KISSINGER LECTURE POSTPONED
UNTIL APRIL 28 AT UNIVERSITY

MISSOULA--

A lecture originally scheduled for April 14 at the University of Montana by presidential assistant Henry A. Kissinger has been postponed until April 28 because of conflicts in Kissinger's schedule.

Kissinger, who is President Nixon's assistant for National Security Affairs, will present the fifth in a continuing series of Mansfield Lectures on International Relations at 8 p.m. April 28, a Friday, in the University Center Ballroom. The program will be open to the public without charge.

Besides the main lecture, Kissinger also is scheduled to meet informally with UM students and faculty during his visit to the Missoula campus.

The lecture series was established in 1967 under the Mike and Maureen Mansfield Endowment of the University of Montana Foundation in recognition of Senate Majority Leader Mansfield's 25 years of congressional service and the University's 75th anniversary, events coinciding in 1968, the year Sen. Mansfield launched the series.

Besides the senator, previous speakers in the series have included Dr. John Kenneth Galbraith, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Dr. Milton Friedman.
