ASUM CONVOCATION THURSDAY AT 2 O'CLOCK

REGISTRATION FIGURES SHOW 1341 STUDENTS ENROLLED

1,534 Have Attended University Since Opening of Fall Term; Men Lead Women

There were 1,341 students registered for the winter quarter at the end of last week, according to figures compiled by the registrar's office, and issued by President C. H. Clapp yesterday. Of the students in attendance during the autumn quarter, 197 did not return for the winter session of school. Of these, 118 were men and 79 women. However, a sufficient number of new students have registered to bring the net registration for this quarter almost up to the net registration of last quarter, which was 1,358.

The number of students who have registered in the University at some time or other since the opening of school this year is now 1,534, while last year the number for the entire year was only 1,510, so that at the present rate of increase over the previous year there should be a gain in students for the year of between 75 and 100.

These figures in point of increased registration indicate that the University is constantly attracting a larger number of students, as has been the rule for some years past.

Of the total number of students now registered, 737 are men and 604 are women.

Livingston Pastor Broadcasts Sermon Over Radio KUOM

Members of the choir of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Episcopal, broadcast a program from KUOM, University station, last Sunday evening. The program, which was one of the most successful Sunday night entertainments presented so far, included choir selections, trinity numbers, and solos. Rev. S. McCarthy, pastor of the Congregational church of Livingston, gave a devotional address, "Whatsoever Things Are True," in place of Rev. Peter Grimsrud of Missoula, who was previously scheduled to talk.

Pupils of the Swartz music studio of Missoula furnished last evening's program, which consisted of piano solos, duets and trios, vocal solos by Mrs. Harold E. High, and a violin duet by Mrs. Tom Seeley and Mrs. Erskine.

Thursday night's program January 20, will include classical and popular music consisting of piano numbers by Miss Lila Adams, vocal solos by Mrs. Gertrude Hassler Mithun, violin selections by Miss Eleanor Grenshaw, and cello numbers by Mr. Russell Cunningham. Mr. J. W. Severy, instructor in botany at the University, will give an address on "Economic Aspects of Botany."

UNIVERSITY PAPER SHOWS GAIN DURING DECEMBER

Profit on the operation of the Kaimin for the month of December amounted to $71.38, bringing the total profit for last quarter up to $201.82, according to a statement issued by the student auditor. The profit for the same period last year was $139.02, an increase of $62.80. There is usually a decided decrease in profit after the first of the year, as the merchants do less advertising after the holidays.

The total income of the paper for the three months of last quarter was $2,600.40, and total expenses were $2,308.58. The additional expenses this year are due to the number of six-page editions which have been put out, at an additional cost of about $40 apiece.

Debate Ticket Sale to Open

Season tickets will be sold for the five Varsity debates to be held here this season, according to Eddie North, assistant debate manager. ASUM books, single admission tickets at 50 cents or season tickets at $1.50 for all the debates will be required for admission.

Charles Dishman spent the weekend at his home in St. Ignace.

Skeels to Obtain Information About Experiment Station

Dorr Skeels, professor in the School of Forestry, left this morning for Mandan, North Dakota, where the Dry Land Experiment Station is situated. Mr. Skeels has gone to obtain information relative to nurseries and conditions regarding them. It is hoped that in the near future a nursery will be established in the state of Montana which could co-operate with the timber land owners of the state and the experiment stations located nearby.

For the past year or so research work has been done in the small Forestry school nursery. It has been their desire in planting the small seedlings to be in a position to distribute them over the state to timber land people. If such a nursery could be located near or within the vicinity of Missoula it would be of inestimable value to the Forestry school and the entire University.

The Dry Land Experiment Station is noted for solving the problems of wind break and shelter belt; consequently Mr. Skeels intends to bring back valuable information regarding these and numerous other problems. Mr. Skeels will be absent for the remainder of this week.

JAPANESE ART WILL BE ON EXHIBIT IN ART ROOM

Japanese art, which is being sent from the Japan Art and Novelty company, importers, at Minneapolis, will be on exhibit in the Art department next week. This exhibit will include numerous Japanese prints, chinaware and wood carvings. These are to be put on sale during the exhibition and the proceeds are to go to Delta Phi Delta, national art fraternity.

The student exhibit which has been on display in the art studio for the last few weeks will be shown again this week in order that all who care to may have a last opportunity to see the work of the students who took Art I and II during the fall quarter.

MOLLETT RECEIVES WORD OF CIVIL SERVICE EXAM FOR JUNIOR PHARMACISTS

Word has just been received by C. E. Mollett, dean of the School of Pharmacy, that civil service examinations of junior pharmacists will be held some time in the near future.

These examinations are being held to fill vacancies in the Public Health Service. Applications for examination will be accepted from pharmacists between the ages of 22 and 35. In addition to educational work in the field, five years' practice is required, which may be reduced by the number of years spent in a Pharmacy school. Men with army or navy experience are given the preference and it is the opinion of Dean Mollett that men having had ROTC work here will be given some advantage too. People in the Public Health Service start out with a salary of $2,500 to $3,500.

Applications for examination must be made not later than February 12. Blanks and further information may be obtained from Dean Mollett's office. There are six Montana alumni in the civil service and the dean hopes more students will apply.

SENIORS HOLD MEET TO PLAN COMMENCEMENT AFFAIRS

Senior members met yesterday afternoon to arrange the program for spring graduation exercises. This year's class plans to avoid confusion of former years by carefully preparing all details of the week, according to Malcolm Morrow, president. He will name committee soon.

Caps and gowns are now at the ASUM store and will be rented to seniors at a lower price than previously, according to Morris McCollum, manager.

