argued, "under the magic spell of Old Glory."

I suspect that if we in the U. S. are going to be of service to the rest of the world in bringing about the abolition of war, we shall have to begin by reciting our failures and not our successes. Or should it be by asking ourselves whether we are willing to share raw materials and markets with the rest of the world? Or land and home with other peoples and races? Or submit questions of "honor" to arbitration? Problems are not solved by closing your eyes to the difficulties.

MONEY FOR PHOTOS DUE, WARDEN SAYS

Orders for group and individual pictures go in today, and the money for the groups must come with the order, according to Bob Warden, editor of the 1926 Sentinel.

Any clubs or organizations who want space in the Sentinel must arrange for it tomorrow, as the organization section, including all social and professional fraternities and other clubs, closes Friday. Forty-four organizations are now in the section, 42 of which have had their picture taken.

The senior section, including the activity list, is being compiled, and with the exception of those seniors who are not on the campus this quarter, will be finished in a few days.

According to the editor, one-half of the advertising, or $600, has been contracted for, $1,200 being the total.

Phipps-Luther Married at Aurora

C. G. Phipps, '21, and Dorothy Luther, University of Minnesota '23, were married at Aurora, Minnesota, June 20. They are now living in Gainesville, Florida, where Mr. Phipps is instructor of mathematics at the University of Florida.

HUNG!

One Pin Plus One Pint Equals One Laugh

Writhing from the black mouth of Hellgate canyon spoke softly as they sped across the expanse of Dornblaser field. Far up on the side of Mount Sentinel an evergreen crucified itself on the moon's cold surface. And, lost in the bleacher's long waste, a couple sat in silent communion.

Abruptly, he caught her scented hand and pressed it against his warm lips. "Sweet, I love, love, love you. Can you realize what a wondrous picture of soft tenderness you paint within my weary soul? Can you know . . ." his voice broke, hopelessly.

"Yes, honey," she whispered. "I know because I feel the same troubled happiness."

Slowly he drew her into his anxious arms. "Will you wear my pin?" he begged, brushing aside the perfume that strove to hide her ear.

Her lips met his—in answer.

They parted lingeringly at the house.

"I win that pint," he rhapsodized as he hurried along the icy walk.

"Another pin," she laughed as she ran up the stairs.

The moon hid its face behind a lacy cloud.

PAXSON PAINTINGS

ART EXHIBITION

Thirty original paintings by the late Edgar Samuel Paxson, the Montana artist who specialized in Indian subjects, were displayed at the meeting of the Art League in the Fine Arts studio, Tuesday evening. Most of these portrayed Indians, among them Charlo and other famous Indian chiefs, and Indian life, but several pictured early American life, including the landing of the Pilgrims, buffalo on the plains, and noted men of the west and middle west.

The program for the evening was opened with two solos by Nan Walsh, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Helen Haas. William Garver gave a reading of a paper written by him, entitled "Custer's Last Stand," and Frances Edge played several solos on the saxophone, accompanied by Dorothy Douglass on the piano. Dancing and refreshments closed the social session.

The paintings were donated for the evening by the Mrs. E. S. Paxson, C. F. Kellogg, A. J. Gibson, C. E. Simmons, H. H. Parsons, W. P. Forbis, H. L. Forbis, F. T. Sterling and F. Murray. A large painting of Sacajawea, the Indian maiden, which hangs in the University library, was also loaned.

TO DEMONSTRATE TIMBER PHYSICS

Jerry Ramskill, instructor in forestry, will open the University timber physics laboratory in rooms 101-103 of the Forestry building, next week. With the assistance of Raymond H. Bitney, graduate student, Professor Ramskill will give a demonstration of the testing of the strength of the native wood on Homecoming day for the benefit of the alumni.

