From the
SENIOR BENCH

FINAL examination schedules are posted again. It doesn't seem right, but the calendar affirms the fact that the quarter is nearly over, and it is really time to contemplate the mid-night hours of pre-examination. We don't like to think of it, not because we dread the examinations so much, as because it signifies the end of our last winter quarter. We know that people usually think we are crazy when we say so—but we rather enjoy examination week. There is a tension in the air that acts as a stimulant in itself. There is a sort of Bohemianism, in the best Greenwich Village sense of the word, about living, eating and sleeping during those four days. Then there is the opportunity, after it is all over, to sleep for one gloriously lazy week-end. If it weren't for the feeling of finality that oppresses us, we'd be glad that it was time for another ending and another beginning.

THE reconstruction workers on the State University campus have been doing a good deal of work lately. We have watched the smoothing-out of the field north of the Library, and the slow growth of the rock wall east and south of Dornblaser field. We were glad to see both improvements. But the other day we noticed workmen attacking a large boulder in the vacant field west of the Music Practice house. It was a really good-sized boulder, standing hump-shouldered in the field. It was not any more extraordinary than any other boulder on the campus, but we have always liked it. It was not in anyone's way, and it looked so relaxed and permanent. It was restful to look at it. Now the workmen are breaking it into insignificant chunks to add to the rock wall. Some people never know where to stop, when they start cleaning up.

WHILE the National Council of Teachers of English is in the business, we wish they would add a few words and definitions to the language. We feel that they could materially assist the art of verbal expression, if they would. So many English words aren't at all logical. Take such words as "author" or "parody". If an author is one who writes, shouldn't "authorize" be the act of writing? And if a parody is a burlesque on a noted work of writing, shouldn't the act of writing the burlesque be termed "parodizing"? And another thing: We wish the council would let us spell "surprise" with a "z". It is so much more surprising.

IT ALWAYS slightly surprises us when someone reads this column, but every once in a while we have proof that we haven't written our paragraphs for the mere pleasure of typewriting. Masquers have objected to a comment made in a recent issue, wherein we suggested that an American play might be an interesting experiment. Evidently we made our paragraph more critical than we intended. We did not plan to run down the English accent—it was well enough done. But we do get tired of it. We object to Bond street speech in a gangster movie, too. "The Hairy Ape" was not considered a major production at the time of its presentation, and we were referring only to major productions, although, when we stop to think about it, comparatively few of the recent one-act plays were American either. As to our criticism, let us quote from our former paragraph: "We are not rabidly American and we have enjoyed most of the Masquers' plays." Our objection has been in the over-emphasis of foreign productions. Anyway, we were glad to get an explanation for the seeming bias toward foreign playwrights.

SEVEN VODVIL ACTS FEATURE COLLEGIATE PRODUCTION TONIGHT

Annual Varsity Presentation Will Have Shows at 7 and 9 o'clock
At Fox-Wilma; Dress Rehearsals Held This Afternoon;
Winners Will Receive Trophies

Varsity Vodvil will be presented at two shows at 7 and 9 o'clock in the Fox-Wilma theater tonight with approximately two hundred people in the casts of the various acts. Dress rehearsal was held this afternoon for Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha Theta, Phi Sigma Kappa, Kappa Kappa Gamma and the Independent men, groups who are entered in the production.

These groups have been rehearsing in the Fox-Wilma, Little Theatre and Main Hall auditorium for the past two weeks and the dress rehearsal was a culmination to these practices and gave the acts a chance to rehearse in costume and with the lighting effects that will be used tonight.

Each group entering the Varsity Vodvil finals is allotted $25 for the presentation of its act and the two winners receive an additional $25. The men's and women's acts that are adjudged the best by the judges will receive silver loving cups at the end of the second show.

Ticket sales for the production started at the Fox-Wilma box office on Wednesday. Richard Schneider, manager of this year's show, said, "The seat sale has been very satisfactory but there are still a number of good seats available for both shows and I want to urge all those who have not yet obtained tickets to do so as soon as possible."

Richard Shaw is the stage manager for the show. Mercedes Sprague is managing the ticket sales. Frank Lanzendorfer is in charge of general details and Tom Coleman, assisted by Stanley Hill, is handling the publicity. The order of the acts and their casts are as follows:

Phi Delta Theta

War Debts Is Subject For Debate

Billings Polytech Women's Team
Will Meet State University
Squad This Afternoon

The Eastern Montana Normal women's debate team of Billings, will meet the State University women's team at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Main Hall auditorium. Dorothy Leonard and Ellnor Shields, upholding the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That the United States Should Agree to Cancel All War Debts," will represent the State University team. Debaters of the Eastern Montana Normal are not yet known. They will be accompanied by their coach, John L. Hawkes.

The women's debate team won a two-to-one decision last week when they debated against the women's team of Dillon State Normal. Definite dates are being set for debates with other Montana schools, Darrell R. Parker, debate coach announced today.

The freshman boy's team from Bozeman will challenge the freshman girl's team here Monday evening at 8 o'clock at Main Hall auditorium. The affirmative side of the war debt question will be debated by Letitia Kleinhans and Ruth Freed. Jesse W. Bunch, coach of the freshman debate team, stated that this was the first time that boy's and girl's team have met in a debate on this campus.

Ed Cook Is Named Principal For Annapolis Appointment

Edward G. Cook was the recipient of a telegram Saturday from the late Senator T. J. Walsh notifying him that he had placed high in the state competitive examination for entrance to the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, and that he would receive the appointment as Walsh's principal.

