TICKETS ARE NOW ON SALE FOR OPENING OF "BAD MAN"

First Play in Little Theater Will Last Two Days Starting Tomorrow

"Seats for the opening of the Little Theater are selling fast, reports John Bolton, who is in charge of the ticket sale. The ASUM store has been selected as the official ticket office until the opening of the campus playhouse tomorrow night.

According to present indications, "The Bad Man" will have at least a three-day run. Up to this time most of the tickets for the opening performance have been sold and the Thursday night sale bids well to equal it.

The famous Porter Emerson Browne comedy, which was chosen as the first number for presentation in the theater, has caused almost nationwide approbation through its presentation with the various professional companies. Various theater magazines have carried long reviews of the play and have been almost universal in their praise.

According to these, it is a rapid-fire comedy, filled with thrills and unusual wit. In addition to this there is an extremely interesting love story woven through the fabric of the plot.

Work Completed

Carpenters and electricians have completed the last finishing touches on the building, and the work of decoration has been completed.

A story which was syndicated some time ago in one of the theater news service sheets, has brought an unprecedented number of inquiries about the University theater to Carl Glick, director of dramatics. Numerous schools and colleges around the country have sent in letters asking as to the theater's size, capacity, finance, decorations and lighting. When the doors are opened tomorrow night the University of Montana will be permanently fixed as a point in the theatrical world.

Pictures of the building interior and members of the cast will probably be taken some time during the latter part of the week. These pictures will accompany stories to the leading theater magazines.

TANAN ORGANIZATION HAS RECEPTION PLANNED FOR RETURNING GRIZZLY TEAM

According to Miss Harriet Johnston, president of Tanans, that organization is intending to be at the depot to greet the Grizzly football team when it returns from its California invasion.

University students will recall that it was through the unceasing efforts of the Tanans that interest was aroused among the students in getting them to go to the depot to give the team the peppy sendoff it received when it left for California.

The Tanans are expecting the co-operation of the students in meeting the team when it returns to Missoula. Tanans will hold their weekly meeting Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock in the west parlor of North hall. All Tanans are urged to be present.

E. Jackson, class leader. Friday night the pledges, with the exception of Clyde Hunt, were formally initiated into the fraternity.

Wednesday evening, December 1, the organization will give a mixer for all men taking pharmacy. The get-together will be held in the Old Science hall and a smoker, cards and refreshments will be features of the affair.

YEAR BOOK TO SHOW GROWTH OF SCHOOL

Sentinel Will Be Off Press About May 15, According to Editor MacKenzie

The 1927 Sentinel, University year book, published by the junior class, will be off the press about May 15, according to the editor of this year's publication. The theme of this year's annual portrays the growth and development of the State University since its opening in 1895.

By the means of photographs and sketches, as well as by appropriate write-ups, the development of Montana's largest institution of higher education will be shown. Pictures of all the graduating classes, as well as pictures of early campus organizations, will be used in carrying out the theme.

A special athletic section including pictures of all the captains of University football teams is to be featured. One portion of the athletic section is to be devoted to former football teams. There will also be a short resume of Grizzly-Bobcat gridiron clashes.

Book to Be Larger Than Ever

The 1927 year book will be larger than that of 1926, and one of the largest ever published at the State University. The 1926 annual, edited by Robert Warden, was classed as all-American for schools of less than 1,500 students, by the Arts and Crafts Review.

Contracts for engraving have been let out to the Buckbee-Mears company of St. Paul. It is the hope of the Sentinel staff to have the printing and binding done within the state. Printing specifications have been made and sent out to five of the leading printing establishments in the state, so that they may bid in competition for the work.

TEAMS ARE CHOSEN FOR SWIMMING MEET

Class Representatives Compete for Honors in Girls' Contests

Class swimming teams were chosen last week. So few girls turned out for the sophomore and junior classes that the teams were combined. Those making the teams are as follows: Freshmen—Edwards, Flannery, Keefe, Kiehl, Nicky, MacMahon, Wakefield and Lois Wood. Senior—Lease, Lentz, O'Donnell, Quast, and Peterson. Sophomore—Junior—Barrows, Clay, Gerdicia, Ingersoll, Nash, Richardson, and Veatch.