There are three methods or steps in the testing of wood, according to Professor Ramskill. Timber has strength in tension, stress in compression, and strength combining both tension and compression, as a bridge beam supported on the ends with a load in the middle. Cleavage and shearing tests will also be made. Cleavage is the ability of wood to resist splitting, and shearing means the ability to resist the action of a knife.

The timber physics experiment laboratory in operation next week will comprise but one unit of the laboratory as it will be when funds permit enlargement, according to T. C. Spaulding, dean of the Forestry school. The next unit will be a wood preservation room, with equipment consisting of high pressure cylinders, steam pumps, air, vacuum and electric pumps. The third unit will consist of dry kilns for experiment and constructional work in the seasoning of woods, and a model saw mill.

Montana's football season will close with the Grizzly-Bobcat game on Dornblaser field Thanksgiving day. This day has also been chosen for Homecoming, a day when Montana alumni will gather for their annual reunion. These former students and graduates are looking forward with a great deal of interest to the program that we have outlined for them.

A brief outline of the pep-program for Homecoming will show what is to be expected from the students. At 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday an SOS will be held, followed by a large bonfire, which will be lighted on the skating rink south of the Forestry building. From the University a rally led by the band, will proceed to the downtown district and back to the University. Between halves of the game several features by the University and the State college will be staged.

Let's put this thing across; everybody make it his job to attend all of the sessions which are to be held on these two days. Montana has the team, Montana has the spirit, we know what can be done. Let's do it!

FROSH DEBATE TEAM CANDIDATES HAVE PRELIMINARY TESTS

Frosh men and women debate candidates reported to H. M. Keele, debate instructor, for tryouts last night in room 119 of the library building. The tryouts were mainly to determine the speaking ability of the various candidates for the squad.

The prohibition question, both pro and con, was the subject of the tryouts. As yet the question for the University-Montana State freshman debate, which will be held late in this quarter or early in the winter quarter, has not been decided upon but will be announced at a later date. Members of the debate squad will begin preparation at that time. According to Professor Keele, a short course in argumentation and instruction in debate technique will be offered the debate students.

Candidates for membership on the freshman debate squad are: Ivan Caraway, Henry Hough, Edmund Andrette, A. V. Huns, Bruce B. Hall, Ted Fritzpatrick, Roger Johnston, Walter Monsale and Winfield Page.

Candidates for the women's debate squad are: Marian Hall, Ione Gardner, Dorothy Quigley, Elsie Blair, Clare Flynn, Pauline Astle and Elizabeth Maury.

THE WORLD PASSES LEAVING MEMORIES

"Through rain and snow and the hot glare of August suns, I have stood here, a memorial, and a tradition of Montana. Years have passed over me, and each succeeding year has left something in the way of a memory—and has taken something, too."

"It isn't all pleasant, either. I have seen girls come down to the University, fresh, unspoiled, sweet, and four years later, I have seen them leave."

"I have seen earnest seekers after knowledge gradually sink lower and lower into the depths of despondency, desiring companionships and associations that were denied them."

"I have known romance, too. Here, within my solid arms, love has come to many. The ecstasy of confessed love! The shyness, the earnestness, the innocence of young dreams—I have seen them all, but even the sweetness of such moments is tinged with the bitterness of those other nights when two dreamers awakened to stark realities."

"I have given rest to many. Old women, feebly tottering their way homeward, have stopped for a moment in my embrace. Impatient young bloods have cooled their heels near me, awaiting the coming of the one girl. This small world has gone by me in endless procession, each tiny note of the whole leaving me something of himself—his dreams, his ideals, his life."

Vivian Ann Brady of Craig hall has recovered from a few days' illness.

NOTICE

Organizations desiring space in the Sentinel must make arrangements today. The section will be closed this week. Orders for prints of group pictures, accompanied by the 75-cent charge, will be forwarded to the St. Paul studio tonight.

Annual Frosh Dance
Delayed; Yearlings to Paint "M" Again

The freshman class held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Main hall auditorium, at which President John Bolton presided.

