LARGEST ENROLLMENT IN HISTORY OF SCHOOL

MASQUERS ARE HOLDING TRYOUTS FOR FIRST PLAY

Upper Classmen to Tryout Tuesday; Freshmen Wednesday.

Tryouts for the first production of the Montana Masquers, the university's theatrical organization, will be held in the Little Theater Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening from 3 to 5:30 and from 7 to 10. Tuesday the upper classmen will try out and Wednesday the freshmen.

William Angus, director of the Little Theater, urges that all who are interested in dramatics, turn out. If they can not appear at the Little Theater for the try-outs at the designated time, anyone interested should call up Mr. Angus and make arrangements for individual try-outs.

If enough students announce their intention of trying out, tryouts will be continued on Thursday.

"At these try-outs each candidate is taken individually so that everyone can be given the fairest possible test with the causes of self-consciousness reduced to the minimum," said Director Angus. No immediate preparation is required because the try-out is impromptu. Everyone who knows he has dramatic talent and all who suspect that they have it are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity, he added.

Masquers' Aim.

The aim of the Montana Masquers is good plays well presented in every respect, furnishing dramatic training, practical experience in stagecraft and in various diversified phases of play production to as many students as possible. It is an honorary organization, election to membership being based upon a certain amount of creditable work having been done in connection with the Masquers' productions. Those who participate in the dramatic activity of the University may be members or prospective members of the organization.

The various phases of the work are acting, scene-designing, and construction of scenery, lighting, stage management, properties, make-up, costuming, prompting, business management, and publicity. In the performance of all these tasks the students receive credit toward eligibility by practical experience. Every participant is expected to work hard so as to learn by doing and thus the better to enrich his experience and receive the greater satisfaction from activity devoted to creative production. The primary aim, then, is benefit to the participant, such benefit, of course, being obviously in direct proportion to the extent of his own application to the work.

Membership.

Creditable work in three Masquers' productions makes a student eligible for membership in the organization and his election is then a matter of course. Mr. Angus plans this year that much of the production work to be done by the members of the class in dramatic presentation by means of which they will be fulfilling laboratory assignments and receiving practical application of the principles involved. The choice of the actors will be based, as formerly, upon tryouts open to all eligible students in the University.

November 14, 16 and 17 will be the opening of the Little Theater season with a double bill including the first act of the unfinished mystery play "Shall We Join The Ladies" by Barrie and the two-act comedy, "Wife To A Famous Man" by Gregorio Martinez-Sierra.

MONTANA DEBATE UNION TO ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

Members of the Debate Union held at meeting Wednesday evening in the library, and discussed plans for the coming year. Matters taken up were the arrangement of debates with Intermountain college and Mount St. Charles college, and the election of a new president to fill the vacancy left by Sid McCarthy, who is now attending Georgetown university.

Another meeting will be called sometime next week, according to Pauline Astle, secretary of the Debate Union.

The Associated Women Students of your University welcome you to your first year of attendance. We are pleased that you have made our school your choice, and hope the men and women of your class enjoy a year of pleasure and success.

We will observe you with interest as you enter into the spirit of Montana's loyal students, and we wish for you the gain that our college life has brought to us scholastically and socially.

We're truly glad you're here!

MARY BRENNAN,
President of A. W. S.

MANY ART STUDENTS REPRESENT IN EXHIBIT

C. H. Riedell Arranges Art Work of Last Three Years.

Professor C. H. Riedell of the art department has arranged an exhibit of student work of the last three years. Many of the students represented in the exhibit have left the University. Some have continued their work in this field while others are teachers, housewives, advertising writers and actors.

In the group of '25-'26 there are several people who are now well known on the campus. Mary Kirkwood, the daughter of the late Professor Kirkwood is now assistant instructor in the University of Oregon. Jean Haviland is a bride of the summer. Lou Williams was one of Montana's track stars.

In the '26-'27 group there are several who are still on the campus. Others who have gone are: Wilkes Fisher, athlete and one of the best cartoonists Montana has produced. Evelyn Siderfin was also prominent in dramatics. Merle Cooney, Rowe Morrell and Harry Hooser who are in San Antonio with Carl Glick now, have several drawings.

The largest group is that of last year's work. There are several sketches by Florence Marigold. Tony D'Orazi who is now studying at the Bridgman art studios in New York is well represented. The group of portraits by Arnie Gillette, track star, artist and actor, who was exhibited last spring is being shown again. It includes portraits of Alice Lease, John Ryan, Tony D'Orazi and Harry Hooser. Gillette was assistant in the art department last year. He is now studying dramatic art at Yale, costuming, scene designing, etc.

In a miscellaneous group is work by Alice Cox, Billie Macrae, Dorothy Koger, Jane Nofsinger, Burgess Hines and Clarke Macgregor. Of these, Burgess Hines is on the campus. He did quite a bit of work for the Montana Masquers this summer. He was art director for "The Whole Town's Talking," a student production of the last three weeks of summer school.

Mr. Riedell is planning several art exhibits to be obtained through F. A. Tate of the American crayon company from the Rudolph Schaffer studios of New York. There will probably be some exhibits from California studios.

FRAT AND SORORITY HOUSES ARE REMODELED

Many improvements have been made on fraternity and sorority houses during the summer. Two of the sororities have moved and a new sorority has rented a house.

Kappa Delta sorority has renovated and redecored the entire interior and exterior of their house. Kappa Sigma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities have also done extensive kalsomning, painting, and redecored work in their house. Sigma Phi Epsilon have done considerable remodeling work which includes the tearing out of all of the partitions in "Siberia," and the installation of a number of private study tables with individual lights over them. Some reshingling work was done on the outside walls of Sigma Kappa sorority house and carpenters have done some repair work in the Delta Gamma sorority house.

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority has sold its house on Beckwith avenue and are now living on Keith avenue.

Alpha Xi Delta sorority have moved from the house on University avenue to Daly avenue. Zeta Chi, the new sorority live on Beckwith avenue.

