PHYSICAL THERAPY CLINIC OFFERS FREE BIKE FITTING

MISSOULA –

Physical therapy students and faculty will provide free bicycle fittings for community members on Wednesday, Oct. 14, at The University of Montana.

The public is invited to bring their bikes between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. to the patio above Urey Lecture Hall or, in case of inclement weather, the Skaggs Building lobby.

The event is hosted by the UM Sports and Orthopedic Physical Therapy Clinic. Physical therapy students will measure bikes and their riders for adjustments that will make biking more comfortable and efficient.

For more information, call the clinic at 406-243-4006.
