Central Board Minutes
January 15, 1953

The meeting was called to order by Danny Lambros, and minutes from the previous meeting were read and corrected, to read "student building fee" instead of "student activity fee" in the last line of the third paragraph.

After Sentinel pictures had been taken, Jones read the past Publications Board minutes and moved that Central Board accept Publications Board recommendation that Ray Moholt be appointed new Kaimin associate editor. Brennan seconded, and the motion was carried.

Lambros reported that five name bands have offered to perform at MSU winter quarter. As three have already performed here before, letters were sent only to the other two for more information — to Stan Kenton who offered to play toward the end of February and to Ralph Flanigan who wished to play about the middle of March.

Henne reported that Traditions Board would like to sponsor a snow sculpturing contest if and when it would snow. She also mentioned difficulties in the problem of selecting an outstanding student to receive the Sibley award.

The question of what to do about two Central Board delegates who can't attend meetings this quarter was raised. Leuthold, the junior delegate elected last spring to serve a two-year term is not on campus this quarter and is only registered as a special student not carrying a normal course load. However, he will return spring quarter. Coppedge, the senior delegate, is unable to attend meetings because of interfering basketball practice; and for this same reason he was unable to attend about half of the meetings fall quarter. It was reported that track practice might interfere spring quarter, but this wasn't known for sure. Briggs said that Central Board had a duty to call a special class election at least in the case of Leuthold. And Cameron emphasized the present need for representatives from additional living groups. Some discussion followed concerning poor turnouts in past elections, and reference was made to a constitutional change on October 3, 1950 allowing Central Board to pattern an election at its discretion after a regular ASMSU election. Lambros agreed to present this matter to both Leuthold and Coppedge and then bring it up again at the next meeting.

Ginny Hays asked if Spurs and Bearpaws could have the franchise to sell ice cream (not candy bars and pop too as mentioned earlier) at basketball games this year. Brennan made a motion to that effect, Shanahan seconded, and the motion carried.

Cameron moved that the March of Dimes be allowed to solicit money at up to but not to exceed four basketball games, Newlin seconded, and the motion was carried.

Lambros said that two more students would be added to the Social Standards Committee and recommended Don Cameron. The recommendation was agreeable to all present. Another girl will be selected for the committee by AWS.

Jones referred to Mr. Chamberlin’s letter in the day's Kaimin concerning his desire for post cards of campus buildings. The matter was referred to Publicity-Travel Committee.

Lambros recommended Doug Beighle as new chairman of the Publicity-Travel Committee, replacing Dave Leuthold. Newlin so moved, Shanahan seconded, and the motion was carried.

was carried.

Tascher asked for suggestions for how to improve sales for Mortar Board appointment calendars so that enough money could be raised to break even and to finance a scholarship. Shanahan suggested increasing publicity within men's living groups and Lambros suggested the sending of letters and free calendars to each house president for publicity purposes.

Lambros reported that a fruit package had been sent to Harry Burnell who was sick in the hospital. And while on the subject of illness, Wunderlich reminded those present to take precautions and remind others to take precautions against the flu.

Lambros suggested that as many as possible try to attend the Red Cross coffee hour honoring foreign students immediately after the meeting, and the meeting was then adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary Joan Tascher
