VOLUME XXVI. NUMBER 31.

AESTHETIC DANCE PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED TOMORROW

Unusual Lights and Costumes
Promised for First Attempt at Art of the Dance

Montana State University's Little Theater, besides providing a handy place on the campus for student plays, has made possible heretofore unattempted theatricals, according to campus dramatic authorities. That the statement is true is borne out by the fact that University players have successfully presented an almost inaccessible stage play, in the form of "The Bad Man," a radical departure in general dramatics, in the form of "Elnore," and now an entirely new feature, in the classic dance program which is to be presented in the theater tomorrow night.

From the dress rehearsals of the production, it is evident that the University has an unusually large number of co-eds with aesthetic talents. In the various movements of the interpretive dances, unusual grace and form is shown. In addition to the attraction of costume and movement, the decorative lighting effects do much to add to the general scheme. John Schroeder, Masques' electrician, and Philip Ring, stage manager, have completed a lighting schedule, the like of which has never before been attempted in the history of University theatricals. In the latter part of the program, the dancers enter the stage in Arabian costume. The general stage lights are all turned off and illumination is furnished by means of candles placed in amber colored glass bowls, carried by the dancers. As the dance progresses the stage is gradually brightened.

Tickets on Sale Today

Tickets for the program will be placed on sale at the theater box office at 1 o'clock this afternoon, according to John Bolton, Masques' business manager. Bolton reports that a large number of tickets have already been disposed of by means of the season ticket channel. The evening performance will start at 8:15, the special children's program in the afternoon to start at 2:30.

Practice for the dances has been carried on in the past three weeks by the girls themselves, with no outside supervision. Due to the sudden illness of Miss Mary Laux, the director, the cast was forced to assume direction of its own activities.

Bunyanites Discuss Final Dance Plans for Western Frolic

Wednesday evening the Forestry club held its semi-monthly meeting in the Forestry library. It was proclaimed the best, most enthusiastic gathering of the year, due to the two days' work which they still had to face.

More than a major proportion of talking was spent on the dance, especially in securing co-operation which must be had for the next few days. Homer Anderson explained in detail the plans for decorating, but emphasized the necessity of every forester doing his share. In order that group work could be carried on more strenuously Dean Spaulding secured permission from Major Milburn, Professors Skeels and Cook to excuse all foresters from their classes on Friday. This will give more concentrated effort the last few hours. Roll call will be taken at the hour the students should be in class and those not reporting for work for said hour will receive a cut in the course from which they were excused. There shall be no driving since the students realize it is their responsibility to make the affair a huge success.

After the lengthy discussions of the dance, the club was entertained with clever selections by Andy Stark and Nelson Fritz. Dr. J. E. Kirkwood and Mr. H. H. Hendon both spoke briefly. After a short account of the progress on the "Forestry Kaimin" the meeting adjourned. Pie a la mode was served, and "It was the best part of the program," said Lanky Spaulding, president of the club.

Anderson Goes to Bozeman

Homer Anderson, in charge of the Foresters' Ball, left for Bozeman Thursday morning as the representative from the Interfraternity Council. He will return this afternoon to see that all final arrangements have been set in readiness for the dance.

WAA to Have Special Meeting Next Tuesday

Members of WAA held a short business session preceding their party at the women's gymnasium last night. Samples of distinctive basketball garb for class teams were exhibited, and it was decided to wait until Tuesday, when a special meeting of all WAA members will be held at 5 o'clock at the women's gymnasium, before final selection of suits will be made.

It was also decided that, to be eligible for any class team, a girl must have a "C" average for the preceding quarter and not be on probation. Cecilia Pospisil was elected secretary in place of Elizabeth McCoy. Sol Anderson played for the girls to dance, and coffee and doughnuts were served.

BECK WANTS ENGLISH SYSTEM IN DEBATES

Non-Decision Style Most Popular;
Five Contests Remain on Schedule

English style debating, made known to the local public at the debate with the Australian team last fall, will be used in some of the Varsity debates this year. Also the Oregon style of cross-question debating and the old style of preliminary facts and rebuttals will be used. The first system has been very popular with both audience and debater, according to N. B. Beck, debate coach, and will therefore be used as much as possible. In the Englishman's estimation, the debate and the wit are the things and the decision is secondary.

There will be five more debates held here this year, all of which may be attended for a season ticket which sells for $1.50. This is a saving of one dollar for 50 cents is charged for single admission to each of these events for those without ASUM books. The next one on the calendar is to be held next Thursday, February 10, in the Little Theater. This will be with the University of Idaho and the subject will be, Resolved, That Democracy is a Failure. Montana, represented by Louis Aronowsky and Clarence Wohl, will have the negative in this argument.