The first swimming meet will be held tonight in the University pool at 7:45 between the Senior and the Sophomore-Junior teams. The officials for this meet will be: Referee, Miss Bigelow; clerk of the course, Margaret Sterling; announcer, Stella Skulason; scorers, Elsie Brown and Lucille Rector; judges, Mary Joe Dixon, Elizabeth Veach, and Anne Stephenson; timers, Jack Crutchfield and Maureen Desmond.

The next meet will be held November 30 between the Freshmen and the Sophomore-Junior teams. The last one will be held between the Seniors and the Freshmen on December 2. A charge of 10 cents will be made for those watching the contests. Men will be excluded from all of the meets except the championship.

DEAN SEDMAN ATTENDS VOCATIONAL CONGRESS

More than 200 girls, two seniors representing each of the high schools in the state, attended the annual girls' vocational congress in Bozeman last week, according to Dean Harriet Rankin Sedman, who was present at the meeting. Talks were given by Mrs. Erickson of Helena, Miss Dickinson of Roundup, and Mrs. Wiggenshorn of Billings. Mrs. Sedman also made a brief speech.

LEGAL DAILY IS ADDED TO LAW LIBRARY FILES

The law library has subscribed to The United States Daily, a legal newspaper published in Washington, D. C. This is the only daily paper to be found in that library and contains nothing but serious matter. The motto of the paper, to be found on the first page, is "All the Facts—No Opinion." There are no cartoons or signs of levity in its pages, crime charts and graphs taking the place of pictures.

THANKSGIVING COMES BUT ONCE A YEAR. THIS YEAR IT COMES ON THE DAY MONTANA PLAYS THE TROJANS.

The wires will be hot with reports from California on this game. YOU KNOW, and I know that after a heavy meal it is wise to sit still and rest. Why not do your resting at the LIBERTY THEATER and listen to The play-by-play Reports of the fray?

BARRISTERS LIMIT NUMBER OF DANGERS

Students May Get Tickets for Annual Ball Now; Will Only Sell One Hundred

"Certificates of eligibility to practice before the Barrister's Court of the Winter Garden district, in and for the Law school of the University of Montana," can be procured this afternoon and until they are gone, at the Law school library.

In other words, the limited sale of tickets to the Barrister's Ball, to be held December 3, at the Winter Garden, will start today.

"As there are about 45 law students who will buy tickets, this limits the number for sale to the rest of the students to 70," states Herbert Haugland, manager of the formal. "It would be wise to be among the first to get the tickets so as to be assured of the opportunity of going," he says.

Committees have ordered serpentine and fun-makers and balloons will be released from a large net in the middle of the hall. This is the first time that such a novelty has been used at a University dance.

Sheridan's 10-piece orchestra has been engaged for the event and entertainers are working on several new features to be used for the first time at this dance.

Symphony Orchestra Will Present Concert in Main Hall Soon

Professor A. H. Weisberg's University Symphony orchestra will make its first appearance of the year a week from tomorrow night in the University auditorium. The program prepared is an interesting one, according to Professor Weisberg, conductor of the orchestra. In addition to the regular orchestra numbers, there will be several baritone solos by DeLoss Smith, dean of the School of Music, and some violin solos by Alton Bloom, Ernel Malvern and Mary Shope.

The first of the solos to be sung by Professor DeLoss Smith will be "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves," by Handel. Later in the program will come three famous love songs, "She Never Told Her Love," by Hayden; "Devotion," by Strauss; and "I Love Her," by Grieg.

This is the first concert of its seventh season for the Symphony orchestra. The concert will be given under the auspices of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority. There will be a charge of 50 cents for the concert, which will begin at 8:15 o'clock, December 1.

The next evening the program will be repeated in Hamilton, where the orchestra will play under the auspices of the local high school.

GUILD WILL PRESENT "DARKNESS AND LIGHT"

Members of the Westminster Guild are presenting a pageant entitled "Darkness and Light" at the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening at 7:30.

There are several University girls taking part in the production, which has about 30 girls in the cast. The proceeds from the pageant will be used as the annual contribution of the guild to a missionary fund.

There will be no Kaimin this Friday. Due to the fact that there is no school on Thursday, the staff felt that they would declare a holiday too. Thank you.

FORESTRY BULLETIN ISSUED BY SCHOOL

Montana Forests Described Extensively in Publication to Be Off Press Soon

Forest resources of the state, producers and consumers of forest products, importance of the forests and forest industries, and Montana's forest problems are some of the topics discussed in a survey compiled by the State University Forest school and District 1 of the federal forest service co-operating. It is in the hands of the publishers and will be out the first of the year.