MONTANA DEBATE TEAM WILL TOUR THE WEST COAST

Tryouts for Debate Squad To Be Held in the Near Future.

Tryouts for the State University debating squad will be held at an early date in the fall quarter. Only candidates resident on the campus one year and with satisfactory scholarship will be considered eligible for these tryouts and for varsity debating. From the group qualifying as squad members teams will be chosen by the coach for the various intercollegiate debates of the school year.

Debate activities of the University are in a particularly healthy condition. Last year fifty-two men turned out to seek positions on the squad and eighteen or nineteen intercollegiate debates were conducted. This season the schedule will be somewhat less ambitious as to the number of contests but practically all of the debates held will be with schools of recognized standing in forensic work, and the schedule is indeed an attractive one.

Triangular Debate.

During the fall quarter Montana will take part in an annual triangular debate with the Universities of British Columbia and Idaho. Idaho will send a team to the home campus, while a Montana contingent will journey to Vancouver to meet British Columbia. The off campus team, while in the Northwest, will be able to have encounters with two or three other universities, if pending negotiations are completed.

Lawrence College, Wisconsin, will send a team against the State University during the fall months. Lawrence college has an established reputation in debate, and Montana will avail herself of the best material at hand in an effort to avenge a defeat administered at Lawrence last season.

Among the outstanding contests for the winter and spring quarters will be meets with the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, Oregon State, Willamette, and with Utah State University. Negotiations are under way for resumption of debate relationships with the State College at Bozeman.

California Tour.

In the spring a two-man team will be selected from among those who show skill in debate for a tour through California and along the West coast. The team will participate in six or seven debates, meeting some of the good small schools of the West and possibly two of the large Western universities.

Freshmen will have their inning this year in intercollegiate debate and a squad of first-year men will be nominated from a general tryout in the near future. One or more debates for women will find a place on the year's calendar.

James Beck, a varsity debater of some years' experience, has been appointed debate manager. A good list of letter men have returned to the campus, including Carl McFarland, Robert Williams, Russell Smith, Jamesbert Garlington, Marshall Murray, and Eugene Grandy. Among the experienced women debaters will be Mary E. Brennan and Pauline Astle.

SCIENCE ENDEAVORING TO FIND CANCER CURE

Philadelphia—(IP)—Cures having been found for practically every other known disease, with a few possible exceptions, science has turned its efforts toward finding the proper treatment for cancer. During the past year numerous gifts have been given American educational institutions as funds for the purpose of financing research work in this connection.

The latest of these gifts was in the form of a $100,000 bequest to the Graduate hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, made by Colonel Louis J. Kolb, a graduate of the university in 1887.

The University received another gift of $45,000 for the same purpose from Irene du Pont last December.

Harvey "Jelly" Elliott, 1923 captain of the Montana football team, has returned to Missoula after spending a summer doing contracting work in Polson.

WELCOME.

The return of old students and the coming of new students to the campus of the State University is a time of pleasure and gratification. The University after all is made by the students and the essentials of the University are surely welcome to those of us that are here all of the time.

We hope your year is as full of happiness and accomplishment as possible. Your success is our greatest satisfaction. We hope you give us our fill.

The University is in your care. Everywhere and at all times be loyal to your parents and to your University.

CHARLES H. CLAPP,
President.

FRESHMEN INTRODUCED TO S. O. S. LAST NIGHT

Short Talks Feature Montana's Greatest Tradition.

Freshmen were introduced to one of Montana's greatest traditions last night at the first S. O. S. of the year. The crowd was late in assembling and the speeches began at 7:35. The speakers of the evening were introduced by Nelson Fritz, University yell king. First speaker was Lou Vierhus, captain of last year's football team. He was followed by Eddie Chinske, captain of this year's team.

Doctor M. J. Elrod, faculty representative in the Central Board of ASUM, spoke briefly of the traditions of Montana and their growth. George Schotte, president of the Junior class and football player, spoke on the importance of school spirit to the player.

Professor Atkinson of the psychology department was the last speaker. The eight o'clock bell cut short his salutation. There was the long hush that follows the first stroke and the "College Chums." Freshmen grouped around their little green song and yell books, read it in the twilight, while upperclassmen sang it softly.

Next Thursday a big S. O. S. will be held for the W. S. C. game. To be held Saturday. Yell King Fritz asked for a big turn out and lots of pep for the big rally.

STATE UNIVERSITY GIRL IS "QUEEN OF MONTANA"

Helena, Sept. 27.—Rhea Traver of Big Timber will be crowned Queen of Montana at the coronation ball which tonight ends the social activities of the state fair. The young woman was elected by the other 35 county princesses who have been guests of the fair management during the week.

Miss Traver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Traver of Big Timber, is a sophomore at Montana State University and a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

FORMER STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE FOR RAILROAD

Ray Murphy, former University of Montana student, has been appointed traffic representative for the Northern Pacific railroad at Butte. Murphy goes to Butte as the successor of R. C. Lemm, who has been transferred to another position in the freight department. Murphy, who was formerly a member of the Grizzly football team, is the son of C. F. Murphy of Anaconda, superintendent of the B. & P. railroad. He has been recently in the employ of that railroad in Anaconda. In his new position he will work both in Anaconda and Butte.

NOTICE.

Tryouts for the first productions of the Montana Masquers will be held at the Little Theater, Tuesday, Wednesday, and possibly Thursday, afternoon and evening, from 3 to 5:30 and from 7 to 10. Upperclassmen to tryout on Tuesday and Freshmen on Wednesday. Anyone who is anxious to tryout and can not arrange to come at the designated time should call William Angus, director, at the Little Theater, and make other arrangements.

Nineteen new names appear on the 1928-29 faculty roster at the University of Montana, according to an announcement made by the president's office. DOLLAR WATCH PROFITS GO TO EDUCATE BOYS

Denver, Sept. 28.—(IP)—The estate of the late Robert H. Ingersoll, of dollar-watch fame, who died here recently, has been left as a trust fund to aid boys seeking a college education, according to the terms of the will filed in New York. Although Ingersoll estimated the estate as worth "over $10,000, friends of the philanthropist estimated it to be worth between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

The trust, to be known as the Robert and Roberta Ingersoll foundation, will go to boys seeking a collegiate, university or professional education."