Stetson hats, adopted as class insignia by senior men, are nearly all ordered and will appear on the campus soon.

Professor Housman was a guest to dinner at South hall Sunday.

ADDITIONS ARE MADE IN THIS YEAR'S MEET

Little Theater Tournament is Now Added to the Large Program

From an interscholastic tournament featuring a few large schools in athletics and declamation to a high school meet of 125 high schools in athletics, declamation, debate, essay, newspaper, and Little Theater tournament will be the mark of the Twenty-fourth Interscholastic track and field meet at the University May 12, 13 and 14. The meet this year will take in every extra-curricular activity of the schools except music, glee club and basketball.

The Little Theater tournament, fostering the Little Theater idea among the schools, is the latest addition to the program and will be held Wednesday, May 11. The debate will also be held Wednesday, in the evening. The expense of the winner of the essay contest will be paid by the Interscholastic committee again this year, inasmuch as the interest in the event last year was the greatest since the initiation of this contest.

In the letters of invitation, which were sent out this week, the University management has asked for suggestions from the high school faculties for betterment of the meet. The 24th annual bulletin is being prepared and will go to press in February, according to Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of Interscholastic.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR BEAR PAW HOP

Tapping of New Members to Be a Feature; Dance to Be Informal; Other Novelties Promised Bear Paw, sophomore honorary organization, has completed the plans for its annual dance, to be held Friday, January 21, at the Winter Garden.

This year's dance promises to be better than ever as several special novelties will be on the program. The foremost of these will be the tapping of new members. A rule passed earlier in the year entitles the organization to 20 active members. As some of the men failed to return to school this quarter it is necessary to fill their places. Other novelties will be spot dances and awarding of prizes.

At a meeting, held last night, of the Bear Paws it was decided to have the dance informal for both men and women. Plans for reserving a street car were discussed, but not fully decided upon. There will be 10 dances and two extras. The shortness of the dance is due to the tapping of the new members.

Small, red tags, bearing the words, "Don't forget the Bear Paw dance," are being distributed by the members of the organization as advertising matter.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Bear Paw until Friday. They have been going fast the last few days and anyone who has not secured a ticket should do so at once, as only a limited number will be sold. Music will be furnished by Sheridan's seven-piece orchestra.

DR. BAILEY OF HARVARD VISITS FORESTRY SCHOOL

Dr. L. W. Bailey, member of the Research Council of the Forestry committee at Harvard University and an officer of the Rockefeller Research Foundation, inspected the local Forestry school last Tuesday as part of a study itinerary of the western states.

Dr. Bailey's purpose in stopping off in Missoula was to become acquainted with the Montana Forestry school, particularly with reference to its research program and the methods that the school is employing to meet the forestry needs of the state.

Mrs. T. M. Hampton and Mrs. William Ferguson of Helena, Mrs. Theodore Beatty, director of North hall, and Mattie Spencer and Lucille McDonald were the guests of Mrs. Belle Turner at luncheon Monday at Corbett hall.

Drivurself to Run University Buses

University students will have a new means of transportation, according to an announcement made last evening by O. H. Coats, manager of the Drivurself Car company of Missoula. Plans have been completed for a bus line, running from the Northern Pacific depot to the University, via University avenue, to start next Monday.

The bus will make regular runs, at 15-minute intervals, leaving the depot on the hour and the half-hour, and leaving the University at 15 and 45 minutes after the hour, from 7 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock in the evening. On Friday and Saturday evenings the schedule will continue until 12:30 at night. The fare will be 10 cents.

In starting the new run, said Mr. Coats, "we will use seven-passenger sedans, but these will be replaced by a 20-passenger bus in the near future. We will be in a position to put on extra cars for increased business and special occasions."

FOOTBALL REALIZES UNEXPECTED PROFIT

$5,526.64 More Than Sum Allotted in Athletic Board Budget

According to a statement of the financial results of the past football season, prepared by the student auditor, the athletic board realized a profit of $3,711.45 on the games. The games played away from home brought in $16,376.64, or $5,526.64 more than the amount expected according to the estimate of income from the games as allotted in the athletic board budget. The games played on Montana's own field brought in only $3,312.45, which was $1,187.55 less than was estimated in the budget. It was on the home Varsity games that the board lost the most money during the entire season, in comparison with the budget estimates.

The total income from the Varsity games, frosh games, and student activities fees amounted to $23,738.18. The expenditures totalled $20,026.73.

An interesting item on the statement is that of the estimated and actual returns from the game with M.S.C. at Butte. The amount expected was only $750, and the amount realized was $3,318.00.

ATHLETIC BOARD LOSES ON FROSH-ALBERTON GAME

Only 25 students and 32 townspeople, 20 of whom had passes, attended the basketball game between the frosh and the Alberton high school team, Friday night. The admission for students was 25 cents, and for townspeople 50 cents, so that the total receipts for the game amounted to $12.25. The guarantee to the Alberton high school was $15, and the referee was paid $5, so that the athletic board lost $7.75 on the game.

The Missoula high school gave the board $10.75 remittance on the game the frosh played with them last week. This was 50 per cent of the receipts after the official expense had been paid.

Debaters Plan Meeting

Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in Simpkins hall, the Montana Debate union will hold a meeting. A debate will be held on the question: Resolved, "That Democracy is a failure."

FORMER PHARMACY GRAD VISITS CAMPUS FRIENDS

Charles W. Abbott, a graduate of the School of Pharmacy in 1923, is in town for a time. Mr. Abbott has been employed in relief work by a drug company in Salem, Oregon, until he was called east to Indiana by the death of his father.

