Students to Serve During Exams

BOARD ASSURES DORMITORY

STATE EXAMINERS AUTHORIZE EXPENDITURE FOR NEW HALL

and Gives Officials Permission to Borrow $50,000 for Construction Costs

According to an Associated Press report received from Helena this morning, authority of the state board examiners has been given the local board of the State University to borrow $50,000 for construction of a new residence hall.

The hall is to cost approximately $100,000. A surplus from operations of the present residence halls is $5,000. There will be available $5,000 from the bond fund and the local board has advised the board of education and the board of examiners that Missoula business men will contribute up to $50,000 at 6 per cent on certificates of indebtedness to be paid at the future earnings of all the residence halls.

The approval of the board of examiners is given on the understanding that payments of the loan will not be an obligation of the state, or the board of education or board of examiners and will not be a lien on the building.

DR. CLARK COMING TO SPEAK ON SPAIN

Traveller and Scholar Lectures in University Auditorium Thursday Evening

Dr. Charles Upson Clark, traveller, scholar and world famous lecturer, comes to Missoula for the third time Thursday evening to talk upon "The Charm of Spain." He will use lantern slides of Spanish scenery to illustrate his discussions of Spanish life. The lecture is scheduled for 8 o'clock Thursday, March 18, in Main hall auditorium.

Reviews of Dr. Clark's lectures in other places testify that he is an effective, fluent and brilliant-minded speaker, who acquaints his audiences with the new Spain in a most fascinating manner. Dr. Clark, who considers him a capable and interesting speaker, says, "His talks have been a great success; he knows his subject thoroughly and presents it in an interesting manner. He is especially qualified to speak about southern European countries." Word has been received by Professor B. E. Thomas, of the foreign language department, that Dr. Clark is anticipating with much pleasure his visit to Missoula.

Former Yale Instructor

Dr. Clark was a member of the Yale faculty for 15 years and director of the school of classical studies of the American Academy in Rome for three years. During the war he toured

SOUTH HALL OPENS TEN TEAM MATCH AT HORSESHOES

South hall's horseshoe tournament opened Saturday, March 13, with 10 teams scheduled to play in the preliminaries. Four of the games have been played; the other six teams will be matched in their first games early this week.

The tournament is being played under the Hog Kansas rules. Judges of the matches are Norval Ulvestad and Walt Nelson. Chuck Wolverton will act as referee of the games. The results of Saturday's preliminaries are as follows:

Brown and Dean, 21; A. Burns and Smith, 19.

Foss and Clark, 21; Haines and Comley, 15.

Stocking and Huber, 21; Erickson and D. Burns, 10.

Davis and Larsen, 21; Mullendore and Kumler, 12.

SANTAYANA BOOK IS REVIEWED BY BECKER

Professor F. C. Becker reviewed Santayana's "Dialogue in Limbo" at Colloquium held last Wednesday afternoon at 4:15. Much of the review and discussion bordered on Santayana's comment on moral problems.

From 20 to 25 members were present at the meeting. The postponement from Tuesday night was because of a faculty meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

A lunch served by majors in the Home Economics department preceded the program.

BEALL WINS NATIONAL PRIZE IN TYRO RIFLE CONTEST

Carl F. Beall of Missoula, senior in the School of Forestry, won first place in the national individual tyro rifle contest in the United States. His score was 390 out of a possible 400 points. More than 200 individual marksmen from many colleges and universities of the country participated.

The match was held under the auspices of the National Rifle Association of Washington, D. C.

AWS Elects Peterson to Represent Women at Pullman Meeting

Betty Peterson, '27, a major in the Physical Education department, was elected delegate to the Women's Athletic Association convention to be held at Pullman, April 15, 16 and 17, at a meeting of the AWS board yesterday in Main hall.

Miss Peterson is being sent to this convention under the auspices of AWS. She will attend various round table discussions and will try to secure the needed information for a reorganization of WAA locally.

AWS meeting also discussed a convention to be held Monday, March 22, when all women petitioning for AWS officers will state their platforms, and sweaters will be awarded to the girls having sufficient points. Nan Walsh gave a financial report on the Co-ed Forum.

At the next board meeting of AWS a physical education major will be elected baseball manager for women's athletics during the spring quarter.

Marcia Patterson, AWS president, also asks for all women to be sure to have all petitions for AWS office in before 4 o'clock Wednesday.

CENTRAL BOARD APPOINTS SUGRUE ABER DAY HEAD

Pat Sugrue was appointed manager of Aber Day by Central Board at a regular meeting held last Tuesday afternoon. The annual "work day" will be held sometime during the first part of next quarter. The "M" men will act as guards and police to see that the campus is thoroughly cleaned, and that all students share in doing the work, according to Sugrue.

EUROPEAN MESSAGE PICKED UP BY KUOM

Seven XA, the University experimental radio station, succeeded in picking up a two-way radio telephone conversation which was held between the Radio Corporation super-station in New York City and one of the Marconi radio stations in England, according to word received today from KUOM.