President Bolton reported the annual frosh dance, given in honor of the sophomores, would be postponed until early in the winter quarter. He urged the members of the class to attend the Montana-Idaho frosh game Saturday afternoon on Dornblaser field, as this game will be the team's first and final appearance on their home field. It was announced that ASUM tickets would not be honored for this game.

Mr. Bolton reminded the class that, according to tradition, the "M" had to be painted before Homecoming, and stated that plans would be made later. He announced the next freshman meeting would be held in the evening rather than in the afternoon, as a remedy for the usual poor attendance.

After the suggestion of the president, the class gave a rising vote of confidence to Tom Young, recently appointed frosh yell king.

NOTICE

H. M. Keele, debate instructor, has announced that a meeting will be held in room 306 of the library at 5 o'clock next Monday afternoon, for all women of sophomore rank or above who are interested in women's debate.

On Tuesday at 5 o'clock Mr. Keele will call a meeting of the Varsity men of sophomore rank or above who are eligible for debate this year.

ROTC TO ORGANIZE LEGIONAIRES' CLUB

Cadet officers of the ROTC met Thursday afternoon for the organization of the Legionnaires, a purely social club for all cadet officers, which aims at the furtherance of social gatherings of military students. Arrangements were also made for the first social function, a theater and dinner party, which will be given November 28.

The officers of the Legionnaires are: Major R. P. Rea, commander; Captain Philip Ring, executive officer. The social committee consists of Captain H. R. Craven and Lieutenant Edwin S. Booth. Lieutenant Robert Ailing was chosen publicity manager.

The club has also adopted the plan of having a sponsor for each of the 13 officers, each woman to have the same rank as the officer she sponsors. The girls chosen are: Honorary major, Caroline Wicks; honorary captains, Jean Havilline and Elsie Gusdanovich; honorary lieutenants, Dorothy Spaulding, Catherine White, Betty Johnson, Isabelle Leutz, Nan Walsh, Annabelle Rogers, Thelma Whipple, Maude Baxter, Helen Hamnerstrom.

MRS. BRANTLY ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Theodore Brantley and Mrs. F. K. Turner entertained Mrs. A. F. LeClaire, Dean Harriet Sedman and the sorority house mothers of the campus, at a bridge party given at Craig hall Tuesday afternoon.

Merle Cooney was a dinner guest at the Alpha Chi Omega house Tuesday evening.

Billie McCrae was a dinner guest at the Kappa Alpha Theta house Wednesday evening.

STAR TROJAN QUARTER

MORTON KEAR

The greatest of three great quarterbacks. He starts every game in that position, although an injury held him on the sidelines in the Arizona game and he was saved until the second half against Idaho. Good open field runner and pass receiver.

NOTICE

The International club will meet at the home of William L. Young, the Inter-church University pastor, this evening at 8 o'clock. New members will be received at that time.

SPORTY-VENTS

Three of U.S.C.'s best veterans are seniors, but that doesn't do Montana any good this year. Eight Grizzly gridders will be lost through graduation this year.

Every day in every way play-by-play returns for Varsity contests are getting better and better. The U.S.C.-Montana returns will be broadcast at the frosh game tomorrow. Two-in-one for a single admission!

Two mistakes have been made in the publicity given the Montana-Idaho struggle. The Daily Californian credited Sweet with making the 70-yard run, but, worse yet, the Minneapolis Journal has it that Idaho won 20-14.

Montana is hurling her 1950 pounds of beef against U.S.C.'s 1980 tomorrow. What will be the outcome? As you can see, there isn't much difference in the total weight of the teams, but where the rub comes is in experience. And then the Trojan weight is more evenly divided.

Do you know that only 18 points have been scored against Washington this year, and that 10 of these were made by the Grizzlies? Nebraska tallied six and Whitman two against the Huskies. Looks like Montana's machine isn't so bad after all. Washington leads all the nation's important schools in scoring, with the tremendous margin of 359 to 18 for her opponents. U.S.C. is second with 350-31. Montana is still on the long end, now rating 108-94.

