MILWAUKEE RUNS SPECIAL TRAIN TO BUTTE FOR GAME

Sale of Tickets in Main Hall to Start Soon; Students Should Register

Special rates will be offered by the Milwaukee railroad to students and other rooters going to Butte for the University-State college game there November 19.

A one-day ticket, good only on November 19, will be sold for $4.32 for the round trip. A rate of a fare and a third from all points in Montana to Butte will be offered for those wishing to leave Friday morning and return Sunday night.

Tickets will soon be put on sale in Main hall. Students who plan to attend the game should register in the ASUM office in order that some estimate of the number going may be made, according to Mike Thomas, ASUM president. He stated that students should plan to travel on the Milwaukee because that is the official train and it is desirable that the students remain together in order to put on a rally after arriving in Butte.

The decision that the Milwaukee furnish the official student special as reached after a conference with Northern Pacific and Milwaukee officials. It was proposed that each railroad send a special every other day, but the Northern Pacific voted against such a plan. Since the Northern Pacific received most of the University patronage last year, it was decided that the Milwaukee should run the official train this year.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN BY MASQUERS' CAST

Great strides of improvement by the cast of the "Butter and Egg Man," the Montana Masquers' major production for the fall quarter, are being made, according to William Angus, director of the Little Theater.

Although a change in parts slowed up the production for a short time, Ann Ferring, who is taking the part originally given to Elizabeth Veach, has succeeded in catching up with the rest of the cast, which in turn allows the practice to go on at full speed. Director Angus plans to start practicing the full three acts beginning Monday. This will allow the cast to polish off the play and round it into perfect shape for the opening night at the Little Theater, November 10.

RARE FOSSILS FOUND NEAR LOGAN, MONT.

Clapp and Bradley Discover Traces of Ordovician Life in New Fields

Fruitful results, which added materially to the fossil collection of the University, were obtained by Dr. C. H. Clapp and Dr. J. H. Bradley on their trip last summer to Logan, Montana, where they went to study the Paleozoic rocks of that region. Further significance of their discovery is found in the fact that this is the only location in Montana where fossil life of the Paleozoic rock era is found in any form.

Discovery of Fossil Life One of the most outstanding results of the trip is the discovery of fossil life in the Yogo formation which may eventually prove that an arm of the Pacific ocean extended into Montana during the Ordovician age. As far as anyone knows this is the only discovery of marine life of the Ordovician time in the state which in itself is a matter of great importance to geologists of the state.

Abundance of Fossils Found Dr. Clapp and Dr. Bradley took the trip in hopes that fossil life could be found in any form and their efforts were rewarded by the new discoveries plus a field which yields abundant fossil specimens in the following.

ATHLETES GUESTS OF HONOR AT "M" CLUB MIXER TONIGHT

LINDLIE RATES HIGH IN PHARMACY EXAMS

Frank Lindlie, a junior in the Pharmacy school, has just been notified that his examination for the Samuel W. Fairchild scholarship took seventh place.

Many Schools Enter

Each year the examinations for honors are given to representatives from schools all over the United States. Each school is allowed two entries. More than 50 institutions are eligible for representation, however, only one scholarship is given.

In commenting on the result of Lindlie's examination, Dean C. E. Mollett stated that he "looked upon it as quite an accomplishment as other students who participated had taken the course in dispensing and the Montana representative did not have this advantage."

Those who have taken the examination in the past years are: Luke Garvin, '22, second place; Forest Flora, '23, fifth place; Theodore Walker, '24, second place; Eloise Patten, '24, seventh place; John Jerusa, '25, second place; Hershel Hoskins, '25, fifth place; Chester Christensen, '26, second place.

Schools sending examination papers for the scholarship are rated among the best and a great number are larger and better equipped schools than Montana.

The names of all the members who wanted to order the Bear Paw pin were taken, and tentative arrangements were made regarding the activities that the Bear Paws would take part in at the Grizzly Aggie football game, which will be played in Butte on November 19. Miller requests that all former Bear Paws, who still possess their sweaters, wear them to the Butte game and help out the present members of the organization in the performance of their various duties.

Bear Paws also made arrangements to give the men of the freshman class a warm reception in the near future if they do not adhere more closely to their special traditions.

The ROTC mixer will be a good place to work off the effects of too much turkey and have a good time for four bits, says Hal Rhude, captain of Company A, also captain of Company E, Fourth regiment of the Scabbard and Blade. "We expect a big time and a big crowd. There will be several good features on the program. Everyone is invited."

ASUM Mixer

TONIGHT a big ASUM Mixer will be held in the gymnasium in honor of the "M" men. Last year a similar affair was staged.

