GALLATIN COUNTY HIGH WINS FIRST THEATER TOURNAMENT

Excellent Talent Is Revealed by Amateur Stage Artists

Presenting "The Valiant," by Hall Middlemass, Gallatin County high school of Bozeman, was awarded the top leg on the three-year cup furnished by the Montana Masquers for the best play entered in the first Little Theater tournament, according to the decision announced last night at the Little Theater. "The Glittering," presented by Libby, received a $30 prize for the second best of the evening.

Miss Mary Lee of Missoula County high school was awarded the $10 prize for the best play entered in the first Little Theater tournament, according to the decision announced last night at the Little Theater. "The Glittering," presented by Libby, received a $30 prize for the second best of the evening.

Included in the cast of "The Valiant" were Austin DeFrate, Elizabeth DeFrate, Stanton Cooper, Arthur Arshman, Fred Bennion, and Merle Long. They were admirably cast and the direction was faultless, as was the acting and the lighting effects. According to several critics in the audience, the production as a whole was a peer of any amateur performance they had seen. Every one in the crowd that filled the Little Theater to overflowing was very well pleased with the decision, and all united in giving Miss Dina Rees Evans the highest praise.

Libby's entry, "The Glittering," was very adequately handled by Kermit Lyon and Peter Van der Ford. Mr. Lyon's work as Jim is specially to be commended. Miss Elizabeth Louise Johnson, who directed the play, can well be proud of her boys. Libby shared the distinction with Bozeman of being one of the six entries to bring their own scenery. This added greatly to the effectiveness of both plays.

Butte high school, with its drama of the negro who is torn between his love for his people and that for his life, gave an excellent play excellent. Stephen Odgers as Eugene Lawrence is to be highly commended for his sensitive rendition of a difficult part. Marion Hobbs, Teddie MacMahon and Paul Wenans supported him in a way that left little to be desired. "The Slave" was written by Elizabeth Hall Yates, and directed by Miss Lilian Kerrigan.

"Green Chatterbox" by Chester Heywood, Helena's entry, which was directed by Miss Barbara Fraser, caused the chills to chase up and down the spines of the audience like quills in nutting season, and the surprise ending left them gasping. Barton Smith and Ted Cooney did some very clever and well-timed pantomime, and Jabez Miller was as distraught as we all expect authors of thrilling melodramas should be.

Main Hall Preliminaries
Other plays presented in the preliminaries yesterday morning in the Main hall auditorium were "The Prince of Court Painters," a costume play, presented by Anaconda high school; "The Medicine Show," by Buffalo high, and "The Chinaman Coconut," by Corvallis.

Anaconda's entry, which was written by Constance MacKay, was directed by Eura M. Kester. The cast included Halbert Barnett, Beth Sparrow, and Rosalynn Nye.

Buffalo high school presented "The Medicine Show," by Stuart Walker, with Victor Riemers, John Cromet, LaVerne Fairbanks, and Marjorie Ristine. Miss Dorothy Hejander directed.

Corvallis' melodramatic farce, written by Ina Hay, was directed by Miss Florence Akerson. Those in the cast were Wilford Poppe, Donald Halleran, Clark Wheelbarger, Margaret Dye, and Mary Fierce.

Libby won the right to appear in

WOMEN CONTESTANT NUMBER INCREASES

Fifty-three women contestants had been assigned to rooms, according to figures from Dean Harriet Sedman's office at a late hour yesterday afternoon. Many more were due to arrive in Missoula last night, however. The number of women contestants this year is largely due to the Little Theater tournament.

Girls who are accompanied by chaperones are assigned to private homes, while those without chaperones are housed in Corbin and North halls. No difficulty has been encountered this year in supplying housing accommodations, according to Mrs. Gilbert Porter, secretary to Dean Sedman. The women contestants are taking part in debate, declamation and the one-act plays of the Little Theater tournament.

WELCOME

"It is always a pleasure to welcome you high school girls and boys to the campus of the State University of Montana to take part in its annual interscholastic. We like to have you here and it is our hope that you will not only enjoy yourselves but will gain the inspiration necessary to win the games of life. Unlike the interscholastic games and contests, it is possible for everyone to win in those games, but it takes the same qualities to win, and it is to develop those qualities University Interscholastic is dedicated."

PRESIDENT C. H. CLAPP.

BOZEMAN HIGH WINS ANNUAL CUP AWARD

GREETINGS

Greetings! To high school contestants and all visitors on the Montana campus. We welcome you and hope that your visit at the University will be an enjoyable one. During the next three days, we invite you to inspect our campus, to familiarize yourselves with our school and to be one of us. We hope that you will be so favorably impressed with the University of Montana that you will return and enroll as students in our institution.

Dean of Men.

Soph Organizations Are Busy Meeting Track Contestants

Members of Tanans and Bear Paw have been busy both night and day during this week, meeting trains and helping the contestants get registered and escorting them to the various places where they are to stay while they are in Missoula.

Over 70 cars are being used in transporting the arrivals from the depot to the hotels and residence halls. The system used this year has proved to be an exceptionally good one and the maximum efficiency is being sought in the development of this system.

After the last Northern Pacific train had been met Tuesday night the members of both organizations went to the Alpha Chi Omega house where a waffle party was enjoyed.

The largest contingent of contestants and visitors arrived Wednesday night. The last entrants arrived in Missoula this morning.

Frontier Ready for Public Distribution

The spring quarter issue of the Frontier, the University's literary magazine, was put on the stands for public distribution last night during the finals in the one-act plays at the Little Theater. The book will be on sale for the rest of the week.

"And One Came Back," winning story in the 1927 Joyce Memorial contest, written by Dorothy Marie Johnson Peterkin, is the feature number of the issue. There are also three stories, a number of poems, and the Sluice Box in the book. The contributions are the work of members of the class in Creative Writing. Lyle Williams is the editor in charge of the issue. The price is 35 cents per copy.

GOVERNOR WILL REVIEW GRIZZLY TROOPS FRIDAY

Friday afternoon, the Grizzly battalion will hold a parade on Dornblaser field just before the final events of the track meet are run off.

This has become an annual custom during the interscholastic. The battalion will form on the drill ground at 1:40 o'clock. Officials of the University and Governor Erickson will review the battalion.

CUSTER AND BUTTE HIGH TIED FOR SECOND PLACE IN MEET

SOS FOR VISITORS TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Prexy Clapp Will Welcome Visitors; Thomas and Higgins Will Speak

High school students from all parts of the Treasure state who are visitors at Missoula and the Montana campus will have an opportunity to experience the thrills of a real college tradition tonight when at 7:30 o'clock more than 1,000 students will gather for Singing on the Steps, better known as SOS. Scores of visitors who have before watched this treasured Grizzly tradition will again have the privilege of reacquainting themselves with Montana spirit during this big rally.

Track meet SOS always is the largest of its kind during the year. This is because special features are planned to make it the most impressive and this observance will be no exception if plans of those in charge are any criterion.

President Charles H. Clapp will welcome high school students, coaches and chaperones at 7:30. Following Prexy, Myles Thomas, newly elected president of the student body, will make his first public appearance in that capacity and he also will speak to visitors.

Several features of the half-hour program have been withheld as surprises by Jimmy Higgins, new yell king, who has charge of SOS.