This bulletin is the first attempt to make a complete survey of the state's forest resources and industries. The board of editors consists of S. V. Fullaway, Jr., chief of the Forest Products office of the Northern division of the federal forest service and a graduate of the University of Nebraska; C. M. Whitney, also in the Forest Products office and a graduate of the University of Michigan; and R. N. Cunningham, of the University of Idaho Forest school.

Forestry School Assisting

The Montana Forest school is directing the publication of the survey and the teaching staff plans to use it as a reference in classroom work. It may also be used in the same capacity in the Geography and Natural Resources of Montana course.

The pamphlet contains more than a hundred pages giving the location and approximate stands of the nine chief species of trees in Montana with plates showing transverse sections of each, a survey of the saw mills, wood using industries, preserving plants, retail lumber dealers and forest agencies with one chapter dealing exclusively with forest problems peculiar to Montana.

WESTERN RADIO FANS HEAR KUOM CONCERTS

Former Captain of Signal Service Declares University Set Among Best

Prof. G. D. Shallenberger, director of KUOM, has recently received letters from California, Washington, Oregon and Minnesota, saying that Montana programs had been received by local sets and were exceptionally clear.

WRBM, the Chicago Post station, interferes greatly with the reception of KUOM programs in the mid-west due to its stronger power. It is planned to change the power amplifier of the local set to obtain a deeper modulation, which will make the programs clearer. "We are unable to distribute our programs over Montana as widely as we would like, due to the interference of Mount Sentinel and the surrounding ranges," stated Mr. Shallenberger.

Mr. Wilson, a former captain of the signal service, who received his radio instruction at Columbia university, visited the station Monday and declared it to be one of the best university sets he had ever seen.

CHORUS OF "PINAFORE" WORKS ON REHEARSALS

"Rehearsals for the chorus of 'Pinafore' started last week," said DeLoss Smith, director of the choruses, yesterday. "Surprising progress has been made in the few rehearsals held so far, and it is expected that the choruses will be in shape by the first part of next month."

Thus far this is practically the only actual rehearsing which has been gone through with in preparation for the presentation of "Pinafore" in the Little Theater some time next month.

Miss Frances Corbin, Miss Lucia Mirrieles and Betty Peterson were dinner guests at the Alpha Phi house Sunday.

Guests in sorority houses should be prevailed upon to keep AWS rules, it was announced at a meeting of the executive board yesterday afternoon. In the future, house mothers will have power to grant late permission, if they want to stay up to see that everyone is in, as is required.

There will be no Pan-Hellenic meeting this week, it was announced yesterday. The next meeting of the council will be held the Wednesday after Thanksgiving.

MONTANA YEAR BOOK GIVEN HONOR RATING

1926 Sentinel Scores High in the All-American Annual Contest

Robert Warden, editor of last year's Sentinel, has received a certificate from the Central Interscholastic Press association notifying him that the Sentinel was rated as an all-American year book in the sixth annual contest of the association held at the University of Wisconsin in September.

The Sentinel received this honor as a member of the group of annuals published by schools with an enrollment of 700-1,299. The annual contest of the C.I.P.A. is sponsored for hundreds of school publications by the University of Wisconsin.

Out of a possible perfect score of 1,000 points, the Sentinel was given 940. The points are given on the merits of the cover, binding and end sheets; special departments and features; standard departments; literary content; originality of art work; make-up, typography and advertising; and mechanical production. The association likewise awards a bonus of 100 points to any year book whose financial statements show that all financial obligations have been or will be met satisfactorily. These points were added to the score given Montana's publication.

Ratings Made to Schools

Five ratings are made in each division of schools, the other awards being first, second, third, and fourth class honor ratings. The final award was made to the Sentinel on its total score, which was 1,040 points, but the real worth of the book is judged by the score without the bonus, or 940 out of a possible 1,000 points.

The binding and printing on the 1926 year book was done by the Tribune Printing and Supply company of Great Falls; the engraving by the Buckbee-Mears Engraving company of St. Paul, and the photographs by the Curtis Studio (Matthew E. Youngberg), St. Paul.

FACULTY STUDIES HARD ON FALL BOOK ORDERS

"Faculty members are working hard to get in their book orders," said Miss Gertrude Buckhous, librarian. They must all be in by next week.