Other dates are as follows: University of Utah woman's team, February 28, on the subject, Resolved, That Fraternities and Sororities Should Be Abolished; University of Washington men, March 3, on the subject, Resolved, That Democracy is a Failure; Utah Agricultural college men, March 24, on the subject, Resolved, That It Is Right to Break the Prohibition Laws.

The date has not been set for the fifth debate yet, but it will be with either the University of North Dakota or the Colorado State Teachers' college. If it is with the latter, the subject will be, Resolved, That Mussolini Is a Benefactor to Italy.

A team composed of John Bonner and Myles Thomas will debate Gonzaga at Spokane February 9, on the subject, Resolved, That Prohibition Is a Failure. February 10 they will debate Washington State college at Pullman on the democracy question.

BUSINESS AD GETS INDUSTRY ROAD MAPS

Twenty-four reference "Road Maps of Industry" have been received by the School of Business Administration. They are useful as reference material for the departments of economics, sociology and business administration.

They are part of the N.I.C.B. Wall Chart Service, copyrighted by the National Industrial Conference Board, New York City. They are mounted on gray cardboard and include the trend of the chart—the economic explanation, definition of the terms, source of information and date.

The maps are hanging on the wall in room 102 of Simpkins hall. Anyone interested may see them there.

FORESTERS ATTEND MEETING IN HELENA

Spaulding to Advise Lands Committee;
Will Urge Passage of Bill
Pertaining to Forestry

Dean T. C. Spaulding, of the Forestry school, and Rutledge Parker, State Forester, left Tuesday evening for Helena to attend some meetings of the legislature relative to a new proposed bill pertaining to forestry.

It is Dean Spaulding's belief that the Forestry school should keep more closely in touch with forestry legislation in the state, and in fact, be a more or less directive agency since between the State Forester and the staff in forestry must lie the responsibility for the state's constructive work in that line of conservation. Forestry work must be either along the line of education or of legislation or a combination of both. Since the Forestry school is proceeding as rapidly as conditions warrant in the educational field, legislation must come next.

Mr. Spaulding's testimony to the Public Lands committee will be in the nature of expert advice and, of course, he will urge the passage of this legislation since constructive forestry demands this introductory measure. Mr. Spaulding intends to return to Missoula Friday in order to attend the Forester's Ball.

DR. CLAPP EXPLAINS EDUCATIONAL UNITS

New Bill Makes Billings and Havre
Schools Part of Greater University

In regard to the establishment of the two new units of the Greater University of Montana, President Clapp made this statement yesterday:

"The Northern Montana Agricultural school was established in 1913, at Havre. At that time the buildings of the old Fort Assiniboine were offered to the state, which accepted them and established the school there. The institution was under the control of the state board of education, but was not a part of the University of Montana, and no appropriation has been made for it.

"The Eastern Montana Normal school was established in 1925, at which time the selection of a location for it was put in the hands of a commission appointed by the state board of education. Billings was chosen as the site for the institution, which was also placed under the control of the state board.

"The new bill which just passed the state legislature merely made the two schools a part of the Greater University of Montana, so that they will henceforth be under the general supervision of the chancellor, where I think they should be."

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM RECEIVES OLD PROGRAMS AS ADDITION TO LIBRARY

Another addition to the collection of historical papers in the School of Journalism library has been received by Professor R. L. Housman. Programs of old plays as they first came out west have been pasted in a book and presented to the library. The dates range from 1885 to 1889.

Names of some of the world's greatest actors and actresses are to be seen in this collection. One of the most important is the elder Salvini, a noted romantic actor. Salvini, who played Don Caesar De Bozan, was the elder of two brothers, the younger being a tragedian. Other important names that appear are Robert Mantel, who played "Monbars"; Lydia Thompson, in "Penelope"; Thatcher, Primrose and West's Minstrels; Henry Miller in "The Junior Partner"; and "Frederic Lemaître"; Nor C. Goodwin in "A Gilded Fool"; Herbert Bosworth in "Lucretia Borgia"; and Queen Elizabeth, and Julia Arthur (at the time practically unknown) in "The Streets of New York" and "Woman Against Woman."

SCOUTMASTERS MEET FOR FIRST OF SERIES

VARSITY VODVIL TRYOUTS FEBRUARY 19 AT LIBERTY

Article Written by Colvin Appears in American Bar Paper

"A network of legal regulations surrounds the activities of plain citizens—have a care and consult the authorities before you marry, educate your children; fish; keep a dog or cow, or do anything else to speak of!" This is the warning and note at the head of an article in the American Bar Association Journal. The article, Liberty and Police Power; or Rules for a Legal Life, was written by Milton Colvin, professor in the Law school, and receives a very prominent place in this magazine.