Following "College Chums" after the Main hall clock tolls S, bonfires and a snake dance are planned. The dance will form in front of Main hall and proceed around the oval to the two fires near the arch on University avenue. During this fete, the big "M" on Mount Sentinel will be lighted by red fuses. Several stunts will be featured between the fires, in which visitors will once more gain a realization of the meaning of the term "Grizzly." A drum corps of competitive games on the oval has been planned. First will be relay races including a newspaper relay, Indian club relay, up and down, and rescue relay. Second will be competitive games, and third races. The races will include a jump the shot race, human hurdle, peanut race, stunt race and three legged race. Following these until 11 o'clock will be girls' baseball and roller skating competition.

A. Behner Winner of First Place in Essay Contest Event

Alice Behner, senior in the Glasgow high school, was awarded the judges' decision for first place in the essay contest. Miss Behner's subject was "Loving Beautifully."

Mr. Freeman, who had charge of the contest, stated yesterday that no word had been received regarding whether Miss Behner would attend the interscholastic meet. Each year the University pays the expenses of the winner of this event to the annual high school meet.

Miss Behner also won the extemporaneous essay contest recently held by the State College at Bozeman.

English Exhibit Open to Public Tomorrow

The English department exhibit, which opened yesterday noon in room 103 in the Library building, was open to the public again this morning from 9 to 12 and will be open tomorrow morning at the same hours. Miss Powell, Missoula county librarian, has charge of the display.

Text books, samples of free material that can be used to an advantage by high school teachers are illustrated and mimeographed copies with debate, drama, and declamatory material available for such work will be distributed.

By virtue of Page's two firsts, one in the shot put and the other in the discus, Gallatin county established a two-point lead. Butte, which captured three places in the 440, and Custer county are tied with 10 points for second place.

Led by the Grizzly band, 184 athletes, about one-third of the number of contestants entered, marched in parade to open the twenty-fourth annual interscholastic meet at 1:50 o'clock this afternoon. Due to the inclement weather, the record-breaking crowd that greeted the first day of last year's meet was lacking. The first event to be run off was the preliminaries in the 50-yard dash.

Several features of the half-hour program have been withheld as surprises by Jimmy Higgins, new yell king, who has charge of SOS.

Following "College Chums" after the Main hall clock tolls S, bonfires and a snake dance are planned. Second will be competitive games, and third races. The races will include a jump the shot race, human hurdle, peanut race, stunt race and three legged race. Following these until 11 o'clock will be girls' baseball and roller skating competition.

Competitive games from 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock tomorrow morning for the girl contestants at the interscholastic is a new feature being arranged by the Women's Athletic association on the campus this week.

The visiting girls will be divided into groups, with distinctive colors. From 10 to 11 a. m. a program of competitive games on the oval has been planned. First will be relay races including a newspaper relay, Indian club relay, up and down, and rescue relay. Second will be competitive games, and third races. The races will include a jump the shot race, human hurdle, peanut race, stunt race and three legged race. Following these until 11 o'clock will be girls' baseball and roller skating competition.

At 11 o'clock aquatic events will start in the swimming pool, annex of the men's gymnasium. There will be exhibitions of the various strokes, including the breast, side, back, racing back, single overarm and crawl strokes. These will be followed by life saving stunts and exhibition diving. Second will be contests in swimming consisting of relays, distance diving, water treading, free for all race one length of the pool, side stroke race and diving. Prizes will be awarded in each of the events.

Margaret Sterling is in charge of the program. Kathleen O'Donnell, assisted by Cecelia Pospisil and Ruth Nickey, will direct the outdoor sports, while Stella Skulason and Virginia Daily and Unarose Flannery will be in charge of the aquatic events.

Initiation services in Gamma Epsilon Pi, national honorary business administration fraternity for women, were held Sunday morning for Margaret Shoup, Sioux City, Iowa, and Cecelia Pospisil, Moore.

Following the ceremonies breakfast was served to new initiates by Bernice Evans, Alfreda Ellis and Bernice Blomgren.

Mrs. L. G. Arnoldson was a dinner guest at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house Wednesday evening.

Alice Behner, senior in the Glasgow high school, was awarded the judges' decision for first place in the essay contest. Miss Behner's subject was "Loving Beautifully."

Mr. Freeman, who had charge of the contest, stated yesterday that no word had been received regarding whether Miss Behner would attend the interscholastic meet. Each year the University pays the expenses of the winner of this event to the annual high school meet.

Miss Behner also won the extemporaneous essay contest recently held by the State College at Bozeman.

BUTTE GARNERS 10 POINTS

Evans of Butte, who drew the pole in the 440-yard dash, held that position throughout the race. His time was 54.6 seconds. This was considerable slower than the time made last year. J. Inkret and Presnick, both of Butte, finished in second and fifth places, respectively, giving Butte 10 points in this one event. Hess, Victor, placed third, and Turri, Carbon county, finished fourth.

A. Maxson of Flathead established a new state record with a vault of 11 feet 8 3/4 inches. Parks of Missoula broke Prosser's long-standing record last year with a vault of 11 feet 5 3/4 inches.

By virtue of Page's two firsts, one in the shot put and the other in the discus, Gallatin county established a two-point lead. Butte, which captured three places in the 440, and Custer county are tied with 10 points for second place.

S. O. S.

SINGING ON THE STEPS is to the high school visitors, now on our campus, the essence of college spirit: a great, eager crowd of students cheering their college, singing its songs and its praises, united for the moment, wholeheartedly, in its cause, to make it, as it deserves to be made, among the best. It should mean this to every one of us. It could mean that if we would but do our part.

Tonight, Dr. Clapp will welcome Inter-scholastic contestants and visitors to the campus. Mike Thomas, president of ASUM, is on the program. Dean Stone, with whom S.O.S. is naturally associated, will speak, as is the custom. A pep rally will follow.

This is our opportunity to show the visitors what our school means to us, and what it will mean to them to become a part of it. Think how it would sound to hear almost the entire student body singing "College Chums" at 8:00 tonight. Enough to bring hundreds of new students to Montana. Enough to urge our lagging spirits to new accomplishments. Enough to make us unified, at least for a while, in our loyalty to our school.

The Little Theatre tournament, of one-act plays, won last night by Gallatin County high school, Bozeman, presenting "The Valiant," marks the advent of dramatics into the field of major contests of the annual Inter-scholastic meet.

It does mean broadening the scope of the meet and the participation of an additional number of contestants; but it may be, too, a stimulus to activity in a department heretofore relatively unimportant in high school extra-curricular activities, an attempt at another of the arts.

Particularly, it may mean that high schools in small towns, producing one-act and longer plays, can satisfy a theatre-starved group of people who have been willing and anxious to go many miles to see a traveling company of players in even an unsatisfying, mediocre play.

Carl Glick's enthusiasm for the theatre is contagious, and principally for the Little Theatre and its allied activities.

Just what is Ronald-Coleman's batting average, since the potentiality of campus Appolos was discovered by First National?

THIS AND THAT

According to the Utah Chronicle, sorority rushing at the University of Utah cost the girls $3,000 this year. Little Happy Bull wants to know whether it was worth it.

Pan-Hell allows each house a hundred dollars for fall rushing expenses at Montana State; spring rushing depends on the house budgets, largely. How much shall actually be spent depends on the respective needs for pledges, their possibilities, and the need for new furniture.