The test was carried on to prove the feasibility of continuous two-way phone communication between the two continents as an auxiliary to the present cable system. A like system has been in active use between the mainland of California and Catalina Island for several years. That the system is a success has been proved many times. The practical elimination of all submarine phone cables is the aim of the engineers who designed the exchange.

Conversation in the recent test was carried on at a wave length of 7,000 meters. While this wave band is far higher than is commonly used in radio phone transmission, it seems to suit the convenience of the companies. The ordinary broadcast receiver would be unable to pick up the conversations, in the opinion of Leslie B. Petrie, KUOM operator.

ARTISTS TO SHOW WATER COLOR WORK

Art work of the students of the University, which has been on exhibition in the Art department for the past week, will probably be taken down Friday or Saturday. The drawings posted show remarkable ability, according to the opinion of Mr. Riedel, head of the Art department.

In place of this exhibit, one of Mrs. H. D. Tychemen will be shown. This is mainly of flowers; which she has painted in water colors. In this group is a painting of Flathead Lake and one of Hellgate canyon.

A set of six Chinese water color paintings by Chinese artists was given to the Art department by Mrs. Gibson which is most interesting. This set will be included in the exhibit.

Verson Hollingsworth, '27, was taken to the infirmary Sunday with a case of the mumps.

CLUB WILL GIVE HOME CONCERT AT WILMA WED.

DELOSS SMITH OFFERS VARIED PROGRAM

Songsters Have Just Completed Tour of State; Many Features on This Year's Bill.

To complete the most successful series of concerts in its history, the University Glee club will appear at the Wilma theater tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Under the direction of Dean DeLoss Smith, the club has scored perhaps the greatest hit since its inception in 1913 during the recent tour of the state. Critics in every town in which the singers have appeared have been lavish in their praise of the club, its director, and its accompanist, Miss Bernice Berry.

Leaving Missoula March 3, the club gave thirteen concerts in eleven towns while on their 12-day tour through the state. The cities visited were: Deer Lodge, March 3; Butte, March 4; Livingston, March 5; Big Timber, March 6; Columbus, March 7; Billings, March 8; Roundup, March 9; Harlowton, March 10; Lewistown, March 11; Great Falls, March 12, and Helena, March 13. Matinees were given in Billings and Helena. While in Billings the club was entertained by alumni and former students residing in that city with a luncheon at the Commercial club, after which the club gave their friends a short concert.

Before coming to Montana, Mr. Smith, who is now dean of the School of Music here, was instructor of music at Columbia University, before which time he taught voice and was director of music at the First Church of Christ in Des Moines, Iowa. He also is a composer of vocal music, and has published more than 400 songs. Known as he is, throughout the state, his appearance on a stage is always the signal for applause, and his rich

Art Crafts Review Commends Sentinel Published Last Year

In the latest number of Art Crafts Review, a magazine devoted to the development of school publications, an article on good designing appeared which commended the 1925 Sentinel. The article was accompanied by a full page layout of illustrations taken from the Sentinel, including the cover of last year's book.

"Attractive and consistently planned sketches introducing your year book can, of course, be touched up with spots of coloring here and there, or a soft tint of some color can be run as a background—but first of all have these sketches stand the test of hard black-and-white zinc etchings," said F. D. Fredell in his article.

"The senior staff of 1925, publishing the junior class annual for the University of Montana, were too limited in funds to use but very little color. In view of this they spent a great deal of time and skill in preparing a theme for their book, designing each page very artistically."

"We believe the illustrations taken from this book will convince the readers of the success of the Sentinel staff in their designing of the book."

"To offset the lack of color in the scenic section, a very distinctive screen was used to add to the natural beauty represented in the photographs of this part of the book."

"An annual or any piece of printed matter on high grade paper stock—well laid out—excellent type arrangement and well written copy, is deserving of complete and thorough designing and high class of art work."

HOUSMAN SPEAKS TO WOMEN'S CLUB

"To know myself is to disclose myself as I am, and to know yourself, I disclose you as you are. That is why the realist is disliked," said R. L. Housman of the School of Journalism, speaking before the Missoula Women's club at their regular meeting last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Housman, speaking on the subject, "Dreiser and Zola, a Comparison," said that the question of ancient times was, What is a universe? The question of medieval times was, What is God? and the question of modern times is, What is man?

"Can you find a man who is close to life or of it and yet who surveys it impersonally?" he questioned. "Both Dreiser and Zola answer this question. Zola the French naturalist has been damned and praised indiscriminately. Yet it was the 'immoral Zola' who showed official France her bigotry and error in the Dreyfus case, and as for his works—only 25 years after his death the literary world is awakening to his genius. He has a passion for detail and acquainted not only foreigners but Frenchmen with their Paris. But if, as his critics say, he is immoral—he has written Nana, L'Assommoir and La Cure, three of the finest dissertations on vices of his age that history records."

Lacks Good English

"As to Dreiser, we may admit he lacks good English—he is inartistic, unacademic. Yet we must admit his effects are superb. The thing about Dreiser is that no matter how much a moralist you are, after you read him with a half candidly open mind, his seamy becomes a harrowing reality."

