ETHICS CENTER ANNOUNCES SPRING 2004 'PEC PRESENTS' SERIES

MISSOULA-

The first seminar in the Practical Ethics Center's spring 2004 "PEC Presents" series is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 2, at The University of Montana.

Matt Gibson, Missoula Independent publisher, will discuss "Monday Morning Quarterback: Second-Guess the Publisher of the Independent." All seminars are free and open to the public, and are held from 12:10 to 1 p.m. in Gallagher Business Building Room L14.

Other seminars are scheduled throughout the semester, including:

- March 1 -- "Being a Zealous Advocate and Still Doing Justice," Karen Townsend, deputy county attorney, Missoula County.
- March 15 -- "Selfish or Selfless? Physicians Confront Epidemics," Herbert Swick, executive director, Institute of Medicine and Humanities.
- April 5 -- "Gender and Ethics in Native American Studies," Kate Shanley, chair, UM Native American Studies.
- April 19 -- "Ethics of Large Carnivore Conservation," Hank Fischer, special projects coordinator, National Wildlife Federation.
- May 3 -- "Moral Vegetarianism: What's Love Got to Do with It?" Deborah Slicer, associate professor, UM Department of Philosophy.

"PEC Presents" brings professionals and students from the campus and community