This dance has come to take the place of Varsity day. In previous years Varsity day served two purposes—it was a day on which tribute was paid to Grizzly warriors as well as a day for the supervised sophomore-freshman class "fights". It also took the place of Sneak day, which had been an old tradition.

In 1925 Varsity day was abolished by Central Board because of the lack of interest shown in the affair. Central Board, desiring to honor the "M" men in some way, decided to hold an annual dance for them. It is up to every Montana student to attend this dance or this too will be added to the pile of discarded traditions. The dance is free and is a no date affair. It is the one time in the year when the student body has an opportunity to pay tribute to the "M" men.

Yellow Slips

YELLOW-SLIP season is upon us. Next week the gold-colored leaves will be flitting about the campus and happy the heart whose mail box reveals no deeper hue than a pale yellow autumn leaf. However, yellow slips are not always doom-dealers. Often they prove blessings. Careless, half-awake students need the yellow prod. They put forth bigger effort, get into action more of the lazy brain cells, and learn the joy of successful effort.

Another group of students are conscientious and have done pretty nearly their best. Heart sinks, courage flags, when the fateful yellow paper slips out of its case. There is no reason for discouragement. Always there is the second wind. A deeper breath, a harder effort, little closer application, less wasted time—and the trick is turned. There is no more faltering on the edge of failure for one who has once been aroused to what he can do. The yellow slip is the "rebuff" Browning would have us welcome:

*"Then welcome each rebuff
That turns earth's smoothness rough,
Each sting that bids nor sit nor stand,
but go."*

There is a man's overcoat if ever there was one. Long enough to reach well down toward the ankle. A stalwart, double-breasted model with wide lapels that may be turned up to protect the neck and ears. A stylish and unusually swagger garment, and decidedly the coat for a "hard winter."

Looking Back

Two Years Ago

Varsity day was postponed because of the weather. This would have been the third annual Varsity day. So far no other date has been set.

Dr. C. H. Clapp and Dr. J. H. Bradley gave a collection of fossils, gathered in the Jefferson and Madison formations, to the Geology department.

Irvin Shope, ex '25, received word that he had been awarded the second prize in the illustration and drawing contest staged by the Minneapolis Federal Art school.

Arnold Gillette, a junior in the Fine Arts department, is making the plan for a seal to be used on all University unofficial publications. Dean A. L. Stone, of the Journalism department, asked for the seal to be made.

Professor Carl Glick will speak to the members of the Press club to-night at the "shack." His subject will be "Theatrical Publicity."

Eight Years Ago

Memorial services were held for William Aber this afternoon at a 3 o'clock convocation.

The Journalists are in arms because the YMCA referred to the "shack" as the "hut."

The faculty military committee is deciding on what men should be excused from military drill before organization of the ROTC on the campus is complete.

Clarence Streit, a student in the School of Journalism and a member of the Missoulian staff, will talk to the Press club on "French Newspapers" Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Thirteen Years Ago

The soldiers from Fort Missoula tore down the home of the journalists today. The journalists first lived in tents—then in a bicycle shed and finally they have moved into the rear of the Science hall. It was the tents that the soldiers removed to the fort, from where they were borrowed.

The University has started its extension work. Professors will start on their lecture tours soon.

Professor Carl Holliday of the English department received a prize in a contest held by the Pictorial Review. The October number of this magazine will have a letter written by him.

Dorr Skeels, dean of the Forestry school, is working for the forest service in the St. Joe country, Idaho, for a week. Professor Bonner will be the acting head of the department while Skeels is gone.

NOTICES

The increased use of the library this year causes the reading rooms to be crowded during the evening. Some students leave their textbooks, notebooks, etc. on the desks and this gives to other students the impression that the desks are occupied when this is not the case. As all reading room space must be available during the evening, students are requested to remove their textbooks, notebooks, etc. from the desks before the library closes in the afternoon.

A list of freshmen who failed to hand in assigned work following the Freshmen Week Library talks is posted at the loan desk in the library. These students must report at the desk, ask for assignment to be read, and make a written report before further use of the library will be permitted.

There will be an important meeting of Phi Sigma Tuesday afternoon. New members will be voted in. All members please be present.

lowing six formations and eras: Madison limestone formation of the Mississippian era; Jefferson limestone of the Devonian; Yogo limestone of the Ordovician and the Pilgrim, Meagher and Flathead shale of the Cambrian. The importance of the discovery in all of these formations comes in the abundance of specimens found in the Flathead shale which is in the Cambrian era and also is the oldest formation in the Paleozoic age. The best of fossil specimens of these discoveries are the Trilobites, which are related to the lobster, and which were the most highly organized animal on earth at their time.