"Member of Montana bar; professor of constitutional law, University of Montana," is put after Dr. Colvin's name and the story is listed on the first page of the magazine among the writings of such legal authorities as Manley O. Hudson, law professor at Harvard, and Joseph P. Chamberlain.

There is an editorial concerning the writing in that issue of the paper and it is referred to as humorously true. Mr. Colvin has given law references for each of his contentions and tells of the amazing check that it is possible to bring on the lives of the average individual. "Man is not so free as he thinks," he says, and goes on to trace the life of an average successful man and tell of the things that he must not do without danger of breaking many laws. Such a thing as being born is now so complex that many of us would not have attempted it had we known the legal life we were entering and the constraints that it is possible to put on us.

Dean Stone Speaks at Vocational Meet

With "Journalism" as his subject, Dean A. L. Stone of the School of Journalism spoke to more than 1,000 scholars at the Boys' Vocational congress in Bozeman, January 31 to February 2. The congress, which meets every year, is held to give the boys of Montana schools some idea of a future career. The congress this year was said to be one of the largest ever held.

Certain men are picked to represent their different professions and to talk on their work. Dean Stone and Dr. C. H. Clapp, who talked on "Geology," were picked to represent their professions at the congress. Dean Stone told the boys about newspaper writing, its advantages and future.

Dr. Clapp and Dean Stone returned Tuesday evening. The Congress closed Wednesday noon.

NEWS WRITERS ATTEND TRIAL AT LAW SCHOOL

The members of the advanced editing and reporting class attended a mock trial held at the Law school Wednesday evening. The case was an accident and damage claim and Arthur Acher acted as plaintiff. Annabelle Desmond was defendant and was represented by Eugene Simerson as her attorney. Herbert Haugland was attorney for the plaintiff. W. L. Pope, professor of law, acted as judge and members of the journalism class acted on the jury.

After the pleas by the attorneys, the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant and allowed no damages.

E. L. FREEMAN TO GIVE READING OF SINCLAIR'S STORY "THE DARK NIGHT"

E. L. Freeman, associate professor of English, will give a reading of May Sinclair's "The Dark Knight" in the Little Theater Sunday afternoon at 3:30. The reading is open to everybody and will be purely for enjoyment.

May Sinclair is a story teller of firm, clear competence, with a taste for experiments. "The Dark Knight" is a narrative told in economical, unaffected verse. It is a poignant story but with a happy ending.

The authoress was born in Cheshire, England, and wrote her first short story in 1895. Her best known works are "The Divine Fire," "The Tree of Heaven," and "Mary Oliver."

Howard Hill is confined to his room due to illness.

Central Board Advances Show to March 5—Seventeen to Enter Acts

Varsity Vodvil was set for March 5 by Central Board at the meeting last Tuesday. Tryouts will be held in the Liberty theater Saturday, February 19, from 8:30 o'clock on. Final arrangement of the acts for tryouts has not been completed, but will be announced in the Kaimin next week, according to Harold Reely, manager.

A large drop curtain will be the only scenery on the stage for the tryouts, according to the management, but the individual acts may have their special properties needed in the presentation of their acts, on the stage for the tryouts.

There will be no shifting of scenery at the tryouts—the purpose being to eliminate the extra expense of having stage hands, and to give all acts an equal chance before the tryout judges.

The Central Board has also voted to allow $25 to each of the acts chosen on the final bill, to help in defraying the expense. However, receipted bills to this amount must be turned in to the ASUM business manager not later than March 7. In case any act does not spend this amount, they will be reimbursed for the amount of their expenditure.

"All of the fraternities and sororities on the campus, with the exception of one, have definitely decided to enter the tryouts," said Reely yesterday, "and I believe that the one exception will have an act all ready to enter by the end of the week."

SOUTH HALL CLUB PLANS FUTURE ENTERTAINMENT

At a mass meeting of the South hall club last Tuesday night plans for a smoker were made, which will be held some time near the end of the quarter, according to Jack Dimond, manager of the hall.

There was also a discussion of the South hall dance, which is to be given some time this quarter. The date is not yet set.

Montana Students Hear of Proposed Pharmacy Building

E. H. Sater, assistant publicity director of the All-Pharmacy Headquarters building project, addressed the freshman pharmacy students on present and future aspects of pharmacy. He also told what the realization of the project means to the public, public health, and the profession as a whole. He said that $700,000 of the first million had been subscribed and that voting on the location of the building would take place soon. Upon the completion of the third ballot on June 15, the headquarters would be built in the city having the most votes.

This building when completed will serve a purpose similar to the American Medical association headquarters, that it will provide central offices of pharmacy, and give a national home to all different correlated branches of American pharmacy.