After attending a convention of deans of men from the colleges and universities throughout the United States, one dean was especially interested in the fact that honor systems are disappearing as effective institutions, especially in the East and South. In our opinion honor systems are splendid things, because they

Warm Springs will be one of the thrills in store for people taking abnormal psychology this summer. Complexes, insanities, mild and violent, will be treated and studied in this course. Very interesting, if a bit lurid.

Speaking of grade-points, have you heard of the novel method employed to make some of the A.T.O.s study for finals? Concentration of the subconscious, we call it.

Usually staid and stolid, the professor was beaming. "Had he made a revolutionary discovery? Had his story been accepted by Harper's? We asked him what he'd been doing in the way of intellectual proceedings, and, sezee, 'I've just been talking to the janitor about a good lake for fishing. He told me that . . .'" We heard no more, but dashed away in disillusionment.

New Religion Courses for Summer School

As an advertisement for the summer session this year, the School of Religion of the University has published a four-page booklet giving information as to the courses it will offer during the summer and the instructors who will be in charge of them.

Two courses are being offered in the curriculum of the Religion school this summer. One of these is called "The History of the Relations Between Science and Religion," and the other "Christian Ethics in Relation to Modern Social and Ethical Movements." Rev. W. L. Young, the director of the school, will be in charge of the work. His assistant, Professor Gerald Birney Smith of the Divinity school of the University of Chicago, will teach during the second summer term.

KAPPA SIG INSTALL NEW CHAPTER TODAY

Installation of Kappa Sigma began this afternoon with the arrival of Mr. Rollie W. Bradford of Denver and Dan Shields, attorney of Salt Lake City. Alpha Delta Alpha, local on the campus since 1916, will become Delta Omicron chapter of Kappa Sigma.

Plans for the installation are now complete and will include a banquet at the Florence tomorrow night. J. R. Hobbins, general manager of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, Professor F. C. Scheuch, and the installing officers will be guests of honor at this banquet. At present, plans for a trip to Seeley lake are tentative for Saturday. The first installation ball will be held at the Elks' temple Saturday night and will be the last part of the installation ceremonies.

A.D.A. expects a number of their alumni and former students back for the initiation. Those who have already arrived are E. Ivan Caraway, and Vernon Fox of Billings, Leonard Brewer of Terry, and S. Edwin Whitworth of Dillon.

Chaperons for the ball will be Mr. and Mrs. George Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Porter, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Clapp, and Dr. and Mrs. R. H.

State University Pastor Leads Delegation of Montana Students

William Young, student pastor, will give a series of addresses on "Vocational Guidance" and "Scientific Method in Religion," at the Pacific Northwest Student conference, June 11 to 20, at Seabeck on Puget Sound. The conference is conducted by the student department of the Young Men's Christian association. The convention this year celebrates 50 years of intercollegiate Christian service.

Addresses, forums, Bible study, social gatherings and athletics will feature the meet. The following subjects will come up for special discussion: "Our Educational System," "Property Getting and Using," "Search for Truth," "Citizenship—What Is Involved," "Sex Life," "Racial and International Questions," "The Church Present and Future," and "Resources of Jesus."

Dexter Fee, Missoula; Ted Walker, Helena; Rex Speelman, Ekalaka; Donald Flint, Terry, and Henry Douglas, Helena, have made plans for the convention.

OHIO SCHOOL FINDS OLD MASSACRE STORY

Columbus, Ohio.—(IP)—What is believed to be the first reportorial account in a newspaper of the Boston Massacre, March 5, 1770, has been discovered at the Ohio State Archeological and Historical museum at the university here.

Officials are unable to explain the origin of the paper, although W. C. Mills, director of the museum, believes the paper was donated to the university before his time.

The paper, bearing the date of March 12, 1770, contains "the very first published report" of the famous historical event. It is in two sheets, printed on all four sides, and measures 11 by 16 inches. Detailed accounts of how the massacre occurred are contained in its pages. The story gives the names of those killed and wounded and the subsequent controversy and official communications which passed between the townspeople and those representing His Majesty's government.

SHANGHAI CLUB GIVES SEATTLE DEBATORS CUP

University of Washington, Seattle, Wash., May 5.—A silver loving cup, presented by the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, will be the incentive in an inter-mural debate contest, open to all organized houses. The cup is in the form of a Chinese Pagoda and will be a permanent trophy.

The question for discussion will be, "Resolved, That Foreign Governmental Control Should Immediately Be Relinquished in China, Except for Consulates and Legations."

New Rules Will Bar Sideline Spectators From Athletic Field

W. E. Schreiber, general field manager for the track meet, announces that enforcement of the new field rules will be very rigid. It was necessary to inaugurate some new rules regulating the admission to the track and field, because in previous years there has been so many unnecessary people on the field that progress in the athletic events and in judging was very slow.

The new rules are: No one but officials and contestants in uniform will be admitted to the field. Officials will wear regulation badges by which they will be recognized. There will be about sixty officials and approximately 440 contestants on the track and field, so the confusion which would result from the presence of a number of sideline spectators is apparent.

On the Campus

Mrs. John A. Slayton, formerly Eunice Dennis, '16, is in Missoula, chaperoning trackmeet delegates from Lavana.

Mrs. Gordon Montgomery, formerly Ruby Jacobsen, '15, Bynum, has been in Missoula for a week, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jacobsen.

Verna Hines is visiting Alice Talgo at North hall during trackmeet.

Beth Sparrow, Helen Oliver, Roslyn Nye and Eura Kester, all of Anaconda, are guests at North hall during the meet.

Fritz Walker is a guest of her sister, Eloise, at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house during trackmeet.

Jean Brown and Margaret Sullivan are visiting Margaret Brown at North hall during trackmeet.

Miss Teddie McMahon is the guest of her sister, Lois, at North hall over the week-end.

Marjorie Stewart is visiting her sister, Emily, at North hall this week-end.

PROGRAMS DESCRIBE RELIGION COURSES

Summer Session Curriculum Feature in Advertising; Gerald Smith Will Lecture

Programs, describing work offered during the summer session of the School of Religion and supplementary courses given in other schools and departments, are ready for circulation.

History of the Relations Between Science and Religion" and "Christian Ethics in Relation to Modern Social and Ethical Movements" will be taught by William Young and Professor Gerald Birney Smith. Both of these two and one-half credit courses may be supplemented by various suggested courses in English, education, history, journalism, physical science, and psychology.

Professor Smith received degrees of B. A. from Brown university in 1891; M.A. from Columbia, 1898; B.D. from Union Theological Seminary, 1898, and D.D. from Brown University, 1909. Since 1921, he has edited the "Journal of Religion." Because of Mr. Smith's work at Yale and Berkeley, he has become known as a lecturer.

More than 900 ministers in Idaho, North Dakota and Montana have been sent letters by President C. H. Clapp, inviting them to Missoula to take advantage of the summer program of the School of Religion.

FORESTERS BATTLE WITH LAW SCHOOL

In the semi-finals of the inter-company baseball games, Company C defeated Company A and then won from Company B by default. Friday morning at 11 o'clock, Company C and Company A play for the championship, each having won three out of four games.

Immediately after the track meet this afternoon, the Foresters and the Law school will play for the baseball championship in the inter-college games.

Fellowship Group to Give Play

Members of the Student Fellowship group have begun intensive practice on "A Persian Rose," under the direction of Miss Ruth Phillips. The play will be given Sunday evening, May 23, in the Methodist church. Persian costumes and settings have been ordered from Chicago.