More than seventy-five men representing 12 cities in the state took the examination. The qualifying examination was given due to a vacancy through resignation by an appointee.

Cook is enrolled as a freshman at the State University. He is the son of Prof. and Mrs. I. W. Cook.

DOCTORATE IS PROMISED

Eleanor Siskels, who instructed in the Department of English during the sabbatical leave of E. L. Freeman in 1929-30, has recently published her doctorate, "The Melancholy Egoists," a study of early romantic poets. Miss Siskels is in New York at the present time and is working on a new book entitled "Child History of America."

Swearingen Gives Views On Aber Day

Declares Tradition Was Abandoned
Only Because of Lack Of Support

"In all the communications which have been sent in the Kaimin and in general campus comment it seems to me that students have failed to take into consideration the fact that Aber Day was discontinued only because of lack of student support," T. G. Swearingen, maintenance department engineer, said yesterday in discussing the elimination of the traditional holiday.

"For many years of its history, Aber Day was held with fine co-operation among the students, but the more recent observances have been lacking in this element," he added. "A better understanding between the managers and the student workers is one phase which would increase the effectiveness of the day as a whole. The managers chosen should have the respect of the students and should conduct themselves in such a manner that the respect will be deserved. No one can blame the students for unwillingness to work when the persons who are acting in the role of bosses are arrogant and not deserving of co-operation."

Assignment of Work

According to Mr. Swearingen, the best results would probably be obtained if duties were assigned to students as formerly, but if they proved to be jobs which were not to the taste of the student an opportunity would be given for transfer to some other type of work. There must be an understanding as to the amount of work expected and its exact nature and above all the students must have plenty of fun thrown in with the work as an incentive. Recalling May day carnival, a holiday of by-gone years, Mr. Swearingen said that it was the practice at that time to hold a dance on the night previous to the carnival and get the event off to a good start. Application of this principle to Aber Day and injection of more certainty of procedure and more entertainment would have a beneficial effect, Mr. Swearingen believes.

Principle Is Sound

"I would like to believe that the lack of interest on the part of students has not been caused by too much oversight of the students on my part," Mr. Swearingen said. "The principle of Aber Day is a good one and I sincerely hope to see some constructive suggestions come from the recent discussions."

"It remains for the students to get together in support of the tradition, and in exchange for the good time afforded them through the efforts of the University, to give a good day's work," Mr. Swearingen concluded.

M Club Dance Will Be Held Tomorrow Night

Annual Affair Will Raise Funds for Athletic Tournament; Music
By Seven Piece Orchestra

State University athletes will play host to the students tomorrow evening when the M club holds its annual dance at the men's gymnasium. Admission for the men will be 40 cents, and co-eds will be admitted free.

August Botzenhardt, president of the club, has promised that everyone who attends the dance "will have a time they will never forget." The club has urged every man to come whether he has a date or not, because there will be more than enough co-eds to dance with.

The dance is an annual affair, being held every year prior to the M club tournament. The funds from the dance are used to stage the tournament, and to provide entertainment for the fight fans.

A seven-piece orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. Chaperons for the affair will be Coach and Mrs. B. F. Oakes, Prof. and Mrs. C. W. Waters, Dean and Mrs. R. C. Line, Prof. and Mrs. Darrell Parker, Prof. and Mrs. Andrew Cogswell and Prof. and Mrs. R. L. Housman.

Bob Nelson was confined to the South hall infirmary for a few days during the past week.

Grace S. Coates Will Be Speaker At Matrix Table

Outstanding Campus Women Will Be
Guests at Annual Function
Of Theta Sigma Phi

Theta Sigma Phi, women's national honorary and professional journalism fraternity, will have Mrs. Grace Stone Coates as guest speaker at their Matrix Honor Table, April 4.

Mrs. Coates is well known in Missoula for her numerous short stories and poems. She is associate editor of the Frontier and has published several books. Among her other works, Mrs. Coates has written historical articles for syndicated country papers throughout the state.

Letters were sent to 28 different women's organizations on the campus asking them to select two outstanding women of their groups to receive invitations to the Table.

As soon as answers to all the letters are received, invitations will be sent out to those selected.

Lower Rates Are Secured For Contest

Railroads Again Permit Montanans
To Attend Interscholastic
On Special Fares

Announcement that the Milwaukee and Northern Pacific railways will offer special round-trip rates to the Interscholastic meet at the State University in May was made Wednesday. According to Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of the interscholastic committee, the rates will mean a saving of approximately seven hundred and fifty dollars to the committee.

The railway companies agreed to make a one-way fare rate plus 25 cents for the round trip from all points in Montana to Missoula from May 8 to 11, with a return limit of May 16. Last year the railroads offered rates to the Interscholastic meet for the first time as an experiment and with the understanding that they would not be obligated to do this every year. The first application which was presented to the Chicago Passenger Agents' association by Dr. Rowe this spring was rejected, but the Milwaukee and Northern Pacific have taken action to have the rate adopted since that time.

"We have made excellent progress in many ways towards assuring the financial success of the meet, which will be held May 10, 11 and 12," said Dr. Rowe. "The student body is circulating petitions to determine the number of students who will be willing to pay for tickets to the meet at the same time that they pay their regular fees to the University for the spring quarter. Several other agencies have responded favorably."

Many of the athletic stars who have attended the State University have come here through their association with the school in the interscholastic meets. Last year 86 high schools with approximately two hundred contestants participated in the meet. Thirty-seven of the 86 competing schools scored points in the meet.