Kottas Makes Collection

Leo Kottas, a student in the Geology department, made an extensive collection of these fossils under the direction of Dr. Bradley, and this group is the one which has been turned over to the University. Both Dr. Clapp and Dr. Bradley were too busy measuring the depths of the formations to spend much time collecting the fossil specimens.

GRIZZLIES PRIMED FOR GAME WITH PRICE'S GOLDEN BEARS

Montana Will Have Full Power of All Regulars; Bobcat Game Nov. 19

With nearly two weeks in which to prepare, the Montana Grizzlies are working diligently to perfect an offense with which to halt the determined rush of the Golden Bear of California toward another conference championship. Three times have the Milburnites gone down to defeat before the powerful attacks of a trio of the greatest teams on the coast and, with several cripples returned to the active list, the Montanans are determined that the losing streak end with the Idaho disaster.

Regulars in Lineup

For the first time since the opening of the conference season, the Grizzlies will go out on the field with the full power of all their regulars. Whitcomb, Davis, Tierman and Brittenham have all suffered from incapacitating injuries during the season and the 10-day rest will give the damaged athletes ample time for repair. The terrific hammering received at the hands of the giant Idaho and Washington lineups has had its effect on every member of the team and the respite is, no doubt, welcome.

Golden Bears Powerful

Thus far this season, the Golden Bear has lumbered crushingly over all opposition. Early season dope indicated no great strength on the part of the native sons, but convincing scores in nearly all of their contests have proved the power of the California assault. Before death removed Andy Smith from the ranks of the great coaches of the country, the "Big C" was constantly held before the eye of the football-loving populace, but, since then, the Bear has been sadly mistreated. When "Brick" Muller threw the oval around the California stadium like a baseball; threw it straight into the hands of capable receivers, the Californians knew no such sensation as defeat. But with the passing of the famous red-head, California's football stock slumped greatly. The Golden Bear had several lean years, but the spirit that Andy Smith left there must still be prevalent, for California has come to the front with a great team composed of mediocre talent.

Grizzlies Eager for Contest

The Grizzlies are pointed for the southern contest. A victory at California or, at least, a good showing, will elevate the Montanans considerably in Coast conference estimation. Should the Grizzlies display the same power they did against Washington in the first half, the Golden Bear will be a most disconcerted brute. The Milburnites had real power for that short time on Homecoming day.

Bobcat Game October 19

A fortnight after the California contest, the great game of the year, that with the Bobcats, will be played. Coach Romney and his tourists are now in Indiana, marking time for their struggle with Ralph Welch and whatever men Purdue may send out on the field with him. Purdue will be a hard team to beat after Saturday's whipping at the hands of Wisconsin and the Bobcats have a fierce battle to prepare for.

Squad Goes to California Wednesday
Coach Milburn and the Grizzly will leave next Wednesday for the land of "perpetual sunshine," arriving there in time to allow them a day's rest before the whistle at the California stadium calls the two species of Bear together.

LOYOLA TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Twelve bouts have been arranged by the promoters of the boxing tournament to be held in the Loyola gymnasium tonight. The bouts will be three rounds each with an extra round added in case of a draw. The tournament will serve as a preliminary for the Montana state amateur tournament with the winners qualifying for the state tournament.

The Masked Marvel

"The Masked Marvel," a mysterious invader, has asked for a bout with Billy Dugal, state featherweight champion, and one of the promoters of the tournament.

A variety of fights and fighters of all weights will be given. A good crowd is expected, these bouts being the first to be given by the Loyola Alumni association.

University Fighters on Program

Many University fighters are on the program. Missoula and Loyola high schools are also well represented. What is expected to be the fastest bout of the evening will be staged between Dean O'Leary, former state bantam and featherweight champion and now a student at the University, and Eddie Coyle, fast Missoula bantamweight. Other bouts and principals include:

Frank Griffin, Blackfoot, vs. Harry Dodson, former Loyola athlete.
Mark Gormley vs. Joe Lynch, 145 pounds.

Jack Lynch, Helmsville, vs. Frank Eigeman, Missoula.

Frank Surretty, University, vs. Gregory, Missoula high.

Dick Nash, Loyola, vs. Waldo Lewis, Missoula.

Malquist, University, vs. Crago, Missoula high.

Mattison vs. Madsen will furnish the curtain raiser.

Billy Boyd, well known athlete of Loyola high, will tackle Deane Jones, bantamweight champion of the University, in another of the promising bouts of the evening.