Mr. Abbott was principal of the high school in Jordan, Montana, for several years before completing his work in the Montana School of Pharmacy. He will remain in Missoula till he gets a position.

FORESTERS TO CATER TO "FOUR HUNDRED"

Tickets to Bunyanites' Ball Sell Fast; Committee Promises Good Program

Going, going, going are the tickets for the Foresters' Ball. Ticket sale for this annual affair began less than a week ago and according to Don Shaw, chairman of the finance committee, the remaining tickets are scarce. Mr. Shaw says that 400 and only 400 tickets are to be sold for the dance under any circumstances.

This year the enthusiasm for the ball has surpassed all years previous. The ticket sale, the various cartoons scattered for display in prominent places—cleverly drawn by Wilkes Fisher—and the general interest prevalent are all evident significations. Attics and old antiques will receive their yearly overhauling and dusting in preparation for the affair.

The students of the Forestry school, as an outburst for their feelings, had planned on a pep rally for the Forestry school this coming Thursday, but owing to a conflict with a general University convocation, it has been postponed until the first part of next week.

These fast-diminishing few tickets that are left are being sold at the ASUM store, the Forestry school office has sold out, and each fraternity house has an allotted amount.

UNIVERSITY GIVES MANY NEW COURSES

Correspondence Study Enrollment Shows Big Increase Over Year Ago

Records of the Correspondence Study department for the month of December show an increase of 27 courses over the number of courses for December, 1925. The number of courses given and completed during December of this year was 14, while the number of the same month of a year ago was 17.

Education courses have predominated the courses of other departments in correspondence study, 10 of them being completed during the past month. Special extension work in sight singing, under the direction of Miss Monroe, of the Music department, added 15 to the enrollment of the correspondence division.

The figures for the number of courses given through this department for the past several years, show a gradual increase in the enrollment each year. In 1924, the number of courses given by correspondence was 241. The next year the number reached the mark of 286, an increase of 45 over that of the year previous. On December 31, 1926, the total number of courses completed registered 337, showing an increase of 96 in the enrollment for correspondence study in the two years' time.

HAHN DELIVERS SERMON IN LIVINGSTON PULPIT

Rev. S. R. McCarthy of Livingston and Rev. John R. Hahn of the University church exchanged sermons Sunday. Rev. McCarthy spoke on "Foolishly Wise" in the morning at the University church. In the evening at the Social club "The Strength and Weakness of Protestantism" was the subject of his sermon. He also spoke over KUOM on "Whatsoever Things Are True."

LUMBERMEN AND SCALERS WILL MEET THIS WEEK

There will be meetings of the Lumbermen, Scalers, and the United States Forest Service men in the library of the Forest school, January 18, 19, and 20. There will be approximately 25 in attendance at each meeting.

These conferences will be under the supervision of District Forester Fred Morrell and Assistant District Forester Elers Koch. The topics to be discussed will pertain to timber sale, logging and other forestry problems.

Alice Davis, '30, was in North hall infirmary from Monday to Saturday of last week.

CLASSES WILL BE EXCUSED; NOVEL PROGRAM ARRANGED

Co-eds Must Sign for Class Basketball; Starts Next Month

"Girls intending to try out for class teams in basketball must sign up immediately at the women's gymnasium," said Marian Bigelow yesterday. "For this purpose, we have put up a yellow poster on the bulletin board, and even those who are taking basketball in class work, if they wish to play on a class team, must sign up."

In order to make a class team, every girl has to put in two hours of practice a week; regular class work will count toward filling this requisite, and those who are not taking regular basketball work must put in this time during the open hour from 5 to 6 o'clock on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Teams will be picked early in February, and the class team managers will be appointed by Elsie Brown, WAA head of basketball. First and second teams will be chosen, and there is a possibility of third teams. First team counts 100 points in WAA, and 50 points is credited to those on the second team.

YOUNG ATTENDS RELIGION CONFERENCE IN CHICAGO

President C. H. Clapp, Rev. John R. Hahn, and Dr. R. H. Jesse have been lecturing during the past week to William L. Young's class in the History of the Hebrews, due to the absence of Mr. Young. The student inter-church pastor was invited by Dr. O. D. Foster of Chicago, national secretary of denominational work of schools of religion, to attend a conference of instructors in religion to try to form a National Association of Schools of Religion at colleges and universities. He left January 7 and will return Wednesday or Thursday.

PHILLIPS GETS PLACE ON HISTORICAL BOARD

Paul C. Phillips, head of the History department, is now a member of the Historical Manuscript commission which has its headquarters in Washington, D. C. Mr. Phillips received the appointment recently through the executive council of that organization.

The commission is a branch of the American Historical association. Its business is to investigate conditions in regard to the existing historical manuscripts in the United States. It seeks legislation in the federal and state bodies to further the preservation of any historical material. It also makes sure of the authenticity of manuscripts by research work and investigations.

The Historical Manuscript commission is now composed of Theodore C. Pease, chairman, Urbana, Ill.; Paul C. Phillips, Missoula, Mont.; Morgan P. Robinson, Richmond, Va.; Reginald C. McGrane, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Elizabeth A. Donnan, Wellesley, Mass.

Blanche and Pearl Taylor and Dorothy and Esther Edwards were dinner guests at the Alpha Phi house Sunday.

Chancellor's Office in Question

According to an Associated Press report received this morning, the state legislature is putting in a busy week. Included on their today's program will probably be a notice given by Senator Garber of Sanders county for a measure which will substitute a business manager for the University for the office of Chancellor.

Senator Garber's colleague, Representative Tierney, asked the house to request a mass of financial information from the various administrators of elementary and graduate schools.