Eva Lesell Will Be Play Day Manager

Three Other Women Are Chosen as Committee Heads

Managers of women's sports for spring quarter this year will include Carol Wells, who is in charge of tennis, and Virginia Bode, who is in charge of golf. Louise Geyer is in charge of the committee for the selection of trophies. It is planned to have the trophies on display in the women's gymnasium during spring quarter if it is possible.

Eva Lesell, Belt, will handle arrangements for the annual play day for high school girls in the Bitter Root valley, and other schools near Missoula. No date has been set for the event, since it will have to be planned in accordance with those of the valley schools for their annual tennis meet. Representatives of the various schools are guests of the Women's Athletic association on a Saturday during the early part of spring quarter. The date will be arranged to the advantage of the schools who will be invited to attend.

MONTANA SHOCKED BY SUDDEN DEATH OF SENATOR WALSH

Friends and Acquaintances on University Campus Recall Qualities
That Gained for Him Reputation as State's Most Prominent Figure in National Politics

Sen. Thomas J. Walsh, for twenty years an outstanding figure in the senate and named to be attorney-general in the cabinet of President-elect Roosevelt, died early Thursday morning aboard a train en route from Florida to Washington. Heart failure was understood to be the cause of his death. Mrs. Walsh, his bride of a week, was with him at the time. Senator Walsh was 73 years old.

THOMAS J. WALSH
of Montana

The death of Montana's senior senator yesterday while en route to attend the inaugural ceremonies came as a distinct shock to the state and to the nation. Recognized as perhaps the strongest figure in the cabinet of the new administration, the absence of Senator Walsh will be keenly felt by the leaders of the nation.

Thirteenth Annual Joyce Memorial Contest Opened

Student Short Story Writers Will Compete for Prize; April 17
Set as Closing Date

Announcement of the thirteenth annual Annie Lewis Joyce Memorial prize contest was made yesterday by H. G. Merriam, chairman of the Department of English. The proceeds of the Joyce endowment of $200 are to be bestowed in the form of a medal or otherwise, at the option of the winner. The second prize will be a copy of Vardis Fisher's "In Tragic Life" and the winner of the third prize will receive a year's subscription to The Frontier. The 1932-33 prize will be awarded the best short story written by an undergraduate.

April 17 has been set for the closing date. Mr. Merriam announced. Judges selected for the contest are: Horace B. Chadbourne, Lake McDonald, Glacier park; Mrs. Grace Stone Coates, Martinsdale, Mont.; Miss Marjorie Shane, graduate assistant in the Department of English, and R. L. Housman, professor in the School of Journalism.

Three typewritten copies of the manuscript are to be left with the chairman of the Department of English on or before Monday, April 17. Each manuscript must bear an assumed name, the writer's real name being enclosed in an envelope bearing the assumed name.

The 1932 prize was awarded to Richard Lake with his story, "The Yearling." Second prize was won by Cornelia Klittke, and Henry Larom and Harold Veeder tied for third place. Names of winners and their stories may be found in the back files of The Frontier.

ERKKILA GETS PROMOTION

Ernest Erkkila, a graduate in the Department of English in 1927, who has been teaching in the College of New York City for the past two years, has been advanced from the teaching of freshman composition to that of nineteenth century prose and English courses for sophomore and junior students. Erkkila also has completed the editing of several biographies for the American Autobiographical Encyclopedia.

Upon learning of the death of Senator Walsh, Pres. C. H. Clapp yesterday morning expressed deep regret at the death of Montana's most prominent political figure.

"It is a great loss to the state. He has always been a real power for the good of Montana and of the nation as a whole. I have always admired his courage and his ability. I have known Senator Walsh since I first came to the state, and I have had a number of dealings with him regarding our mineral resources and the public land question," Dr. Clapp stated.

Knew State Thoroughly

Dean A. L. Stone of the School of Journalism first became acquainted with the late Senator during the capital fight in 1894. Although they were on opposite sides they did, at that time, form a friendship that has always lasted.

"I think his service in the senate, while it has sometimes been criticized as not so directly for Montana as it might have been, did put Montana on the map more favorably and more conspicuously than ever before. No one knew the state more thoroughly than he, and no senator could have devoted more time and effort to individuals asking his assistance than did Senator Walsh. I have always had the highest respect for his intellect and cleanness of life," said Dean Stone.

Montana's Greatest Man

Having been closely associated with Senator Walsh during two political campaigns, and through party circles, Walter L. Pope, professor of law, was visibly shocked at the news of the death of Montana's senior senator. "I believe Senator Walsh was the ablest man in the newly-organized cabinet. At this time he would have been of particular value to the nation. As he was regarded as being incorruptible by all factions, and as he was known to have high standards of public conduct, I believe he was drafted from the senate to lead a crusade to clean up American business, one of the roots of our present evils. He is the greatest man Montana has ever produced, in any field," said Mr. Pope.

Held in High Regard

Mrs. Harriet Rankin Sedman, dean of women, a resident in the nation's capital from 1918 to 1921, and for many years a friend of Senator Walsh's, said: "I have always had a very high regard for Senator Walsh as a statesman. Montana has been particularly fortunate in having such a splendid representative for so many years. One of his finest characteristics was his loyalty to his friends and to his state. While residing in Washington, I became particularly impressed by the high regard and esteem with which Senator Walsh was held by all factions and parties."