LAUX MAKES RULES FOR USE OF COURTS

Women Have First Rights in Tennis Game on Campus

When funds were being raised for the building of the present football field, the women of the State University of Montana were promised money enough to construct tennis courts. As there was not enough surplus from the amount raised to complete cement tennis courts, the courts just north of the Natural Science building were begun, but left unfinished until the women of the University, through the organizations of WAA and AWS, raised enough money by their May fete production of 1926 to complete them.

It is not generally known on the campus that these courts belong to the women, and although the men of the student body and faculty are welcome to use them, it should be remembered that they are first of all the women's property.

Court Rules
The following rules are those that have been drawn up by Miss Laux in reference to using the courts. They have been approved by Dr. Clapp.

1. These courts are for the use of University students and faculty only.
2. Women students have the first right to the use of these courts.
3. Men students may play but must give up the courts if women are waiting to play.
4. Doubles take precedence over singles. (No singles may be played if any persons are waiting to play.) (Exception—In tournaments run by the women's Physical Education department, matches may be completed.)
5. No court may be held longer than thirty minutes after the appearance of others who wish to play. (Exception—In tournaments run by the women's Physical Education department matches may be completed.)
6. Any violation of the above rules forfeits a person's right to play on these courts.
7. These courts are occupied by classes Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9, 11, 3, and 4 o'clock and on Tuesday and Thursday from 5 to 6 o'clock during open hours.

Harold Hunt, Percy Wills, Clyde Hunt, Walter Dean and Bill Fewkes returned Tuesday from a four-day trip with Sheridan's orchestra. They spent two days in Helena and the remaining two days in Great Falls.

COMMUNICATIONS

Editor of the Kaimin:

With reference to a recent discussion of athletics and its correlates which appeared in the Kaimin signed W. F., I submit the following free translation of the entire fragment of Xenophanes.

"If one wins victory in the foot-race or the pentathlon (a composite contest of which we have no equivalent), in the Olympic games, or in wrestling, or the bruising boxing bout, that awful contest that men call pancration (another event unknown to us, combining boxing and wrestling with no rules against fouling), in the eyes of his townsmen he is a glory to behold, he is given a box-seat at the shows, free board at public expense, and a silver loving cup to be an heirloom in his family. A victor with horses receives a like reward. But this, as I see it, is not a fair valuation; for better than strength of man or of steeds is the intelligence that I seek to give men. The judgments I question are thoughtless. 'Tis plainly not right to value strength of body above understanding. Suppose we have a good boxer among us, or one who can combine track and field athletic skill, an Ed Strangler Lewis, or a Joey Ray—this is the thing that men honor—the state is not therefore better governed. Small is the joy that comes to the state for Olympic victories. These things fill not our larders with gold."

It is to be noticed: 1. Xenophanes does not contrast so much the pecuniary as the sentimental or social injustice of over-emphasis upon physical prowess. It is the false valuation that he objects to. Honor is not given to one who renders most valuable service. 2. In the last line he even seems to say that economically speaking the farmer is the producer, while the boxer and his ilk add not to the wealth of the state. 3. No fair-minded judge can fail to see that essentially Xenophanes is correct in his suggested relative values. Surely athletics are in a bad state, athletics in any form, professional, i. e., admittedly professional, intercollegiate, intra-mural, any form, if their defenders must resort to sneers and snickers at those who have sought light on life's way and not only been paid little in money, but social recognition. Find another line of argument, W. F., if you really love the cause of athletics.

Pray don't misunderstand me. With Whitman I would "sing the body elec-former years. In fact Captain Caulkins finds that it will be necessary to apply for an extension of the limit which is placed on all ROTC units. The limit for Montana at present is eight. This is very small when some of the larger schools in the Ninth corps area have a limit of 100.

During Wednesday's inspection Major Waddill mentioned the fact that the outside drill was rather poor. This will be remedied to a certain extent next year, according to the captain, who says that he intends to have this year's freshmen placed over the new men. Each sophomore will have a squad of freshmen. In this way much sloppy drill will be done away with and the result will be a battalion capable of quick, snappy drill. Now the schools with larger ROTC units are putting it all over Montana. Is this right? The fact that we have a comparatively small unit is greater reason for our having a better trained one as it is much easier for a small body of men to drill than a large one.

Montana spirit enters into all other forms of student activity, athletics, debate, etc. Why can't we have a little of it in the ROTC? Other units think ours is a "bunch of bums." Are we going to let them get away with that?

W. P. C.

So much has been said about the ROTC both pro and con that it is only fair to say that, despite the undesirability of this department alleged in a well-remembered communication, it is steadily growing more popular. This year there are between 15 and 20 sophomores who wish to start the advanced course next fall as compared with the few who have taken it in

OBERLIN DORMITORY HAS FRENCH MAJORS

Oberlin, Ohio.—(IP)—"La Maison Francaise" will be the newest dormitory on the Oberlin campus next year. In this dormitory, in which 15 co-eds will live and 30 men and women will eat, no word other than French will be spoken. The matron, or "Directrice," will be Mme. Marie Jeanne Lahaurie-Johnston, a native of France, who came to America after the war as the wife of an American aviator. Those who live and eat at the house will be majors in the French department. Too many applications for accommodations have been received already.

One Act Plays.

Little Theater.

Three one-act plays of unusual merit marked the closing production of the year Saturday night in Montana's Little Theater, which began as a dream last year. The class in Dramatic Presentation, under Mr. Glick, had complete charge of planning, directing, and staging the offerings, which included well-arranged and well-executed programs of entertainment. Much credit is due the mechanical staff of the Masquers for their work in making sets and working out lighting effects.

"Box and Cox," by John Madison Morton, which has been termed the funniest one-act play ever written, opened the program, and in spite of a cold house, seemed to live up to its reputation. Nelson Fritz and Dean Gillespie, as Box and Cox, hung the laugh-provoking sallies about with the ease and familiarity of masters, and Elizabeth McCoy proved an excellent foil for both.

The whole play revolves about the thrifty Mrs. Bouncer (apt name) of Miss McCoy. Since one of the gentlemen in question worked by day as a hatter, and the other by night as a printer, she very cleverly arranged for them to share the same room; without, however, taking the trouble to notify the gentlemen first. Their quarrel over the room, over the widow who was pursuing them both, their duel with unloaded pistols, and their final discovery, through the missing strawberry mark, that they are the w. k. long-lost brothers, all are diverting in the extreme, and were well received. Margaret Sterling was the director of the play, and her work is worthy of commendation.

Lord Dunsany's "Night at an Inn," directed by Dorothy Webster, was the next play, and its intense melodrama proved an interesting contrast between it and its predecessor. Harold Reely gave one of the best performances of his career as the educated Toff, brains of the gang of crooks who stole the idol's eye from a temple in India. Tom Herring as Bill, James Beck as Sniggers, and Elmore Nelson as Albert were very convincing. Harry Hooser as the idol was terrifying enough to suit the most exacting, and Mike Belange, Clem Heltenes, and Aubrey Houston as the priests looked extremely barbaric in their lurid costumes. This play was the best received of the three.

"The Man in the Bowler Hat" was an offering that kept the crowd guessing until the last minute. Martha Dunlap and Arthur Simerson, as Mary and John, provided plenty of comedy, both in lines and action, their pantomime being exceptionally good. Marie Neely, as the Heroine, Larry Seaman as the Hero, Adolph Still as the Villain, assisted by Bob Struckman as the Bad Man, gave very creditable performances. Merrill Poore, as the Man in the Bowler Hat, furnished the surprise ending that added the final flip to the evening's cocktail of entertainment. A. A. Milne is the author of the play, which was directed by Helen Zell.

