MISSOULA--

The University of Montana Cubs, owners of a nine game winning streak, will complete their 1971-72 basketball season with a Saturday contest in Spokane against the Whitworth frosh and a Tuesday clash with the Carroll College JV in Helena.

All five starters scored in double figures last Saturday night as the Cubs ran their season record to 15-1 with an impressive 90-79 lashing of North Idaho JC.

Tom Peck, who is on a scoring surge of late, paced the Cub attack with 31 big points. Peck, a native of Libby, has averaged over 23 points per game in the Cubs last three contests and has raised his season average to 13.4.

Larry Smedley is the leading point producer for the season with 19.8 points per outing. Ken McKenzie is averaging 15.9.

Saturday night's battle with Whitworth's freshmen will be the second meeting of the two teams. The Cubs won the previous game 85-75 in Missoula. As of last weekend Whitworth boasted a 10-3 win-loss mark and were on a six game win streak. During the streak they averaged 99 points and limited their opponents to an average output of 64.5 points.

Carroll's JV have dropped two decisions to the Cubs, both at Harry Adams Field House, 72-51 and 89-76. Reserves saw considerable action for the Cubs in both games.

Saturday night's game will serve as the preliminary to the Whitworth-St. Martins contest. Tuesday night the Cub game will precede the Carroll-Eastern Montana College Frontier Conference battle.