COAST FOOTBALL TEAMS HAVE MANY LETTER MEN

Los Angeles, Sept. 28.—Veteran football teams for practically every big Pacific coast university is the bright prospect for Western grid fans this year. University of California at Berkeley leads in number of returning letter men with 20, Stanford has 18, Oregon State 17 and Idaho 13. University of Southern California trails these teams in number of veterans with only 12. Seven of last year's Trojan letter winners are among the missing this year.

Congratulations, freshmen, on your choice of an institution of higher learning. It is indeed a great satisfaction to see our University forge ahead and prosper, and this can not be done unless the freshman class can maintain and to some extent surpass the standards of former classes.

This is now YOUR university and YOU must carry on the work which has been started. Continue building up your university.

The student body welcomes you and wishes you success and happiness in your university career.

Nelson Fritz, cheer leader, spoke about the different traditions and customs of the Montana campus. He announced the S. O. S. to be held last night and explained how it is always held on Thursday night of Freshman week and before the various games of the year. He also explained some of the Freshman duties.

Bob Breen of Butte was then elected temporary president of the class of 1932 with Edith Calkins as vice-president. Elmore Dyer, Secretary-Treasurer, and Sherman Miller as representative to Central Board.

CLASS OF '32 LARGEST IN HISTORY OF SCHOOL; 22 PER CENT INCREASE

476 Yearlings Attend First Freshman Meeting. Figures Indicate Enrollment Will Be at Least 100 More than Last Year.

WOMAN'S SKELETON IS FOUND AT PYRAMID TOP

Is Relic of Ancient Civilization of Mayans.

Discovery of a unique and beautiful, as well as mysterious, pyramid, in what is now Guatemala, constructed before the birth of Christ, was reported to the International Congress of Americanists here by the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

The pyramid, of stone, 85 feet square and 25 feet high, ornamented with sixteen grotesque, bulbous-nosed stone masks, each eight feet square, appears to have been used for sacrificial purposes by the priests of a race which preceded the great Maya civilization.

The edifice is flat on top, and thereon the headless skeleton of a young woman was found.

The mystery lies in the fact that the beautiful pyle conforms with no other known Mayan specimen of architecture. It was found by digging into a larger, cruder covering pyramid.

The earlier explorations showed that the Mayan priests used the later larger pyramid as an observation point for their far-advanced astronomical researches, in which they utilized the pyramid literally as a sun-dial. The date of these activities has been fixed as about the time of the birth of Christ, slightly less than 2,000 years ago.

Why the older, more beautiful pyramid was covered up with stone and rubbish is an archaeological mystery.

The pyramid, built of uncut stone and faced with a dazzling white stucco, is ascended by four broad stairways, one on each side.

Eight of the colossal masks, made of fine lime stucco, are fashioned like grotesque human heads. Below these are eight others fashioned like serpent's heads, grimly guarding the holy stairways.

In the plaza facing the pyramid, the excavators found numerous pieces of pottery and small clay figures of human and animal heads which gave them a clue and some evidence indicating that the discoveries may be of the source of the Mayan civilization.

MONTANA GRAD WRITES FOR GAS PUBLICATION

Miriam Wayman, graduate of the School of Journalism and now advertising manager of the Great Falls Gas company, has an interesting article in the August number of the Public Service Magazine, entitled "Gas Known in Ancient Times."

The story gives an instructive insight into the uses which were made by the ancients of natural gas in Europe, Asia and America, where the Indians regarded the natural vents as supernatural and associated them with their worship.

Miss Wayman also reviews the history of the adaptation of gas to economic use and traces the development of its application to domestic and industrial purposes in this country.

During the year Miss Wayman has designed some attractive and effective advertising for the company which she represents.

An increase of 22 per cent is shown in the freshman class for this year, according to an announcement made by the president's office Wednesday. At the first freshman meeting held Tuesday, 476 students were given cards, while last year there were 339 in attendance at the first meeting and only 445 freshmen registered at the end of freshman week. These figures indicate that the enrollment will be at least 100 more than in 1927.

The largest freshman class in the history of the University finished registration last night. During the week there have been hundreds of yearlings, many guided by older students, crowded on the campus to line up at the registrar's office and to flock about the tables in Main hall. Freshman registration probably will be completed tomorrow morning.

Dormitories are now filled with students. South hall being overcrowded and North and Corbin halls being jammed almost to capacity. The deans of men and women have granted several students permission to live out of the dormitories because of their working for board or room or because they have relatives living in the city. This year the dean of men is more cautious in accepting excuses from students who do not wish to live in the dormitory than deans have been in the past. He has demanded written statements from many of the students.

Later in the week, allotments of freshmen who wish to live in fraternity houses will be made. Freshmen women are not allowed to live in sorority houses.

As Dean J. E. Miller and "Big Lou" Vierhus stood guard at the door of the women's gymnasium Tuesday night to prevent the entrance of all upper classmen, freshmen men and women flocked into the gymnasium for the first dance of the year. One of Sheridan's orchestras furnished the music for the many couples that danced on the crowded floor. Nelson Fritz stood on the orchestra platform and directed the grand march at 9 o'clock and the largest Montana State University freshman dance ended at 11 o'clock.

The remainder of the Freshman week program:

Welcome.

WHEN each September an ever increasing hoard of students comes drifting in to the campus from the far corners of the state, it is like an annual sowing of new seed. One wonders what will be the harvest after four years growth. That it is a privilege to be permitted the opportunity of this growth is something that every member of the class of '32 will come to realize before he has been long on the Montana campus. With that realization, perhaps, will come the fuller realization of each student's responsibilities to those who make it possible for him to be a member of Montana's student body—taxpayers, parents, faculty. Only a desire to be worthy of those responsibilities, can make each succeeding harvest better than the last.