Dean C. E. Mollett of the School of Pharmacy, said: "The University has lost one of its staunchest friends and supporters. I have had a number of occasions to write to Senator Walsh regarding the Pure Food and Drug act, the Harrison Narcotic act and more recently, the establishment of a separate pharmaceutical corps in the United States Army and Navy. He was always courteous and prompt in his replies and generous in his support. I consider his death a great loss to the state."

Born in Wisconsin

Senator Walsh was born in Two Rivers, Wis., of parents who had immigrated from Ireland. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin law school at the age of 25. At the age of 31, he came to Helena and began to practice law.

In 1906 he unsuccessfully ran for congress. In 1912 he was elected to the United States Senate and has continued an unbroken line of service (Continued on Page Four)

Campus Comment

Editor of the Kaimin:

Dear Sir: The Montana Masquers wish to protest against the most unfair criticism by Senior Bench last week of our selection of plays and our "English" accent.

Could the columnist have meant to include "The Hairy Ape" in his statement that for two years the Masquers have not put on a single American play? Somehow we had the idea that Eugene O'Neill was quite decidedly American. And of all the things we've heard it called, we haven't before heard the speech of Yank and his mates designated as English accent.

Selection of a play is a very difficult and complicated process, with many different factors to be taken into consideration. If the columnist were to investigate, he would find that, in the first place, the number of good American plays that offer amateur production rights is not large, and that, in the second place, our limitations in stage equipment, actors, etc., often eliminate the greater percent of these, so that at times it is absolutely necessary to draw from foreign sources. Why a clever Italian, Irish, English, or French play should not be just as entertaining and just as interesting as an American play, we are at a loss to understand.

And then our "English" accent! The Montana Masquers have never attempted to acquire an English accent for any play. Such an undertaking would be a sheer impossibility for amateurs in the short time we have in which to prepare a play for presentation and the limited facilities we have for studying the desired accent. In "The Truth About Blazes" we merely attempted, to our shame be it said for practically the first time, to present a very, very few of the rudiments of the ordinary accepted stage speech which moving picture fans hear every time they go to see "a good old American movie." Why are the Masquers criticized for attempting, and we realize it can only be an attempt, to produce as nearly professional a play as is possible with our limited facilities, for this, we understand, was the aim of any group of university actors.

Very truly yours,
ALICE TAYLOR,
President, Montana Masquers.

DISPLAY WILL FEATURE ART WORK OF BARNETT

Senator Wheeler Declines Invitation

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, upon being asked to speak to members of the Spanish club on Pan-American day, April 14, last week sent his regrets to Elsie Emlinger, sponsor of the club. Miss Emlinger still has several other prospective speakers in mind.

An attempt to make Pan-American day a big day on this campus for students of the Spanish language is being made by Miss Emlinger and Spanish club officers. A complete set of flags of the Latin-American countries is being ordered and a medley of all the New World national anthems will be given. A special meeting will be held the last of March to complete plans, select the national anthems and learn to sing them. This is another small phase of the larger attempt to bind the United States and Latin-American countries more closely together.

The Army Forever!

Test Reveals Student Cadets Have Own Ideas of How Army Should Be Run

Information, both interesting and amazing, was revealed by the correction of examination papers in the second-year basic course in the military department recently. This quarter has been spent teaching the sophomore classes the organization of squads, sections, platoons and other divisions for actual war combat and also the specifications of the Browning automatic rifle and the procedure in taking the rifle apart and putting it together.

The automatic rifle is approximately four feet long and weighs 15½ pounds. It is carried by No. 3 man in the rear rank of the regulation eight-man rifle squad. All this information was explained several times to the men and every effort was made to make all details clear. It is little short of miraculous that Major Smith did not go into hysterics when he corrected the examination papers and found the two following statements on them: "The rifle squad is armed with 18 automatic rifles, all carried by No. 3 man, rear rank. Platoon headquarters consists of 126 men." Major Smith was interested in knowing this, as the last information he had stated that a platoon headquarters consisted of 58 men.

A series of "Dawn Dances" was held at the University of Alabama for the benefit of those students who study late. The dances ran from 6 to 8 a.m.

Book Reviews

Recent books placed on the Open Shelf are Clarence Darrow's "Story of My Life," an autobiography of the great criminal lawyer and humanitarian who has upheld many unpopular causes and fought consistently against privilege, injustice and the power of the mob spirit. He describes the great cases in which he has participated and states his opinions without lack of candor on crime and criminals, prohibition, evolution and other subjects.

John Dos Passos' "1919" was awarded by the "Nation" the distinction of being the novel of 1922 which best represents the American scene. It is a chronicle of life in America during the war years giving glimpses of lives of five young Americans. The book, "1919" is literally what so many books are erroneously called "a slice of life."

"American Outpost," is written by Upton Sinclair, who is also the author of "The Brass Check," "The Jungle" and other stories of propaganda. Sinclair, in this autobiography, gives an account of his life and development as a writer and attempts to explain the forces in his environment which have made him such a strange mixture of Puritan and revolutionist.

Charles Morgan's novel "The Fountain," is the story of a British officer interned in Holland for the duration of the war. Here he undertakes to write the story of the surrounding conditions, meanwhile pondering the meaning of existence. Into his life comes Julie, the daughter of his host. It is a strange and moving love story against a strange and unreal setting.

"Profits or Prosperity," by Fairchild, professor of sociology at New York university, deals with private profits and general prosperity. Fairchild states that prosperity can be had only as a result of publicly owned business. It upsets many of these economic principles, so nicely laid down in our old texts. One is surprised to discover how clearly and simply these complex problems can be explained.