We are indeed sorry that this is the last opportunity that we shall have this year to see a Masquer production in the Little Theater. It has been a year of great achievement, both artistically and materially, and we wish the Masquers and their director more, and more of the same.

The Silver Cord.

By George Agnew Chamberlain.
G. P. Putnam's Sons.

Once more an ugly nose plays havoc with a young man's face and fortunes. As far as ugly nasal appendages are concerned, Cyrano de Bergerac had nothing on Mr. Chamberlain's hero, Harry Jones.

But even if he had the worse-looking nose Harry seems to have been luckier in the way of experiences. Cyrano never had the good fortune to have part of his monstrosity carried away by a shot on the battlefield, while a mere fever caused Harry's "rebirth." Cyrano didn't have a dual personality, but Harry's disposition was influenced by the appearance of his nose and when his severe case of acne rosacea was cured he became a "new man—mentally and spiritually as well as physically."

Because he had never had his nose remade Cyrano could not have returned to his home town and passed unrecognized as the man the citizens were searching for as a suspected murderer and thief because he had fled to parts unknown a few years before. In spite of his travels in the French army Cyrano failed to make the acquaintance of any Haitian voodoo chief called "The Beard of God."

It is evident that Rostand passed up a lot of good bets in the way of experiences which a man with an ugly nose could have. Mr. Chamberlain, however, has caused almost everything to happen to his hero. It's safe to say that The Silver Cord contains more impossible situations than possible ones.

There's nothing particularly clever or original in the writing of the book, but the very strangeness of the author's freakish combination of ideas is startling. This combination is the principal feature of entertainment to be derived from the story.

Chamberlain has never been hailed as a great philosopher and the weighty sayings of the voodoo chief fit in awkwardly with the rest of the book. Some of the chief's philosophy, however, is thought-provoking; for instance, when he says: "It's never what you pay that matters, but whether you want the thing you've bought."

None of the characters have distinctive features except Harry. He stands out in the first part of the book because of his appearance; with that nose he'd be a marked man anywhere. The book is written in a helter-skelter fashion. The reader looks forward to the outcome of the plot more from curiosity as to whether and how Chamberlain will achieve unity in tying up the loose ends than from any feeling of being kept in suspense on account of intensity of action.

Secrets of the White House.

By Elizabeth Jaffery.
Cosmopolitan Book Corporation,
New York.

Price, $2.50.

Written in an exceedingly interesting fashion, Elizabeth Jaffery has compiled an account of the seventeen and one-half years that she had charge of the housekeeping problems of the White House. Through the administrations of four presidents she had handled the management of the mansion of the leader of our country.

Many incidents, quite aside from what one generally reads portraying the home life of a president, are contained in the book and give the reader a knowledge of incidents which, besides being interesting, are educational.

The book takes in the administrations from the time that President Taft entered the White House until the first part of the occupation by the present incumbent, Calvin Coolidge. Mrs. Jaffery has narrated the many joys that the different presidents have had, the many sorrows that have befallen the White House, and the financial conditions and hardships of some of the men who occupied the nation's mansion while she was in charge.

She has also listed a very fine selection of menus which many persons will find exceptionally helpful. Menus will be found for receptions, dinners, luncheons and teas. A number of recipes for foods that have been served presidents of the United States have also been listed and should prove a great help to many a housewife and house manager.

Rosalba's Journal and Other Papers.

By Austin Dobson.
Oxford University Press, London.

Henry Austin Dobson dedicated "Rosalba's Journal and Other Papers" to Colonel W. F. Pridoux, whose suggestion led Dobson to write the first essay in the volume, "Rosalba's Journal."

The volume is a collection of nine papers, of the explanatory type, written in the usual Dobsonian style—simple, direct and very interesting. Even the opening paragraph of "Rosalba's Journal" gives proof that Dobson is truly an exquisite writer: "Among the many treasures of Horace Walpole's Long Gallery at Strawberry Hill was a portrait of John Law of Lauriston, the inventor of the Mississippi scheme. It was drawn by the once celebrated Venetian painter, Rosalba Carriera; and hung—

we are told—in a niche to the left of the chimney-piece, above the Boccadugli eagle, found within the precinct of Caracalla's baths at Rome."

"Rosalba's Journal" deals with Rosalba Carriera, the "Venetian pastellist," and her "Journal." Dobson tells of Rosalba's life, of her acquaintances, of her skill as an artist. Indeed, the paper should have been entitled "Rosalba Carriera" rather than "Rosalba's Journal." Dobson says very little concerning the "Journal."

Space does not permit a detailed discussion of the remaining essays in Dobson's collection. They are as excellent as "Rosalba's Journal" and no reader will be satisfied with discarding the book after having read only the first essay—more probably he will read on till the very last paper, and he will enjoy them all, especially the last, "A New Dialogue of the Dead."

One Year Ago

The cheering is all over, the crowd has scattered but the thrill of winning the high school Interscholastic track meet is Missoula's.

Four hundred athletes from the 99 schools represented crowded the track while 5,000 watched the meet from the side lines. The campus resounded with the airs of the Grizzly band, while the ROTC performed on the field.

The spirit of good sportsmanship prevailed through the entire meet and again we say as we have a right to, Montana University for Montana Students.

Butte high school was awarded the unanimous decision of the judges in the twentieth Interscholastic debate last night. The winning team will be awarded the silver cup given annually by the University.

The four teams in the finals were Missoula, Whitefish, Augusta and Butte. The question was: Resolved, that the President's cabinet should include a Secretary of Education."

The Kyote of Billings was awarded first prize in the class A group of high school publications represented in the Montana State Interscholastic Press association.

The tenth annual Interscholastic Press association meeting was held at 9:30 today. Dean A. L. Stone gave the address of welcome and announced the various winners.

Grace Johnson of Harlowton is a campus visitor this week.

ELECTRIC 'M' AGAIN SHINES FROM TOWER

Main hall tower was once more illuminated last night with the large electric "M" which was replaced Monday afternoon by the maintenance department of the State University. The "M" has not been permanently installed as yet, but will be usable during the Interscholastic track meet.

Main hall was first decorated by an electric symbol when the class of 1902 placed its numerals on the very top of the tower. In 1906 a small "M" was put up and was replaced in 1908 by a large wooden letter. This old symbol served until 1923, when it was taken down by the Bear Paws just before Interscholastic of that year because of a short circuit. The University paid to have it rewired and repaired, but in putting it back on the tower it slipped and crashed to the sidewalk below.

Raise Fund

Since that time several attempts have been made to replace it and during the past year the Bear Paws and the various fraternities made up a fund to have it put up. It was taken down after day to repair a short circuit caused by rain and snow during the past winter. The Interscholastic committee has given some support to have it replaced at this time.

CLINCHED!

Dancers Put Over Fast One at SAE Dance

All was hunky-dory at the S.A.E. house. Happy couples slid and swayed to the seductive music beat out upon the drums, piano, and the floor by the hands and feet of the jazz-mad musicians. Lights glowed softly, redly in some corners, while davenport supporters half-reclining forms in others. All were too deeply engrossed in their individual partners to notice when one couple quietly took wraps and disappeared into the night. Nor was anyone surprised when the errant ones presently returned and smilingly continued their interrupted pleasures.