"We send about two orders a year," she said. "Our biggest order goes just about this time of year—before the holidays. Each department knows how much money it has allotted, and orders accordingly."

Gamma Epsilon Pi Pledges Members

Gamma Epsilon Pi, women's national honorary commerce fraternity, announces the pledging of Alfreda Ellis of Twin Bridges and Bernice Evans of Missoula.

Craig Wilcox, ex '26, has recently returned from Potrillos, Chile, South America, where he was in the employ of the Andes Copper company. He was taken ill with typhoid fever while in Chile, and his return is to facilitate his recovery from this attack.

Reports to Start at 3:30; Liberty Theater; Students Admitted Free

While Montana's husky Grizzlies are battling the U.S.C. Trojan warriors Thanksgiving day at Los Angeles, students and town people in Missoula will have an opportunity to hear play-by-play reports on the progress of the game. A special wire furnished by the Western Union and leased to the ASUM will carry the dops to the Liberty theater where it will be announced and the play carried out on the miniature gridiron. There will be no charge to students but a 25-cent admission to townspeople. The returns will start at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Through the kindness of Mr. E. K. Taylor, manager of the Wilma theater, the Liberty theater was secured at a small cost to cover light and heat. The cost of leasing the wire was cut to half of the cost for the California Aggie game reports because the expense of building an extension to the stadium was not incurred as there is an extension to the field at Los Angeles.

"The courtesy of Mr. Taylor and the comparatively light expense of securing the wire service makes it possible for the ASUM to give this accommodation to the students," said Burritt Smith, president of the student body. A small charge will be made to townspeople.

As the reports do not start until 3:30 o'clock there will be ample time for everyone to eat a hearty Thanksgiving dinner and then hear the game over the wire.

AWS WANTS TOWN GIRLS TO FOLLOW SAME RULES AS DORMS AND HOUSES

At a meeting of the executive board of the Associated Women Students, the problem of regulation of the town girls was discussed.

The out-of-town girls feel that it would further a better feeling of harmony and friendliness among all of the girls of the University if the townspeople would comply with the same rules as do the out-of-town women.

It is asked of the parents of the girls living in town, that they co-operate with AWS in enforcement of the following rules:

1. Hours, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday—10:30. Friday, Saturday—12:15.
2. Members shall not enter fraternity houses unchaperoned.
3. Senior girls, by virtue of their rank, are placed upon their own responsibility if they do not abuse their privilege. Seniors are not to have men in their respective houses later than 10:30 on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights or later than 12:15 on Friday and Saturday nights.

SOPHOMORE HONORARY TO GIVE ANNUAL DANCE SECOND WEEK IN JANUARY

Bear Paws, sophomore men's honorary organization, held their regular meeting Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in room 107 in Main hall.

The principal business discussed was about the annual Bear Paw dance. It was decided to hold the dance the second Friday of next quarter. According to Art Burns, Chief Grizzly, "this dance will be a novelty dance and prizes will be given." The committee appointed to take charge of the dance is: Fred Ironside, Tom Herring, and Doug Thomas.

Bear Paws, at the request of the business men of Missoula, were in charge of the football game which was played last Saturday afternoon between Missoula and Butte.

Not Friday

IT HAS been whispered to us and then, we understand, talked about the campus, that Friday is to be a holiday. Rather, it was to be called a Sneak day.

There seems to be some misunderstanding on the part of the student or students who made that statement, for there has been no official sanction of such a holiday. It is true that perhaps the students could revive the old Sneak day, but it seems most impractical to do so at this time.

Sneak day was at one time in vogue at Montana. In those days these seemed to be some reason for sneaking. Finally the day was substituted for Varsity day, which as this generation of students know, was anything but successful. Then the day was dropped from the calendar because of the lack of necessary student support.

There is little reason to believe that students would honestly support a Sneak day at this time of the season. Were it spring, early fall or summer, no doubt the day would be worth considering. Then, too, it would be rather silly to just take a day off from classes without any excuse whatsoever. If Montana wins from U.S.C. Thanksgiving day, no doubt we would have some argument to advance, but under the circumstances we believe a holiday at this time would be hindering our chances in the future.

We're Thankful

THE Grizzlies mean business down in California. We found that out last Saturday when they trimmed the California Aggies to a neat little tune.