Freshmen and new students, Montana bids you welcome.

S. M.

Your State University.

THE State University of Montana, one of the units of the Greater University of Montana which includes in addition to the State University at Missoula, the State College at Bozeman, the Normal College at Dillon, the School of Mines at Butte, and the Eastern Montana Normal School at Billings, is now more than thirty years old; the enrollment of students has steadily increased until during the year 1927-28 there were 1943 resident students, taking work in twenty-five different departments and using buildings and equipment valued at $2,500,000.

The State University of Montana is a class "A" college, accredited by the Association of American Universities and a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and the American Council of Education. It is one of the nation's larger institutions of higher education. Credits earned in the State University may easily be transferred to other universities.

The faculty of 90 men and women have received their training in the great universities in all parts of the world. Many of them have had professional experience in the fields of science or business. At regular intervals the members of the faculty are given leaves of absence during which to become acquainted with the latest developments in their fields.

On the University campus at Missoula, men and women of Montana form associations with their future neighbors and fellow-citizens.

Supporters of the Copper, Silver and Gold will have an opportunity tomorrow afternoon to give the team the kind of season send-off it deserves.

Reverse English!

Pedagogues Hunt for Ugliest Woman.

London.—(IP)—Research has long been one of the purposes of American college and university professors, but Englishmen are astonished at the latest bit of research work entered into by a group of American pedagogues who have just arrived here.

Their mission is to find the ugliest white woman in the world. While there has always been a dispute as to who was the most beautiful woman in history, so far as is known there has never been any doubt as to the one who possessed the most revolting features.

This Sybil of the sex was the Duchess Margaret of Carinthia and Tyrol, who lived in the middle ages and was the subject of a portrait by the Flemish master, Quentin Matsys.

"The recent sale of Matsys' picture has inspired us to undertake this quest," a member of the party said.

"It is remarkable that at present there are known to be only two candidates for the invidious distinction of being the worst looking woman in the world—a French actress and an English woman."

"The French woman has a mouth extending nearly from ear to ear, while her eyes are narrow slits. A waspish waist of only 14 inches, heightens her ugliness."

"The English woman, who has an enormous face like that of some bovine animal and a huge nose out of all proportion even to her large head, presents an equally grotesque visage."

"It is a remarkable fact that most women—with the possible exception of the ugly duchess—who are really ugly are sweet-natured and easily attract husbands."

NOTICES

Notices have been posted on the campus bulletin boards stating that "R. O. T. C. uniforms must be drawn before the drill period, October 8. The period from 9 a. m. October 1 to 4 p. m. October 5 is designated as the time for drawing uniforms and all concerned are requested to get them as soon as possible."

"Seniors who are candidates for degrees or certificates at the end of the winter quarter must file applications in the registrar's office not later than Friday, October 5. Delayed applications are subject to a fine of $5."

CLOWN RECEIVES DEGREE AT BUDAPEST UNIVERSITY

Vienna, (IP)—Back in the days of tyrant kings it was not unusual for princes to bestow titles on court jesters, but it has remained for the University of Budapest to be the first educational institution to grant a degree to a clown.

M. Adrian Wettach, better known as "Grock," or "Dr. Grock," as it is now, has been made a doctor of philosophy by the university, according to word received here.

Twenty years ago Wettach was a tutor in the family of Count Bethlen, now premier of Hungary, but more recently has earned fame and fortune before the footlights.

MUSICIANS TRYING OUT FOR HUGE TROJAN BAND

Los Angeles.—Student musicians at the University of Southern California are trying out this week for Harold Roberts' 1928 edition of the Trojan band. The S. C. band, which is nationally known for its size, musical ability and unique marching stunts, which are given between halves at football games, will have more than 200 members this year, according to Roberts.

Persian Poet

Montana Graduate Translates Hafiz.

Clarence K. Streit, an alumnus of the School of Journalism and foreign correspondent for the New York Times, is the author of a book of poems which has just come from the Viking Press of New York. The verse is a translation of some of the work of the Persian poet, Hafiz, and Mr. Streit appends a biographical sketch of Hafiz and in his foreword explains his purpose in attempting to familiarize the American public with the verse of this poet, the favorite of his own people though comparatively little known to the English-reading people.

The little volume is charmingly done. Mr. Streit has selected, he says, "from the hundreds of poems that Hafiz wrote * * * here and there stanzas that seemed best to give his spirit, and I have tried to express effectively in English rubaiyat what they meant to me."

Here is a typical stanza:

Unto the ignorant God gives a relin

To their desires: His Heaven

they'll attain;

But you are skilled in thinking;

you are wise;

That sin suffices for eternal pain.

STUDIES IN MURDER.

E. L. Pearson

The MacMillan Co., ($3.00)

When Miss Lizzie Borden died in Fall River not long ago, interest was revived in the Borden murder case, which is fully reported in E. L. Pearson's "Studies in Murder." Miss Borden was acquitted of the charge of murdering her parents with an axe, and no new light has been thrown on the mystery. But it is interesting to hear that a book dealer of Fall River, who claimed that Miss Borden bought hundreds of books from him, stated that he had been commended for not keeping in stock "Studies in Murder." And Mr. Pearson, author of the book, now learns that some book dealer of the town did buy a copy of the book for Miss Borden, on special order, and that she took it home.

Mr. Pearson says "Where this copy is, or whether it survived destruction by its owner or her executors, I do not know. Naturally I should very much like to own it, as an 'association copy.' Especially if it is annotated by its original owner, would it be desirable. I am willing to give three times its original price for the authentic copy."

THE NEW TEMPLE.

By Johan Bojer

The Century Co.

Johan Bojer, whose latest novel "The New Temple" will be published by Century next week, has an incredibly large following among American readers. He has been called "America's great Norwegian novelist."

Llewellyn Jones, literary editor of the Chicago Evening Post, discusses the foundation and growth of Bojer's reputation in this country in his introduction to "Johan Bojer: The Man and His Works," a biography published here a few years ago.