In the national headquarters will be a laboratory for research on all phases of pharmacy. Rooms will be provided for museums and historical collections as well as offices for the permanent secretaries of the National association and the secretaries of the subsidiary branches of pharmacy. Rooms and equipment for the publication of journals and papers of the association will be provided.

Subscriptions are being taken up among the pharmacists all over the country to build the headquarters. When it is built it will be maintained by several large manufacturing companies in the United States. Montana druggists have subscribed liberally and the University faculty and students have contributed more than $1,200.

Vocations

THE recent Boys' Vocational Congress that was held in Bozeman represents an effort on the part of Montana educators to present to Montana high school students material that will be of benefit to them when they graduate from high school. It is an effort to place before these students certain essential problems that should enable the high school graduate to choose a vocation—to carry on after he has finished his preparatory work.

This congress, one of the largest of its kind in the country, is no doubt beneficial, yet it would seem that guidance is even more important after the student has entered college. It is the tendency of too many students to take their higher education in the light of an avocation, instead of looking at it as vocational preparation.

A great number of students have the habit of changing majors every quarter or so. No doubt such students receive some benefit from each of the courses to which they are exposed, yet on the other side there is a greater loss of time and effort resulting from the lack of any definite aim.

By the time a student is a sophomore at least, he should have some idea as to what he cares to do and should take advantage of everything that will better prepare him to do that work. The person who chooses his major early and works towards a definite end has a huge advantage over he who later chooses a major merely because he happens to have more credits in that particular branch of study.

Carry On!

LOSING to the Washington Huskies, the Grizzlies will journey to Corvallis, where they meet the Oregon Aggies in their second game on the coast trip.

The University, while anything but lucky last evening at Seattle, are expected to get in line and put up a good contest with the Aggie team.

Tomorrow night the Grizzly crew will tangle with the Oregon University in the second game with the Webfoots within two weeks. The Oregon team and the Washington quintas are, at present, tied for conference honors. Montana will have a hard struggle with Oregon, but it may be assured that if they put up the contest they did while the Oregonians visited Missoula, the Eugene townfolks and student body will know that their Varsity five has had a workout.

Varsity Vodvil

VARSITY Vodvil is to be presented March 5. Tryouts, are to be held February 19. That means but two weeks in which organizations may whip their acts into shape. The admonition is—get busy!

The show, as is indicated by the name, should be representative of what is essentially collegiate. With this in mind, the judges are to be instructed to base their decisions mainly on whether or not the acts presented are original, clever, smart. These things will be considered primary, so those who have charge of the various acts may know what elements should be paramount in their productions.

CLAPP GIVES TALKS TO BOZEMAN GROUPS

Prexy Outlines Geology Facts Before Congress, Rotary Club

"I always enjoy speaking to high school students," President C. H. Clapp stated yesterday in speaking of his trip to Bozeman, where he spoke before the Boys' Vocational conference on Tuesday. "All young people when they enter the University should have some definite object in mind to give purpose and unity to their work," the president said. "More than 1,000 boys from high schools over the state were present at the conference. It was one of the most successful meetings of its kind ever held in the state." President Clapp spoke on "Mining and Geology as a Profession" at the conference Tuesday afternoon, and that noon he addressed the Bozeman Rotary club on "The Geology and Natural Resources of Montana." He was to have gone to Helena Tuesday evening to appear before finance committees of the house and senate, but, due to congestion of business there, he was informed that he would not have to be in Helena until Monday.

Naughty Twists Fail to Win Sheik's Heart

Sheik? Certainly he had—ask Elinor Glyn what!

Suffice to say that the maidens' hearts thrilled at his very approach. How they slaved, hoping he would notice, somehow.

Yet only one dared show her feeling. Back she sneaked, when all the others had left the field of battling emotions. How she danced, and tried to vamp, while he watched, halfway attracted.

Then her conscience smote her, bitterly. "This isn't right—I'm being naughty." But, too late; the sheik—Modern? Huh, uh, only the dancing club practicing the Egyptian drama for tomorrow's presentation.

Law School Reviews Valuable New Books

Along in 1576, Edward Heron was a very good student of English laws. He had a book, bound in leather and printed in type that was a little wavy and altogether minus the letter "s," but it was a good copy of the Magna Charta and his notes on the margins and on the fly-leaf show the same tendencies that modern students have. His tiny picture of a girl's head on one of the leaves showed that his mind did not altogether run to books, and there was only one picture lacking to make the man modern; but bulls had not been invented then. The Law library now has that book. It cost them $20, again proving that education comes high.