Professor Housman will speak tonight to the Law School association on "Problems in Journalism Touching Law."

Phi Sigs Hold Annual Banquet

Phi Sigma Kappa held its annual banquet in honor of Founder's Day at the Florence hotel last night. More than 50 members of the fraternity attended the celebration. A short musical program followed the dinner.

Reynolds Thompson, of Dillon, spent Monday on the campus. He is enroute to Darby where he will visit his sister, Lenore Thompson, '24.

UNTERMAYER SPEAKS ON MODERN POETRY

"Directness of appeal, individuality, and simplicity of syntax almost equal to that of prose, are three factors maintained in modern poetry which make this form of literary creation a valuable contribution to the literature of America," said Louis Untermeyer in Monday night's lecture at the University auditorium in naming three of the five things most important in the calling.

Mr. Untermeyer thinks that America's contribution to literature in modern poetry is one which will endure through all times. He thinks it is much like modern music, "not as bad as it sounds." It is exceptionally easy to read, he says, and in its form goes directly to the mind for thought.

To illustrate his contentions Mr. Untermeyer read a number of poems by modern authors, including several of his own. The audience was responsive throughout the lecture and especially appreciative when his own work was read.

Get Inspiration From People

Modern poets do not need to sing or write of Greek and Roman gods, he emphasized; they get their inspirations in the lives and emotions of today's people. This is the reason we find little of it based on legends and great works of the past.

Robert Frost is placed by Mr. Untermeyer as America's greatest living poet. He is followed closely by Edwin Robinson, Carl Sandburg, Vachel Lindsay and Sarah Teasdale. Other American critics place Mr. Untermeyer on this list.

English was classified by the speaker as the most beautiful of dead languages. He thinks that within 100 years America will have made a new language for itself, which will necessitate two new dictionaries, one for the English and one for the American language.

FACULTY WOMEN ENTERTAIN FOR CHANCELLOR'S WIFE

Mrs. Melvin A. Brannon, wife of Chancellor Brannon of the State University, is the inspiration of many social functions which will be given in her honor this week.

Dean Harriet Rankin Sedman was hostess at a luncheon at the Blue Parrot today in honor of Mrs. Brannon. There were 16 invited guests.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. A. F. LeClaire will entertain at a bridge dinner at their home on Grand street for Chancellor and Mrs. Brannon. Covers will be laid for 20.

At 1:30 Wednesday afternoon Mrs. M. J. Elrod and Mrs. F. C. Scheuch will give a luncheon at the Florence hotel for Mrs. Brannon, and at 3:45 o'clock Mrs. Theodore Brantley will be hostess at an informal tea. The tea will be given in the west parlors of North hall.

This is Mrs. Brannon's fourth visit to the campus.

LENTZ TO LECTURE AT SMOKER TONIGHT

Judge Theodore Lentz of the district court will address members of the Law School association on "Legal Ethics" tonight in the law library at 7 o'clock. Outsiders are invited to listen to the talk.

Following Judge Lentz's talk a smoker will be given as a separate function by the Law School association for students in the Law school, according to Herbert Hoagland, who is in charge of the arrangements. Robert L. Housman of the Journalism school is scheduled to speak at the smoker on "Problems in Journalism Touching Law." Other features of the evening will be entertainment, including Charleston dancers and boxing matches. Refreshments will be served and music will be furnished by "The Westerners," directed by Oliver Malm.

Entire Student Body Will Proctor—Disciplinary Committee Selected

With the request that every student serve as a proctor and that a disciplinary committee composed entirely of students be allowed to pass on violations and recommend appropriate punishment to the deans' council, the faculty-student committee appointed early this quarter to probe the University's system of conducting examinations completed today a three-week executive session directed toward working out an emergency plan for tiding over the winter quarter quizes. The joint committee, which is composed of Dean Leaphart (chairman faculty committee), Miss Lucia Mirrieles, Dr. M. J. Elrod, Burley Miller, E. A. Atkinson, Woodard Dutton (chairman student committee), Marcia Patterson, Warren Maudlin, Archie Blair and Gid Boldt, accompanies the recommendation with the specific statement that the proposed measure be temporary and that a permanent resolution will be presented when the members have had sufficient time to work out a permanent system.

As a means of insuring efficiency and guaranteeing adequate supervision, more than a hundred student

RITCHEY TO INSTALL SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

Miss Hazel E. Ritchey, president of Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music fraternity, will arrive Wednesday to install the chapter at Montana, whose charter was granted last fall.

The local chapter was organized last spring quarter under the name of the Clef club. It was composed of music majors, or others who have shown special ability as musicians. Members of the fraternity, even while it was a local, were required to maintain a scholastic average of 25 grade points per quarter.

Sigma Alpha Iota is one of the most favorably known of honorary fraternities, and has chapters in many states.