BILL TILDEN HEADS EXHIBITION MATCHES OF TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Balance of Troupe Is Composed of Hans Nusslein, J. Emmett Pare and Bruce Barnes; Henry Turner and Bob Davis Act as Referees for Games

Four of the world's premier tennis players, led by "Big Bill" Tilden, the "greatest champion of them all," arrived in Missoula on the North Coast Limited Wednesday for the first showing of championship tennis ever seen at the State University. The players, William T. Tilden, Bruce Barnes, J. Emmett Pare and Hans Nusslein, are members of Tilden Tennis Tour, Inc., a barnstorming troupe of outstanding professionals.

Barnes Wins Match
Nearly six hundred sports addicts cheered Barnes and Pare in a swash-backing hard-driving opening match of the evening. The play was ferocious and the competition keen, but the brilliant returns of Pare's drives, smashes and lobs by the former Texas collegian, carried Barnes to a 8-6 game set which earned the approval of the fans.

In the feature match, Tilden vs. Nusslein, the former world's champion failed to please the audience. The lighting was none too good and the constant moving around of spectators in the line of view of the players, irritated Tilden.

Nusslein Pleases Crowd
Hans Nusslein, the youthful German ruler of the professionals, displayed as perfect a barrage of forehand and backhand flat-racket shots from the back court as will be seen for some time to come. His backhand returns of Tilden's famous cannon-ball service was a wonderful demonstration of stroke perfection. Nusslein is ranked as one of the world's greatest wood court performers and even the great Tilden was unable to match strokes with him Wednesday.

Tilden's drives were a treat. The ease of motion and the sizzling speed behind his powerful wrist action showed the spectators just what was necessary to become a true champion of the game. The power-house serves just clearing the net were difficult to follow and frequently the linesmen called the balls to the seeming discomfort and disapproval of the players, especially Tilden. However, Tilden may be excused; he has been traveling for several months playing match after match without a rest, and the strain showed in his game. His overhand game was a disappointment to many, as he constantly missed shots which should have been easy for him. His back court and net games were at times erratic. Nusslein won 6-2, 6-3.

Doubles Match
Barnes and Pare paired off to play Tilden and Nusslein two of three sets of doubles. The flashy Barnes and Pare took the match, 6-2, 6-3. The service was opened by Barnes, and Tilden failed to break through the game from the net. The entire load was on Nusslein and he carried from the back court on many well-placed drives by Barnes and Pare. The doubles set was marked with flurries, both of long and short volly playing. Several times the games were carried to deuce, but either Barnes or Pare reached a seemingly impossible shot and turned the advantage. Both Barnes and Pare broke to the net at the first opportunity and covered all of the smashes and drives of their opponents. Several high lobs landed on or within a few inches of the back line and it was Pare who came from the net to send well-placed returns back at Tilden.

Henry Turner and Bob Davis called score from the referee's stand. Considering that neither have had the opportunity of previous calling for such high-class players, there were only a few instances when the players showed dissatisfaction, and those instances were excusable.

Tilden carries his personal ball boy along with him. The lad is 16 years old, and has toured several countries with the former champion. He gave a demonstration of ball-hustling which met with considerable approval.

The players left Missoula for Seattle yesterday, where they will give the next exhibition on their schedule. From Seattle they will go to Vancouver, B. C.

DEPUTATION TEAM GOES TO CORVALLIS TONIGHT

The last trip of the quarter will be taken tonight when the deputation team will gather at the Student Store to go to Corvallis. Members of the Fellowship group who will lead the devotional services there are: Joy Browning, Belt; Jose Simangan and Nemesio Borge, P. I.; Mrs. Jesse Bunch, Missoula; Mary Dohi, Glasgow; Margaret Madeen, Hamilton; Harvey Thirloway, Butte, and Dallas Little, Kellogg, Idaho. Rev. Jesse Bunch, student pastor, will accompany the team.

Sporty Vents

Everybody who saw the House of David team romp over the Grizzlies Monday night is wondering what happened to the whiskered gang in Butte Wednesday. The School of Mines beat them 41 to 38 in an exciting game. Members of the Grizzly squad, having played both teams, cannot see where the score could even be close.

Bill Tilden, champion though he may be, is not above receiving the boos of the wolves. The crowd which turned out to see him display his wares Tuesday evening failed to approve of his disposition, greeting his temperamental outbursts with occasional Bronx cheers.

The other members of the troupe, Nusslein, Barnes and Pare, found little fault with the lighting and other details, however, and played up to advance expectations, winning the favor of the crowd.

A couple more basketball games remain on the schedule. Saturday night the Dream squad will play at Polson, the team that lost to the Varsity and won two games from the Cubs.

Emery, Steensland, Hinman, Heller and Rhinehart will start for the Dreamers.

The other game will be a grudge battle between the Journalists and the School of Journalism faculty. The faculty, feeling that they neglected part of their charges' education and caused them to win the cellar championship in the intramural league, are determined to give the boys a lesson in basketball at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. It is expected that the student scribes will lose from force of habit.

Track and baseball athletes are getting restless with the warm weather and are anxious to get outside and begin limbering up for the season which is nearly at hand.

Cale Crowley and Augie Vidro, former M Club champions, have their proteges ready for the tournament which will be held March 8.

Coach Bunny Oakes announced yesterday that there will be no more secret football practice. Practice sessions will be open to students at any time.

Spring football practice was to begin March 6 or 13, but indications are that it cannot start until spring quarter opens. Coach Oakes is anxious to start as early as the weather permits so the training season will be ended in time to let football players engage in track and baseball.