Coach Clark's crew is opposing the three highest scorers in the coast conference tomorrow. Drury leads the conference with 79 points; Elliott is second with 63; Kaer is a close third with 61.

Kelly is the highest Grizzly scorer. He has made three touchdowns and one try for point for a total of 19 points. Other Grizzlies have scored as follows: S. Kain 18, Sweet (one touchdown, five tries for points and one field goal) 14, Griffin 13, Ritter 12, Sugrue 8, Burrell 6, W. Hodges 6, Illman 6, Dahlberg 6.

George Varnell, sports writer on the Seattle Times, says that Brice Taylor and Friend, a pair of Trojans, are just as fast as halfbacks even though they play guard and tackle, respectively. He says that the amazing speed, power and drive of the Coach Jones machine is almost irresistible.

Be out there in a big body tomorrow, frosh. The cheering you do for your classmates tomorrow afternoon will prepare you for the Bobcats. Surely you don't want to see the yearlings go through the season without a win.

ATTORNEYS ATTEND LAW SCHOOL SMOKER

Members of the law school held a smoker in the Law building Wednesday night. Several lawyers from the city were their guests.

An entertaining and varied program was given. Music by the Western orchestra, a blackface skit by Nelson Fritz, a recitation by Buck Stowe and songs by Fred Ironsides furnished entertainment for the evening. Frank Murray read a paper on "Criminal Justice in relation to the Lawyer," which brought forth much discussion among the practicing lawyers present. Refreshments were served following the program.

MASQUER ORGANIZATION INVITED TO SEE PLAYS

The Montana Masquers and Instructor Carl Glick are to be guests of the Dramatic club of the Missoula County High school, at a program of one-act plays to be presented in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock this evening.

The authors of the plays are students who graduated from the Missoula high school last spring and enrolled in the University this fall. "The Treachery of George Montour" was written by Virginia Muchmore, "The Prospector" by Dorothea Kiff, and "You Never Can Tell" by Lenita Spottswood.

RIFLE TEAM NEEDS MEN TO FILL QUOTA

"I wish," says Major George L. Smith, "that all students who intend to join the men's rifle team will do so immediately. We now have about 25 men but we want 15 more in order to have a better working force. Come and sign up. The sooner the quota is reached the sooner training will begin."

So far three challenges for the men's team have been received. They are from the University of Oklahoma, University of Oregon, and Oregon Agricultural college. Challenges received for the girls are from the University of Vermont and the University of Michigan.

DELTA PSI KAPPA PLEDGES ENTERTAINED BY ACTIVES

The pledges of Delta Psi Kappa, women's national physical education fraternity, were entertained by the active members at the home of Betty Peterson, 816 Hilda avenue, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. A bridge party followed the business meeting, which was held in the early part of the evening.

Those who attended were Mrs. W. E. Schreiber, Helen Rothwell, Betty Peterson, Alice Dorr, Gertrude Lemire, Stella Skulason, Jack Crutchfield, Elsie Brown, Maureen Desmond, Alice Lease.

FACULTY TALKS FEATURE SPANISH CLUB MEETING

Several interesting talks featured the first regular meeting of the Spanish club held Wednesday evening in the Law building. "Los Teatros Espanoles" was the subject Miss Helen V. Terry spoke on, and an interesting "Experience in Mexico" was related by Miss M. Polly. An old Spanish game of forfeits was played in which all took part.

The constitution of the Spanish club was read at the business meeting, conducted before the program. Revisions for the constitution will be decided upon at the next meeting.

Through 23 years of serving the public the name of the J. C. Penney Company has stood for uniformly good quality merchandise and prices as low as a conservative business policy permits.

The name of the J. C. Penney Company is a pledge to the public for quality-values and low prices.