Those who will be initiated as charter members of the new fraternity are Jean Cowan, president, Mrs. De Loss Smith, Miss Harriet Gardiner, Miss Bernice Berry, Lucille Rector, Dorothy Reeves, Helen Reeves, Mary Shope, Hildegarde Weisberg, Edith Daves, Ernel Malvern and Mary Elliott. Associate members and patronesses include Mrs. C. H. Clapp, Mrs. Arnoldson, Mrs. Leonard Larsen, Mrs. A. H. Weisberg and Mrs. Walter McLeod.

The regular meetings of the fraternity are to be held every second Tuesday at the practice house.

DIRECTORS CONTINUE DORMITORY POLICY

"There are practically no changes to be made in either Craig or North hall this quarter," said Monica Burke, director of halls, today. "The plans will be run as usual, and we plan on the same number of residents."

There will be one or two vacancies in North hall next quarter, which will be filled by new students entering the spring quarter. Applications have been received from several, and it is believed that both dormitories will be filled to capacity.

HIGH SCHOOL COACHES ASK FOR RESERVATIONS

Dean T. C. Spaulding, of the Forestry school, who is a permanent member of the faculty interscholastic committee, reports that he has already received many requests from coaches and principals of Montana high schools for quarters during the 23rd annual meet, which will be held at the University, May 12, 13, 14, 15.

"More interest is being shown for the welfare of the young athletes than ever before," said Dean Spaulding.

MASQUERS WILL HOLD ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Montana University's leading dramatic organization, the Montana Masquers, will meet for the last time this quarter in the University auditorium this evening at 7:30. Nomination of officers for the coming season and discussion of possible candidates for membership in the club will be the order of business.

The Masquers' club has been established on the University of Montana campus for at least eight years, but until recent years was merely a nominal organization. Any student taking part in a University major production automatically became a member of the dramatic club, with the result that the membership was very large. In May of last year, however, the active members reorganized, and officers were elected. Members are now picked from those who show ability either in the acting or in the producing staff of any University play. The group has at present a membership of 50 students, only seven of these being new members this year.

Produce Three Big Plays

So far this season three full-length productions and three one-act plays have been produced by the two dramatic clubs on the campus, the Montana Masquers and the University Players. Fifty-three students have acted in these productions, and 33 have been members of the various producing staffs, a total of 86 men and women. During the season 1924-25 three full-length and 15 one-act plays were presented, with 30 students in the producing staffs and 83 in the acting groups, totalling 113 Montana students.

The Masquers' constitution provides for an election of officers at the first meeting of the spring quarter.

MEN'S RIFLE TEAM SHOOTS CLOSE SCORES

Individual scores for last week made by the Men's Rifle team are Koch, 345; Turck, 336; Alling, 333; Davis, 332; Schroeder, 331; Werner, 328; Renaud, 323; Brown, 320; Rhude, 315; and Smith, 313.

Results have not yet been received from Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, University of Missouri, Western Maryland College, University of Tennessee, University of Kansas, Michigan State College, Texas College of M. and M. and Northwestern University, the other schools entered in the match.

There will be a dual shoot this week with Washington State College.

That the Voters May Know

MEMBERS of the state board of examiners yesterday authorized the local board of the University to borrow $50,000 for the construction of a new residence building. The hall is to cost in the neighborhood of $110,000 and of that amount $25,000 will be paid indirectly by the student body, since the $25,000 surplus from operation of the present dormitories will be used in construction. There will be available $45,000 from the bond fund and Missoula business men are expected to take the other $50,000 at 6 per cent on certificates of indebtedness.

While the state board was extremely charitable in authorizing the loan it was typically careful to safeguard the administration's reputation for economy by adding that approval was given on the understanding that the payments would not be "an obligation of the state, or the board of examiners, or board of education and will not be a lien on the property." In other words the board is willing to supply the rope, which in itself is not a very expensive item, but desires not to be an accomplice in the hanging.

Aside from questioning the advisability of erecting a hall in preference to constructing an auditorium, it is interesting from the point of view of student residents to note that in three years the dormitories have netted in the vicinity of $25,000.

The recommendation made public today by the student-faculty committee probing examination systems, can hardly fail to be satisfactory to everyone concerned. In view of the fact that it is temporary it should not meet with serious disapproval from the faculty and since it includes both student proctors and a student disciplinary board it could hardly be anything but desirable from the standpoint of the student body.

To our way of thinking the chief importance of the committee's report lies in the significance it will have as an experiment in student self-government. If the plan works out reasonably well it is barely possible that some form of an honor system may be given a trial in the near future.

Sunday morning members of the University Glee club returned to Missoula after giving a series of concerts in all of the principal cities of the state. Judging from the press reports covering the entertainments it is safe to say that the club scored the greatest hit it has made since its organization in 1913.

Dean DeLoss Smith, director, is to be congratulated for the remarkable ability he has shown in consistently turning out a well trained and capable group of songsters. That his efforts are appreciated throughout the state is evidenced by the fact that his pupils never fail to attract crowds wherever they go.

From the standpoint of advertising the annual Glee club trip is without doubt the best publicity medium the University has discovered. The fact in itself that the club is self-supporting is proof sufficient that it is a popular drawing card with Montana audiences.