In all, the library has received $1,979.75 worth of books in the last two weeks and if new books are costly, many of them are worse than worthless for they date back to 1576 and 1600. They range from these dates to the most modern of law books and vary in size from 15 inches long to five and one-half and from three inches thick to one-fourth of an inch. Complete Canadian reports in 205 volumes cost $500 and date from 1823 to 1900. The Scotch Law Review, in 185 volumes, makes the English set nearly complete.

These books were purchased with money from the estate of W. W. Dixon, who set aside a fund for the maintenance of the library and for keeping it up date. They will be catalogued by Charlotte Russell, law librarian, and added to the stacks.

The old books are in good condition, having been repaired many times since their printing. Most of them are in their original bindings of leather but the paper is very brittle with age. Notes written in with ink a long time ago are faded but still legible.

Heh! Heh!

Back in Days When Girls Were Girls

"A Girl of the Age." A New York paper thus describes a specimen of this genus in that city, July, 1869.

She went to the theater and two parties in one evening, carried on three flirtations at each, and the next day refused three offers of marriage, accepted two and broke off three previous engagements, read four new novels, wrote two love letters and one hundred notes of invitation, practiced her music lesson, made herself a new waterfall, ate breakfast, lunch, and dinner enough for two milkmen, took a walk on Fifth avenue, bought two pounds of French candy and ate it, rode to the skating rink with one of her fiancés and walked home with another.

BAFFLED

Queen Walks With Athlete—Hack Gets Tag

He drove up proudly, for few were the occasions when it was his privilege thus to show the co-eds that he was of the chosen few who could provide transportation to the show, or the dance, or the Foresters' ball, as the case might be. Indolently he parked, carefully raising his eyebrows as he looked carefully but casually to see if there were other cars near. There were none.

Strolling to class, nothing referred to by the professor in charge seemed to interest him—his eyes held a disinterested, vacant look. He was wondering if the blonde with the shapely ankles would ride with him at the conclusion of the hour; he would ask her.

Finally came the end of the class period. The blonde escaped under the escort of an "M" man. Disconsolately he turned to his joy and pride, parked near Main hall, with no other cars near to detract from its joyous beauty. Entering the seat, a small bit of cardboard fluttered to the floor, attracting attention to itself.

This is the message it carried: "Report at once to the Missoula Police department." Then in handwriting came, "Parked four feet from fire plug in front of Main hall."

A look of dismay instantly replaced the carefree one.

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a man whose life's ambition was to take unto himself a pipe. Time and again his heart was set on some particular pipe—but poor fellow, his dreams never came true. . .

Until one day a friend, experienced in such affairs, gave him a few pointers. He took his friend's advice; he got some Granger Rough Cut. . . It worked! In a few weeks' time he was solidly wedded to a wonderful pipe... sitting pretty, fixed for life!

Indeed, but for Granger many a man would never know the joy and comfort of a pipe! Granger is so mild, so mellow, so cool! Ripe old Burley tobacco, mellowed Wellman's way. And cut in rough flakes that burn slow and smoke cool. . .

Paul Bunyan Arrives Today

IT'S HERE—THE FORESTER'S BALL. The long anticipated affair has finally arrived and it is but a few dragging hours until the 900 pairs of feet will be tripping gaily over the heavily polished floor of the men's gymnasium. The final signification of Paul's arrival came this morning when big white footprints appeared as if by magic over night. But the truth will out because Paul became furious last night, being unable to remove a logging jam, and started to walk off his wrath. Quite unconsciously his lengthy strides lead to the gymnasium.

The clever handiwork of the forsters in transplanting the virgin forest has created many shady nooks and countless resting places—far, far away, hidden from the scrutinizing eyes of the overly-watchful chaperons.

As one last favor Dean Spaulding and "Doc" Schreiber beg the participants to refrain from smoking in the Ranger's Paradise. Known to all, this place is heavily laden with boughs overhead and underneath, and the slightest flicker of one dying match would have the place in flames. Warnings were issued last year, but some negligent ones refused to heed them and the Paradise was closed for further use during the evening. The same action shall be taken tonight at the first signification of smoking. Not only is this request demanded of the Andy Krocchek, chief dispatcher of the grub, spent last night preparing his choice menus and recipes. Today, several reliable helpers, consuming more sandwiches than they produced, have been busily buttering, slicing, mixing, stirring, in a strenuous effort to satisfy the hungry mob. The forty or more Shorthorns, previously attending during the winter quarter, are decidedly missing at this end of the preparation.

All other surprises are being saved. But here's a big list of "Donts" to paste on your mirror and memorize before 9 o'clock:

1. Don't forget—no smoking.
2. Don't come in anything but WESTERN costume.
3. Don't forget the $20 in prizes.
4. Don't forget to follow the big white footprints.
5. Don't forget the signals: One—stop; two—advance forward; three—reverse motion.
6. Don't forget to leave the bottle outside.
7. Don't forget to BE YOURSELF and HAVE A WONDERFUL LUMBERJACK TIME.