But something had happened. He would Never appear the same to his wondering brothers. Morning found him as one set apart from them by a gulf that the average feared to cross. That gulf, indeed, was not to be crossed save at the greatest sacrifice. Nor would she ever appear the same. The event that had swept them away had changed her in the eyes of the care-free people who laughed and talked so easily now, even flirted mildly. Overnight they had changed from careless happy-go-lucky youngsters to responsible adults. They were not sorry. They were married.

Track History Shows Strong Grizzly Cinder Teams; Started in 1897

Montana Has Creditable Record---Many Championships Go to the Copper, Silver and Gold Performers

By-laws for an Athletic association of the University of Montana were drawn up by a group of students and faculty members in 1897. In the same year a portion of the University grounds was set aside for an athletic field. However, this field was not completed until 1901.

In 1903 H. B. Conbar came to Montana as coach, and in this year the Grizzlies trounced the Aggies, giving Montana University state supremacy in track. Fred W. Schulz replaced Conbar as coach, and it was this man who trained such men as Bob Cary, McPhail, Garlington, and the Greenough brothers.

In 1906 Montana turned out a premier team. This team romped through the entire year without a defeat, and set up nine records. The records at this time were held mostly by a few men. Leo Greenough held the half mile, the quarter and the hammer throw; Bob Cary, the 100 and 220 yard dash, and the high and low hurdles; Roy McPhail, the broad jump and pole vault; A. H. Toole, the high jump; and King Garlington, the mile run.

In 1907 a new record was set by R. Patterson in the discus throw. Then in 1908 A. J. Findlay coached a team that set up new records in the mile, two mile, 220 hurdles, and the broad jump. However, Montana's team had been weakened by the loss of Cary and McPhail. In 1909 Bob Cary returned to coach the Grizzly track team. It was not until the next year that Cary's team had success. The first triangular meet, among the University, Montana state college and the School of Mines was arranged that year. The University won easily. Emmet Ryan set a new record in the hammer throw.

University Wins in 1911

In 1911 the University again won the triangular meet. In 1912 the Mines withdrew and a dual meet was held with the Aggies, and Montana state won for the first time in the history of the two schools. In 1913 Captain Owsley's team won back the state title from Montana state. They also set new records in the shot put, high jump, discus throw, and the broad jump.

In 1914 the University won in the triangular meet, setting new records in the broad jump and two mile. In the next three years the Grizzlies held the state title, but lost to the Northwestern conference schools. Four new records were also set during this time. Because of the war in 1918 there was no track team. In 1919 the interest was still low and there was no team. In 1920 a relay team composed of Steve Sullivan, Harry Adams, Jack Sterling, and Miles Romney made a new world's record at Seattle in the 400-yard relay with a time of 40 2-5 seconds. The University also won from the Aggies this year. In 1921 the track team won from Idaho and Montana state. Bob Egan lowered the record in the half mile. In 1922 the Grizzlies retained the state title and placed third in the Relay-Carnival at Seattle, and Bob Egan made a new record in the 440-yard run, bettering Leo Greenough's time that was made in 1906.

Stewart Comes in 1923

In the spring of 1923, J. W. Stewart took charge of the track team. This was rather an unfavorable year for Montana, the Bobcats gaining the title for the first time in many years. The redeeming feature was Bob Egan's run in the 440 in 50 flat, and the record set in the mile relay. In 1924 many of the track stars were gone and things went rather unfavorably for the Grizzlies.

In 1925 Montana won from Washington state college in a dual meet, the first win since 1906. They next won the state title from Bozeman. Next to be defeated was Idaho by a decisive score. At the Relay-Carnival in Seattle the Grizzlies tied for first place with Russell Sweet and Arnold Gillette starring in their events. New records for the year were: Russell Sweet, the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and the broad jump; Gillette, the mile; Coyle, the pole vault; Steve Hanson, the two mile; Cal Pierce, the javelin; and the mile relay by Davis, Stark, Sweet and Ritter. Gillette and Sweet were sent to the Stag meet in Chicago, where Sweet placed second in the hundred and 220 yard dashes and Gillette took third in the mile.

Montana Triumphs in 1926

In 1926 the cinder artists were handicapped while the track was being finished for them. Coach Stewart had such men as Sweet, Ritter, Gillette, Spaulding, Coyle, A. Blumenthal, Stark, E. Blumenthal, Lowary, Hanson, Williams, Pearce, etc. In the inter-class meet that was held, six state records fell. In the quadrangular meet held in Spokane—Washington State college, Idaho, Gonzaga, and Montana competing—Montana won easily, placing 16 of the 17 men that were taken. Sweet, Gillette, and Coyle were the chief point gatherers in this meet.

In the relays held in Seattle, Montana tied with the Washington Huskies for first place, winning the century, and setting conference records in the half mile and medley relays. Next they swamped Idaho in a dual meet. Next Montana tied for fourth place at the Pacific coast conference meet held at Palo Alto. Three conference records were broken by Montana men. Sweet won the century in 9 7-10 seconds, and Gillette won the mile in four minutes and 21 7-10 and the two-mile in 9 minutes and 30 4-10 seconds. Gillette also tied with Bud Houser for individual honors.

Then the University won the Intercollegiate meet by winning a majority of the events. During the season of 1926 the track team set eight new state records and tied two others.

UNIVERSITY INVITES MANY HONOR GUESTS

Governor Erickson Heads Group Visiting Missoula During Interscholastic

Governor and Mrs. J. E. Erickson are among a large group of guests of honor at the 24th annual interscholastic meet.

Interest throughout the state is greater this year than ever before and many people are coming to Missoula to view Montana's big athletic meet. Among those who will be present are R. B. Bowden, chairman of the state basketball tournament; Ott Romney, State college track coach; William Powers, state board of education; Attorney General L. A. Foot; Mr. and Mrs. James Hobbins and daughter, Butte; Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Warden, Great Falls; Leo Dennis and Leonard Young, railroad commission; Sheldon E. Davis and George W. Crane, presidents of the State Normal college and State School of Mines, respectively; President Alfred Atkinson, State college, and A. H. Bowman, commissioner of agriculture.

Art Harshman is the guest of Charles Alderson during trackmeet.

the finals in the afternoon preliminaries in Main hall.

Missoula high school's entry was "The Old Question," by Mary Lee, and was directed by Mrs. Vera May Bruegger. Margaret Price, Catherine Wilburn, Eugene Hanton, Harold Fitzgerald, Emily McClure and Evelyn Blumenthal were the characters.

Hardin high school presented "Mansions," by Hildegard Flanner. Lela Johnson, Thora Nelson, and Edwin Bullis were directed by Miss Rachel Jordan, a Montana graduate.

Judges for the afternoon performances in Main hall were Professor Robert L. Housman, Mrs. Louise Arnoldson and Mrs. Edward Bennett.

Property Managers

Property managers staffs for the morning included Rachel Clark, Mary Farnsworth, Ann Miller and Charles Alderson, and that for the afternoon was composed of Mary Kistie, Dorothy Webster, Claudine Christy and Rowe Morrell. John Schroeder was stage manager for Main hall productions, while Harry Hooser handled lighting and Robert Jelley was general property manager. Nan Walsh was in charge of ushers for both groups.