"To my certain knowledge," writes Mr. Jones, "there has been nothing parallel in the past ten years, and I doubt if any foreign author has been so widely read so quickly. Some English authors have made a success in this country, and their earlier works have been given us in 'collected' editions, but that is not a parallel case. Here is an author practically none of us not of Norwegian birth or parentage has been able to read in the original, an author of whose few of us had even heard. He has had no advance publicity. One of his books is published; it is so successful that another is issued the same year—while the sales of the first go merrily on. A third and a fourth follow, and his circle of readers enlarges steadily."

"He is not like Ibsen an author who makes a hit by publishing a book dealing with the war and then rides on the wave of its momentum. He is an artist who deals with the materials offered by his native country and we read his books for no other reason than that they appeal to us on their intrinsic merits. And yet in two years, we have so taken him into our hearts that a biography is called for. It is an interest that certainly makes Bojer an American by adoption."

Johan Bojer's popularity in the United States was founded by the success of "The Great Hunger," published in 1919, which has sold more than 75,000 copies. His subsequent novels enjoyed large sales and still continue to sell well. "The Great Hunger" topped the active sales lists today. "The New Temple" is his first novel to be published here since 1925.

THE RING FENCE.

IT HAPPENED LIKE THAT.

By Eden Philpotts

MacMillan Company.

"The Ring Fence" is a spacious, humorous human novel of the Devon country; "It Happened Like That" is a collection of fifteen short stories, and neither volume ought to be missed. . . . Mr. Philpotts knows the human heart. He is a realist who blinks neither tragedy nor comedy. He has the generosity of Dickens in his gift of memorable personalities. "The Ring Fence" will renew your faith in the modern novel, or I'm a bad guesser. And the fifteen short stories are quite as entertaining; they are short novels—tales which might be told at the hearthside, down at the old farm, nights.

THREE BOY SCOUTS IN AFRICA

By Three Boy Scouts.

G. P. Putnam's Sons.

"The plains are literally swarming with game" reads one of the messages just received by George Palmer Putnam from Martin Johnson in Africa. "Our Boy Scouts have already seen 104 lions, and each boy has shot a particularly fine specimen." According to Mr. Johnson's messages, which were dispatched from Nairobi, having been taken to the telegraph station, more than 150 miles, by native runners, the three Boy Scouts who were chosen to join his expedition, have had some thrilling experiences and have obtained a wealth of material for the book "Three Boy Scouts in Africa," which they are writing. It will be published by Putnam on their return.

Another message described an adventure in the camp. "Seven lions surrounded our camp," it said. "One actually entered the front seat of an automobile parked nearby and almost chewed up the rear tire. A third lion managed to get at a camera, which was soon reduced to a pulp. It was a thrilling night, but all is well."

MINNESOTA HEAD COMMENTS UPON EDUCATION SURVEY

Mont. Tax Burden Light
Compared to That of Others.

After examining the survey of education in Montana which has just been completed by The University of Montana, Dr. L. D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, who spent last Wednesday in conference with regard to the survey, made the following statement:

"The cost of maintaining the University, like that of every other public institution, is determined by its size, the kinds of public service demanded of it, and the competition which it has to meet with other institutions of corresponding grade and merit.

"The survey which has been conducted by Chancellor Melvin A. Brannon, and President C. H. Clapp of the situation in the University of Montana shows that the registration has been steadily increasing. It also shows that the people of the state have been imposing heavier obligations upon the University and its various schools, branches and experiment stations than were imposed a few years ago. Not only has the institution been called upon to provide additional facilities to meet the needs of the ever-increasing body of students but it has likewise been called upon to provide research in many fields which are fundamental to the life and welfare of the state.

"It is equally true that the ability of the University of Montana to provide the kind of service which the people of the state desire is determined by the competition which it has with neighboring institutions for its men. No university can ever rise above the quality of its teaching staff. Men and women of real attainment and distinguished ability are the only kind which any university, and particularly a state university, should attempt to attract and to hold on the staff.

"The facts show that the tax burden on the people of Montana in relation to the wealth of the state is not particularly heavy. The state taxes are low and they constitute a smaller percentage of the total taxes than in any of the neighboring states. Montana apparently has used much of her revenue to very great advantage. He is spending a larger percentage of it for public health, for charity, for corrections, pensions, agriculture, conservation than most of the states of the Northwest and the results that she is achieving in these directions clearly justify these expenditures. But Montana is spending 6 per cent less on the average for higher education than seven of the surrounding states and yet the people of the state apparently have great faith in and respect for public education, as is shown by the fact that the enrollment in Montana's public high schools per 1,000 is 15 per cent above the average of the twelve states of the Rocky Mountain region. It is well to remember that the enrollment in higher educational institutions of learning ordinarily varies directly with the enrollment in the public schools. This accounts partly for the fact that the number of students attending higher institutions of learning in Montana is proportionately appreciably higher than in most of the surrounding states. And yet the cost per capita of population is 71 per cent less on the average in Montana than it is in these states.

"When one considers the growth of the University of Montana, the increasing demands that are made upon it for types of service, and the

Palms and Cocoanuts Used in Basketball

Guam, Sept. 27.—(IP)—The natives of Guam are taking with enthusiasm to the recently introduced game of basketball, an enthusiasm rivaling that shown for baseball when the game was first brought to the island by Americans.

There are five American and two native basketball teams here.

Among the Chamorro children the craze is spreading rapidly. Many of them, for lack of the necessary equipment, use abent bamboo strip nailed to a coco palm for a wicker and a ripe cocoanut for a ball.

standing which the institution clearly wishes and deserves among the sisterhood of American universities, and when one at the same time takes into consideration the ability of the state to provide additional funds for the maintenance and operation of the institution, it becomes perfectly clear if he gives due weight and consideration to all of the facts which have been obtained by this survey that additional support must ultimately be provided for the institution. Otherwise Montana cannot provide the facilities for work in agriculture, in mining, in all of the arts and sciences, which are so necessary for the welfare of the state."