Dixon, Colvin Speak on Smoker Program: Boxing Bouts Staged

Joseph M. Dixon was the principal speaker at the Law school smoker held last Tuesday evening in the law library. Dr. Colvin, professor of law, told of his recent article in the American Bar Association Journal and downtown lawyers spoke on matters of interest to students.

Ex-Governor Dixon told of the early history of the school and of the part played in the establishment of the library by his brother, William Wirt Dixon. He also told about how Mrs. W. W. Dixon decided to leave a sum of money to maintain and keep the shelves up-to-date.

Music for the smoker was furnished by Maurice Driscoll, Vernon Krogh and Lewis Nichols. Fred Ironside entertained with several jokes.

The feature of the evening was a three-round boxing bout between Al Seeley and Joe Cochran. Mike Thomas acted as referee. Dean Gillespie was in Seeley's corner; John Bonner was second for Cochran. There was no decision. Both these men are experienced fighters and have shown Missoula audiences many good battles.

The smoker is an annual affair of the lawyers and was well attended.

GRIZZLIES HAVE GOOD CHANCE TO COP OREGON AGGIE FRAY

New Team Opposes Montana Tonight; Eugene Game to End Trip

Although badly beaten in their first game on the present road trip, the Montana University hoop squad still has two opportunities to get into the win column before they return to Montana soil.

The Grizzlies have a good chance to cop their game with the Oregon Aggies tonight at Corvallis. Crippled by the loss of practically all the veterans, Coach "Bob" Hager has had to build almost a new team. The strength of the Beavers is unknown although they were beaten by the Idaho Vandals on the coast floor earlier in the season. The probable starting lineup of the Oregon Farmers will be Mathews and Hartung, forwards; Savory, center; and Captain Graap and Burr, guards. These five men have started most of the Aggie's games so far this season but the coach is still doing a lot of shifting in order to get the best scoring lineup.

Oregon U Last Game

Montana's final coast trip engagement will be against Oregon university, Saturday night at Eugene. Montana's chances against last year's Northern division winners is weak. Although they played everything but championship ball at Missoula about a week ago they should easily subdue the Grizzlies on the Oregon floor. They have about the best record of any of the Coast conference teams so far this season and their big victory over Washington university at Seattle displays their shooting strength. Coach Rinehart will probably start Gunther and Ridings, forwards; Okerberg, center; Captain Westergren and Epps, guards. Epps did not play in Missoula on account of an injury that he received in the Cougar game two nights before.

U of Washington Downs Grizzlies
Producing the speed that they lacked in the Oregon game, the University of Washington easily defeated Montana in a Pacific Coast conference game at Seattle, Wednesday night. The Huskies gathered 17 points in the first 10 minutes of play and Coach Edmundson's cagers held the lead all through the game. The Seattle forwards were in shooting form and were able to drop the ball through on almost every shot. Captain Al Schuss and Monty Snider scored enough points between them to turn in a victory.

Montana's defeat may be attributed to the close guarding of the Huskies defense, Montana being forced to shoot from a distance for all of her points.

The first half ended with Washington leading 32-9 and shortly after the second half began a whole new team was sent into the fray. Coach Stewart made only one substitution, that being Miller for Overturf.

The lineup and summary:

Montana (17)	Washington (46)
Coyle	Schuss
Overturf	Snider
Kain	Jewell
Larsen	Dalquest
Wendt	Johnson

Montana scoring: Field goals—Coyle, 2; Overturf, 1; Kain, 3. Free throws—Overturf, 1; Kain, 3; Miller (sub for Overturf), 1.

Washington scoring: Field goals—Schuss, 4; Snider, 3; Jewell, 4; Johnson, 2; Hack (sub for Jewell), 3; St. John (sub for Johnson), 1. Free throws—Schuss, 1; Dalquest, 1; Johnson, 4; James (sub for Snider), 1; Brobst (sub for Dalquest), 1.

Montana Track Team Starts Daily Practice

Although Coach Jim Stewart is on the road with his touring cage team, the track candidates are working out daily in the gym. During the absence of the mentor, little work can be done by the squad, but the men are running around with great enthusiasm and with a desire to astound the track fans of the Pacific coast by doing unbelievable things next spring. Prospects are bright regarding the 1927 cinder team. Although the great Sweet is gone, several men remain who may be expected to break more records than an elephant in a music store. Gillette, Coyle, Miller, Spaulding, Adams and several sparkling performers from last year's frosh squad will cause Montana to be feared in most of the events.