Little Theatre Try-outs

The Little Theatre opened its play tournament yesterday morning with Albertson's presentation, "Not Quite Such a Goose," with Florence Wilkie as director. The cast was composed of five members, Kare Slenes, Aileen Polrier, Cecelia DuBois, Earl Drost and John Keough.

The second play of the morning session was "Thank You, Doctor," presented by Belt under the direction of Mrs. D. L. MacDonald. The cast was made up of five people, Mayme Johnson, Joy Browning, Kenneth Coday, Raymond Kennedy and Myron Johnson.

Butte high next took the stage, followed by "The Finger of God," presented by the Hamilton high school under the direction of E. R. Ormsbee. The cast had only three members, Albert Erickson, Albert Perry and Dorothy Carlstrom.

Intra-Mural Sports Increasing; 700 Men Enrolled This Year

Intra-mural sports, under the supervision of Harry Adams, have been increasing, both in numbers and in the number of men who enter these sports.

This year there will be at least 700 participants in intra-murals as compared with 244 a year ago. Last year was the first year of any organization in intra-mural sports. Although there have been inter-class sports, this group had been added to until there are now at least 10 of these divisions.

The list of intra-mural sports for this year includes the following: Basketball, which includes inter-class, inter-college, inter-church and inter-company; baseball, which includes inter-college and inter-company; track, which includes inter-company, inter-class and the novice meet; boxing and wrestling; fencing; swimming and diving; horseshoes, which includes inter-company, inter-church and individual championship; tennis, which includes inter-church and individual championship; golf, which includes school championship and also a novice championship; free-throw contest; and rifle shoot, which includes individual championship. It is the plan of those in charge of intra-mural sports to provide enough sports and of sufficient variety that every man in school will be able to enter some field of sport.

TRACK CONTESTANTS TO SEE GRIZZLY-AGGIE CINDER MEET

Keen Competition Promised When Old Rivals Clash Saturday

With the coming dual meet between the Grizzlies and the Aggies, on Dornblaser field Saturday afternoon, visiting contestants will have a chance to see their State University in action. The meet promises to be full of fight and lots of keen competition, for Coach Stewart's cinder artists are out for the Aggies, due to the age-old rivalry that has existed between the schools for quite a number of years.

Good weather for the past week has enabled the Varsity men to extend themselves in their daily workouts. The Aggies have not been so fortunate in securing atmospheric conditions but with occasional warm weather breaking they have been able to get a fair amount of daily practice.

Third Meet for Grizzlies

With two meets behind them, the Seattle relay carnival and the dual meet with Idaho, the Grizzly squad has had some fair competition, which has given them strenuous practice. In the Seattle relays, the University of Montana tied with the University of Washington for second place, with 10 points each. The Grizzly squad was entered in the four-mile relay, high hurdles, shot put, mile relay, 100-yard dash and two-mile relay. Only first places counted. They won first in the high hurdles, Clarence Spaulding set a new Pacific Coast conference record of 15.6 seconds. The Grizzlies won the four-mile relay much to the surprise of the coast schools. Clarence Coyle placed fourth in the 100-yard dash. Clark Whitcomb won fifth in the shot put. In the mile and two-mile relays, the squad failed to place first.

Montana Defeats Idaho

The dual meet held last Saturday with the University of Idaho, the tri-color squad won 11 first places, while Idaho secured four firsts, the shot put, broad jump, discus throw and high jump. Montana won by a 70 to 51 score. Coach Stewart's men blanked the Vandals in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash and the mile run. Pickett of Idaho won individual honors, with Clarence Coyle second, with two firsts and a second.

Personnel of Squad

The personnel of the Grizzly squad includes: Arnold Gillette, Lewis town, captain of the Grizzly squad, holder of the intercollegiate two-mile record and Pacific coast mile and two-mile champion; Jake Miller, Columbia, holder of the state pole vault record, and a broad jumper; Clarence Coyle, Albion, 100 and 220-yard sprinter, pole vaulter, low hurdler and relay man; Claude Samples, California, 440-yard dash and relay; Clarence Spaulding, Bonner, holder of state and Pacific coast record in the high hurdles, and a low hurdler; M. Haines, Helena, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run and relay; K. Davis, Missoula, 440-yard dash and relay; T. Davis, Butte, sprints, 440-yard dash and relay; E. Haines, Monner, low hurdler; Huber, Helena, broad jumper; Tysel, Butte, 880-yard run, mile and relay; Adams, Thompson Falls, 880-yard run, mile and relay; Varney, Missoula, high hurdler; Rankin, Hardin, low hurdler; Kain, Helena, sprints; Donlon, Missoula, sprints; Staunton, Roundup, 440-yard dash and relay; Snow, Big Sandy, sprints and 440-yard dash; Garlington, Missoula, 440-yard dash; Mowatt, Victor, high jump; Fritch, Glendive, 880-yard and mile; Ross, Butte, two-mile run.

OPPORTUNITY

This is an opportunity for high school athletes to get acquainted with the possibilities for Montana men to broaden their talent in the different sports as members of the Grizzly athletic teams.

There is no finer competition in the country than that which Montana university meets during each school year. The Pacific Coast conference is one of the leading conferences of the United States.

If you are contemplating on furthering your education, don't forget to look over the possibilities that are offered by our home institution.

MAJOR FRANK W. MILBURN.

Culver Will Visit Campus

Raymond B. Culver, field secretary, Y.M.C.A., for colleges of the Northwest, will visit the campus Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, and will speak before a special meeting of the University Christian union Tuesday noon at the Chimney Corner. Mr. Culver will hold interviews with students interested in the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. conference at Seabeck.

SPORT GLIMPSSES

Montana University is again host to the high schools of the state.

This is a chance for high school athletes to look over the opportunities that Montana University offers to the Montana high school graduates.

Montana University has one of the best coaching staffs in the Northwest. Coach Jim Stewart has charge of track and basketball. Major Frank Milburn coaches football and track. Harry Adams drills all of the freshman squads. Doc Schreiber is physical education director.

The Montana track squads have a national reputation. Montana ranks next to the California institutions in track. Arnie Gillette, captain of this year's track team, holds the Pacific Coast conference title in the mile and two-mile and is national champion in the longer race.

Captain Gillette recently received an invitation to enter a race with the best milers of the country and also Edwin Wide, Swedish runner, to try and break the world's record. Gillette is a Fergus county high school graduate and holds the interscholastic record in the mile.

Russell Sweet, former Custer county high school star, was another well known athlete turned out at Montana.

Although only completing two years of collegiate competition, he helped to make the name of Montana feared by all of the strong coast schools. He holds the Coast conference record in the 100-yard dash. He placed second in the 100-yard dash and the 220, at the National meet in 1925.

Coach Stewart has developed some strong material. The men that are still carrying Montana colors are: Clarence Coyle, sprint star and also low hurdler and pole vaulter; Tom Davis, sprinter and 440 man; Claude Samples, sprinter; Dick Staunton, dashes; Dick and Kenneth Davis, middle distance runners; Clarence Spaulding and Howard Varney, hurdlers; Jake Miller, pole vaulter; Clark Whitcomb, Reid Harmon, and Dossia Shults, weight men; Otto Bessey, Cal Pearce, and L. Wendt, javelin men; Lawrence Gaughan and Steve Hanson, distance men; Barnes Adams and Tysel, half-milers. Other promising material includes John Rankin, Baker, and Huber.