Turkey day will see the Montana football season come to a close in what is expected to be the biggest and best game of the season for the Grizzlies. We do not pretend to be optimistic about the outcome of such a contest, but we feel free in saying that the Trojan of California is going to get a real run for his money.

Under the able guidance of Coach Frank Milburn, the Grizzly squad has advanced until now it may be considered a serious threat to any of the Coast conference schools. The team has shown wonderful improvement since the opening of the season, this advancement being accomplished through the untiring efforts of Montana's new gridiron mentor.

The game in California will not only be the last one of the conference season, but will be the last contest for five Grizzly fighters, namely, William Kelly, Milton Ritter, Andrew Cogswell, Carl Martinson and Walter Burrell. These five men are completing a glorious year for Montana. They have been a part of a great machine, and will be dearly missed in the lineup next fall.

Good luck, gang.

Tomorrow, at last, Montana will formally open her Little Theater with the presentation by the Montana Masquers of "The Bad Man". The show will run Wednesday and Thursday nights, and possibly Friday night if patrons so desire.

Those who have not seen the Little Theater since its completion are in for a real treat tomorrow or Thursday nights. It is the best equipped campus theater in the west. The curtains, lighting effects and general appearance are indeed pleasing to the eye.

The Montana Masquers are practically assured of success in their future entertainments, since the campus theater will aid greatly in the producing and financing of future productions.

COMMUNICATION

It is a peculiar habit of the American people to over-eat on that day which is set aside each year for Thanksgiving. University students are no exception to this perhaps unlabeled but comforting habit. The love of certain so-called "unalienable rights" is attributed to the American people also. Again University students are no exception to the rule. If these things are true then, and the student sees fit to consider a vacation the day after Thanksgiving as one of his "rights", it is rather a wonder that the powers-that-be deem it necessary to hold school on Friday, November 23. A full stomach and a belligerent mind are not conducive to the absorption of academic knowledge. Neither is an instructor, who, the day before ate with the abandon of the wicked, able to look into the sleepy countenances of his students and cast out pearls of wisdom of any material, spiritual or esthetic value—without a shudder. Apparently everybody is out of step but Charlie. If the mere fact that the University cannot afford to miss that day, then a substitute day at the first of the quarter would not be amiss. Other schools do it and it's one instance where we wouldn't mind following the crowd. The west has always been noted for its democracy.

It is not the contention that every thing the student thinks is right, but at the same time he is not always wrong. It is accepted that youth needs a hand to help it along—to guide it, if you please, but it hardly seems necessary that such a hand should be pushing back all the time. It is the general feeling of the student body that faculty admonition is becoming autocratic in its power. Events in the past few years would seem to prove this. The Women's Self Government association has been changed to the discreet Associated Women Students. Sneak day was changed to Varsity day and that dwindled down to a dance in the evening which, if history repeats itself, will entirely disappear next year. Hi-Jinx, because of the indiscretions of a few, has been abolished. The ASUM, as far as having a real voice in the government of the school, is a myth. Our student officers are receiving some ideal diplomatic training which is not without its value, but hardly in keeping with the supposed functions of a student body. Everyone is deploring the fact that we have no school spirit, but the necessary cooperation between student and faculty is missing, and it is an unusual student that can throw out his chest and shout "hurrah for everything" when at the same time he is thinking that "there ain't no justice."

MELVIN LORD.

CRACK SQUAD BUSY WITH NEW DRILL; LEAKY IN CHARGE

"Practice started last week for the crack squad on a new kind of drill," said Captain R. M. Caulkins of the Military Science department. "It is called the Zouave drill, and is used by a great many crack squads throughout the country. It is much after the type of drill used by Masonic and similar drill teams."

Lieutenant L. N. Leaky of, Fort Missoula, is teaching the movements of the new drill to the squad, after which they will practice until they perfect the maneuvers.

The last two men to try out for the men's rifle team will shoot for score today, according to Lieutenant H. J. LaCroix, assistant professor of military science. When these scores have been compared with the ones already fired, it will be possible to announce the members of the team.

Bedtime Bunk

BY WALT

This is the story of why a turkey is a turkey and not a chicken.

Once upon a Thanksgiving day, Paul the Pilgrim of Plymouth was bustling along home from church with his daughter Arabella, when they heard much gobbling in the wood.