Congregational Quint Holds Lead in Church Hoop League

Strengthening their hold in the win column and causing the Episcopalists to fall from third place, was the result of a 16 to 7 victory for the University church five, last Tuesday evening, February 1.

The University team, otherwise known as the Congregationalists, have to their credit four wins and no defeats. They bid fair to be strong contenders for the championship if they do not fall from grace. Their immediate rival is the Newman club, which also has four victories and no defeats. When the teams meet February 11 it should be a battle royal. The opening of the first half showed that both teams were pretty much under the weather and were unable to connect with the basket for several minutes. Allen started the scoring by caging three foul tries awarded him. Many set-ups and long shots were tried, but the University quint began to work the ball in and thus secured the desired points. Good guarding prevented the Episcopalists from shooting at close range. Priest, was up to his usual form in doing his share of the converting.

Congos Drop Out

During the second half the losers showed a burst of speed that fairly put the Congos to rout. However, they did not keep up their good work and consequently lost possession of the ball for the remainder of the game. Both made six to bring up their totals. K. Davis, subbed for Allen, converting one, failing to repeat his former threat as a scorer. The game ended in a scramble under the Episcopalists' basket.

The lineup and summary:

Episcopalists (7)	University (16)
Calloway	Henry
Beckett	Allen
Covert	Priest
Morrow	Algren
Briscoe	Stepanoff
Subs—Downs, K. Davis. Free throws—Morrow, Allen 4. Field goals—Downs, Beckett, Briscoe, Henry 2. K. Davis, Priest 3.

Many Surprises Due When Boxers Meet at Annual Tourney

Still no more threats of action from the "M" club committees. Evidently the promoters of the fistic carnival are withholding the details of the event and will spring a complete surprise on the blood loving populace when the time arrives. It is even rumored that the organization plans to hold the affair on April 1, and to astound the spectators by enticing them into the gym and then announcing that there would be no show. First, of course, they would secure the money. This would be a pleasant little surprise and would be a most welcome change from the old custom of charging admission and then holding the exhibition as usual.

The boxers and wrestlers, of course, are training diligently. They, at least, will be ready. "M" clubs may come and "M" clubs may go, but boxers go on forever. The participants are trained to a point where, if the tournament is not held, they are apt to go out and slug their grandmothers or apply headlocks to old men in an effort to let off steam.

It has been announced that the club will, as usual, give a cup and a collection of medals to those men who cause their opponents the most bodily anguish during the evening. The large cup will go to the man who slaps the opposition on the chin with the most frequency during the show. The medals will go to those men who appear to be supreme in their respective weight classes and the rest of the participants will get out alive, if they are lucky. After the honors have been awarded and the spectators have left the gym, the "M" club will begin its plans for next year's brawl.

Newman Club Wins

Hitting their former stride by administering a good trouncing, the Newman club defeated the Methodistists by a one-sided score of 46 to 2 in the second game, Tuesday evening, February 1.

The Methodistists were completely outclassed from the start and were guarded so well that they never fully invaded their enemy's territory. The Catholic lads secured seven points before their opponents realized the game had started and they continued to score at random. Chinske converted for a total of 22 points, B. Hodges and Lewis 12 each. During the first half the winners proceeded to pile up points, till they had amassed 24 to the Methodistists' 0, by half time.

The second phase opened with a bang and the score continued to soar upwards. The ball seldom came close or near the losers' basket, occasionally they secured it on a bad pass, only to lose it on a poor throw. Their two forwards were constantly on the go but were not fast enough to get clear for a shot at the basket. Finally they were awarded two tries on a foul committed by Lewis and succeeded in converting for their two lone points. Eleven baskets were made for a total of 22 points, swelling the sum to 46.

Flynn subbed for T. Hodges and the losers ran in Coumbie.

The lineup and summary:

Methodists (2)	Newman Club (46)
Robinson	Chinske
Jones	B. Hodges
Young	Lewis
Dix	T. Hodges
Skones	Lawry
Subs—Coumbie, Flynn. Free throws—Robinson 2. Field goals—Chinske 11. B. Hodges 6, Lewis 6.

Speed and Size Aid Kilroy in Floor Work

"Harp" Kilroy, sophomore guard on this year's Varsity floor squad, came to the Grizzly school from Butte high in 1924. He was a member of the Mining city court squads during his prep days and brings with him an outstanding scholastic record, having played on some of the best teams that the Montana metropolis has turned out.

Kilroy was a member of the 1924 Cub team but was not a candidate for the Varsity the following year as he was not in school. Returning this year, he answered Coach Stewart's call at the start of the season and landed a regular job. Unusually big and strong, he is an ideal guard, as his height and speed give him an advantage over smaller men. He, like his mates, has had little experience, but another year's seasoning should bring out the best of his abilities.