Night football is becoming more than a passing fad in Dixie.

William and Mary of Virginia played several games last season at night and found the experience so successful the practice will be continued.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute, of the Southern conference, will be the first team to try it in that organization, the Tigers to play Birmingham-Southern college at Montgomery, Ala., on the night of September 28.

Howard college also is initiating the practice.

Boston, Sept. 27.—(IP)—For the first time since football has been played at Boston university, the team this year will play games on its own gridiron. For 59 years, the teams have been practicing on Boston vacant lots, and have played all regular games on foreign fields.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 27.—(IP)—The first football fatality of the season occurred here when James J. Fenton of Lawrence died after receiving a broken neck while tackling a runner in Holy Cross football practice.

New York, Sept. 27.—(IP)—A three-year course in practical aviation will be offered by the evening engineering division and the extension service at New York university this year.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 27.—(IP)—The Worcestershire, England, Sports Fellowship soccer team, is in this country for a series of games with American teams.

MOST FAMOUS PASS.

The most famous forward pass in the history of American football was made in the game played between California and Ohio State in the fall of 1920. Standing on his own 30-yard line, Harold P. Muller, of the California eleven, threw the pigskin 70 yards to the enemy goal line where Howard W. Stephens picked it from the air for a perfect touchdown.

COLLEGE PRESS PLANS MEETING

Round Table Discussions Will Aid in Solving Student Problems.

The annual meeting of the National College Press association has been set for November 16 and 17 at Purdue university, West Lafayette, Ind.

The editors and business managers of all college newspapers, whether members of the association or not, are invited to be present at the meeting which will open Friday morning and close in time for a football game Saturday afternoon.

The program will include speeches by men nationally known in the newspaper field, round-table discussion of the college newspapers, presentation of papers by college editors on college journalistic questions of the day, a banquet, entertainment and a football game.

At that time, also, plans will be perfected for a closer national organization and means of rendering greater service to members and to institution of college journalism itself.

A period will be included in the program at which editors and business managers can bring up their specific problems for discussion. As the large group in attendance will make it practically impossible to consider all the problems of the editors and business managers, a schedule of the ones important to the largest number will be worked out.

In order to determine the relative importance of problems, the editor and business manager of each publication is requested to send the Executive Secretary the list of points he would like discussed. From the answers received, the convention committee will select those of interest to the largest number and they will be included in the program. An editor or business manager of a college paper particularly familiar with the subject will be asked to prepare a paper on the subject and present it to start the discussion moving.

Separate conferences of the editors and business managers will be held for two phases of the work. A record will be kept and the discussion summarized and sent to the delegates after the convention.

PEKING SCHOOLS MAY NOT OPEN; LACK OF FUNDS

Peking, Sept. 27.—(IP)—Schools and universities in this city may not be able to open their doors to students on October 1 as scheduled, because there is no money on hand with which to pay for fuel and janitors, much less teachers and professors.

The Nanking Ministry of Education is receiving blame for the situation, because certain specified funds long used for schools and colleges are being held up, or else are being diverted to unknown uses. Specific charges are that the Nanking authorities have taken and retained the special one-tenth of the Hatamen Octroi tax, a levy which for years has gone to pay the salaries of teachers in the Peking primary schools, and that moreover they have sequestered the $150,000 a month of the returned Russian Boxer Indemnity funds—payments which under China's agreement with M. Karakhan, when he was Russian ambassador here, were always to be used only for the support of the nine government universities in Peking.

Indians Will Vote At Next Election

Washington, D. C.—All native born American Indians are now citizens of the United States and have the right to vote as such, that right being subject to and sometimes limited by the laws of the several states, according to a statement from the Department of the Interior.

Up until 1924 citizenship was not granted an Indian until he was considered competent or, in other words, when he was able to handle his own affairs. In that year Congress passed a law which gave citizenship to all native born Indians. The franchise was so newly granted that no great use was made of it in the election of 1924. The election this year is the first general election

GRID SEASON NOW IN SWING

Upsets of 1927 Season Prevents Forecasts for 1928.

(By Intercollegiate Press)
With the football season well under way, the eyes of the world are turned on those teams which rated as the best in the country during the 1927 season—a season during which the national collegiate game was more popular, and probably more interesting than ever before in the history of the gridiron.

After the upsets of the 1927 season, only the most daring of dopesters are pretending to know who the champions will be in 1928. In fact, 1927 had no single champion of the nation, as has so often been the case.

With little doubt, four teams took the highest and almost equal honors last year. They were Georgia, Yale, Pittsburgh, and the Army. When December 3 dawned, Georgia had nine decisive victories to her credit, Yale and Alabama being two mighty machines which had fallen before them. When the day was over, Georgia had lost to her ancient rivals, Georgia Tech, 12 to 0. Probably the outstanding feat of the season was Georgia's 20 to 6 victory over Alabama, traditional champion of the Southern Conferences.

The 14 to 10 defeat at the hands of Georgia was the only mar on the Yale record. Included in her victories were games with Dartmouth, the Army, Harvard and Princeton. Pittsburgh lost only one game—at which American Indians will have a fair chance at the exercise of the franchise.

There are about 340,000 Indians in the United States. They are members of 193 tribes and live in every state. Their numbers are greatest in Oklahoma, second greatest in Arizona, third greatest in South Dakota.

that to Stanford in a post-season encounter. She tied with Washington-Jefferson, 0 to 0, and won eight games with magnificent scores.

Yale administered the only trimming to the Army, the latter having made history by defeating both the Navy and Notre Dame in one season. Nine games were won.

The other teams of the country last year finished in about four classes as follows:

1. Notre Dame, Minnesota, Dartmouth, Illinois, Princeton, Southern California, Stanford, Georgia Tech., and Washington & Jefferson.
2. Missouri, Texas Aggie, Michigan, Nebraska, New York U., Colorado Aggies, Washington, and California.
3. Penn State, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Georgetown, Alabama, and Tufts.
4. Navy, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Ohio State, Chicago, Purdue, Syracuse, Furman, Southern Methodist, Idaho, and Kansas.