Emmett Pare, one of the brilliant group of tennis professionals appearing with Bill Tilden, was very young when he started to compete in tournaments as an amateur. He knew very little about life and particularly about hotels.

The first time Emmett went out of town to play in a tournament he went to a hotel that was designated as tennis headquarters and asked for a room. The room clerk looked at him skeptically and asked, "Have you got a reservation?" With that the tennis prodigy blew up. "Have I got a reservation?" he shouted back in rage, "what do you think I am—an Indian?"

Next year the first rift between professional and collegiate football will appear, with the pros playing according to one set of rules and the collegians adhering to another set. Unless the boys can get together we may have two national autumn sports instead of one.

New rules adopted by the National Professional Football League, in session at Pittsburgh, provide more leeway for the offense in an effort to increase scoring, the phase of the game which gives the spectator the biggest thrill.

The new rules are:
1. Permission to throw passes from any point behind the line of scrimmage, the passer not being restricted to a point five yards back.
2. Goal posts will be returned to the goal line.
3. Acceptance of the collegiate side-line rule.
4. Rejection of change in clipping penalty.

Andy Kerr, Colgate coach, contrary to generally accepted opinion, says that a good college team could beat any professional team at football. He admits that the professionals are superior to an average college team but fails to see where they are superior to teams of the caliber of Southern California, Michigan, Notre Dame—and Colgate.

March Program Plans Are Made By Mountaineers

Will Take Scouting Trip Up Crow Creek on Saturday; Three Social Meetings Are Scheduled

A scouting trip up the south fork of Crow creek into the most rugged section of the North Mission mountains is planned by the Montana Mountaineers Saturday. They will follow the canyon to the steep cliffs at its head as far as they are able to go.

These scouting trips are taken just before the full moon each month so that if darkness overtakes the party, the moonlight will facilitate travel. Those who are planning to go on the trip will need skis (not more than seven feet in length) metal toe pieces, blocks, two ski poles, dark glasses and a flashlight.

The party will meet at the high school at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. Those wishing to go on the trip should call Prof. E. M. Little or Hampton Snell.

At a meeting of the executive board Tuesday afternoon the following program was arranged for March:

March 5—Snowshoe trip up Grant creek with Marion Porterfield as leader.

March 12—Ski trip up Sawmill gulch, said to be the best deep snow trip near Missoula. Craig Smith, leader.

March 19—Ski trip near Hamilton, to be followed by a chili supper at the home of Miss Jack Crutchfield, Hamilton.

March 26—Hike up Mount Jumbo and ski down the northeast ridge. Andy Proctor will be the leader.

April 2—Ski trip up Mount Stuart. Hampton Snell will lead the party. Social activities will include a roller skating party on March 11 with Prof. E. M. Little in charge; a swimming party on March 14 at the Wilma plunge, Harriet Linn in charge, and the monthly social meeting on March 17, Edythe Hall, social chairman, will conduct the meeting.

Sophomores Win Interclass Title

Second Place in Basketball Tourney Goes to Junior Women

Basketball for women was concluded Wednesday when the sophomores won the annual inter-class basketball tournament by defeating the juniors, 23-19, in a fast game marked by many thrills. Mary Castles led the scorers of both teams with 11 points, and two sophomores, Carol Wells and Evelyn Levander, scored eight each.

In the second game, the freshman team won from the seniors, 33-22, to take third place in the league standings. The first-year girls played a fast game of basketball to win, despite the shooting of Margaret Renshaw, senior, who made 15 points to lead the scoring.

Ray Smalley Wins Elimination Match

M club eliminations ended Wednesday when Ray Smalley, Roundup, won a decision over Elbert Peete, Missoula, in a fast and fierce fight.

Smalley will attempt to wrest the 145-155-pound title from Rex Henningson, Butte, present champion, in the finals Wednesday, March 8.

The first round was almost even, with Smalley using a long left that Peete found difficult to get under. Peete's body punches seemed to take little effect, although both boys tired toward the end. In the second Smalley found his mark often and before the end of the round had won an easy decision.

Oakes Issues Call For New Managers

Men Aspiring to Positions Should See Football Coach Today

Coach B. F. Oakes today issued his second call for football managers. All men desiring managerial positions are requested to meet with Coach Oakes at his office in the men's gymnasium at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Every spring new managers are needed to fill the vacancies from the preceding season. This year several new men will be needed and Oakes is especially desirable of having a good freshman and sophomore representation at today's meeting.

The men will assume their duties at the beginning of spring practice and will be actively associated with the players and coaches during spring and early fall training seasons. In the fall both Varsity and Cub managers are needed. The Varsity manager receives a sweater.

The ascent from assistant manager to Varsity manager is always via the Cub managership and the prospects of freshmen and sophomores who aspire to the job are good, Coach Oakes stated yesterday.

Exchange Montana Kaimin Gets Copies of Forty-seven Different College Publications

Happenings on campuses near and far are contained in the 47 different college papers exchanged with the "Kaimin."

The "Ka Leo Hawaii," student publication of the University of Hawaii at Honolulu, has the distinction of being the most distant college sending a paper to the Kaimin. Two other foreign colleges are represented, "The McGill Daily" of McGill university at Montreal, and "The Gateway" of the University of Alberta.