Senator Garber would abrogate the contract which the State Board of Education has with Melvin A. Brannon, chancellor, and create the office of business manager to be named by the board and to serve at its pleasure without a contract and at a less salary than the chancellor now receives.

Second Student Gathering Will Be Feature of Winter Quarter Activities

According to Burr Smith, ASUM president, the program for the second student convocation of the year is not fully outlined as yet, but the students are assured that the convocation will be held as per schedule on Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Dr. Emerson Stone has promised to lead the singing for the occasion, and Yell King "Spot" Sanford will help the students with a few yells. President C. H. Clapp will give a short talk, and some of the older "M" men will be asked to speak.

Larry Higbee and Gilbert Porter, both three-letter men, have been asked to say a few words, and several others are to be invited. Also, as the convocation is being held to arouse pep before the games with W.S.C. on Friday night, and with Montana State college on Monday night, Coach Stewart will introduce all the members of the basketball squad. A student orchestra will furnish music to make the big meeting a success, and Fred Ironsides will do his stuff, too. Washington J. McCormick will bring his usual interesting message to the convocation, as he has promised to speak.

The president of the student body, when interviewed last night, stated that: "We ASUM officers feel that the students should turn out in full force for this convocation, and make it as peppy and worthwhile as the one held last quarter. President Clapp has been generous enough to give us an hour off from classes for a general get-together, and we owe it to him and to ourselves to be present. Everybody out Thursday at 2 o'clock."

ADVANCED COURSE MEN OUT TO GET COMMISSIONS

Eight second-year advanced course men of the ROTC have been recommended for a commission in the organized reserve upon completion of the course. They will be given their physical examination this week.

The men are: Robert Alling, Richard M. Davis, Donald W. Moore, William C. Orton, Tyler E. Straley, Maynard F. Torrence, William Kelly and Edwin S. Booth.

Philosophical Circle Will Meet

Members of the Philosophical Circle will meet Wednesday night, January 19, at 7:30 o'clock at the F. O. Smith home, 408 Daly avenue.

Mr. Edmund Freeman of the English department will read a paper on the development of religion of William James as is represented in his letters.

Templars Hold Dance

Templars entertained 25 couples at a dancing party at the chapter house Saturday night. Music was furnished by a two-piece orchestra. A lunch was served toward the end of the evening.

Chaperones were Professor and Mrs. B. E. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. MacKenzie.

Thursday at 2 o'clock

A DAY after tomorrow, Thursday, January 20, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, students will begin to file into Main hall for the second student convocation of the school year.

Already feeling runs high for the coming event, which was started last fall, when the ASUM called a meeting for the purpose of creating a little pep for the football games. The last meeting was a huge success, more than 900 students trying to pack themselves into the auditorium. The convocation soon got under way, and the committee in charge soon realized that their program was full of peppy stuff and that the hour allotted for the gathering would soon pass.

The fall quarter get-together left a good taste in everybody's mouth, the only regret was that we could not have more such meetings that quarter. This quarter, however, President Clapp has again consented to let the student body meet.

No better time than the present could be selected for the affair, just a day before the W.S.C. game and three days before an Aggie game. Students are promised a real snappy program of songs, yells, short pep talks by former "M" men and graduates of the University, as well as a goodly variety of novelties and features, which should keep a crowd in high pitch for several hours.

Classes are excused for the hour, and everything will be turned over to the students of the University. Everybody be there and make it the best ever—

Figures Tell Story

ONE thousand five hundred and thirty-four students have registered at the University at one time or another since the opening of school last fall. This shows an increase of twenty-four students over the same period last year. At present 1,341 students are attending classes daily, a slight decrease over the fall quarter.

Generally speaking, each quarter finds a larger group in attendance at the University. Every department finds new students edging in to more than replace the old ones.

There are 133 more men in attendance than women this quarter. Other figures reveal that the University is growing in numbers almost every time a check is taken. Already the University has passed up any of the other three units of the Greater University as far as registration is concerned. The state college is next in line, followed by the State Normal school, and then the School of Mines.

Grizzly hoopsters returned to their Alma Mater better for their experience of last week and promise to come from behind their two conference defeats when they meet the W.S.C. Cougars in a return game this Friday night in the University gym.

Montana has been more or less unlucky in getting dates for their road trips, generally the first trip is taken before the squad has rounded into shape, thus placing a double handicap on them, for they are not only away from home, but have not had time to develop a good winning combination.

The squad is working hard, and results are bound to follow. The best of the conference games are coming, and Montana fans are going to see a pretty smooth working machine when the Bobcats visit us next Monday evening.

Book Reviews

East Wind.
By Amy Lowell.
Houghton Mifflin Company, 1926.

Amy Lowell's final volume of verse, East Wind, has a unity of mood, a sameness in technical method, that set it apart from most of her earlier volumes.

Louis Untermeyer says of another of her books, Men, Women and Ghosts, "One of the most remarkable things about this volume is its extraordinary range of subjects, treatment, and forms." Miss Lowell was remarkable above all else for this catholicity of interest and ability. She repeatedly confounded her detractors by successfully using forms which they spoke of her as incapable of using. Profiting by her own artistic experience, she turned constantly to new media of expression for her ceaseless creative energy. In her best-known volumes, lyrics as thin and delicately sweet as the tunes on an old music box, alternate with vividly dramatic deep-toned narrative.

Thus East Wind, limited to the dramatic monologue or dialogue in form, leaves even the warmest Lowell partisans with a sense of something lacking.

True, one finds here intensely dramatic incident, a masterly handling of narrative, a remarkable portrayal of conflict—a world of mental perversion, superstition, self-torture, set against the drab background of everyday New England.