Practice games for the most part make up the football schedule for the coming week-end throughout the country. Following are a number of the more important western teams playing Saturday:

- California-Santa Clara.
- Idaho-Montana State.
- Montana-Butte Independents.
- Texas-St. Edward.
- Texas Aggies-Southern Western.
- U. of Calif. Southern Branch-Arizona.

Who is the originator of our national institution, the modern flapper?

The chemist.

The flapper came into her destined flapperdom because the chemist found he could clothe her from head to foot in the equivalent of the best finery—silks, satins and whatnot—all of "synthetic" design.

This secret was disclosed at the annual convention of the American Chemical society here.

So, that settles the flapper question!

COACH STEWART CALLS TRACK-BASKETBALL MEN

Coach Jim Stewart has issued a call for Varsity basketball and track men to turn out for fall practice. Previously, fall track work has been confined to cross-country, while there has been little of the hoop sport until after the football season.

Basketball men have been asked to turn out for practice October 16 for light work. This squad will be made up of men from last year's Varsity squad in addition to members of the last freshmen team who show possibilities. Others eligible for the team and who wish to go out for basketball have been asked to sign up at the men's gymnasium.

Montana has been handicapped seriously in track competition with other coast schools by the customary late spring. Stewart hopes to overcome this to some extent by drilling his men in the fall on form and endurance. If possible a hand-cup meet will be held later in the season for these men.

TRI-COLOR PIGSKIN SPECIALISTS SHOW GOOD FORM ON DORNBLASER

Varsity Team Expected To Be One of Best Grizzly Gridders.

Since the middle of September Dornblaser field has been a scene of struggle between men of almost equal weight and brains, for positions on what is expected to be one of Montana's greatest football teams. Surely it is one that will be much better than the representative teams of the past three or four years.

Certain it is that prospects appear brighter than they have for many years. A stalwart line composed of huskies the like of which has never been seen before under the Copper, Silver and Gold will compose Major Milburn's forward wall. A backfield practically intact from last year with the addition of two exceptional backs from the freshman team headed by Captain Eddie Chinske, clever quarterback will comprise the backfield. As capable a lot of substitutes as Montana has had for years will enable Major Milburn, for the first time during his career at the University, to substitute for tired and injured players men little different in caliber than the members of the first team.

There is only one thing, other than injuries, that might cause an upset in the hope that this year's team is to be the best of many past years. Many of the members of the team will be sophomore athletes facing conference competition for the first time. These newcomers have words of power, weight and speed but lack experience. On them rests the balance of power. How they react to conference football will determine Montana's status as a winning or a losing team. This will be the third year that Grizzly football teams have been under the tutelage of Major F. Milburn. Using a system radically different from that of his predecessors the coach was handicapped the greater part of his first and second years through time used in teaching the men to adapt themselves to his style of play. This year the players should be able to swing directly into the finer points of the game without using time in learning fundamentals.

More than two score players have notified the coach that they expect to be in Missoula for the first practice session in the middle of September. Major Milburn has kept in communication with the squad throughout the summer and states that most of the boys are doing hard physical work and that they will come back to the University well fit for the hard schedule that has been arranged for this fall. The work members of the team are doing ranges from "gypping" in the lumber camps by Mulick, Walker, Harmon and Vierns to working on a dude ranch by Carpenter and Lyons. Captain Eddie Chinske has spent the summer in Missoula playing baseball in the Garden City league. Lewis and Peterson have attended summer school. Others are scattered over many states with Jack Currie, a member of last year's freshman squad, located at Hilo, Hawaii.

Of the men returning there will be the following letter men: Reid Harmon, Eddie Chinske, Tom Davis, Lloyd Callison, James Morrow, Donald Foss, James Clark, Ted Mellinger, Effie Percy, Robert Tiernan, William DeZell and Gordon Ronglien. James Parmelee and Marshall Murray are both eligible for next year and may return to school. Others on the squad last year who may be expected to show some ability this year are Kermit Ekegren, Quenton Eegren, Carl Ross, John Keyes, Miles Smith, Kenneth Downs, Jerry Ryan, Frank Spencer, Mel Blackford, Frank Tierney, George Schotte, Frank Golob, Jack Daugherty, Sid Stewart, Russell Smith, Jack Currie, James Gillan and Frank Trippet, Rule, Scoop Luke, Beeman, Haney from the School of Mines, Butte, and Frank Tenney.

Although no California trip has been arranged this year, the schedule calls for an unusual number of hard games and provides few breathing spells from the initial contest until the final game at Spokane with Gonzaga on Turkey day. Probably the most interesting game for the Montana fans will be the game between the Bobcats and Grizzlies in Butte on October 27. Montana State expects to have 13 of their letter men of last year back in uniform this fall. They lose such stars as Wilson, Olsen, Arlo, Babcock, and possibly Dobeons, but expect to more than offset the loss with the addition of such freshmen stars as Worden, Kleffman, DeFrate, Worthington, Hawkins, Howell, Lanham, West, Wheat and a number of other high school men.

ROCKEFELLER BECOMES ASSOCIATION DIRECTOR

HARRY ADAMS ISSUES CALL FOR FROSH PLAYERS

Athletes of All Sizes Offer Material For Coaches.

Freshman Coach Harry Adams issued a call for yearling football players Wednesday and received a flood of embryo varsity stars for his efforts. Over 60 athletes reported the first day for equipment and went through a light workout. Adams will not be in a position to start serious practice before next Monday because of the attention registration week requires of these men.

These athletes are of all sizes and descriptions. There are quarterbacks who tilt but little more than 130 pounds and linemen in the neighborhood of 215 pounds on the hoof. Then there are a couple of tackles who have trouble topping 140.

An election for captain was held, with 62 votes being cast. H. Murray and H. Babcock each drew 31 votes and as a result will pilot the team jointly. Murray as a big tackle who played well with Missoula, while Babcock is known around Miles City as a fullback of renown.

