SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY TO DEBATE

WILL MEET GRIZZLIES MONDAY NIGHT

McFarland and Williams to Uphold Montana Side of Question; Tour of Utah Starts Next Week.

CARL MCFARLAND

After being idle for a week the University debate squad will go into action Monday night in the Little Theater. Carl McFarland and Robert Williams, two veteran debaters, will meet Arthur S. Wolfe and Murray Chotiner of Southwestern University, Los Angeles, on the question, "Resolved, that in the United States we are attempting to give too many people an education." Montana has the affirmative.

This debate should be of interest to college students since it concerns the much mooted question of intensive education in a democracy, according to N. B. Beck, debate coach. Mr. Beck stated yesterday that the Monday contest will be the most important debate of the year for Montana, as Southwestern University has just won the championship of the Southern California Forensic association for the second time in succession. E. R. Nichols, Redlands University debate coach who was here March 27 with his team, stated at that time that the Southwestern team was the best he had ever heard in a long experience. Wolfe and Chotiner are both law students.

DEFEATED SOUTHWESTERN LAST YEAR

Last year Arthur Acher and Louis Aronowky, representing Montana, defeated a Southwestern team at Los Angeles on the prohibition question.

McFarland, one of the Montana debaters, has not participated in any varsity contests this year, but is a veteran of wide experience, having met a team from the University of Sidney, Australia, last year. Williams is also an experienced man. He was a member of the team that toured the east this year.

TO TOUR UTAH

Steiner Larsen and Sidney McCarthy, two other members of the varsity squad, will leave Monday for Utah, where they will debate Weber College, Ogden, and the Utah Agricultural college at Logan. The question for both these debates will be "Resolved that the United States should cease to protect by armed force its investments in foreign countries, except after a formal declaration of war." Montana has the negative on both occasions.

COMMITTEE PLANS CLARK SCHOLARSHIP

Schools Are Invited to File Applications; Five Awards Are to Be Made

High schools throughout the state have been invited to file applications for the W. A. Clark Jr. scholarships for the school year 1928-1929.

Five scholarships are awarded each year to boys graduating from Montana high schools. The scholarships are awarded by a committee composed of three members of the University faculty and three others nominated by the president of the University and appointed by Mr. Clark. The awards are tenable for only one year and the holder is not eligible for a second year.

Cover Actual Expenses
The Clark scholarships cover actual expenses, exclusive of clothes and student supplies. The fees of the holders are paid directly to the University, as well as the board and room charges for those who live in the residence hall. Holders of the scholarship who live elsewhere are paid an amount equivalent to the room and board charge at South hall.

The scholarships are awarded on the basis of all-round activity in high school. Athletic coaches and high school principals suggest prominent and active students and from the information thus received the committee makes the selection. In addition to athletic ability, the candidate must give promise of being able to successfully carry university work. For this reason the committee has refused to consider men who graduate in the lowest third of their class.

The committee of award is composed of Dr. J. F. S. Marshall and H. L. Bickenbach of Missoula, Fred Furman of Butte, President C. H. Clapp, Dean R. H. Jesse, and W. E. Schreiber of the University faculty. Coach Stewart is the secretary of the committee.

MERRIAM IS LOOKING FOR STAFF MEMBER

Prof. H. G. Merriam, editor of the Frontier, announced yesterday that he is looking for a new circulation manager for his publication. He is anxious to receive applicants for the position as soon as possible, as he intends to train the man or woman during the preliminary work on the May issue of the magazine.

Professor Merriam said that the position would be tenable during all of next year, and that a good salary goes with it, as the manager receives a liberal share of the money he obtains for subscriptions. Initiative is one of the qualities an applicant must have, Professor Merriam stated. He must be able to devise schemes for obtaining subscriptions without relying on the editors. He must also be interested in the work of furthering the interests of the Frontier.

JUNIOR CLASS PLANS PROM FOR SENIORS

Wednesday the Junior prom committee met in Room 107 Main hall and made plans for the annual festival which is given in honor of the graduating class.

John Rankin, president of the Junior class, said yesterday that he had appointed the various committees to secure the hall, tickets, music and chaperones. The programs have been ordered and the date set for the dance is May 18.

It is hoped that the dance may be held at the Tokyo gardens if it can be arranged. Rankin said that the prom committee is working on some new features and that he hopes to make it one of the outstanding dances of the year.

R. C. Line Reviews Book at Colloquium

"The Road to Plenty," by Foster and Catching, was reviewed by Dean Robert C. Line of the School of Business Administration at the meeting of Colloquium held Tuesday at the home of Prof. N. J. Lennex. This book which is written in a semi-popular style, deals with business cycles, their cause and proposed cures. The authors believe that these periodic times of depression can be prevented. During prosperous times money is drawn out of circulation and put into savings. This in turn brings on a depression. The plan in general which is brought out in the book, is that a federal board be appointed to study the problems of business and forecast coming depressions so that they may be averted. In times of depression, the government should aid in finding work for the unemployed, thus putting more money into circulation.