REVIEWS of Books and Plays

Compliments are in order for the University Players on their presentation of Moliere's "Learned Ladies," last Friday night in the auditorium of Main hall. Considering the time they had to rehearse and the limitations imposed by the auditorium stage they did exceptionally well. Mr. Glick's casting talents were again in evidence, the players fitting with admirable naturalness into their interpretations. Every one of them gave exhibitions of splendid acting. The innovation of modern costuming aided the play rather than detracted from it. Another like it should put one-act tickets at a premium.

Bill Charteris was given a chance to scintillate in the part of that worthy but hen-pecked citizen Chrysale, and scintillate he did. His ability to assume a righteous but rather forced spirit of bravado that evaporated in the presence of his wife and his genial interpretation of the well-meaning old gentleman, were among the best things in the show.

Katherine Roach is another member of the cast who pleased. She, as the fussy little sister of Chrysale, who believed every man her lover, was one of the most laughable characters played in any show this year. The spirit with which she entered the part added a great deal to it.

Ben Garrison, the money-seeking poet, ran Miss Roach to a close race for first honors. His attitude and stage personality were so admirably suited to the part that there was no mistaking which part he was intended to take from the moment he appeared on the stage. Mary Mechling, as the positive wife of Chrysale, played her part well. Her speeches were clearly delivered and she showed a satisfactory understanding of her role.

Merle Cooney, as Henriette, Chrysale's young daughter, and John Bolton, as Clitandre, her lover, made an admirable pair for their parts in the play. Miss Cooney handled her lines in a quiet, assured manner and perfectly controlled action were pleasing. Dorothy Norton as Armande, the elder of Chrysale's daughters, had a rather difficult role to fill. She overacted her part a little at times, but the fault was the result rather of over-zeal than a lack of understanding. She did well. Dorothy Akin, as the uncultured but forceful serving maid, carried her part with distinction. Her speech in the last scene was particularly good.

Phil Henry as Ariste, brother of Chrysale, gave a thoughtful and clever interpretation of his part. His ready laughter and lack of self-consciousness made his work stand up well with that of the others.

The others, George Kiel, as the poet, Thomas Golden, as the man servant, and Edward Marsh as the Notary, did not have much time on the stage, but their parts were accomplished with all the perfection of minor detail that makes an unassuming part complete a play. None of these have appeared on the stage this year and their initial performances hold much promise for the future of dramatics at the University. The same thing may be said of the other new actors that are making their debuts through the minor productions. Dramatics at the University have taken great steps this year and with the present material to work with they should continue to grow and should become one of the strongest attractions of the school.

A word should be said about those who work behind the scenes. From nothing, they seem to be able to conjure full sets and effects of makeup and lighting that would credit the professional stage. In every production this year the mechanics have been admirably handled. A large part of this is due to Edmund Fritz, who has acted as stage manager for the shows, and to John Schroeder, who has supervised the lighting.

Poet Gives Views on Modern Youth

When asked what he thought of the younger generation, Louis Untermyer, hesitating answered here last night: "I don't think of anything else. I think there should be more of it, and the younger, the better."

Asked to express himself on why college women smoke, he answered, "If it weren't for cigars and cigarettes, women wouldn't smoke."

The interview runs, in part, as follows: Question—What has your critical self to say of your poetical self? Answer—My critical self has nothing to say of my poetical self. It, like Caesar's wife, is above suspicion.

Question—Do you approve of poets writing about Hot Afternoons in Montana? Answer—I do not approve of poets writing of high altitudes, and poets are always on the heights. I never could get the following words straight: altitudes, attitudes, latitudes, and platitudes.

Question—How far can a poet decently express himself? (He mistook the question for "expose" himself.) Answer—The poet, in his own words, rearranged his features, sat back in his chair, tossing his curly yellow locks and stroked his flowing beard, and continued—It depends on the situation. A poet never compromises—until he has to. You know, it depends on the circumstances.

Question—Is poetry still one per cent inspiration and 99 per cent distillation?

(The poet refused to answer this question, considering the last word a typographical error.)

Question—Do poets feel or think—most? Answer—What's that "most" doing where it doesn't belong? I think they feel. You see, they feel first and then they may think a little, but afterwards, if they think too much they get lost. Poetry is a state of feeling—MOSTLY. However, the "mostly" is a typographical error. All poetry begins with an emotion. The poet gropes first for a while. If the emotion is specific, it finds its idea, and the idea finds its words—then there's the emotion, the idea, and the words—a poet who is not serious is lost—yes, lost.

Question—What do you think of puns?

Answer—I'm strictly against puns, but I do like a sense of humor. Anyone who puns should be sentenced to "punal" servitude, and be drastically "punished." As for this sense of humor—nobody should have one.

Question—Do you think our younger authors are simply frank or frankly simple?

Answer—I think there is a new race of "frank" authors—Waldo, Glenn and others. The poet could not say anything about Frank N. Stein as he is not too well acquainted with Yiddish poets.