The crowd will see most of the noted glove artists in the city in action and according to the promoters plenty of action will be there for everyone.

Engineers at the University of Colorado have a tradition called the Engineers' Applefest. There is an evening's entertainment composed of boxing and wrestling matches and similar stunts, and plenty of eats at the end of the fun. No one but men are invited and only those who possess the cards issued to engineering students are admitted.

Philip Salstrom, an eleven-year-old boy, is mascot for the Willamette football team. He never misses a practice and due to his lack of speed in running errands the football manager has this motto: "If you want anything fast, don't send Phil."

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR GRIZZLIES IN BASKETBALL

SIX LETTER MEN WILL RETURN TO SQUAD

Overturf and Kain Are Pilots for New Basketball Team Which Is Expected to Be Best in Years.

"Material for a good Grizzly basketball squad looks better this year than it has for a number of years," said Head Coach Jim Stewart in a statement made today. Twenty-nine men will be available as soon as the football practice is over and it is expected that six or seven more will draw suits in the next few days.

More than 25 have been taking light workouts each evening this week and more extensive practice will begin as soon as the hoopers are better conditioned. The men who are now out for football and who will draw uniforms as soon as the playing schedule is over are: Ray "Feet" Lewis, Sam Kain, J. Doherty, T. Rule, J. Carson and T. Mellinger.

Six Lettermen Return

Six lettermen of the Grizzly squad of last year have returned and with the exception of Kain, who is playing football, all are out for practice. Overturf, one of the joint captains, and star forward of the last two seasons, will be among those to start the season. Kain was chosen as the other captain for this year, at the close of school last spring. The other lettermen who will be out this season are: Jake Miller, forward; Steiner, Larson, guard; Lester Graham, guard; Louis Wendt, guard.

Reserves from Last Year

Ray Flightner, a sophomore of last year and one of the most rangy boys on the court, will also be a strong bidder for a first string berth. Cal Pierce, who played in almost enough games last year to make a letter, will undoubtedly show up well this season. He is a good boy on the floor and has lots of fight and speed. Shorty Huber, who comes about to the top of Gus Graham's belt strap, makes up in speed and flash for his lack of stature and manages to get around with incredible speed.

Many Last Year's Frosh Out

A healthy-looking bunch of boys from last year's frosh squad have turned out for a realization of their dreams of the varsity. Among them are some good-looking athletes who will make the first string step fast to hold their positions. They are: D. Linville, H. Miller, C. Rankin, M. Mitchell, F. Priest, I. Stillings, J. Doherty, T. Rule, E. Perry, R. Robinson, E. Knapp, H. Lee, W. Ekgren, J. Reese, and W. Reiner.

"Feet" Lewis has been on the ineligible list until this year, but is expected to do things for the Grizzly squad, if his high school record is to prove anything. Mellinger, Brown and Carlson are all junior college men of prominence on the maple court and should make good.

A tough schedule of 12 games has been drafted and of this number, seven will be played on the local court. Only one date is open and the game with Gonzaga is not yet scheduled, but the date will be arranged in the near future, according to Coach Jim Stewart. A barn-storming tour from January 28 to the first of February will be held if games are secured.

Scheduled games as they appear at the present time are as follows:

- Jan. 14—Washington State at Missoula.
- Jan. 16—Montana State at Bozeman.
- Jan. 20—Open.
- Jan. 23—Montana State at Missoula.
- Jan. 27—University of Idaho at Moscow.
- Jan. 28—Washington State at Pullman.
- Feb. 4—University of Washington at Seattle.
- Feb. 6—Oregon Aggies at Corvallis.
- Feb. 7—University of Oregon at Eugene.
- Feb. 13—University of Washington at Missoula.
- Feb. 20—Oregon Aggies at Missoula.
- Feb. 23—University of Oregon at Missoula.
- Feb. 28—University of Idaho at Missoula.

MONTANA FROSH WILL MEET COUGAR KITTENS TOMORROW

Cubs Ready for Stiff Battle at Pullman; Mulick May Start at Fullback

Montana's Grizzly Cubs face their second hard test of the season, when they meet the Cougar Kittens at Pullman tomorrow. The W.S.C. freshmen have won two games this year and appear to be stronger than the Idaho frosh.

Stiff Workouts for Cubs

The Cubs have been put through stiff workouts every night since the Idaho game. The line especially has been worked hard, most of the Vandal gains being through the center or around the ends.

Rom, who has played end, tackle, and guard, is still limping on his bad ankle, but will be able to play. Gregerson and Jones both have injured legs which may keep them out of the game tomorrow but will probably be in shape for the Bobkitten game.