The theme and manner of this group of poems suggest Poe. Certainly none of Miss Lowell's contemporaries shows this influence more strongly, in the giving of reality to superstitious terror. Miss Lowell's method in the use of the macabre differs from Poe's, however, in that she uses the everyday world as contrast to heighten the terrors of the haunted world in which her people live, whereas Poe's world is with him all-inclusive. Then too, her kindly, understanding portrayal of the tortured human mind, disintegrating under terror, sets her work apart from Poe's more objective analysis, suggests the dramatic insight of O'Neill.

The intense strain of her drama is relieved at moments by mosaic bits of description, such as this in dialect: "I can see th' critters now (the bees) Black, an' gold, an' buzzin'! They was like sparks from a pin-wheel.

All scatterin' up in th' sunlight, An' th' great trees bendin' over 'em like butterfly nets. . ."

or by flashes of humor: But the total effect of the volume is of a New England gloomy, phantom-ridden, musty; of a New England grown so old, so introspective, that it is half mad.

In this welter of returning, destroying spirits, of suicide and murder, of evil forces animate and inanimate, one remembers the New England of Lilacs, and regrets the Amy Lowell of brighter and more beautiful mood. M. W. H.

"There Ought to Be a Law."
By Don Herold.
E. P. Dutton and Company, New York.

Don Herold says, "It ought to be easy for me to get a lot of money; everybody bets mine easily." Then, again, while giving a most valuable dissertation on "laps," he says, "Blacksmiths hold a horse in their laps while nailing on a shoe." He holds the secret of happiness, for he appreciates the elated sensation that comes to one when he smokes something a little extra in cigars or cigarettes and takes his lazy ease in the throne of a shoe-shine parlor.

The little book, "There Ought to Be a Law," is full of things that are so natural and widely used that they are the best type of humor. He dares to write the things that people talk about when they know their words will not be remembered; the results make us wonder if we too, are babblers. He looks our big words in the eye and asks them what and how some. Most of the are funny in their dumbness; others we know are funny, but Herold is just a jump ahead of us, and we wonder if we are really quite so smart after all.

Pet peeves are known to this popular writer and he shows them to the world. If the shafts light to near home it seems as shameless and shameful as a night-shirt parade in a dream. It takes a sense of humor to read the book, for the reader must laugh at himself.

All the illustrations in the book, egg-headed men with a line for a nose and women with too much or too little hair, are drawn by the author. They are caricatures of America and its people who must have a sense of humor to understand each other. The divisions are short articles having no relation to each other, that have been syndicated and released during the year. Judge values them highly and scored a hit with the brainy discovery of the tremendous waste in swinging doors that are allowed to revolve with only one passenger going through. He treats on a variety of subjects running from the glue on a postage stamp, to "Health vs. Sickness."

North Hall Entertainments
With Formal Function

More than 70 couples attended the winter quarter formal of North Hall Saturday night. The parlors were effectively decorated carrying out the shade of the rose. Favors of ser-entine and balloons added to the evening's entertainment. Committees for the dance were appointed by the North Hall proctors.

Sheridan's orchestra furnished the music for the dance and punch was served during the evening. Mrs. Belle Turner and Mrs. Theodore Brantly were the chaperones.

PHARMACY DANCE
HUGE SUCCESS,
SAYS MOLLETT

"The Pharmacy club dance was a success from a social and financial standpoint. Although the crowd was not sufficiently large to net any great profit, there were just enough to make a good dance," said C. E. Mollett, dean of the Pharmacy school.

There were numerous prize dances, the prizes for which were donated to the Pharmacy club by the various druggists in Missoula and Stevensville. Following is a list of the prizes and their donors: Dental floss, Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J.; gift package, Clark Pharmacy, Stevensville; dresser clock, St. John Drug Co., Stevensville; package of imported toilet powder, Missoula Drug; large package of bath salts, South Side Pharmacy; box of candy, Peterson Drug Co.; cigarette dispenser, Coleman Drug Co.; compact, Robbie Drug Co.; vanity case, Harkness Drug Co.; leather bill fold, Public Drug Co.; box of stationery, D. C. Smith Drug Co.; camera, Peek Drug Co., and several smaller prizes from students of the School of Pharmacy.

RIEDEL COMPLETES
SKETCH FOR POSTER

Clifford Riedell, professor of art, has completed sketch of the poster which is to be used to announce the opening of Montana's 1927 summer school session.

Ink sketches of the buildings on the campus and copper plates of the scenery around Missoula will be used on these posters which are to be sent to all the high schools of the state and to other units of the university. These posters will also be placed in numerous railway stations throughout Montana in order to boost the coming summer session.

WEATHER BUREAU MEN VISIT FORESTRY SCHOOL

District Forester Serier, in charge of the United States weather bureau operations in the Rocky Mountain region, and Meteorologist E. M. Keyser, of the United States weather bureau, were visitors at the Forestry school last Saturday.

Mr. Serier, who has headquarters at Denver, and Mr. Keyser, of the Spokane office, were here for the purpose of developing co-operation between the United States weather bureau and the School of Forestry.

As the Forestry school is equipped with meteorological instruments this co-operation should result in a great deal of progress.

Fred Woelner has been unable to attend his classes for the past few days because of illness.

2. REGULAR $2.50 numbers, which we are selling—now—for $1.95, or three of 'em for $5.50.
3. THE stock is new, the prices low. If you need a shirt or two, drop in and see these.