Mr. Untermyer said as an afterthought that he believed in the universe—and more of that, too.

Montana Fight

May 11, 1910

Montana field was crowded with cheering rooters.

The State College band marched gaily around the oval track.

Maroon, blue and green pennants rippled back and forth across the bleacher's surface.

Yells slipped through the driving rain to smash against Mount Sentinel. Down the cinder lane came the low hurdlers, with a green jersey in the lead.

The Mines had drawn first blood.

Three teams fought gamely for supremacy as the sun won its way through the thick clouds.

Then, the bell in the tower of old Main hall began to throb.

University, 65, College, 45, Mines, 16.

The Copper, Silver and Gold had triumphed in the first of the state intercollegiate triangular meets.

TALK about "alliteration's artful aid" . . . the printer certainly raided the "p" box that trip. But let that go! The advice is just as serious and sound as though it were couched in the careful diction of an English prof.

Just get yourself a jimmy-pipe and fill the bowl to the brim with Prince Albert. Light up, and let the first fragrant whiff tell you that no other tobacco is like P. A.—or can be! Cool and sweet and fragrant, P. A. has everything a fellow ever wished for in a smoke.

P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat. The Prince Albert process settled that in P. A.'s freshman year. Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. The first load-up will tell you why pipes are so fashionable among young men today.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

COMMITTEE CHOOSES NEW PROCTOR SYSTEM

Proctors will be chosen as well from the junior and senior classes to serve during the examinations. Reports violations both from students taking the examination and from the special proctors, will be turned in to a disciplinary committee, which will recommend punishment where conviction is secured. The committee, which usually amounts to a student self-governing court, is composed of G. W. Aldrich, chairman, Elsie Eminger, Jesse Taylor, Ross Parks and Andy Gswell. Enclosed in every blue book will be the following:

Students Asked to Report

"The examination is being conducted ed under a proctor system under which every student is charged, honor bound, to neither give nor receive assistance in any way, and with the further duty of reporting any cheating he or she may see. If you see any cheaters during this exam please fill out the blank below, sign, place it in the envelope supplied, seal the envelope and leave it in your blue book to be handed in with it. These reports will be turned over, sealed, to the members of the student disciplinary committee composed entirely of students, who will have exclusive charge of the investigation of those accused and their punishment, if proven guilty."

"The committee has worked hard to evolve a system which it thinks might serve efficiently through the coming examinations," said Woodard Dutton, chairman of the student committee, today, in commenting on the emergency plan. "While the recommendation is not permanent, committee deliberations in the future will be greatly influenced by the results of the experiment, which in reality is the first to be attempted along lines of self-government. I think if we can properly impress upon every student the importance of conscientiously assuming the duties connected with proctoring, the system will work out satisfactorily."

The committee will go to work immediately upon a permanent examination system, to be presented to the student body and faculty in complete form within the next few weeks.

Mrs. F. K. Turner was hostess to Mrs. Melvin A. Brannon, Dean Harriet Sedman and Mrs. Theodore Brantley at luncheon at Craig hall Monday.

Elsie Eminger was a dinner guest at Craig hall Sunday.

YMCA OFFICIAL TO GIVE TALKS

Organization Secretary to Lecture at Convocation and Downtown

B. M. Cherrington, student representative of the western region, YMCA, and former track coach at the University of Nebraska and football and basketball coach at the University of California, will speak at convocation Thursday at 10 o'clock in Main hall. Classes will be excused.

Mr. Cherrington has just returned from Europe and Asia and as he has had a great deal of contact with social conditions there, his topics will follow that line of thought. He will not only speak at convocation Thursday, but will hold an open forum in Main hall at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Friday from 10 to 11 o'clock he will talk to the classes in the School of Religion and at 2 and 3 will carry on discussions in Dr. Underwood's classes in sociology. Saturday at 6 o'clock he will address a joint meeting of the Student Volunteer group and the International club at the YWCA. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock he will talk at the Methodist church and that evening he will hold an open forum at the Community church. Mr. Cherrington will address Missoula labor unions Monday. Between lectures, students wishing to discuss problems with him, will find him in Rev. Young's office in the ASUM building.

He will spend from two to three weeks in Montana, visiting, besides Missoula, Billings, Bozeman, Helena and Butte. Rev. W. L. Young, University inter-church pastor, was instrumental in securing Mr. Cherrington to speak here.

Girls' Rifle Squad Meets Idaho Team

Team B is now leading in the Women's Intra-mural Rifle tournament. This team is composed of Kathleen O'Donnell, Ann Stephenson, Carma Cole, Marguerite McFadden and Thelma Bitts. Individual scoring in the tournament is lead by Kathleen O'Donnell, followed by Pearl Leonard, Agnes Getty, Anna Pederson and Carma Cole.

ROTC RIFLE TEAMS FIRING FOR MERCANTILE TROPHY

Firing for the Missoula Mercantile trophy, a silver loving cup, started Monday and will end Thursday, according to ROTC officers in charge of the match.