"Hark ye, maid; What freakish fowl is that?" asked the father, constraining Arabella, and pointing to a bird down by the creek.

"Forsooth, father, I know not," answered Arabella.

"Alas, lass! It hath devilish ways. See, maid, how it struts. 'Tis a boasting bird, a funny fowl. Answer, Arabella, what manner of step is that?"

"But, father—"

"Answer me!"
"Why—it's the heel-scraps, that Johnny the journeyman was showing me down by the gas house the other night."
"What! My daughter at the gas house?" frowned the father. "What will the men of Plymouth say?"
"But, father, it's being done. See how I step it. Everybody's doing it. Johnny called it the turkey-trot."
"Enough! Enough! 'Tis forbidden, and that bird struts much too much on such a day," popped Paul, and he up and pumped a box of shells out of his Winchester and the feathers flew.

At home that day they put the chicken in the ice box for Sunday and feasted on the funny fowl instead, and called it turkey, for it trotted.
No stones, please.

Mrs. J. E. Patton of Great Falls will arrive in Missoula Wednesday night to visit her daughter Ethel at North Hall.

—but why choose your life-work that way?

YOU'D laugh at a man who couldn't make up his mind which colors to back. But isn't that about the way a good many men start out on their careers?

All through college the most important study a man can select is himself—to find out by self-analysis and experience what is his particular aptitude and what work he should get into after college.

It's a good rule to talk this over with the faculty and with men out in industry to get all the guidance you can in "finding yourself"—because your whole happiness and effectiveness in your career is at stake.

Doc. Rowe Threatens Campus With New Fad

"Open the old cigar box, get me a Davis stout."

"For things are running crossways—why hello, Reginald, come on over to the store; I want you to try one of Dr. Rowe's imported cheroots."

"Neewah, methinks it is your voice which emanates from behind the smoke screen. What mean you by the exotic word, cherry-roots—is it a new snifter that Mac is handing out? Brush aside the enveloping clouds and come down from Olympus, Neewah, I seek illumination."

"Reginald, for a fraternity man your ignorance of things worth-while is appalling. A cheroot is a homely-made cigar; but for the volume of smoke to the inch the Davis 1886 has amazing possibilities. By special request from Doctor Rowe, Mac has stocked the campus store with the inimitable half-brother to La Dez. They come high, Reginald, almost equivalent to a formal date, but you want to remember, Reggie, that Kipling was indulging in no pipe-dream when he said, 'A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke.'"

Tom Meigher of Butte was a visitor at the Sigma Nu house over the week-end.

SMACK

All on a Starlight
Night

All too soon they stood on her doorstep. It had been a wonderful night for both of them. And now they had to part.

Discreet clouds blotted out the prying eye of the moon, and the merrily twinkling ones of the stars. (It was all old stuff to them.) The street-light on the corner dimmed, and dimmed, giving them time and friendly darkness in which to say good-night in the time-honored way.

"Darling, (smack) you've been simply wonderful tonight (smack). (Smack) First the game, (smack) then the dinner, (smack) then the dance, (smack) then the supper, (smack) and now to think that you have to leave me." (Smack, smack.) "That's all right, honey. You're been a perfect little peach. You're the sweetest little girl I've ever known. I love you." (S-s-s-smack.)

"And to think that you've got to go to that horrid old quiz tomorrow. (Smack.) Well, good-night, dear. I'm just terribly glad to have met you, and I hope I'll see you again, sometime." (Smack.)

"Yeh, me too. I'll call you up, sometime."

These blind dates do mature rather rapidly, don't they?

Emma Quast and Jack Crutchfield will leave for their homes in Corvallis and Hamilton Thursday morning, where they will pass Thanksgiving and the week-end.

GRIZZLIES SET FOR TROJAN GAME ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Fans Will See Coast's High Score Men in Action in Kelly and Kaer

Full of pep and enthusiasm after their decisive victory over the California Aggies, the Grizzly crew is in the pink of condition to give the strong Trojan eleven a hard battle on Thanksgiving day at Coliseum field.

Chinske was the only one to receive injury in last Friday's game and he very likely will be in condition to start in the Saturday fray. The remainder of the squad is in fine condition and the Sacramento game proved to be merely a primer to flood the engine for the Turkey day classic. After seeing the southern team in action, the Montana crew should be in a position to turn back the Trojan crew and register a Montana victory.