Lineup Much the Same

The Cub lineup will be much the same as that against Idaho, with Moore, Yale, Carpenter, Davis and Carey, with Jones and Gregerson if they are able, probably appearing in the backfield. Prather at center, Thrallkill, Holmes, Rom, Page and possibly Brophy at guards, Peterson, Duncan, and Stevenson at tackles and Rathard, Stevenson, Amick and Mulick at ends.

Carpenter and Moore Strong

Against the Idaho frosh, Carpenter and Moore looked best on offense, with Lamar Jones helping out considerably on defense, but the tackling of the team as a whole was terrible. The absence of Mulick and Walker, who were declared ineligible just before the game, was felt. With Mulick back for tomorrow's game there should be fewer gains around the ends.

Three Teams at W.S.C.

Coach Schlademan at W.S.C. has three frosh teams, and two of them play regular scheduled games with other schools. The lineup for the first team, the one which meets the Cubs tomorrow, is: Duane Johnson, ex-Cub star, fullback; Jones, Lambert and George, halfbacks, and Toukin, quarterback. In the line are Hurley and Masket at ends, Ahlskog and Hanesey, tackles; Parkhurst and Yap, guards, and Morgan at center.

The Cougar Babies are reputed to have lots of weight, with the coaches working them for more speed, using backfield men in the line at times.

Bobkittens November 5

The following week the Cubs will journey to Bozeman to take on the Bobkitten team. Last week the future Aggies won from Billings Poly and the week before they cleaned Billings High, 19-0. The principal Bobkitten stars are Worden, Kleffman and De Frate, backs; Worthington, end, and Howell, center.

Bozeman is looking forward to November 5, and expects to see the Bobkitten claw the Cub all over the park.

CONFERENCE LEADERS TO PLAY BIG GAMES

Pacific Coast conference supporters are due for a big treat Saturday with three important games scheduled. At the present time there are five leaders in the Coast conference, Idaho, U.S.C., Stanford, California and Washington. Saturday will find at least one of these taking a back seat.

California and U.S.C. will meet in one of the big contests. Last year U.S.C. beat the Bears 27 to 0. This year California, besides having one of the speediest backfields in years, is supposed to have the strongest defensive team and more reserve material than any other team on the coast.

The Stanford-Oregon tangle will be another big game. Although Oregon is not among the leaders they have a good lineup and will probably push the southerners all the way.

SPORT SPURTS

Coach Milburn's thrice-defeated Grizzlies leave next Wednesday for California, where they will try to halt the victorious march of the Golden Bears. The speed of the Californians, according to coast critics, is the feature of western play this season.

Lane, backfield ace of the Dartmouth squad, is the leading scorer of the east, boasting the huge total of 107 points. The "Big Green" has probably the most formidable team in the east this year, and the efforts of their great scoring star has been the shining light of the Hanoverians.

Alquist, brilliant quarterback of the Minnesota team, is leading the Big Ten tacks in total points scored. Close behind him is Gilbert, Michigan luminary, and the race between them for high-point honors is one of the attractions of the conference struggle.

If the opponent for the western team in the Tournament of Roses contest is chosen from the South, as it was before, the squad of Georgia Tech will probably be the favored one. The "Golden Tornado" has been blowing in its complete power thus far this season and southern teams have, as yet, shown no ability to stop them.

The team of New York university has adopted a signal calling shift which operates with mathematical precision. The movements of each man in returning from huddle position to regular formation is controlled and numbered. This shift is designed to confuse the opposition by virtue of its extreme regularity and order. Dartmouth is another advocate of rhythmic team play. The Green team moves with each man as nearly "in step" as possible, and the coach teaches this with the belief that it welds the fundamental plays into eleven-man units.

The Bobcats of Montana State will engage the Purdue team next Saturday in an important intersectional contest. The dope greatly favors the Boilermakers, as the Bobcat limps with serious injuries and the Indiana team, though in good physical condition, is writhing under its defeat at the hands of Wisconsin last Saturday.

Two of professional football's best drawing cards are occupying bench positions, nursing injuries received in recent contests. "Red" Grange, the lad who made ice famous, is unable to play because of a badly torn ligament. "Wild Bill" Kelly, ace of the New York Yankee backfield, was quite badly injured in a game with the Chicago Bears, and he, too, watches the play from the sidelines.

One of the hardest games of the Big Ten season is expected next Saturday when the fast-traveling squad of Wisconsin runs up against the Gold Juggernaut of Minnesota. The Badgers have defeated several strong teams, losing only to Michigan. Minnesota, generally doped as the class of the Big Ten, has no defeats to mar its record and is given the edge to win.
