ALTERNATIVE SPRING BREAK TRIPS AVAILABLE

MISSOULA —

Each spring, The University of Montana Office for Civic Engagement offers an Alternative Break program to encourage students to learn about social, economic or environmental issues faced by communities around the nation.

This year three trips are available that offer a great way to see different parts of the country while performing meaningful service. A one-credit seminar option related to the trips also is available.

During a trip to Moab, Utah, students will help with plateau restoration. Students also can choose to travel to Portland, Ore., to work with hunger and homelessness issues or head to Lame Deer to work with American Indian youth.

Students must apply by Monday, March 2.

For more information, call John Parente at 243-5531, e-mail