BOBKITTENS DEFEAT HARD FIGHTING CUBS

Grizzly Yearlings Weaken in Last Few Minutes of Game

After leading a closely contested game for more than thirty minutes, the touring Cubs weakened in the final moments and allowed the ever-dangerous Bobkittens to forge ahead and gain a lead that was then never overcome. Breezing along through the first half with a substantial lead, the Grizzly babes appeared to have the game safely laid away when a Bobkitten attack sent a multitude of shots plunging through the hoop to give them a 10-point advantage by the time the gun ended the contest.

Gilbert McFarland, former Billings athlete, led his team to victory in the winning rally. The Bobkitten forward looped three distance tosses with about ten minutes to go and started the Gallatin valley men on a scoring rampage which they did not cease until the Cubs were buried under a 35-25 count.

The floor play of Miller and Linville and the brilliant shooting of Rankin kept the University frosh in a commanding position until McFarland broke loose while the Bozeman star and his running mate, Ward, maintained a constant attack on the invaders' basket.

SPORT GLIMPSES

The Grizzlies are on their last coast invasion of the 1927 basketball season. This will be their last foreign jaunt except for a short trip to Bozeman.

Although losing their first battle on the trip, they still have an opportunity to gain a victory, down by the sea.

Washington university was able to pile up a large score against the Tri-color crew because the Seattle cage artists were in shooting form and the Grizzly cagers were unable to hit their stride.

The 46-17 score does not indicate the speed of the game. The Huskies were forced to fight all the way in order to top the local quint.

Montana should have an easier time against the Oregon Aggies. The Beavers have had to rebuild this year and although Coach Hager has been very fortunate in getting some good material to fill in the gaps, the record of the Oregon Farmers so far this season shows that they are unsteady in their play and at times very erratic.

So far this season they have only played one conference game and that with Idaho about two weeks ago. They put up a hard scrap against the veteran Idaho quint and were only beaten by one point. They have played a number of independent quints from Salem and Portland and have had a fairly easy time with the ex-college stars.

It is impossible to tell anything about competitive scores this year in the Northern division of the Pacific Coast conference. All the teams have at least lost one game and there are about four teams that still have a chance to capture the laurels in the Northern division.

Records of some of our opponents so far this season: Washington university won easily from Montana and Idaho but they received a drubbing from the Oregon university hoopsters. Oregon has defeated Idaho, W.S.C., Montana and Washington, but dropped a hard game to Idaho on the Vandals' floor.

Washington State college is considered to have a chance after defeating the Vandals at Moscow last Saturday. They also have two victories over the Grizzlies, one of which is nothing to brag about, but they were on the short side of a 31-13 score in their game with the Webfoots at Pullman. Idaho is all puffed up over her victory against the Oregon university machine but her defeat at the hands of the Cougars at Moscow should produce silence at the Vandal camp. The Idaho quint has also been beaten by Washington university and by the Webfoots on their coast invasion. They like to talk about their victory over the Oregon Farmers at Corvallis.

In the Southern division the University of Southern California has two defeats marked against them, one to Stanford and one to California. Stanford and Cal have nothing to shout about as they showed no superiority over the Trojans. California won by two points while Stanford squeezed through with a one-point margin.

The University yearlings are taking their first basketball trip of the 1927 season. They lost a tough struggle to the Bobkittens on Wednesday night but should easily cop both of their games with Billings Poly.

The Cubs led the Kittens most of the way in Wednesday's battle but McFarland, Billings high star and an ex-running mate of Linville, caged a few in rapid succession in the last few minutes of play to give the Bozeman frosh a 10-point margin.

Besides the remaining conference games that Montana University fans will have an opportunity to witness on the local floor, the Frosh have a few more encounters to play on the Montana court.

An important struggle that should bring out a large number of University fans is the return battle between the Cubs and Missoula high school next Tuesday night. The high school quint easily defeated the Cubs at the high school gym earlier in the season. Since then both teams have improved a great deal and fans will be able to witness a good game between these two quints.

“P.A.” letters of recommendation

EXPERIENCED pipe-smokers from Cape Lisburne to Cape Sable (get out your map of North America!) recommend P. A. to you as the finest tobacco that ever lined the bowl of a pipe. You'll check-in with their recommendation.

Why, the instant you swing back the hinged lid on the tidy red tin, your olfactory nerve registers a fragrance like that of a pine-grove on a damp morning. And when you tuck a load of this wonderful tobacco into your pipe—say, Mister!

Cool as Cape Lisburne, mentioned above. Sweet as the plaudits of a first-night audience. Mild as morning in Cape Sable. (That's working-in the old geography!) Mild, yet with a full tobacco body that completely satisfies your smoke-taste. Buy some Prince Albert today and make the test!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.