This Isn't a Sale

Personally, we don't care for sales. Careful buying and constant effort to take care of a snappy and particular trade prevents them. Our merchandise is always new—we have no broken lines of poor numbers in our stock, and bargains can always be found in our regular prices.

Rattle of Laundry Cart Warns Debtors; Men Go in Hiding

Time: About 6 in the evening.
Place: Any fraternity house.

The livingroom was crowded with fellows discussing past and present happenings. A Ford is heard in the drive—it stops. Someone announces in a loud whisper, "Jake."

Just that one word, but immediately all but two of those present scatter. Some slide under davenport—a few gain the cloak closet—the others head for the kitchen.

These two sit nonchalantly, with clear conscience as Jake enters. Jake comes under the light and starts reading a list of names. Then, "Are any of these men in?" One answers, "I don't believe they're back from school yet. Some of them may be upstairs." "These men owe for laundry and so far I've been unable to catch any of them in."

One of those who had slid under one of the davenports whispered to the one beside him, "No wonder—he'll have to come in something besides that racket Ford."

But perserving Jake went on upstairs, where the strangest thing happened. As Jake climbed the stairs he could have sworn that he had heard running feet, but when he got there, no one was to be seen. After looking through all of the rooms he went back downstairs and then on out. And not a sound was heard until the Ford was heard to drive off. Then a groan was heard and someone said, "Well, thank Heavens that's over." And he was answered with, "Yes, until tomorrow at this time."

Times Are Changed; Notre Dame to Set Style of Clothing

When the football player of 1927 trots out to do battle he will, according to indications, be daintily and charmingly attired in perfect fitting silk football pants. The warriors of Notre Dame wore these trousers in their last year's engagements and were well satisfied. Everything that Notre Dame does pertaining to football must be all right, so the teams of the future will trip gracefully forth in these chic garments.

The referee, in order to carry out the theme, will be most prettily attired in negligee and will wear a corsage of seasonable flowers. The head linesman, being a prominent figure, must dress in keeping with his station in life and will probably wear silk knickers with socks of a color affording a perfect contrast. A boyish bob will complete the ensemble. The games will be held on a tiled field so that the garments of the players will not come in contact with the soiling ground. Perfectly appointed dressing rooms will be given the players in order that they may adjust their costumes to advantage. Dressing tables of the style of Louis XV will supplant the old benches and lockers and a shower bath of a temperature of 89.13 degrees will await the players as they come in from their strenuous pastime. As they come out on the field, they will be preceded by flower girls who will strew blossoms in their path, following which the Girl Reserves will award the wearer of the most attractive costume. It is hoped that this will introduce the more esthetic note in the fall pastime and that the day when it took muscle to play football is past.

COUGAR TRIPS BRUIN, LENGTHY TOSSES WIN

Distance Shooting of Cougars Keeps Pullmanites Out in Front; Kain Stars

Ability to sling long shots from the middle of the floor spelled defeat for the Grizzlies against Washington State college in Montana's second Pacific coast conference game.

The Washington State five seem determined to leave the cellar this year and obtain a place in the first division.

Montana played a good brand of ball but the Cougars' luck on long shots kept Montana from gaining a victory in her second conference game.

Montana's first string played the whole contest but the Washington State crew made a number of substitutions. Kain again was the high scorer for Montana with nine points, while Paul of the Cougars earned 14 points for his teammates.

The lineup and summary:

W.S.C. (33)	Montana (18)
Henry	Coyle
Forward	Forward
Clay	Overturf
Forward	Forward
Brumbley	Kain
Center	Larson
Gilleland	Guard
Byers	Wendt
Guard	Guard

W.S.C. scoring: Field goals—Paul (substitute for Byers), 1; Brumbley, 1; Free throws—Gilleland, 2; Paul, 2; Henry, 1.

Montana scoring: Field goals—Kain, 4; Coyle, 1; Overturf, 2; Free throws—Larson, 3; Kain, 1.

Referee—Mulligan.

KUOM ADDS AMPLIFIER TO RADIO EQUIPMENT

KUOM, University radio broadcasting station, has added a new amplifier to its equipment. The new apparatus, which was constructed by the staff, is used for broadcasting at present and will also be used in connection with the new cone speakers at the Inter-scholastic track meet and on other such occasions.

The compactness of the new amplifier makes it a very valuable asset to the station, according to Joseph Giratano, announcer, as it can be easily transported from one place to another.

Sigma Kappa announces the pledging of Kathryn Ulmer of Havre.

Grizzlies Stopped; Idaho Turns Trick on Vandal Floor

Montana was defeated by a lopsided score in the first conference basketball game of the 1927 season. A small floor and mediocre refereeing seemed to hurt the Grizzlies' chances to cop their first conference game.

Montana showed fairly good form in their initial conference struggle but lack of knowledge of the tactics used by the Vandal players seemed to prevent the Montana quint from scoring on their frequent opportunities.

Coyle, Montana hoop captain, is certain that they will turn the tables on the Idaho crew when they come to Missoula for the last game of the season.

Kain led the Montana scoring, annexing eight points for Montana, while Ganine, a guard, made 14 points for the Idaho clan.

The lineup and summary:

Idaho (45)	Montana (19)
Miles	Coyle
Forward	Forward
Nedros	Overturf
Forward	Forward
Erickson	Kain
Center	Center
Canine	Wendt
Guard	Guard
Jacoby	Larson
Guard	Guard

Substitutes: Montana—Huber, Idaho—Burgher, Keen, Dewald.

Referee—House.

SENTINEL WILL HAVE NEW LINOLEUM CUTS

One of the big features of this year's Sentinel will be the use of linoleum cuts. The linoleum blocks arrived a few days ago and John Allen, art editor, is at work on the cuts. These linoleum cuts are very much in vogue this year and will add a great deal to the appearance of the book.