The next meeting of Colloquium will be held at the home of Prof. E. E. Bennett. Prof. C. H. Riedell will review some book of general interest at this gathering.

Fourteen new students registered for the spring quarter. Twenty-three former students who were not in attendance during the winter quarter also registered, according to the report.

ROWELL WILL TALK MONDAY

"Seattle and Spokane After Dark," is the subject of an address to be given by Earle Albert Rowell, of Seattle, in the Main hall auditorium Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The lecture is said to be filled with thrilling incidents in the fight against dope and dope peddlers. Mr. Rowell draws on his wide personal experience in the battle against the narcotic evil for his vivid accounts of traps and pitfalls, underground tunnels, disappearing walls, dope dens and other underworld ruses. He also exhibits and explains the use of the various articles used by the dope addict and peddler.

The lecture has been so popular that Mr. Rowell has been called upon to speak on this subject more than 80 times in the past few months in Spokane alone.

Professor Riedell talked about the arts and crafts from the historical as well as the practical point of view. He showed how things have been made for utility rather than for beauty, and how this limitation has developed the things we prize. Examples of leather work, china painting and wood carving and metal work made by Professor and Mrs. Riedell were shown at the meeting.

ONE DAY REMAINS TO FILE PETITIONS

In speaking of the assistance rendered by the University library through its librarian, Miss Buckhous, Miss Haselwood said: "Our debates have been coming rather rapidly of late and the material has been much in demand. We have won our district championship and I feel that your interest and promptness in getting material to us has helped us very much. Allow me to thank you for this."

Arrangements for Play Day are being made rapidly, according to Leslie Vinal, president of WAA. The managers of Play Day have sent out notices to 125 high schools explaining this annual event which is held in connection with Intercollegiate track meet.

DEAN GAW THINKS GIRLS ARE DOORSTEP LINGERERS

The Ohio State university house presidents have decided that men may not linger longer than five or ten minutes in the front hall to say goodnight. Dean Esther Allen Gaw expressed the belief that the co-ed is the party disposed to linger on the doorstep. The men should note this, she said, and not allowed themselves to be led to the extent of breaking down their health as a result of late hours.

PRIMARIES SET FOR ABER DAY

Students File As Candidates for ASUM Elections; Finals in May

With one day left in which candidates for ASUM offices may file their nominating petitions, only one man, Nelson Fritz, has his petition in for president, and one student, Fannie McGrath, has filed for vice president.

Helen Castle, present secretary of the organization, is up for the office again, and has her petition in. Others who have filed so far are: Business manager, Art Burns; George Martin; student store trustees, Robert Line (faculty), Doug Burns (one-year term), Allen Burke (two-year term); Kaimin editor, Geraldine Wilson; senior class, president, Tom McCarthy; vice president, Frances Lines, central board representative, Edward Chinske; junior class representative, Henry Miller, Carl Rankin.

Dead Line Saturday Noon

All others who intend to run for offices are urged to file before Saturday noon, as that date is the absolute deadline. Primaries for the ASUM elections will be held Aber day.

The primaries will eliminate all candidates except two for each office. These candidates will contest for offices in the final balloting which will be held in May. Campaigning is expected to be intensive in an effort to get out a bigger vote than last year, when a University record was established. Eight hundred forty students showed enough interest to cast ballots last May.

Qualifications for Officers
ASUM officers are required to fill certain qualifications which are stipulated in the constitution. Some of them are: The president and vice president must have attended the University seven quarters and must have at least 90 credit hours at the time of election. The manager and the secretary must have attended the University five quarters and must have at least 60 credit hours at the time of election. The editor of the Kaimin must have been editor of the Sentinel or must have served on the staff of the Kaimin at least one year, and must have attended the University at least two years and have at the time of election at least 75 credit hours. He must be a Journalism major. He shall be elected by the student body as provided in Article VI.

Some of the provisions of Article VI are that elections must be held between May 1 and 5 of each year, except for class elections, voting must be according to the Australian system, in charge of a special committee appointed by the president with the approval of the Central Board, a majority is required for election of any officers, nomination petitions must bear the names of at least 10 active members of the ASUM, and must be signed by the candidate, and that Central Board may call a special election at any time to fill vacancies.

The Sentinel editor is now appointed by the Central Board. He must be recommended by the publication committee. The yell king is also appointed.

Gleason Talks on Pre-School Work

"The Importance of Pre-School Years" was the subject of a lecture given by Helen Gleason, head of the Home Economics department, at the Paxson school parent-teachers' meeting Tuesday afternoon. In her talk, Miss Gleason gave what she termed a "birdseye view" of the vast amount of scientific information now available to aid in the training for proper development of the very young child. Miss Gleason also spoke on the psychological interpretation of behavior problems.