Coach Stewart has also had charge of the basketball squads and some neat hoop men have graduated from Montana University. Those under Coach Stewart's tutelage who have made a name as star Grizzly athletes are "Chief" Ilman, "Jiggs" Dahlberg, Oscar Dahlberg and Force Baney.

Major Frank Milburn is a new coach at Montana but he came here from Fort Benning, Georgia, with a splendid reputation as an athletic director. He developed a strong football team from green material and has the material of a fine team for the 1927 season.

William Kelly, captain of the 1926 gridiron machine, is one of the greatest backfield men ever turned out by a college institution. Kelly will probably play football for the West Point cadets.

Coach Milburn also has charge of the 1927 baseball squad. He has also had to build a new aggregation as only five veterans were available for this season. Although the Montana team has been on the losing end of every contest so far this season they have played some good ball and are due to win games before the season is over.

Harry Adams has charge of all freshman athletics. He has the knack of discovering the possible Varsity material. Harry also has charge of all intra-mural sports and has developed a big intra-mural program. Sports that are open for all students are track, basketball, football, baseball, swimming, cross-country, horseshoe pitching, tennis, golf, boxing, wrestling and fencing.

W. E. Schreiber is physical education director. An excellent physical education program is offered by the department. Students may also take physical education as a major and many Montana coaches have received their instruction here.

Milburn's Fighting Grizzlies One of Greatest Teams in University History

1927 Schedule Will Be One of the Toughest Ever Attempted by a Montana Gridiron Aggregation

Major Frank Milburn and his 1926 squad of Grizzlies gave to the University one of her greatest gridiron teams. When the tri-color squad met Whitman college last season a finer exhibition of fighting, running, interfering and tackling was never presented by a Montana team on Dornblaser field.

When the Bobcat from the State college was cornered in Butte for the state title, "Wild Bill" Kelly and company short-bobbed all Aggie hopes for victory. A 27-0 victory over the college will live long and the sensational play of the famous Grizzly captain will never be forgotten by the vast crowd that witnessed the downfall of the Bobcats. The season opened with Oregon Agricultural college. It was the first game for Montana and the first team to be put on the field by Major Milburn, new Varsity coach. The huge Orange team swept through the Grizzlies for a well-earned victory and many of those who saw the game believed the coast team the greatest ever to play here.

The next game brought the University of Idaho. Another defeat was marked up against Montana after a hard-fought battle. Bill Kelly broke away for the first time of the season to score after a beautiful 40-yard run. Tom Davis counted for the second Grizzly score after two passes, one to Brittenham and the other to Chinske, were completed.

Butch Meeker and the Washington State Cougars proved too much for the tri-color squad and gave the third straight conference defeat to Montana.

Next came the annual Bobcat-Grizzly struggle at Butte. Coach Ott Romney sent one of his greatest teams into action on Clark's field as favorites to win over the battered Grizzly. Captain Gregory, Babcock, Grady, and other fast backs, encouraged by a strong line headed by Val Glynn, star end, carried the hopes of the Aggie school that afternoon. "Wild Bill," backed up by a fighting squad, proved all-powerful and gained permanent possession of the Clark trophy, presented by W. A. Clark III for the winner of two out of three Bobcat-Grizzly games.

Gonzaga's stubborn Bulldog after trailing Montana for three quarters succeeded in scoring in the last quarter and took the victory. Spokane papers had predicted a game between Bill Kelly and Gonzaga but the Grizzly line outfought and outcharged the Catholics and Kelly, aided by Chinske, Davis, Ritter and the other backs, played an equal game with the Bulldogs. However, the Inland Empire fans who had come out to see Montana's "Wild Bill" were not disappointed for Kelly with Mel Ingram, Gonzaga star, shared the day's honors.

Reaching the peak of mid-season form the Grizzly trounced Whitman. It was the last home game for Captain Kelly, Ritter, Cogswell, Martinson, Burrell and Ted and Bill Hodges. Everybody did everything, and the team that Coach Milburn presented was a finished and fighting machine. Long runs by Kelly, Davis, Hodges and the other backs thrilled the crowd. Kelly was never greater and when he had passed through the door of the locker room after bidding his sensational goodbye to Dornblaser field all realized that the greatest of Montana heroes had passed into history.

Montana took an easy victory from the California Agricultural college at Sacramento on the way to meet the mighty Southern California Trojan Thanksgiving day. The Thundering Herd tore through the Grizzlies for a victory that ended the season for the tri-color squad.

Next fall will see most of the men back. Captain-elect Lou Vierhus, Whitcomb, Tarbet and Harmon at tackles; Murray, Stepanstoft, Barfell and Stewart will be out for guard holes. Wing positions will find Brittenham, Tiernan, Rognlien, and Fogarty. Ostrom and Rafferty will be back at center. The backfield candidates will be Kain, Parmalee, Sweetman, Morrow, Ross, Shults and several other men of ability.

From the 1926 freshman squad many men loom as Varsity candidates. Linville, Ramer and Webster are backs of merit. Linemen include Schotte, Clark, Smith, and Gillan, guards; E. and D. Hughes, and Blackford, tackles; Rule, Golob, Keres and Brannon, ends.

The 1927 schedule will be one of the toughest ever attempted by a Montana team, bringing the Huskies of Washington here and taking the Montana squad to California to meet the Golden Bears at Berkeley.

Dr. Choice R. Howd, instructor in the History department, leaves for Helena today, where he will remain over the week-end. Dr. Howd is collecting material for a bibliography on crime for the Social Science Research council. At present he is covering crime in Montana.

LADY LUCK STILL FROWNS ON GRIZZLY BASE BALL SQUAD

Montana Scheduled to Quell Pullmanites on Grizzly Diamond

Four straight defeats at the start of the season is usually not regarded as an auspicious beginning, and that is what the Grizzly baseball squad has been forced to undergo. However, there are extenuating circumstances. A dearth of veterans and the fearful handicap of an unusually late and inclement spring so hampered the Grizzly diamond squad that winning form was practically impossible. Despite this, Coach Milburn's proteges were able to hit often and hard enough to alarm the cohorts of Idaho and W.S.C. Bobbies alone were responsible for the four setbacks. Errors at inopportune times spelled defeat for the Milburnites when the contest was figuratively laid away on the frigid air (advertisement not intentional). That a team that hits as often and effectively as the Grizzlies do is dangerous is undoubted, but the Grizzlies must confine their errors to practice sessions if they are to bite back at the twice victorious Cougars and Vandals.

Montana should trounce the swash-buckling Cougars when the Pullman felines perform on the Grizzly playground. Coach Milburn's men are formidable enough to quell the Pullmanites if they are at the peak of their hitting form and there is no reason to believe that they will slump. The tri-color squad has outlit its opposition in the majority of the contests and only last-minute breaks have kept the Grizzlies from a perfect score.

Although not a conference game, the brawl with the revengeful Bobcats should attract the greater share of the interest. The Bozeman men have a fairly strong aggregation and are unusually strong in the hurling department, where the redoubtable Glynn holds forth. Glynn is conceded to be one of the outstanding pellet projectors in the northwest and he should give the Grizzlies plenty of anxious moments when he takes the mound.

MONTANA

There is no better place than Montana university to attend in the furthering of your athletic possibilities. The Pacific Coast conference offers the keenest competition in the country.

You are running on one of the best and fastest tracks in the northwest. It is hoped that your stay in Missoula will show you how your athletic program can be bettered as a Grizzly athlete.