Today marked the completion of the taking of the faculty pictures. The fraternity and group pictures are coming back from the engravers and are being mounted this week. Write-ups for the various organizations are coming in all the time. Work on the book is advancing rapidly and satisfactorily, according to Bob MacKenzie, editor.

Phi Delta Phi, national men's honorary law fraternity, announces the pledging of Richard Wellcome, a law senior from Butte.

Mr. A. Still of Big Timber was a guest of his son, Adolph Still, at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house Sunday.

"M" Club to Arrange for Annual Fistic Carnival

Although no word has emanated from the "dark and bloody" ground wherein the prospective Dempseys and Steelers gambol gaily about, it is an established fact that the maulers will have their opportunity to bask in the spotlight. The wearers of the "M" who are promoting this carnival of mayhem are to hold a meeting shortly in order to set a date for the carnage. In the meantime, the prospective victims are laying violent hands upon each other and learning the art of inserting their thumbs into their opponents' eyes. By the time of the tournament, the participants should be in a frame of mind wherein murder will seem mild and they will thirst for their opponents' gore.

The hour set aside for the promulgation of things pugnaeous comes at approximately the time known as the children's hour, but it turns out to be anything but an amusing period. The boxers clout each other right merrily around the ears, while the grapplers, under the tutelage of Doc Schreiber, become entangled in such a way as to cause a contortionist to suffer a nervous breakdown.

Joe Cochran, one of the best known amateurs in the state, is instructing the boxers, while Doc Schreiber, himself a bone crusher of note, is tutoring the grapplers in the strangling science. When the products of their efforts engage each other, it should provide the same sensation as the filming of the battle of Bull Run or a photograph of the Florida hurricane. The tournament is awaited anxiously by those who take great delight in watching catastrophes and disasters and the stagers of this slug picnic should be able to charge a price that will make a ticket to Europe look like a street car transfer.

Sam Raises Kain With Montana's Opponents

A mainstay of this year's Varsity floor squad and a halfback of proven ability, Sam Kain may well be called one of Montana's most talented and versatile athletes. With two years of football and basketball competition, Kain, like the motor of a certain well known car, improves with use. His performance on the gridiron has been of the highest order and he is equally proficient on the floor. He was one of the high scorers last year and his early season ability on the 1927 squad promises another tally leadership.

Kain, after graduating from Helena high, matriculated in 1924. He was a star in the state interscholastic athletics and boasts an enviable high school record, having played on several famous Capital city athletic teams. He was a member of the frosh basketball and football squads of 1924 and has since won two letters in each sport. He will probably answer Coach Stewart's call for track candidates in the spring although it is possible that he may perform on Milburn's diamond crew.

Kain has one more year of Varsity competition left and he will undoubtedly be one of the outstanding athletes of the Pacific coast before the sheepskin ends his collegiate sports career.

GRIZZLY FROSH WIN FROM ALBERTON HIGH

Cubs Show Marked Improvement in Their Win Over Alberton Squad

Suffering under the stings of a previous defeat, the Grizzly Cubs staged a comeback and trounced the Alberton high lads by a score of 30-8, last Friday evening.

The game was marked by slowness and wild scampering on both sides in the struggle to gain possession of the ball. Some 22 men were used by Coach Adams while Alberton did not substitute. Many long shots were tried by the high school lads but to no avail, and the largeness of the floor had them bewildered from the start. Poor passing was evident and the lack of someone to lead the Cubs' offense in the second and third phase held the score down. Yet there was a marked improvement by the frosh over the last game. "The boys played better ball than they did against Missoula," said Coach Adams. "They showed to a better advantage in being able to handle the ball." Bud Linville, regular forward for the frosh, was out of the game on account of sickness. However, Miller was the outstanding man for the yearlings, while the Gustafson brothers and Keough, midge forward, supported their team in high order.

Cubs Start Scoring
The opening of the first quarter was a mad scramble and it was several minutes before the Cubs caged their first shot, made by Miller on a neat dribble. Two more baskets followed in quick succession with assists from the entire team. Keough of Alberton tried vainly to connect, but with no success. T. Gustafson scored the only point for his team in the first stanza. Score, 14-1.

Coach Adams sent in a new team Alberton gained absolute possession of the ball which netted them two baskets and holding the yearlings scoreless. Half time showed 14-5.

Stillings started the second half with a neat shot, followed by a close-up from Ramer. Alberton missed several foul tries. Again the Cubs staged an assault, securing two more counters. Third quarter, 22-5.

The final frame of the contest was speeded up with Alberton trying vainly to cage the ball. A new combination went in for the frosh and the ball sank through the net in one, two, three order. Several more men were substituted. Miller converted just as the game ended.

Sigma Nu announces the pledging of Walter Wendt of Missoula.

PRESBYTERIANS LOSE TO LUTHERAN TEAM

Episcopals Win From Methodists in Second Game

Playing against a jinx and trying to stage a comeback from a previous defeat, the Presbyterian team lost to the Lutherans last evening by a score of 9 to 8.

Many substitutions were tried, but to no gain and the closeness of the score does not indicate that the Lutheran aggregation was the stronger. At the end of the first half the losers lead 5 to 0. The game was fast and scrappy from the start of the second half and it was through the accurateness of caging fouls by Nofsinger, who was high point man, that cinched the contest. Throughout the first phase the game dragged to a standstill, then turned into a foot race with desperate attempts to gain possession of the ball.