California leads in the number of college news-sheets represented with eight colleges sending their papers, while Washington is second with five student publications. Colleges in Montana and Colorado send four papers while Oregon schools send three newspapers. North Dakota, Virginia, Massachusetts and Idaho, send two student publications. South Dakota, West Virginia, New Jersey, Kansas, Kentucky, Georgia, Washington, D. C., Missouri, Connecticut, Utah, Alabama and Illinois colleges are represented by one college paper each.

Seven of the newspapers are dailies, seven are printed bi-weekly, and the remaining 33 appear only once a week.

Intercollege Hoop Squads End Games

Arts and Sciences Quint Captures First Place; Three Teams Tie for Second

The 1933 basketball season at the State University was officially closed last night when the last game of the Intercollege tournament was played and the Arts and Sciences team was conceded the championship of the league. The Lawyers slipped after defeating the league leaders, and lost to the Business Ad quint, this defeat placing the title with the Arts and Sciences team.

After leading the teams for most of the season, and scoring victories by top-heavy scores, the Arts and Sciences were given a bad scare Tuesday night when they went down to a surprise defeat at the hands of the Lawyers. This defeat placed them in a position where they would be tied if the Law team won from the Business Ad. Law, Business Ad and Pharmacy tied for second place; Forestry took fifth, and the Journalists wound up in last position.

Forestry-Journalism
The Foresters nosed out the Journalists, 28-25, in an overtime game, Tuesday night. This defeat ended the season for both teams, and kept the Journalists in the cellar of the league with no victories and five defeats.

University May Hear L. Lorwin

Former Professor Will Broadcast
Over National Network
March 4 and 11

Lewis L. Lorwin, formerly known as Louis L. Levine, who was professor in the Department of Economics at the State University from 1916-1919 and at the present time is located in Washington, D. C., will present two problems on March 4 and 11, over a nation-wide network of the National Broadcasting company. The subjects of Lorwin's talks to be presented on the two Saturday evenings from 8:30 to 9 o'clock, eastern standard time, will be: March 4, "Problems of the Next Four Years" and on March 11, "An American Industrial Policy."

Lorwin's talks are included in a series of broadcasts, searching discussions on current economic questions by prominent economists, newspaper correspondents and others conversant with national economic problems. The series of talks are given under the auspices of the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education with the co-operation of the Brookings Institution.

Lorwin is an author and economist and since leaving the State University has become a member of the staff of the Institute of Economics. He is the author of "Taxation of Mines in Montana," written in 1919; "Labor and Internationalism," "Labor Movement in France" and several booklets on Syndicalism in United States and European Politics.

With the Fraternities at Montana

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the first national fraternity to be founded in the South, was established in 1856 at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Ala., by Noble Leslie DeVotie and seven fellow students. At first no chapters were granted north of the Mason-Dixon line, but northern expansion was brought about after the Civil War. At the present time the fraternity has 108 chapters with a real estate valuation greater than that of any college fraternity. Montana Beta chapter, an outgrowth of Sigma Alpha, local fraternity, was established in January, 1927. Although one of the last fraternities to be established at Montana, Sigma Alpha Epsilon has always been prominent on the campus. Between the years of 1929 and 1932, this chapter won a first prize and two second prizes for Track Meet decorations. This year they won the Intramural swimming meet. In 1930-31, Montana Beta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon led all other chapters of the fraternity in scholarship. Among the members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon who at the present time are outstanding in campus organizations and activities are: Gene Sunderlin, Rhodes Scholar, Silent Sentinel, tennis; Joe Lasby, Kappa Tau; Ted Cooney, president of Interfraternity, president of the senior class, Silent Sentinel; Horace Warden, Bonner Scholar, Central Board delegate, Silent Sentinel; Robert Happe, Alex Blewett, Rex Henningsen, Bear Paws; Bill Hawke, Bill Vickerman, George Kuka, Clarence Muhlick, football; Frank Curtis, track, Silent Sentinel; Robert Cooney, swimming, Silent Sentinel; Glenn Gutchell, State Pistol champion; Rex Henningsen, Middleweight boxing champion.

Faculty members on the campus who are members of this fraternity are: Dr. Harry Turney-High, Prof. I. W. Cook, Dr. C. W. Waters and Dr. J. W. Severy. Other prominent local alumni are: C. S. Christensen, executive assistant of Kootenai National forest; Roger Johnston, accountant, State University; D. J. Shults, newspaper publisher in North Dakota; Harvey MacAlear, Vernon Haven, Harold Dean, county attorneys; Dr. Herman Deutsch, professor of history at Washington State college; George N. Short, Province Archon; Captain J. Pomeroy.

Nationally prominent members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon include William McKinley, former President of the United States; Philander C. Knox, former Secretary of State; J. M. Dickinson, former Secretary of War; L. Q. C. Lamar, former Secretary of Interior, ambassador to Russia; Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, incoming Secretary of Commerce under President-elect Roosevelt; Pleasant A. Stovall, minister to Switzerland; Evan E. Young, minister to Bolivia; John M. Morehead, ambassador to Sweden; William Lowery, consul-general to Portugal; North Winship, consul-general to Egypt; Maxwell Blake, consul-general to Australia; John Carter Vincent, consul-general to Mukden, Manchuria; Senators Pittman, Harrison, Russell and Bankhead; Gen. G. P. Harrison, youngest Confederate general; Maj. Gen. B. F. Cheatham, quartermaster general of the United States army; Admiral E. R. Sitt, surgeon-general of United States navy; Gen. J. C. Breckinridge, in charge of United States marines; I. B. Tigrett, president of Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroads; Henry Lakin, president of railroads of Cuba; Chas. C. Sealeman, president of Southern Methodist university; James M. Farr, president of the University of Florida; George R. Grose, president of DePaul University; Wilbur Daniel Steele, short story writer; Henry Snyder Harrison, novelist; William Faulkner, novelist; Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business; W. F. Bigelow, editor of Good Housekeeping; Carl E. since that time. In congress he became recognized as an authority on constitutional law. In 1923 he gained national recognition for his successful attack in the Teapot Dome oil scandal. He was permanent chairman of two Democratic national conventions. In several instances he was mentioned as a presidential possibility. He took a particularly active part in the Roosevelt campaign. His speech of acceptance when elected chairman of the Democratic National convention last summer, has been described as a masterful exposition of the party's principles.