The Trojans will be a much stronger foe than the California Aggies and the Montana team will be forced to play their best game of the season in order to defeat the California aggregation. The Trojans have every advantage, outweighing our team, having more experience and playing on their home field.

Except for their defeat by "Pop" Warner's Stanford team, the Trojans have had a very good season, winning seven out of eight games. Following are the scores of the Trojan games: Whittier college 0, U.S.C. 74; Santa Clara 0, U.S.C. 42; Washington state college 7, U.S.C. 14; Occidental 6, U.S.C. 28; California 6, U.S.C. 27; Stanford 13, U.S.C. 12; Oregon Aggies 7, U.S.C. 17; Idaho 6, U.S.C. 28. The Trojans have piled up a total of 242 points to their opponents' 45.

The Trojan attack is led by Morton Kaer, quarterback, who is second high scorer of the conference, and who has been a threat to every team that he has faced except Stanford, which succeeded in stopping his long end runs. The southerners have a strong offensive team which, if allowed to get beyond the forward wall, will do a lot of damage and is certain to make good gains before being downed as it has almost perfect interference.

The Montana team has improved almost 100 per cent since their first game of the season and should put up their best battle Thursday as it is their last game of the season and the last battle in which Kelly, Ritter, Cogswell, Martinson, and Burrell will fight as Grizzly pigskin artists. The Montana team will show a strong offensive as well as a splendid defensive. Coach Milburn has worked his crew hard the last few weeks in advancing the ball and his efforts have been fulfilled as can be seen in the two last games that the Montana team has played.

Student Schemers Employ Telephone in Fooling Victim

In a quiet, secluded room, a group of students crouched about a telephone. Their eyes shone with devilish glints, and they smoked endless cigarettes, nervously, fiercely. Someone should suffer, to provide fodder for their Sadiatic sense of humor. They grinned and frowned, alternately, as they thought of various schemes to cause pain to some unsuspecting victim. At last after bickering and quarreling, a heavy, portentous silence fell. A saturnine-faced individual picked up the phone. "One night—another night—two nights," said the heavy, booming voice.

"Hello, is Blank Whozis there? Call him to the phone, please."

"Hello, Whozis? Dean of men speaking. I want you to come to my office tomorrow at 9 o'clock, and tell me why the girl with whom you were riding the other night was walking home alone at 11 o'clock."

"Why—I never—Dean—I—"

The receiver clicked in his ear, and the howls of laughter that emanated from the little room called the brothers out in force to hear the story.

But, not so far away, a student was hurriedly packing his suitcase.

Mrs. Charles H. Clapp spoke to the girls of North hall on "Charm" Monday night at their house meeting.

Olga Hammer, '30, of Valier, will leave Wednesday for Kellogg, Idaho, to visit relatives and friends.

There are 26 girls from North hall spending Thanksgiving and the weekend at their homes and with friends.

FIGHTING GRIZZLIES DEFEAT MUSTANGS BY LARGE SCORE

Wild Bill Kelly Thrills Fans —21 to 0 Tells Story of Game

With a determination to show the California fans that the University of Montana has a fighting football aggregation and one that is hard to conquer, the Grizzlies scratched and clawed their way to a 21-0 victory over the California Aggies in their first of a two-game series in the south.

Captain Kelly and his co-partners thrilled the California fans who ventured out in the wet weather to see a northern crew play a stellar brand of football. Playing on a soggy field, the Mustangs were outclassed in every department of the game by the tri-color team. Every member of the Grizzly team played smart football, each being a necessary cog in a well-oiled machine. The line charged well, making big holes for the ball toters.

The backfield maneuvered in perfect rhythm, making gains almost at will, several times getting away for long runs. Had the field been in good condition, the Montana aggregation would have easily doubled the score, according to reports from the Farmers' camp.

Grizzlies Start Early

After three minutes of playing the Grizzlies registered their first touchdown, when Kelly, after a 31-yard run, carried the ball over from the 4-yard line. Early in the second quarter the Montana crew registered their second score. Kelly carried the ball over after Ritter and Davis had put the ball in scoring position with neat gains through the center of the line on a 40-yard march. The Grizzlies failed to score in the third quarter, although the period was played altogether in California territory. In the last quarter, after Coach Milburn had made a number of substitutions, the Californians made their only spurt of the game, but the advance was short-lived. Lederer, Aggie fullback, fumbled a punt on his 10-yard line. Montana failed to make the necessary yardage but registered a safety against the Mustangs when the southern team was given the ball. The Montana crew made a steady drive from midfield for their final touchdown of the game, Kain, Ritter and Davis carrying the ball to the California 15-yard line where Kelly took it over on the fourth gain through center. Kelly converted the extra point after the third touchdown. Hodges guided the team for the remainder of the game. The gun ended the battle just after Davis had completed a 14-yard run through center to place the ball on California's 20-yard line.