Shults, for the Presbyterians, showed up well at guard, besides being the bulwark of the offense. Alton, Love and Leydig formed the rest of the combination that secured the scores. For the Lutherans, Luer, Fulkerson and Anderson caged the shots, while Nofsinger landed the fouls. Brennen did well at guard.

The lineup and summary:

Presbyterians (8)	Lutherans (9)
Leydig	Luer
Forward	Forward
Aiton	Fulkerson
Forward	Forward
Love	Coleman
Center	Center
Shults	Brennen
Guard	Guard
Adams	Nofsinger
Guard	Guard

Subs: Voorhies, Bloom, Hyham, Lund, Rice, Johnston, Anderson.

Free throws: Leydig, Shults, Nofsinger 3.

Field goals: Aiton, Love, Leydig, Luer, Fulkerson, Anderson.

Episcopals vs. Methodists
In the second game of the evening the Episcopals overrode the Methodists to the tune of 18 to 11. The game was far more interesting in that they showed a better ability to play basketball. The fighting spirit of both teams showed up to good advantage whenever it was necessary. The never-say-die theme was always on their lips, and they showed it by their playing in the last few minutes.

The first half ended 10 to 4 in favor of the Episcopals. Substitutions were held up until the last five minutes. The playing of Robinson and Jones, two scrappy forwards on the Methodist team, was outstanding. Captain Skones woke up in the last frame to help his team with two neat shots. All five men on the winning quind did exceptionally well and played a good, interesting game. The work of Beckett was clever.

The next series of games will be played Wednesday evening, January 19, at 7:15 o'clock, between the Congregational and Disciples, Newman Club and the Lutherans.

The lineup and summary:

Methodists (11)	Episcopals (16)
Robinson	Downs
Jones	Beckett
Forwards	Forwards
Young	Briscoe
Center	Center
Skones	Covert
Rice	Morrow
Guards	Guards

Subs: Haines and Woods.

Free throws: Robinson.

Field Goals: Robinson 2, Jones, Skones 2, Beckett 2, Downs, Briscoe 2, Covert, Morrow 2.

Billy Kester and Lillian Shaw were guests to dinner at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house Monday night.

MONTANA DEBATERS WILL OPPOSE AGGIES

Aggie contests for the quarter include debates held here and in Bozeman tomorrow night. The contest here will be held in the Main hall auditorium, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. ASUM books or 25 cents will be admission for students and 50 cents for others. The question to be debated is, Resolved, that the Volstead act should be amended to permit the sale of light wines and beer. The University will take the negative side in the arguments here and the affirmative at Bozeman.

Charles Grandey of Terry and William Negherbon of Butte will remain here while Russell Smith of Billings and Claude Johnson of Harlowton will take the trip.

SPORT GLIMPSES

Games for this week-end:

Montana versus Washington State college, on the home court, Friday, January 21.

Montana Frosh versus Loyola Alumni, Thursday, January 20.

The Grizzlies will play a return engagement with the Washington State Cougars on Friday night. The Montanans failed to gain a victory against the Cougars on their road trip but they are confident that they can get over the Washington quint on the home court. Long distance shots defeated the Grizzlies at Pullman.

Poor refereeing gave the Idaho Vandals a lop-sided score against the Grizzlies in the first Pacific Coast conference game. We suggest that the conference get a corps of efficient referees for basketball struggles as they do in football. Poor decisions not only dishearten a team but they also make the game uninteresting. "The conference needs a squad of Mulligans."

The Grizzlies are in good condition after their road trip except for a few light colds. With another week's practice they should be in trip to put up a tough struggle against the Cougars next Friday night.

The Bobcats are still on the warpath. They defeated the Montana Mines last Friday night, 59-16. The report stated that Ward and Thompson weren't shooting up to form. As far as we are concerned we hope they don't give a perfect exhibition when they play here next Monday.

George Young, 17-year-old Ontario, Canada, youth, was the only entry out of 102 to finish the channel swim between the Catalina islands and the mainland. He was successful in accomplishing the feat and winning the $25,000 prize by using the crawl stroke. We don't imagine anyone would mind crawling for $25,000.

A number of the football stars of 1926 will not be seen in action as members of their respective colleges next fall. Baker, of Northwestern, who was chosen as an All-American back, has turned professional and is playing with a Chicago team. "Cowboy" Kutsch of Iowa has withdrawn from school and will not return to finish his collegiate work.

Attention Frosh: Be at the student convocation Thursday. The members of the 1927 basketball squad will be introduced and it is your opportunity to get acquainted with the members of the hoop squad.

Reports of the Catalina island swimming race became so exaggerated that 40,000 people lined the coast of Portugal to see the entrants swim the Atlantic ocean.

Goofy Glimpses

The great melodrama, "The Two Norsemen of the Apothecary," is featured today at the Blue Duck, Missoula's movie palace. The movie is in two parts. The scene of part one is Peterson Drug store No. 1. The scene for the second part is Peterson's Drug store No. 2. The leading male part is played by Doug Barefanks, who portrays the role of a dashing young prescription clerk who is "continually taking arsenic."

Perhaps the feeble minded readers of this column wonder whence the inspiration is derived. We get most of them from peeking through keyholes at Warm Springs.

Anyone desiring part time employment may apply at the public library. The duties are light and consist merely of telling bedtime stories to people who have reached their second childhood. The position was formerly held by Mrs. Herswiss who, however, is seriously afflicted with sleeping sickness.

Charley Napkin, famous comedian, is being sued by his wife, formerly Miss Needs Klene, on the grounds that he has halitosis and that he has a bad case of dandruff which he won't do anything about. Mr. Napkin is remembered as the star in the mirth provoking comedy, "The Gold Mush."