Forestry Club Mails Second News Letter

The second Forestry News Letter of the year was mailed Tuesday to more than two hundred alumni of the Montana School of Forestry. The letter, containing news comments and highlights of the school, is one of the projects handled by the Forestry club. It is sponsored by the Druids, men's honorary forestry organization.

The February letter contains 10 pages with articles on Foresters' Ball, tractor work, Forestry Kaimin, Rifle club, Forestry club, Druids and other activities of the School of Forestry. The last page contains news of the graduates.

The News Letter is edited by Walter Pool. His assistants for this issue were Jack Hinman, Cal Gunterman, Chandler Jensen, Millard Evenson and Joel Frykman.

TOOLE WILL DISCUSS EDUCATIONAL FINANCES

Howard Toole, local attorney, will discuss finances of the state of Montana in relationship to education next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Forestry library before the forum on current business economic problems which is being sponsored by the School of Business Administration.

Mr. Toole, who is a member of the State Board of Education, has had intimate contact with the legislature's recent appropriations for the coming biennium.

Entries Received For High School Editorial Contest

Winners Will Be Selected During Inter-scholastic Track Week; Deadline Is April 1

High schools from all over the state have been sending in their school papers for competition in the annual High School Editorial Association to be held this year, May 11 and 12 during Inter-scholastic Week.

Although the deadline for the contest is not until April 1, more than thirty publications have been received by the School of Journalism. This number exceeds that of last year.

There will be two sessions Thursday and Friday mornings at which an out-of-town speaker will address the group, but the speaker has not as yet been decided upon.

Prizes will be given the winners who will be classed according to the sizes of the schools. Four silver cups will be awarded for first place, one in each of the different classes and certificates to those winning second and third places.

Ticket Enthusiasts Spend Night at Wilma Box Office

Students at the State University again demonstrated the height of something-or-other when some of them camped in front of the Wilma theater offices all of Tuesday night in order to be first in line to get the best blocks of seats for their respective fraternity houses for Varsity Vodvil tonight. The same enterprising gentlemen who received the first block of seats for Hi-Jinx last fall were successful in obtaining the best seats for tonight's show. By students they are considered wide awake young blades, but perhaps the instructors in their 8 o'clocks yesterday did not have the same opinions when they saw their drooping eyelids and nodding heads.

Quadrans held the last meeting of the quarter yesterday afternoon at the Sigma Kappa house at 5 o'clock. The hostesses were assisted in the serving of refreshments by senior members of Zeta Chi sorority.

Notices

There will be an important meeting of all track candidates Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the third floor of the men's gymnasium.

HARRY ADAMS

All students with doctor or medicine bills for this quarter must present itemized receipts to the Health Service not later than March 6 for refunds.

MRS. LECLAIRE

There is an important notice on the Barb bulletin board in the Little Theatre. The Inter-scholastic committee asks that all Barbs look at it immediately.

There will be a meeting of all aspirants for football managerships in Coach B. F. Oakes' office in the men's gymnasium at 4 o'clock today. All men who desire to handle managerial duties for this spring and for next season are requested to be present. Freshmen and sophomores are especially urged to be present.

Mexican Bazaar night, originally set for Wednesday, March 8, will be postponed until the beginning of next quarter on account of final examinations.

The Philaletic society will meet next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of C. H. Riedell at 636 University avenue.

The American Association of University Professors will meet at the University Congregational church tonight at 6:30 o'clock. Prof. R. L. Housman will speak on "Problems in Journalism." It will be an open meeting and all University faculty members and their friends are invited to attend. Dinner will be 60 cents per person.

PHI SIGMA MEETING

Phi Sigma, national honorary biological society, will hold the last meeting scheduled for this quarter at the home of Dr. C. W. Waters, 920 Hastings, Tuesday evening.

Mountaineers See Fantastic Sights

Saturday Trip to Blossburg Proves Interesting and Entertaining

Great snow drifts that looked like white sand dunes were a feature of the scenes viewed by the Montana Mountaineers on their excursion to Blossburg Saturday.

It rarely thaws during the winter at that altitude and the snow drifts almost continuously. The ground is blown bare in some places and in others the snow is piled up in 25- to 30-foot drifts. Where the snow has blown against the forests, the banks slope upward on one side and make a sheer drop on the other where a skier may tumble down among the half-buried trees.

The hikers saw many interesting and fantastic spectacles in a veritable snow kingdom and reported good skiing in the deep snow at the divide.

Stratton Appoints Garb Committee

Scott Stratton, president of the junior class, has appointed a committee to decide what the well-dressed junior class members will wear this spring. The committee is composed of Claget Sanders, chairman, Ellmore Marlowe, Helen Schroeder and Robert Somerville.

The official junior garb last year was a light weight white pullover sweater with small black class numerals across the front.