Aggies Outclassed
The Grizzly machine outclassed their opponents in every department of the game as the summary will show. Davis' long punts were a feature of the game, the Montana fullback having an average of 45 yards for 11 punts.

FRESHMAN TOSSERS TO START PRACTICE

Fresh basketball practice starts this evening at 7:15 o'clock under the charge of Force Baney, who will handle the yearlings for the present.

With 35 candidates to be moulded into a team, the yearling tossers undoubtedly will be able to present a championship squad this season. The schedule of practice will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings for this week; after that, although it has not been definitely decided, practice will probably be switched to afternoons and nights.

The frosh will go through a process of learning the style of college basketball, the understanding of the fundamentals of the game and acquaint themselves in the mastering of proper training. Much is to be expected from this year's aggregation, for they bring with them honors that deserved mention in the basketball world during their high school days. There are many who have failed to make honorable state teams, nevertheless are good candidates for the hoop team.

WEEK-END GAMES OF LOCAL IMPORTANCE

Grizzlies vs. Trojans at Los Angeles, Thursday, November 25.
Missoula High school vs. Havre at Butte, Thursday, November 25.

Bill Kelly at present leads the Coast conference high scorers with 75 points. Kaer failed to add any scores in last Saturday's game. It will not only be a battle between two determined teams, but it will also be a battle between two of the leading scorers of the Pacific Coast conference, both fighting for the honor of heading the list of the conference scorers.

Standings in the Coast conference, including Saturday's games:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Stanford	4	0	1000
U. S. C.	4	1	800
W. S. C.	4	1	800
O. A. C.	4	1	800
Washington	3	2	600
U. of Oregon	1	4	200
U. of Idaho	1	4	200
U. of Montana	0	3	000
U. of California	0	5	000

Two men that have been mentioned for All-American berths will face each other Thursday. Morton Kaer of the University of Southern California will direct the play of the Trojans, while Bill Kelly will direct the Grizzlies. Both men are playing their last season of Varsity football.

Play-by-play reports of the University of Southern California-Montana game will be given at the Liberty theater Thursday at 3 o'clock. Students will be admitted free and townspeople will be charged 25 cents. The University has received the Liberty theater through the courtesy of Mr. E. K. Taylor, manager of the Wilma and Liberty theaters.

The Nebraska team looked husky to the sportster. They should easily defeat the Washington team this year. They have a very good season's record, while the Huskies have had just a fair season.

BANG!

Villainous Varlet Viciously Vents Venom

Bang! Bang! Bang! The air which a split moment before had been pierced with a woman's scream, was now torn asunder with the startling bark of a .45. Gibbering and mauling their fears from blood free lips, a small party of men and women, one of them a cripple, backed into a dimly lighted room.

The walls of the place were of that grim brownish grey adobe color so characteristic of homes in the southwest. Here no rain had ever lent its peaceful soothing balm to water the parched face of earth.

Crouched back against the side wall, a man with a jagged pointed spur, held his wicked weapon over the face of a cowering woman. The moment was tense; he had been on the point of raking its cruel rowsels over her face. For the moment, at least, she had been saved from one horrible punishment, only to be faced by another and perhaps greater.

Following on the heels of the retreating figures, two greasy, dirty-looking scoundrels slunk with snake-like motions into the quivering atmosphere of the room. In their hands were pistols, the barrels faintly breathing a thin wraith of blue smoke. On their countenances lurked the evil smirk of demons who had lived the life of the inferno. Here were two hard-souled monsters ready to commit unknown atrocities on the persons of the tiny group.

A tense moment and then—a footstep on the door sill. Into the silent room strode the living personage of the famed Mexican generalissimo and cut throat, Pancho Villa. A second he surveys the assemblage and then—"Senor y si Senores, you are my prisoner."

And so ends the first act of "The Bad Man."