FRANK W. MILBURN WILL DIRECT GRIZZLY TEAM

Montana University is fortunate in again having Major Frank W. Milburn as head football coach. Milburn is starting his third season here this fall.

Milburn came to Montana from Fort Benning, Ga., where he was athletic director. In his cadet days at the United States Military academy he was a star athlete, playing halfback on the football team in 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913 and was catcher on the baseball team for four years.

The major not only coaches football, but has charge of baseball and is commandant of the R. O. T. C. here at the University.

CANADIAN PARKS TOUR TAKEN BY MONTANAN PARTY

GREATEST ARTISTIC ERA FORSEEN BY PROFESSOR

Play and Art Necessary in Complex Civilization.

The greatest artistic era in the history of the United States is not far off, according to Professor De Witt Henry Parker, of the University of Michigan. He says:

"History shows that periods of high artistic activity usually coincide with epochs of political and commercial pre-eminence, and into the latter we have already come.

"For better or for worse we have left the day of the 'whole man' behind. The problems of life have become so difficult and so numerous that in order to meet them each man must apply his whole nature to a single one of them, at the cost of integrity of personality. Losing the 'wholeness' which is so characteristic of beauty, and being only fractions of our possible selves, we are loaded with longings and repressions and disfigured with strange inequalities of character.

"Mechanism will go on its unrepentant way, but play and art will bring us the freedom which we lack. There is a child within us that protests against clock-driven regiment. Play and art furnish a solution, give us back our wholeness. Play is the antibody produced by our 'diseased' civilization.

"The harmony which we achieve through play is accomplished by an exclusion of worry and work. The harmony of art is one of inclusion, in which the whole resources of our personalities are called into action. But while in forms of play and sport it is conceded that America stands the peer of any nation on earth, in art, if we take the sweep of the last hundred years, she has not matched the most artistically gifted nations of Europe.

"We are now fast building a tradition and a culture of our own. The mechanical nature of our civilization has created a need for art. And that secure hold on economic wealth so necessary for artistic culture has been won. Need and opportunity will combine to make the future of art in America immense."

BABYLON USED FEUDAL SYSTEM

In Some Respects Was of Higher Type Than England's.

The fact that pre-Christian Babylonia existed under the feudal system similar to that of Europe and particularly of England as late as the Seventeenth century, has been established by an accidental discovery of a hitherto unstudied clay tablet in the University of California Museum of Anthropology.

Feudal lords held sway over vast domains of land under such famous kings as Artaxerxes I, Darius I (the Persian) and Artaxerxes II, paying taxes of flour, beer, dates, meat or their monetary equivalent and collecting taxes in turn from their knights and other landlords.

The feudal system was, in some respects, higher in type than that of England several centuries later, for the roads were in good enough condition to make the collection of taxes possible, thus obviating the necessity of farming out taxes as did early English kings with their traveling courts.

Basis for this picture of Babylonia in the Fifth century B. C. is contained in one inscribed clay tablet which has been translated by Dr. H. F. Lutz, associate professor of Egyptology and Assyriology, after having been overlooked for about twenty years, since its presentation by Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, friend of the university.

The tablet in question is a contract between a Babylonian knight and his feudal lord, one of the grandsons of the house of Marushu, providing for the lease of a tract of land in return for military service and taxes.

Professor Lutz explains that the archives of the house of Marushu are well known by scholars and that some 730 inscribed clay tablets now in museums of Constantinople and America have been found during the past 30 years in the ruins of the Babylonian city of Nippur. But always the spirit of these tablets has been misinterpreted. He states, scholars inclining to the belief that they represent the transactions of an ancient banking house—a forgotten House of Morgan or Rothschild.

The new tablet, however, with its unmistakable proof of a feudal system, has thrown a new light on all those old documents and Professor Lutz says that reinterpreted with this romantic system in mind their meaning becomes more clear.

The tablet itself is about four by five inches in area, and an inch thick, closely inscribed with cuneiform letters on both sides and all the edges. By its testimony a certain emite gentleman pledged his hand and sword to defend his lord and the king in exchange for a fief of land that had been titled by his grandfather before him. In witness thereof he impressed the seal of his ring beside that of the lord, in the presence of three witnesses who also stamped their ring signatures on the tablet.

placed in the family archives at Nippur, and 3,000 years later it was uncovered by some specimen hunter and later purchased by Mrs. Hearst. Whether the emite gentleman died for his king, or lived to govern his fief for many years, the records do not show.

Professor Lutz points out that this chance discovery is but one example of the many startling facts still to be learned about ancient Babylonia.

NEW CAMPUS SORORITY SELECTS CHAPTER HOME

Members of Zeta Chi, local sorority, have taken a residence at 658 Beckwith avenue, one block from the University campus.

Zeta Chi began its career on the Montana campus last spring, when its petition for its establishment was granted by the dean's conference. The twelve names appearing on the petition were Eleanor Hull, Adeline Platt, Edna May Crawford, Dorothy Skeels, Mary Kinniburgh, Anne Forder, Isabel Healy, Esther Edwards, Rita Black, Harriet Louther, Irva Love and Thelma Brown.

The newest sorority is the tenth organization to be launched at Montana and it is at present the only local sorority. Phi Beta, the last local to be established, secured its charter from Delta Delta Delta two years ago this fall.

Zeta Chi does not feel that it has been organized long enough and securely enough to rush during Freshman week. However, they do consider rushing during the school term.

The new organization expects 10 or 12 girls to live in the house this year.

VETERAN DEBATERS SECURE CHARTER

Carl McFarland Chosen President Of Local Delta Sigma Rho.

A small group of veteran debaters petitioned Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary debating fraternity, this year, and they have been granted a charter. Delta Sigma Rho has permitted the organization of chapters in only those colleges of recognized standing in debate, and it is a distinct gain for debating activities that Montana State University has secured a chapter. Membership is elective but each candidate must have participated in at least two intercollegiate debates. Carl McFarland is president of the Montana unit.