Opportunity of firing in the event is open to all members of the ROTC rifle team. The firing will consist of 10 shots each at prone, sitting, kneeling and standing positions. There will be two sighting shots for each position.

The cup will be awarded annually to the team making the highest scores. A permanent award will be made to the individual having the highest score for three consecutive years.

Helen Steehler, a resident at Craig hall, spent the week-end at her home in Anaconda.

Corwin Sharpe, '29, was released from St. Patrick's hospital yesterday morning, where he was taken after a slight attack of appendicitis.

Mildred Daniel, Myrtle Johnson, and Edith and Mildred Tash were Sunday dinner guests at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

Taking advantage of the meeting at the University Forestry school of forest teen Michigan foresters were present, some of them being out of town supervisors. Dean Spaulding was toastmaster. R. H. Weidman, vice-president of the Associated Michigan

Foresters' alumni, talked on formation and aims of the group. Others present were: John B. Taylor, R.

Trevor Ferguson and Lloyd Hornsby, forest

supervisors; Assistant District Forester

Wilfred W. White of the district offices; Fay Clark, Irvin Cook and Dorr Skeels of the University Forestry school.

"The University club was organized four or five years ago as an outgrowth of the Michigan Alumni, of whom there are about 25 in the city. The Michigan alumni are sponsors of the club and meet only when called upon by the University club. The organization stands behind all plans for furthering the interests of the University," said Dr. F. G. Dratz.

Loomis never dreamed he'd make a salesman

E. W. Loomis started life as a farmer boy—a real "dirt" farmer—as did his parents and grandparents before him.

Across the corn furrows, however, he would catch sight on the road of the only kind of engineer a farmer boy of that day saw—a civil engineer—and a civil engineer Loomis determined he would be.

At Delaware University, however, he got a job in the electrical laboratory—he also waited table, played football, wrestled, was commissary of the Commons, ran the battalion and did a number of other things, besides studying electrical engineering. One day a kindly professor said to him—"You understand men even better than you do electricity and engineering, why not go in for the sale of electrical apparatus?" Loomis liked the idea—came to Westinghouse—took the student course—then off to the New York Office as a "cub" salesman.

He worked—he always had—both on the farm and in college. In three years he was head of a section of the industrial sales department. By 1922 he was manager of the Industrial Division of the New York Office—charged with responsibility for the sale of Westinghouse apparatus to all industrial customers in New York State and in the northern half of New Jersey.

Loomis has fifty-two men working under his direction. It is barely eleven years since the wise old professor remarked to him—"Consider selling; it's a promising field."

GRIZZLY TRACK MEN HOLD FIRST PRACTICE

With 15 letter-men from last year and 17 other candidates in suits, the Grizzly track squad held its first outdoor practice yesterday afternoon under the supervision of Coach J. W. Stewart.

As the new track is not yet ready, the runners are traveling around the edge of the oval. The straightaway will be in condition by next week and the jumps will be ready for use within a few days. A mixture of cinders and clay is now being spread on the track and after this is rolled a light coating of cinders will complete the job.

Preparing for Spokane Meet
Coach Stewart is pointing his men for the quadrangular meet at Spokane, April 24. Should the Grizzlies be in condition for this contest a triumphant season is promised them, as Montana athletes have always been handicapped in early meets.

The surprise exit of Steve Hanson, crack two-miler of last year, is worrying Stewart. Hanson arrived last week and everyone expected him to register for the spring quarter, but instead he slipped out of town again without a word to anybody. He left for Texas, where he will enter an army aviation school.

BANDSTERS TO GIVE PROGRAM NEXT WEEK

Members of the University Grizzly band will hold their third and last concert of the year at the Missoula high school auditorium Wednesday evening, March 24. This will end the series of concerts given to raise funds for a state tour.

A definite program has not been arranged by those in charge—the definite schedule of numbers to be announced later. The first two concerts of the band, though a success from the musical standpoint, were not very successful in drawing a crowd. This last concert will be held in the evening to give everyone a chance to hear the best band in the history of Montana.

Influenza victims of the week-end are: Isabel Rogers, Gladys Erie, Dorothy Tipton, Chester Jackson and Pauline Neraal.

SPORTY-VENTS

Phillip Barber, captain of the California track team, is ineligible for the California-U.S.C. meet to be held in Los Angeles next Saturday, so Dean Hildebrand announced in Berkeley the other day. Barber is deficient in studies, Hildebrand declared.

Part of the rubberized covering purchased by the University of Illinois will be used this spring on the baseball diamond. The covering will be constructed in four sections and will cover the entire athletic field. It cost upwards of $10,000.

The U. S. Naval Academy track squad will participate in eight meets this season, concluding with the annual contests against West Point cadets at West Point, May 29.

Bob Malarkey, of Warrenton, Ore., star football player of O.A.C. in 1915-16, died last Saturday at the Fitzsimmons veterans' bureau hospital at Denver. Malarkey, who had the rank of a lieutenant, was gassed in France, and was admitted to the hospital at Denver two months ago, suffering from tuberculosis.