Democracy and College

PREMIER MUSSOLINI, chosen by Yale students as one of the world's two greatest men, claims in a report on Fascism that the fundamental defect of electoral systems is their dependency upon popular sovereignty. He said:

"The masses are quite incapable of forming their own minds, much less of choosing men. Democracy, in other words, does not exist in nature. Where one hundred persons gather they are fatally led by two or three individuals who drive them according to their own interests and their own inclinations."

"The problem of government, therefore, cannot be solved by trusting in the illusory loggia of popular sovereignty, but it can be solved by the wise choice of a few leading spirits. If, however, the system of election is not well organized, the unorthodox usually come to the top. To have the choice of candidates to an electorate which is composed of an amorphous mass of heterogeneous really means to abandon choice to a few intriguers." All of which we can take as another criticism of our own democratic form of government rather than an adequate justification for Fascism.

There is something wrong—not with democracy—but with the methods we use to maintain a semblance of democracy. Unlike Fascism, the success of a democratic form of government depends upon the intelligent cooperation of every citizen. Still, not more than 50 per cent of our nation's voters exercise their privilege of voting. Democracy, especially in an opulent country, causes enmity rather than an active interest in government.

Specifically—consider students. If any large group should represent the more intelligent citizens it is the college students. And yet, what interest do students have in national and international affairs; and what weight, if any, does student opinion, if any, have on the policy of our government? Certainly, none comparable to that of students in foreign countries. And more specifically—take our own University.

How many college students would have voted in the presidential straw-vote had it not been practically compulsory? And of those that voted how many knew what they were voting for? Some even blankly refused to vote because they "didn't know anything about the men." And although a student body should be able to set a norm of intelligent democratic cooperation we need not look far to find in college campaigns the same tin-pan, petty Big Bill Thompson stuff that often marks our national and local government. This, perhaps, is the saddest reflection upon democracy, for the future of democracy depends greatly upon education and the student.

No citizen—and especially a college student—should leave government to the "other fellow" and admit, in effect, that Signor Il Duce is right. He is not entirely right.

As college students, let's get interested in our college activities, in our local and national government and international affairs.

It is not impossible that in time a national student opinion would be both felt and respected.

Fascism, considering conditions in Italy, is an excellent form of government—but for Italy. Its success depends immediately upon one man and ultimately upon the faith of the people he rules.

Few of our heterogeneous people would be willing to surrender the government that insures their material welfare to the integrity and wisdom of one man. Fewer still, despite appearances, believe miracles can happen with such convenient regularity as they did in "The Gauchito."

But that is not enough to make us vote.

AVANT COUREUR

Tonight our journey is ended. Alone—I will go as I came; But in leaving I carry one victory You'll always remember my name.

For, as long as you live and love music, As long as The Master will play, You can never forget the brave evening; The night when I hurried away.

Whenever you muse on the keyboard With its alternate ivory and black, You will think of the evening we parted, That I left you . . . and never came back.

—H. L. G.

"FORESTERS GO TO PARADISE" sayeth a Kaimin headline in this issue. Heh, heh, we didn't know that was the place they went!

Wonder what'll be on the front pages after all the honorary colonels and prom queens have had their runs?

Missoula's all up in the air about the latest airplane advent.

Yah, we saw Doug Fairbanks in "The Gauchito." What did we think of it? Well, he's as athletic as ever, doesn't tango half as well as he should, and seemed to be a walking cigarette advertisement. And his fags, were they gauchito-ish, hand-rolled brown paper affairs? But no, neat white ones, appearing mysteriously each time from the region of his belt, to be ravenously smoked or carelessly cast aside. Do you wonder how many retakes were necessary when the matches failed to light on Doug's dexterous dexter hand? We do.

And Tony Sarg's puppets: "The Sultan's wives have got the hives" set us to giggling painfully, and we have been chuckling ever since.

TO REFRESH THE MEMORY OF A COQUETTE
Can you remember, dear,
Those days of joy and pain?
Evenings near the ocean,
And sparkling walks through rain?

Do you recall, my dear,
The loving songs you mocked?
And do you ever think about
The engagement ring you hooked?
—El. Gauchito.

Club Hears Two Talks on Teaching as a Profession

Members of the Education club were addressed by Margaret Ronan and Frank Kelly of the Missoula high school faculty, at a meeting Tuesday evening in Main hall. "Teaching as a Profession," was their subject. Miss Ronan told of some of the recompenses which a teacher receives aside from material returns. Mr. Kelly devoted his talk to the status of a teacher and what is expected of him. Mr. Kelly and Miss Ronan are alumni of Montana. Plans for an outing were discussed and a committee appointed to take charge of the arrangements. A lunch was served and a social period held after the business session. W. J. Abbott, chairman, presided over the meeting.

ABOUT $5,000 NOT ENOUGH

One of the Journalism Seniors got ambitious the other day.

"Say, fella," he told one of his "brothers" I want to buy a newspaper, but I don't think I can afford it."

LITTLE GIANTS

Swarm About the Campus and Say "Heil!"

Oh! for the Power to see ourselves Through the glasses that others use.

The campus is crowded with little men. Marvelous little men—tower five-six or seven in their ber heels and whose manly strut, taken them as, Captains of souls and masters of the fate. These adorable little fellows lovingly linger in the realm of childhood although they have thrown away their stick horses and laid aside their rompers. True, their shoulders are wee and their frames slight, but, ah! what steely muscles, what masculine determination, and with what stern tenacity do these little campus giants wrestle and overcome the problems before which others grow pale and falter.

"It is by their deeds ye shall know them."

None of these masterpieces of humanity ever stoop so low as to associate with man's humble servant, woman; they scorn them. Why these courageous students dare even to swear in the presence of all co-eds. The surest way to tell when a co-ed is approaching is to listen to a pair of the courageous ones; they say, "damn, damn, damn this weather." And when the co-ed is exceptionally attractive, as all our co-eds are, they say, "heil! but these pros are dumb." And the young lady always is impressed and in awed admiration silently goes her way.

A unique poster exhibition, sponsored by the California Wild Flower Conservation League, will be shown at the Stanford Art Gallery. These nature posters, which were drawn with the primary idea of conserving western wild flowers, native birds, and other forms of disappearing life, have been sent in by art students and children of the grades and junior and senior high schools from all sections of California. There will also be an exhibition of some practically constructed birdhouses.

DEBRIS

Dastardly Dirt Diggers Drag Down Dirt

Hushed voices, suppressed giggles, the muffled click of typewriters, sounds that bode no good to any man came from the little room to the right in the Journalism shack. "You don't know what I heard. They went over to Greenough park Friday night. Mary seen 'em, too. They were parked right up at that bend in the road where all the trees are." . . . The voices died away in a murmur broken only by excited "Ohs" or giggles of delight, which made the Copy Boy wonder if this wasn't a case for the Dean.

And during the day the air seemed to be charged. One sensed mysterious things. Girls, seemingly, of all evil, sly, sophisticated, knowing creatures that looked upon one much in the same manner as the little girl who catches her brother in the cookie jar—as if they had something on one, so to speak.

Strange questions were being asked. "Got any dirt?" seemed to be the password.

What is it? A meeting of the scavengers' union? No? Well, yes. The one time in the year when the women can be themselves has come to pass—the time of the year when anyone guilty of indiscretions quaver and go around with that haunting, hang-dog look common among criminals.

Campus Rakings, put out every year on Aber day by Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalistic fraternity, is going to press.

Dear Sirs:

I am a prodigal son. I began pipe-smoking with Edgeworth. But after a while I began to wander, trying other tobaccos, experimenting to see if there were any better tobacco for the pipe.

I have tried most of the best known brands and a number of the more obscure, both imported and domestic, but they didn't suit.

So now I have returned—I am using Edgeworth again, satisfied that no better tobacco is made.

"And the prodigal son partook of the fatted calf"; I bought a new pipe when I returned to Edgeworth.

With many thanks for my cool, mellow, sweet smokes, I am,
Very truly yours,
"H. D."

E. Spafford, national commander of the American Legion, Captain R. G. Breen of the United States army, flying from Portland to Butte, were forced to land in the field south of the old city club yesterday morning at 6 o'clock. Because of fog and darkness yesterday, the fliers were uncertain of their location and, to locate the Missoula airfield in the first place that was possible.

Spafford and Captain Breen, Dayton, Ohio, March 29 and made a circle of the western states on behalf of the American Legion. They left Portland at 5:45 a. m., arriving at Spokane at 8:30 a. m., where they made a brief stop for gasoline.

Fly Above Fog.
The pilot flew the machine at an altitude over the mountains near Spokane and Missoula, as forced at times to fly at an altitude of about 29,000 feet in order to clear the tops of the mountains. Approaching Missoula, the pilot, uncertain of the location in the dense fog, made a landing near the old country club.

A giant Curtis army plane attracted considerable attention as it circled around the university campus low in an effort to locate a landing place. The plane, for the Country club, at

BEST ESSAY

Purpose to Give Opportunity for Discussing Student Journalism; Noted People to Be Judges.

"The Function of an International Student Journal and a Project for its Realization" is the subject announced by "Vox Studentium," a magazine published by the International Student Service, for a $100 prize essay contest. The purpose of this contest is to create an opportunity for discussion of the question of student journalism. The contest will be international in scope.

The current issue of "Vox Studentium" is devoted to a discussion of student journalism. Writers in English, French and German have described tendencies in student writing in two hemispheres. They have also expressed problems which authors and editors feel. An editorial in this February-March issue states: "The problem lies in the ability of students to accept the responsibility of educated people and take up leadership within their community. Perfection of technique (in writing) will never serve to indicate a field in which investigation and thought is needed. But the student, who has tried to find the relation between the growing fund of knowledge, that comes to his hand during his years of study, and the facts of his surroundings, will have undergone the most valuable training for public journalism."

This contest will be judged by dis-

tinguished members of international organizations at Geneva, where "Vox Studentium" is published. The judges are: Dame Rachael Crowdy, Chief of the Opium and Social Questions section, League of Nations; Dr. Mantoux, Director of the University Institute for Higher International Studies, Geneva; M. Ferdinana Maurette, Chief of the Scientific Division, International Labor Office; Herr von Schmieden, Gesandtschaftsrat, Member of the Secretariat, League of Nations. All competing essays must be in the hands of the Essay Committee at the editorial offices of "Vox Studentium," 5, Rond-Point de Plainpalais, Geneva, Switzerland, by August 1, 1928. If the contestant is not already a subscriber to "Vox Studentium" his subscription of four Swiss francs (one dollar) must accompany his essay.

Eddie Warns Jack of the Possibilities

Dear Jack:

I received your letter in which you said that you might go to the Pan-Hellenic hall. Well, remember tomorrow's Friday, the 13th—if that means anything.

Just picture all the bad luck you might have. Suppose you don't get your date and then suppose you do. Suppose after you do she ditches you and then suppose she don't. Then maybe on your way down you might get a puncture in one of the tires of your coupe. You climb out and fix it and get your tuxedo all dirty.

Suppose the dance is rotten and your girl won't leave. Why, I could go on supposing all night, but I'll just add one more: Suppose you don't go and you find out what you missed!

Well, anyway, don't forget to keep your fingers crossed.

As ever,

BASEBALL IS PROGRESSING VERY SLOWLY

WEATHER STILL DELAYS ADVANCEMENT

Coach Milburn Concentrates On Building Infield and Developing Sluggers; Lack of Veteran Outfielders.

Montana's baseball team has made little progress during the past week, principally because of bad weather. Then, too, Major Milburn and some of the veteran players have been devoting considerable time to spring football. However, the team will have its full strength by the end of next week.

Milburn has been concentrating on hitters and the infield of late in an effort to discover a few sluggers and an inner defense that will function somewhat efficiently. The boxmen have been taking their regular turns on the hill in batting practice while the infield has seen all manner of changes. Gordon Rogien, normally a first baseman, is being given a whirl at the hot corners, Jimmy Morrow has been brought in from centerfield for a trial at shortstop, and Frank Golob, who usually plays the initial sack, is practicing daily at second.

LeRoux and Krogh Ineligible. Very little has been done with the outfield. If Morrow fails to displace somebody in the infield he will be a fixture at centerfield but, aside from him, nobody has shown himself to be a finished fly chaser. Leonard LeRoux and Ralph Krogh, who have shown some promise, are definitely out of it because of ineligibilities. Captain Rafferty, though, will probably be a regular outfielder when not pitching as he can hit and is a reliable fielder.

Fort Missoula Game Canceled

The game originally scheduled for next Saturday with Fort Missoula has been canceled as the soldiers are not in condition to go the full route. To take the place of this game, the Major will give all candidates a long drill on that afternoon. Two teams will be made up of the more promising players and a number of innings played. This will not only give the coaches a line on the ability of the men but will give the fans an opportunity to look them over, Milburn says.

A series of practice games will be played later with the Fort Missoula team and with other teams that are capable of giving the Varsity sufficient competition.

Drew First Class Baseball Player and Pinch Hitter

Norman Drew, varsity catcher from Stevensville, is now playing his third year of baseball with the University team. As a sophomore he performed in the outfield and as utility catcher. Last year he became regular backstop and will be seen in action behind the bat again this year.

Hurts 'em Across the Bitter Root

Drew first attracted attention while at Stevensville high school as a star halfback on the football team. In addition he played forward on the basketball team, was baseball catcher and ran the hurdles in track. He won third in the high hurdles at the state meet when a senior. At Stevensville they still tell of "Nurm's" prowess in athletics as a youth. It is said that he could catch behind the bat before he was in the first grade, and the old timers claim he could throw a baseball across the Bitter Root by the time he could walk, so it is natural for the home town folks to expect great things of him here.

At the University he has concentrated his attention on baseball, his favorite sport. While not being one of the leading hitters in the final averages, he has always been one of the most dangerous in the pinch. His receiving and throwing has put him on a par with the best catchers in the Pacific Coast conference. Last year he appeared in all fourteen games as a regular.

Drew is a junior in the School of Business Administration and is putting himself through school. He expects to enter business after receiving his degree.

PIERS WILL DISPLAY PICTURES OF WEST

Arton Piers of Great Falls, a student of western pictures, will bring an exhibit of his work to Missoula on April 16, according to a letter recently received by Prof. F. H. Riedel of the Art department. This exhibit, consisting of about 25 pictures, will probably be on display the following day, April 17, and will be shown for a week.

Professor Riedel plans to ask Mr. Piers to give a talk on his exhibit during the time it is on display.

Norvald Ulvestad and Armond Conn, are confined to the South hall infirmary.

SPORT SPURTS

Captain Bill Rafferty and his baseball warriors are being further hampered by evil omens. The weather has retarded the progress of the Grizzly diamond squad and to top it all Lieutenant O'Brien, athletic director at Fort Missoula, has announced that the Fort team will not be ready for outside competition for at least two weeks.

A league schedule is to be played at the Fort before the Army nine takes on outside teams. This is somewhat a blow to the Grizzlies as the Fort has always offered real competition for the Tricolors.

The University baseball squad needs practice games so that the Major can get a line on the new material that he has to fill the positions left vacant by graduation.

The city league teams have offered some competition in the past but the Grizzly schedule is usually under way before the city nines get started and it is the early season games that aid the University nine most.

This weather is so helpful to the athletic squads at the University—if you don't believe it ask the participants and the coaches. The University contemplates on ordering shells as soon as the water gets deep enough in the oval for practice sessions. Probably the Grizzly can enter a team to capture the Poughkeepsie regatta if conditions will not permit for baseball and track teams.

Not a decent time was turned in during the University of California, southern branch University of California meet at Berkeley. The Grizzly squad has men capable of besting the California men in every event, with the possible exception of the shot put.

Otto Kemmerich, German duration swimmer, holds the record in that event now by remaining in the water over 42 hours. His companion was a sea lion who Kemmerich is certain aided him in accomplishing the feat. Well the University believes in Mascots even if the State College doesn't.

Harry Stuhldreher, former All-American quarterback in 1924 and a member of the famous "Four Horsemen" football backfield of Notre Dame, will be married in June. The other members of the "Four Horsemen" will be the ushers. Harry should ride through to victory.

The Bobcats have turned out for Spring football practice but since the State College is enjoying April snow scenes, the squad will be unable to get outside for a while at least. "Rip" Wilson, Babcock, and Chez, all Bobcat football stars, have been appointed as coaches.

The Washington State football squad is also out for Spring practice and were scheduled to have three scrimmage sessions this week. Rain is also hampering the progress of the Cougar squads.

Frank Chavez, Pasadena, dropped out of the Pyle Bunion derby because of a wrenched ankle he received during a dance at Amarillo, Texas, two days ago. Not enough exercise in the derby.

William Meyer, Missoula entry, is still in the race. He tied for twenty-second place when they entered the first stop in Oklahoma. He is still going strong and probably will place if he doesn't attend any of these southern dances.

Half of the baseball nine of the Colorado School of Mines have been declared ineligible since the grades were published last week. Practically the second team of the Mines will take the field when the Mines battle collegiate competition. The grade curve has assumed the form of a question mark in the athletic department at the Mines institution.

It would form the shape of a cyclone if half of the Grizzly first string was declared ineligible.

Oregon University has entered the Penn relay contests which will be held at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, April 27 and 28. Oregon hasn't had any promising material in track for the last few years but they are going to attempt to place among the nations best.

It will give the Coast schools a chance to find out if Oregon University will be a relay threat at the Coast conference meet. Occidental college, a member of the Far West conference, has also entered.

The American Tennis team is to play a team from China in Kansas City the first part of May. It should be a hectic battle because the Orientals are fighting stock.

The boxing card at the Loyola gym tonight has caused a great deal of interest on the campus chiefly because of the large number of University entries. The card promises to provide the thrills expected by good fistic fans and the University men will fight to uphold their well earned laurels.

Prospects for a prosperous season in football next fall are reported poor at the University of Washington. In the first turnout of the year for spring practice, only two lettermen and five others showed up. Promising material from the frosh squad of last season helps to dispel the gloom of Coach Enoch Bagshaw on the outlook.

The rowing squad at the University of Washington has difficulty on the lake because hydroplanes landing near by cause swells which are too big to be successfully encountered.

VARNELL TO START RACES

Word has been received from George Varnell that he will again act in the capacity of starter for the races at the Interscholastic track meet.

Varnell has started the races at every Interscholastic meet since 1916. He is called the Walter Camp of the west.

Members of the Interscholastic committee will meet today at 4 o'clock in the office of Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of the committee. The purpose of the meeting will be

LACK OF STUDENT INTEREST HANDICAPS COACHING STAFF

Lack of interest by the student body in University athletics is one of the greatest handicaps the coaching staff has to face in the training of Grizzly teams. It is even more of a handicap than the weather and that is saying a lot.

This is evident in the fact that during the recent election only 716 students turned out to vote on a question so vital as whether or not their student activity fee should be increased. Of those who turned out 484 were in favor of the measure and 232 opposed. In order to pass more than one-half the student body or a total of 675 or more students would have to favor the measure.

Now this is not to be an editorial denouncing this lack of interest or presenting facts for or against the issue; neither is it to be a sermon. It is the story of more than 30 frosh who have been turned away from the gym because of inadequate means of taking care of them. It is to complete plans for the quarter centennial meet to be held here May 9-12.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS BOLSTERED BY FACULTY

Faculty members will be well represented in the local Chamber of Commerce, according to Professor G. D. Shallenberger, who handled the drive on the campus. The drive for membership which is an annual affair was completed Wednesday noon.

Students Choose Companions

Sweethearts, soap, cooking pots, and books of God were chosen by the students of the University of California as the persons, toilet articles, kitchen utensils, and books with which they would prefer to be marooned on a desert island.

SUNKIST LAND HAS SPEEDY 440 STEPPER

SPENCER OF STANFORD IS FAST MAN

Other Schools Have Quarter-Milers They Are Willing to Back With Hard Cash; Many 50-Second Men.

California, the sunkist land of plenty, grows 'em plenty fast. Not only in the sprints have they champions but there's a fellow out there by the name of Spencer who steps the quarter in 43 flat. That's not flatfooted either. However, they have no monopoly in this event. There are other schools and among them Montana.

It is a known fact, or at least it should be, that there are few college sprinters who can lap a quarter mile track in 50 seconds or under. Outside of Spencer from Stanford and the Trojan war horse, Sauer, who did the trick in 49 4-5 during the U. S. C.-Illinois meet, there is no one in California who has done the 440 under 50 seconds. Talbot, U. C. runner's best time is 50.2, made against U. C. L. A. His other times have been much slower, winning from the Olympic club in 50.8 seconds and from the Los Angeles club in 50.6. Pratt, his teammate, has seconded him closely in almost all events.

Dodds Bears Watching

Up north in Seattle, the den of the Huskies, the boys with the money to lay down are giving Dodds the critical eye. His time is said to be somewhere between 49 and 50 seconds. He is expected to bring in quite a few points for Washington during the coming season.

Sisson from Oregon Agricultural College, is another runner who is expected to be the cause of much rejoicing among the backers of the old alma mater. He has already stepped a lap around Bell field, Corvallis, in 50 flat and is given credit for being able to get under that mark. Joos, a teammate of Sissons, looks fairly good, also. His best time is 50.4.

Davis Looks Good

Davis, the Grizzly star, is also among the runners expected to cut 50 during the coming year. At the present time he shares the state record of 50 flat with Egan, also from the University. Davis equaled the record last year at the W. S. C.-Montana meet at Pullman. As last year was his first year of competition in track he is expected to lower the mark this year.

Garlington and Keyes, new men on Montana's squad, are regarded as comers although because of the weather no times have been taken and a good lineup is not to be had.

Other men doing the 440 for Montana are H. Haines and J. Wendt.

Eddie Chinske

Several years ago in Michigan City, Indiana, there was a young athlete who was destined to become one of Montana's greatest stars. It is doubtful whether he knew of the University of Montana at that time and it is quite certain that the students of the University, the townspeople and sports fans of the state did not know of him. But during all the time that he was getting his training in the field of sports and making a name for himself in Michigan City and later at Winona, Minnesota, he was paving a path that would lead to greater honors during his college career.

Plays Football, Baseball, Basketball. While in high school Eddie Chinske played football, basketball and baseball and quite phenomenal he played all these sports intensely. His early training taught him to play the game for all that there was in it and for all that there was in him. This trait has cropped out in Eddie so obviously the last two years while in the game—either football, basketball or baseball—that the fans can not help but notice it.

Came to Montana Last Year

Last year Eddie came to the University after spending a year in a junior college at Winona, Minnesota. He went out for football and with the help of his early training and the instilling of the old Grizzly fight into his veins he easily made his letter. He probably would have made a letter in basketball had it

THE SPORT WORLD

Will Tex Pack 'Em In With Gene His Sole Drawing Card—Yankee Dope Again

The reputations of Tex Rickard (top) and Gene Tunney (below) are at stake in the coming fight between Gene and Tom Heeney.

BY PHILIP MARTIN

Two of our very distinguished members of the boxing racket are soon to be on trial—Mr. Tex Rickard for his reputation and Mr. Gene Tunney for an often-declared statement.

One of the pet legends of our very assimilating public is that Mr. Rickard without doubt is the greatest of all fight promoters. He must maintain this reputation in the coming Tunney-Heeney fight.

Mr. Tunney often has said that he, just as much as Jack Dempsey, was the person the followers of the racket paid to see perform at Philadelphia and at Chicago. Although he has not many adherents to his belief, the fair-minded are willing to delay final judgment in order to see just what there is to this notion of Gene's.

Like many others, we are of the opinion that most of the big fights of Mr. Rickard have been naturals. That is, they were naturals in recent years because Mr. Dempsey was a party concerned.

Now Mr. Dempsey will be present only as a spectator if he is present at this coming fight.

Mr. Tunney and Mr. Heeney will do the fighting if there is any done. Nothing in Mr. Heeney's record in this country gives reasons for thought that he is a great drawing card. Therefore, assuming that Tunney is not enough to attract a couple of million dollars into the coffers, Mr. Rickard must promote and promote with much gusto in order to have the customers get down with their cold cash.

And what has he to ballyhoo? It is a championship fight. That always attracts the ones who live to repeat day after day that they were among those present.

He has the champion, a very good champion, who should retain his title easily. He has Mr. Heeney, the opponent, because somebody must be an opponent and he was chosen. By no means is he the outstanding pretender to the throne for there is no such animal. He's just a big honest fellow whose jaw is very solid.

Not so much to ballyhoo, is it? That is why Mr. Rickard is on trial—he must convince the great American public that this will be a spectacle worth watching. If he does, we will preserve our legend.

As for Mr. Tunney's belief, he can aid in upholding Mr. Rickard's reputation if he will just prove he is an attraction. At least, one-half not been that the ineligible list caught him due to his over-enthusiasm in football. When Coach Milburn issued his spring call for baseball artists Chinske was among his recruits and it was quite evident after a few nights out that he would be assured a position. During the course of the season Chinske showed his ability in this sport and when the season closed his name went down in the eyes of fans as one of the best shortstops that the Grizzly diamond warriors have ever had.

It is not necessary to review his activities in the field of sports this year. He earned his letter in football, basketball and will again duplicate his playing of last year as shortstop on the Grizzly baseball team this spring.

Regardless of all the fame that has come to Chinske he has not permitted it to go to his head and in view of this and a pleasing personality he has a vast host of friends on the Montana campus—a number hard to duplicate by anyone for the short time that he has been here. Because of this he was elected by the football squad to direct their destinies next year. He is a real sportsman, friend and a loyal student to the University of Montana.

the headliner he believes himself to be.

Of course, Gene realizes this next affair will not be any dazing affair and that it may prove a flop insofar as the millionaire owners of the Garden are concerned. But he says he packed 'em in before—and it is up to him to pack 'em in again.

For the sake of Mr. Rickard, we have half a hope that he is correct.

The boys have started their annual baseball campaign, and among several American League clubs there exists a feeling that the New York Yankees will not be the all-powerful club of last year.

This belief comes from the fact that the Yanks took it on the well known chin nearly every day in spring training competition. Winning spring training games doesn't help out in the October standings, but such a practice is not one that should be indulged in too often. It might prove contagious.

The Yanks, despite these innumerable spring defeats, remain the class of the league. It is difficult to see how any team can head them off once the season opens. They should get going about April 12 and keep going. And if they don't—just about every expert in the business will have to admit that this business of exporting is a most trying occupation.

Romund Moltzau, '31, was discharged from the hospital Wednesday.

Ruth Gannaway and Ruth Ackery will spend the week end in Dorky.

BILLY DUGAL'S BOXING CARD 8:30, TONIGHT

FORTY-TWO ROUNDS ON PROGRAM

Cerutti, Grover, Dugal, Jones and Lynch are University Men Who Appear in Tonight's Tournament.

Billy Dugal, the Tex Rickard of Missoula, promises one of the biggest features of the season in the series of bouts to be held at the Loyola gymnasium tonight at 8:30. McNally of Butte, former lightweight champion of the state, will battle the tough and willing Kid Reed of Fort Missoula. Reed is considered a plenty tough boy around these parts, having a string of knockouts to his credit. McNally's record shows him to be a scraper of no mean ability and can take them as well as give them. Boxing fans will remember the battle at the tournament put on by the "Good Eats" club in '26 when McNally battled Joe Cochran, champion of the University.

Cerutti and Grover

Cerutti and Grover will put up another bout that threatens to be a headliner. Cerutti has proved his valor under fire during the recent "M" club tournament. He is a boy with plenty of stamina and in perfect condition. Grover is the welterweight champion of the University and mighty proud of his crown. He has no intention of taking a defeat without a real fight.

Billy Dugal to Fight

Billy Dugal, himself, will be featured in one of the bouts, and that should mean a lot. It will be remembered that Billy was the boy that packed home the cup given by the "M" club for the best exhibition of the evening. If you like boxing de luxe, be there when Billy first pokes his left in his opponent's map, and keep your eyes on him. Billy's going to have no easy time, however, as he faces Nick Garcia of the Fort, a tough little baby himself and outweighing Dugal by 12½ pounds.

Dean Jones against Soldier Green and Lynch vs. Kalpwick are other nice features of the bouts, which will have 42 rounds of battling as fast as one bell rings after another.

The weights of the feature fighters are as follows:

McNally (140) vs. Kid Reed (134); Cerutti (134) vs. Grover (129); Dean Jones (121) vs. Soldier Green (129); Nick Garcia (140) vs. Dugal (127½); Lynch (148½) vs. Kalpwick (161).

About 50 per cent of the 100 sons who played on the Garden course the opening day, Sunday, paid a cash admission according to Prof. E. A. Atkin of the Psychology department, president of the course. Those charges would much rather have played buy tickets because it gives ready money although the not collect as much in the end. During this week and next, more $300 will be spent on the course and it will be in first class condition by that time. To do this is necessary to increase the sale season tickets.

"University students should seize the big opportunity that is to them with the offer of a $5.00 ticket. This ticket entitles students to play the rest of this quarter and during the fall quarter the course is closed. Students who play will find that they will save out the price of a ticket at cents a round. Since the tickets are still good next fall, there plenty of time for anyone to get good out of his investment of said Professor Atkin.