Since the Grizzly ball club began practicing outside four new pitchers and three outfielders have joined the squad. Brown, who pitched the H. O. Bell team of the amateur City league to a championship last summer, is out. A fast ball with lots of grit in the pinches are his chief assets. Wohl, Brewer and Johnson are the other hurling aspirants. They are making their first appearances for the Varsity, and little is known of their potential abilities. Jackson, Neidt and Wilson form the new trio in the garden competition.

"Long Shot" Hartwig copped second scoring honors in the western division of the Rocky Mountain conference with 145 points. Glynn, Winner and Cottam finished in 11th, 12th and 13th respectively. Glynn landed on the first all-divisional team, while Hartwig and Breeden made the second teams.

The basketball season is almost history, but it might be interesting to know the mythical all-Coast selections of Doc Bohler of W.S.C. They are:

First Team	Second Team
Schuss, Wash.	Watson, Cal.
Gunther, Ore.	Diwoki, O.A.C.
Higgins, Cal.	Okerberg, Ore.
Dixon, Cal.	Dorcey, U.S.C.
Westergren, Ore.	Nelson, Idaho

Spring is here. It won't be long before the hopeless birds taken south to the training camps will be migrating northward again.

Someone said that clothes and morals have a close connection in history. Well, there ain't many clothes these days.

Those wishing to report for frosh track will get a call after the new quater opens. However, it's not too early to start a little unsupervised training.

The bowling season is about to end, and at present the Sig Alphas and Phi Deltas are in a tie for first place. By taking two out of three games the A.T.O.'s eliminated the Phi Sigs from a chance at first honors. The scores of the last games are:

Phi Sigma Kappa	Alpha Tau Omega
Warden 133 94 109	Smith 133 169 138
Jones 154 168 125	Wold 152 150 190

UNIVERSITY MIXER REPLACES ART BALL

Lack of interest shown by the students was responsible for the postponement of the annual Art League ball, which was to be held in the men's gym Saturday evening, according to John Allen, manager of the dance. As the orchestra had been contracted for, an impromptu mixer was held in place of the ball.

There were numerous reasons offered for the lack of support by the students. The most outstanding ones were financial embarrassment and the failure to procure costumes.

The Art League ball will probably be held the middle of April. The Art League has expressed the hope that the students will cooperate in the future.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS WILL ENTERTAIN FACULTY

Members of the Foods 21 class will entertain at a reception this afternoon at 4:15 in the Home Economics dining room of the Natural Science building. Velma Rhodes is in charge of the reception, having Margaret Maddock and Sally MacDonald as her assistants. The other members of the class will assist in serving and entertaining.

The guests of the reception will be Miss Helen Gleason, Miss Anne Platt, Miss Lucia Mirreles, Miss Bernice Berry, Miss Mary Laux, Dr. Edward Bennett, N. B. Beck, Herman Deutsch, Carl Glick and J. H. Ramakall, all members of the faculty.

Mary Corbley, who attended the state basketball tournament in Bozeman last week, returned to North hall Sunday evening.

GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT AT WILMA

baritone has never failed to please his hearers.

Miss Bernice Berry, accompanist of the Glee club for six years, is assistant professor of music at the University. She has studied under Vernon Spencer, Boyd Wells, and C. D. Cady. While at the University of Minnesota, Miss Berry was piano soloist with the University orchestra.

Other soloists who will be heard Wednesday evening are: Harold Craven, bass, whose solos have caused much favorable comment while on tour with the club, and Alton Bloom, a violinist for whom critics predict a brilliant future. Both men are appearing as soloists for the first time this year.

Among the features of this season's offering are a novelty orchestra, "The Grizzly Pepsters," composed of Lewis Nichols, saxophone, Maurice Driscoll, piano, and Vernon Krogh, banjo. They specialize in popular dance music, and include a Charleston demonstration by James Christian and Alton Bloom in their entertainment.

DIRECTOR

Washington J. McCormick's comedy skit, "Putting It Over," written as a take-off on Montana's troubles in selecting a football coach, is another feature that has drawn the admiration of all who have heard it.

The Varsity quartette this year inaugurates a new custom for that organization in singing "Sands o' Dee," a song that is neither funny nor of the ballad type. This number has never failed to receive generous applause.

The club is smaller this year than in previous years, numbering only 20 men, who are: Arthur Schroeder, Robert Nofsinger, Milton Brown, and James J. Christian, first tenors; Wm. Donald Moore, Leonard W. Brewer, Harold E. Gillespie, Robert Calloway, and Harold Sunderlin, second tenors; John Ryan, Maurice Driscoll, Lewis Nichols, Ossian R. MacKenzie, and Emil Blumenthal, first bass; and Harold Craven, Chester J. Eugene, Vernon Krogh, Lamar Dickinson, and William Caldwell, second bass. The Varsity quartette includes Robert Nofsinger, Leonard Brewer, Emil Blumenthal, and Harold Craven, as first tenor, second tenor, first bass, and second bass, respectively.

With some minor changes the program given in Missoula will be the same as those given while the club was on the trip. For the Missoula concert it will be as follows:
