THE MONTANA KAIMIN

STATE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA, MISSOULA, MONTANA

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1932

VOLUME XXXI. No. 34

MONTANA MUSINGS

Laying Main Hall Corner Stone

TOMORROW will be the thirty-ninth birthday of the State University. And people will stop to look at the young institution to see how it has progressed during its life. It has not been an especially precocious child, nor has it been backward. It could probably pass an intelligence test with as high a grade as its brothers and sisters of equal age. Well-bred youngsters that it is, it never becomes boisterous but at times is rather insistent in its demands, not always to good effect, however. Although not too large for its age, nevertheless it refuses to let older and bigger companions bully it. With the rest of the younger generation the immature school is a great problem to its guardians, who do not know best how to help it fit into present-day life to the greatest advantage. But it will grow older, and as it does it will acquire breadth of vision, power of self-criticism, sense to discard the useless traditions of former days and fit itself into the new era. At any rate, we hope it blows out all the candles on its cake and gets all its wishes, as well as many happy returns of the day.

HIGHLIGHT of Friday's game—the tow-headed youngster up in the balcony. He had the true old Montana spirit—or maybe it's the future Montana spirit. Whatever one may call it, it was more pep than was displayed by any other person in the gymnasium. Incidentally, to those who have given up swearing for Lent, he offers an excellent substitute. It was surprising to learn with what vehemence and wrath one can explode the word "fish-hooks".

DEATH Takes a Holiday" may be summarized in three short phases—a good play, with a good cast, at good prices. To see it will require no sacrifice on the part of the lethargic student body, since it is offered on a night when no other social affair is scheduled. There are two performances, so no one can have any alibis.

WE HAVE sometimes wondered why college reformers have never gone after the subject of dishonesty among college students. Overemphasis on grades, credits, social prestige, social organizations, moves students to cheating, lying, stealing. That is, students who under more normal conditions would be as honest as humans ever are. Probably no one is naturally perfectly honest. We bemoan the prevalence of dishonesty among government officials, business men, professional people. But universities, who get youth at its most malleable age, could do much to discourage this trait which seems to be causing so much havoc in society today.

WHAT looks more incongruous than a Bear Paw without a paddle? Only a Bear Paw with a paddle, afraid to use it. We have a sneaking suspicion that the paddle is a relic of high school hazing days. But as long as it is still clung to as a sophomore tradition, we contend that it should be used impartially—which means that the size of the offender should make no difference to the bold, brave Bear Paw.

WHE thought it'd be fun, to write a column, just one, on the use of the pun. But not being a pun-gent writer, we had to give up the idea. Someone thinks there's something fishy about the above sentence, but since it's Lent, that's all right. Anyway, we feel kind of silly from leaning against the window-pane all morning. But to bring this to a close—since punning has reached the bottom levels of humor, we feel that it's gone far enough.

Carol Griffith was a dinner guest at the Delta Delta Delta house Sunday.

State University Mails Folders Advertising Next Summer Term

Special Features Will Include the National Writers' Conference During The Fifth Week of the Quarter

Ten thousand five hundred summer school folders will be mailed out to educators in Montana and about fifteen other states within a few days. The folders feature the "unusual opportunity to combine a real Rocky Mountain vacation with a summer course of six or nine weeks."

Many special features are scheduled for the 1932 summer session. The National Writers' conference will give writers of all kinds an opportunity to have classes and conferences with well-known authors and publishers during the fifth week of the quarter. At the Montana Conference on Educational Problems there will be a week of lectures and round-table discussions giving special attention to certification and educational problems in other states as well as Montana. This conference, which is to be held during the fourth week, will be attended by noted educational leaders.

Women's Club Institute

Another feature will be an institute held for the members of all Women's clubs of Montana who will be holding a state-wide convention in Missoula during the seventh week. This group will hold their meetings August 1, 2, 3, 4, and will be housed in one of the dormitories and will be registered through the State University. Special folders will be sent out to all club members of the state.

Every week-end during the session has its excursions to various places of interest. The schedule of the trips is: June 25—Mt. Sentinel; July 2, 3, 4—a new trip to the country north of Holland lake. On this trip lunch will be eaten at the A. C. M. camp at Greenough and the second day will be an all-day hike into the Swan range and South Fork of the Flathead.

Trip to Bison Range

July 9, a trip to Bison range will be given in co-operation with the United States Biological survey; July 16, Como lake, in co-operation with the Forest service (this trip was cancelled last year due to forest fires in that region); July 21, 22, 23, 24—Glacier park, following the Writers' conference; July 30, Blackfoot canyon and Bonner mills.

A new trip has been scheduled to go over the Camel's Hump to Cabin City August 6 and 7. The group will stay over night at the Cabin City tourist camp, spending the evening and following morning fishing and hiking and making a visit to the Savenac Nursery at Haugan, which is about one-hundred miles from Missoula. Co-operation of the Forest service makes this trip possible. August 13, a trip is planned to Lolo Hot Springs.

Students of Art Hear Turney-High

"The Pre-Columbian Period" will be the subject of a talk to be given to students of art by Dr. Harry Turney-High tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the art room of Main hall.

As a means of giving the student a better background in the study of art, talks of this nature have been given regularly throughout the quarter. Although these talks have been planned essentially for the art student, any one interested is welcome to attend.

Next Issue of Frontier Will Appear Saturday

Burt, Coates, Clapp and Bolles Will Be Among Authors

The Frontier will make its next appearance on Saturday, February 20. This issue contains a long essay on regionalism and literature, by Struthers Burt. Mr. Burt was one of the speakers at the Writer's conference held at the State University during the summer school session last year. He and his wife, Katherine Newlin Burt, will probably attend the next summer session here for a short time.

A chapter in the biography of Sitting Bull, Sioux Indian chief, by Stanley Bestal, is another feature of this Frontier. Grace Stone Coates has a story, "Cattle Country," which is a type of short story much different from those published in her volume, "Black Cherries."

Mary Brennan Clapp has two poems and Jason Bolles of Butte, one, in this issue.

FORMER GRIZZLY TRACK STAR DOES SOCIAL WORK

Bob Nelson, '31, who is at present holding a fellowship at the Western Reserve college in Cleveland in the school of applied social science, is dressing as a client of social welfare societies in order to obtain information for his master's thesis. By dressing in such a manner he becomes closely enough associated with other clients of social welfare societies to hear their views on the manner in which relief is being distributed to the unemployed.

As this is a study which the Family Service society has wanted done for some time, the report, in all probability, will be published, according to Mrs. Asendorf to whom Nelson had written concerning his work.

A meeting of the Department of English will be held this afternoon to discuss some proposed changes in the curriculum. The changes will concern the first two years' work of students majoring in English.

Collegiana, the new student publication, will make its second appearance on the campus sometime this week. This issue will have almost twice as many pages as the first issue contained and three poems by Richard Lake of Judith Gap will be among the features offered.

A short story of university life, "Campus Blonde," by E. G. Covington, Park City, presents the masculine viewpoint of an unwanted co-ed. A sketch by Martha Kimball, Missoula, and an article by Mary Wilson, Davenport, will also be presented in this issue.

"The editors wish to thank the many contributors to this issue," Cornelia Klittke, Havre, head of the board of editors, stated. "The interest shown in the magazine has been gratifying."

Foresters Plan Western Journey In Spring Quarter

Men Will Visit Four National Parks And the California Redwoods During Tour

Plans are being formulated for the forestry seniors' annual spring trip on the Pacific coast. There will be 23 men on the tour including three professors and they will leave April 30, returning May 22. During the 4,000 mile trip, the men will visit four national parks and the California redwoods.

The northern point of the tour will be Vancouver, B. C., and the men studying grazing will go as far south as San Francisco. The foresters will spend one day at Corvallis, Oregon, visiting the Oregon Agricultural college. The seniors of the School of Forestry at O. A. C. will entertain the Montana foresters.

The motor caravan will make the first stop at Spokane. From Seattle they will take a side trip to Bellingham, Wash., and Vancouver. Then on south making stops at all the important lumber and logging centers on the Pacific coast. The graziers will continue to San Francisco.

On the return trip the party will go through the entire neck of the Sacramento valley, into south central Oregon, Spokane and home.

Tomorrow Is Anniversary Of Institution of State University by Legislature

Marks Thirty-ninth Birthday of School; Legislature Granted Charter In 1893; First Classes Met in 1895 With Oscar J. Craig As President; Scheuch Was on Faculty

Tomorrow marks the thirty-ninth birthday of the State University of Montana, which was established when the State Legislature granted it a charter on February 17, 1893. Action providing for the organization of the State University was passed and the control of the institution was placed in the hands of the State Board of Education. Previous to this, the legislature in 1881 had set aside 72 sections of land, most of which was situated in the Bitter Root and Flathead districts, for the maintenance of the new school.

The first classes were begun on September 11, 1895, and were held in the Willard school building, the use of which was donated by the citizens of Missoula. Fifty students enrolled for the first fall quarter and at the end of the year there were 135 registered.

Scheuch on Faculty
Professor F. S. Scheuch, who is at present vice president of the State University and chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages, has served the institution since its first classes were held. At the beginning he was professor of modern languages and temporarily in charge of the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

Other members of the faculty were: Oscar J. Craig, A. M., Ph. D., president; Stephen A. Merritt, B. S., professor of mathematics; William A. Aber, A. B., professor of Greek and Latin; Mary Oliver Gray, instructor in music, and Mary A. Craig, B. S., librarian.

Dr. M. J. Elrod, head of the Department of Biology, came to the State University in February, 1897, and organized the Department of Biology. For some time he taught all the science students, 250. In 1900, J. P. Rowe, now chairman of the Department of Geology, was secured to take charge of the Department of Physics and Geology. These two men follow Professor Scheuch in the length of time they have been in the service of the school.

Money Appropriated
In 1897, the legislature appropriated $35,000 for the support of the school for the next two years. They also passed Senate Bill No. 1, which provided for the issuance of bonds to be secured by the State University lands.

This bill raised $100,000 and from this sum University and Science halls were constructed, being completed in 1899. (Continued on Page Four)

Dr. Waters Returns From Rust Meeting

Dr. C. W. Waters, associate professor of botany, has returned from Spokane where he attended a meeting in which the problems concerning the control of blister rust were discussed.

Approximately thirty-five men representing the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California and Montana were in attendance.

"Each man brings to the meeting the problems of his section concerning this pest," stated Dr. Waters. "Practical and economical solutions to them are sought."

Jesse Bunch Returns From Pastors' Meet

Chicago Convention Features New Methods of Discussion

Jesse W. Bunch, interchurch student pastor, returned last Thursday, February 11, from Chicago where he attended a meeting of university pastors connected with the Baptist church. The main topic of discussion was the relationship existing between the university pastor and different phases of university life.

Mr. Bunch stated that the meeting proved to be very beneficial as well as being very enjoyable. The program was carried out smoothly in spite of the fact that several new methods were innovated at the meeting. One was the appointment of one person to carry out a discussion on some topic before a paper was read on that subject before the assembly.

The meeting, one of the largest of its kind in the United States, was concluded Tuesday noon after being in session four days.

Lower Rates Are Secured For Contest

Railroads Grant One-Way Fare for All Interscholastic Track Meet Contestants and Visitors

Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of the Interscholastic committee, has received word from the general offices of the Northern Pacific and Milwaukee railroads, that one fare rates for the round trip have been granted, to be in effect during the Interscholastic Track and Field Meet which will be held here May 11, 12 and 13.

"The granting of these rates is very gratifying to the committee," Dr. Rowe said, "because it will help materially the financial side of the meet. It will mean a saving of several hundred dollars which should wipe out a large portion of the deficit that has been suffered in previous years."

At a meeting of the committee held in Dr. Rowe's office Friday, it was decided not to make any material changes in the bulletin which will be sent to all accredited high schools on March 15. Entry blanks will be sent on April 8 and all entries must be mailed before May 3. All entries postmarked later than May 3 will be rejected. This has been a rule for a number of years and is necessary in order that the committee may satisfactorily arrange housing, heats in the races and other items. Each year it has been necessary to turn down two or three entries due to their blanks being received late.

George Varnell of Spokane, stater at many previous meets, has again accepted the position for the 1932 meet. Varnell is well known in Missoula and Western Montana.

The services of Charles Paddock, Olympic contestant, as an added attraction are being sought, and it is thought possible that he may be induced to come to Missoula for the meet.

"All preliminary arrangements have been completed," stated Dr. Rowe, "and all that we hope for now is good weather."

Deiss Will Speak To Authors' Club

A paper, entitled "Correlation of Montana Algonkian Formations" by Dr. C. H. Deiss will be read at the next meeting of the Authors' club Saturday evening. An account of research work done in eastern Montana during the past summer, by the author, will be given.

Dr. N. J. Lennes, secretary of the club, desires members to notify him as soon as possible, whether they will be able to attend. The group will meet at 6:30 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. building.

What It Will See

ONE day many years ago a tall pine tree on Mount Sentinel looked down upon the surrounding territory. Looked down and saw a broad, barren valley—so broad that it extended nearly as far as the eye could see to the west; so barren that the few small houses clustered around a ribbon-like river were hardly worth more than a passing glance. It saw comparatively few people walking the streets between the houses; it saw no autos, no long green locomotives drawing ten or fifteen cars along glistening rails, no rows of paved streets, no tall white chimney proclaiming a beet sugar factory, no parks and no State University campus with its green-roofed buildings.

Another day, thirty-nine years later, the same tree looked down upon the same surrounding country and marvelled at the difference less than four decades of years had made. Where there had been bunch grass and stubby bushes, the even trend of streets was patterned. Buildings lay in almost all portions of the valley. Three pairs of steel rails flanked the river from the mouth of Hell Gate canyon. A coating of snow made the going slippery for the almost-constant stream of autos and busses crossing Higgins Avenue bridge. And more than fourteen hundred students made their various ways among a cluster of buildings at the foot of the mountain.

These students traversed a plot of ground donated by two men who believed in the development of the state and the education of her children. But the ground was changed from what it had been when three other men, appointed in 1894 by the state board of education, composed an executive committee to manage the affairs of the new-born babe. Fifty persons enrolled for the first session and by the end of the year one hundred and thirty-five students were in attendance. One little grade school building housed the first classes until in 1899, when Main and Science halls were constructed.

Forty years from tomorrow the same pine tree probably will look down upon the same landscape. What it will see, no one knows.

Take a Holiday

HAVING undertaken the task of staging the first alumni reunion at the State University in June, the Alumni association, in co-operation with the Montana Masquers, is presenting "Death Takes a Holiday," at the Fox-Wilma theater, Friday night, with two performances. The purpose of this production is to raise the necessary funds to assure the success of the reunion.

The student body is asked to give its entire support to this production as it is absolutely necessary to have two capacity houses in order to receive the minimum amount of revenue desired. This amount will not exceed $500 after production expenses are deducted so it is quite apparent that a large attendance is needed, and as this is the one and only method by which the Alumni association is able to finance the reunion it is doubly important that every student take upon himself the obligation to purchase a ticket. The prices are extremely reasonable and it will be possible for the man to take his lady friend to a first class play without having to beg, borrow, or steal to obtain the price of two admissions.

School officials have cleared the social calendar for that night so there should be no obstacle encountered in getting a date. However, any group that wishes to give a social function after the first show may receive permission to do so from the dean's office, providing that 90 per cent of that group purchases admissions to the Masquers play. The committee in charge of the affair suggests the possibility of theater parties followed by firesides afterwards which sounds like a good idea to us and would be something new and different on this campus.

It is for a good cause that you will spend your "four-bit" pieces and at the same time receive in return two hours of enjoyable entertainment.

"Bonehead" English

UPON entering the State University freshman students must take an English placement examination. It is given to divide the whole class into groups of equal ability in composition. This year the Department of English is attempting a variation of the system. It has divided the students into the usual groups with this difference—the members of the lowest group are required to take a course in preparatory English before they can take Freshman composition, English 11a.

"Bonehead" or "dumb-bell" English, as it is called, carries no credit. A final grade of plus or minus is given and cuts are not counted even though they are in a course designed primarily for freshmen. The instruction given in the course deals for the most part with elementary English composition. Students must take it and receive a plus grade in order to go on with English 11a. One of the results of such a course is a handicap of five credits which have to be made up at some time later in the college life of these students.

Our belief is that the division of the freshman class into groups was done partly for the purpose of giving freshman students training in the branches of English in which they seemed least proficient. From observation we feel that so far results have not been satisfactory and that the course is discriminatory because the work in the other classes will not vary to a very great extent from that of the preparatory class. Since freshmen do not have to attend the classes, and generally do not do the work, it seems that the course is about as useful to them as a listener's course is to most other students.

Freda McCaig was the dinner guest of Betty Foot at the Delta Delta Delta house Sunday.

Marie Cuffe and Solvig Undem were dinner guests of Pansy Shaw at the Zeta Chi house Sunday.

John McMillan and Eddie Reeder were dinner guests at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Cunningham, Helena, were guests in Missoula during the week.

Margaret Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, Deer Lodge, were Sunday dinner guests at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

The First Huddle

In the event that either one of our readers is wondering what strange malady has blighted this column, we are releasing the news that we are attempting to find a successor to Uncle Hud.

It's this way—Uncle Hud is about to pass—with the unbelievable grade of C. He will don black ceremonies and receive his death certificate about June 15.

It was Uncle Hud's last and greatest brainstorm that the enterprising youngsters on the staff compose his column for him during his declining days. Thus Uncle Hud gets surplus time with which to apply himself more studiously to his duties in connection with his official capacity as Chief Opener of Beer Seasons. His official capacity to date is about a half case.

Also, the general idea seems to be that the most capable of these youngsters will be our next Uncle Hud.

Your announcer for this week is O. O. McGawd.

And we can't think of a single gripe.

This is no place for extensive cogitating, but the following struck us as being rather choice: "Good Sport: One of the mob."

The average collegian, states the New Yorker, is "urbanely conservative." The faint reddish tinge on the horizon, Blodgett, is a parade of modestly blushing undergraduates.

A good example of this conservatism, we suppose, is the conversation heard about a half-gallon after Foresters' ball. (Supply your own "hies"): "What time is it?" "About Thursday." "Stop the car, Eddie, I get out here."

Riding on the roof of the bus might be mentioned as being conservative.

Scenes: High school students temporarily housed on the campus trying pitifully to keep up a running banter of collegiate jargon. . . . Ten pounds of candy being delivered to a certain sorority house at 2 o'clock the morning of St. Valentine's. . . . R.O.T.C. cadets looking very serious and responsible with all this here trouble in China 'n everything. . . .

By the way, we wish to announce to whomever sent us that "come! Valentine that it wasn't funny at all. We didn't even open it. In fact, it was lost in the mail. So there.

Add thumb-nail plot No. 187,906: Act I. Local Boy (good looking). Act II. Visiting actress, by name of Vera Goode (lonesome). Act III. (Hint—What does Local Boy usually do?).

Snap: Wonder whose money is maintaining the ice-rink back of the Forestry building? . . . What happened to the chaperons at a certain formal Saturday evening? . . . For no reason at all (that's our story, officer), we suggest that Greenough park and Pattee canyon be added to the list of "seats of learning in Montana." . . . There seems to be a vague longing around the campus for the old-fashioned girl who used to be able to go home from the party on her own power. . . . Suggestion: Perhaps, just perhaps, "Betty Co-eds" are becoming tiresome. . . . Also "Joe Colleges".

Thought for today: How much money furnished by sacrificing parents is spent down around the railroad tracks for "tuition" and "special bills," etc.

And today's sermon will be concluded by hymn No. 34, by R. Young, a beautiful example of what those in the world outside are doing to make this a better, pleasanter place in which to live:

And here's the happy bounding flea—You cannot tell the he from the she. The sexes look alike, you see, But she knows the difference and so does he.

Society

SOCIAL CALENDAR
Friday, February 19

Masquers' Play . . . . . Fox-Wilma Theater

Saturday, February 20

South Hall . . . . . Formal
Kappa Kappa Gamma . . . . . Pledge Formal
Sigma Phi Epsilon . . . . . Installation Ball

Valentine's day is the one day in the year when one is able to give full swing to a number of suppressed desires and still observe all the rules of etiquette. One may send a delicate, little lace-edged greeting to a secret sorrow without causing too much comment. Your pet gripe has probably been called names on Valentine's day in the past but it certainly relieves the old disposition to send just another comic Valentine.

Aside from the mail man's part in the day, it is also another excuse to entertain. The social calendar of the State University suffered an attack of over crowding. There were formals at both of the women's dormitories on Friday night and five fraternity and sorority dances Saturday. We haven't yet taken statistics on broken hearts.

North Hall

Guests of Georgia Mae Metten at dinner Sunday were Mary Dougherty and Virginia Ballard.

Estelle Fletcher had Marguerite Lander as her Sunday dinner guest. Luncheon guests of Emma Bravo Saturday were Adelaide Corr and Grace Strodtbeck.

Mrs. George Johnson of Deer Lodge spent the week-end with her daughter, Margaret.

Ester Strauss spent Sunday with Kathryn de Mers at the latter's home in Arlee.

Corbin Hall

Grizzly Team Wins Two Games From Orediggers Friday, Saturday Nights

Fitzgerald Saves First Game by Last Minute Score; State University Tallies Twelve Points in Overtime Period to Win; Many Fouls in Second Game of Series

Driving through in the last few seconds of play, David Fitzgerald, substitute Grizzly forward, looped in the field goal that tied Montana and the Mines, 27-27, in the first of a two-game series here Friday night. Hard put to keep a lead that was first overcome and then taken away from them in the last few minutes left to play, the Grizzlies ran up a 10-point lead in the overtime period to win, 39-29.

Saber marksmanship from far out on the floor by Berryman, Hammond, and L. Erickson, gave the Orediggers several ties during the game and a four-point lead with four minutes to go. Handicapped by the loss of both Captain Glenn Lockwood and Jimmy Jones, regular guards, the Grizzlies fought valiantly, with Andrews, Erickson and Fitzgerald keeping the score column filled. Lyman counted often with tipped in rebounds and a couple from out on the court.

The guarding of Henry Murray and Al Dahlberg kept the Mine five doing most of their scoring from outside the "hole," but several cleverly executed passing plays allowed the Green and Gold team set-ups.

Saturday's Game
The second game evolved into a marathon during the first half, with the ball being slammed up and down the floor on long passes, with many set-up shots being missed by both teams. The Orediggers counted more on long tries in this game than in the first, with Berryman, Hammond, Trueworthy and L. Erickson behind most of the fancy shooting.

Again the tall Lyman saved many a try by the Miner sharpshooters from being caged and also added substantially to the Grizzly total by pushing rebounds over the rim. Andrews and Logan vied for honors in scoring. Monk looping four field goals and five tree tosses and Logan collecting a like number from out on the floor and two from the line. Lyman counted next with three from the field and two gift shots.

Rough and ready playing by both teams ran the total of persons to 10 for Montana and 13 for the Miners. Murray, Montana, and Trueworthy, Mines, went out on personals during the last half. Erickson and Fitzgerald tossed in some classy shots while in action and Dale Hinman did some clever guarding after replacing Murray. Lockwood, suited up at the half in case of necessity, was not called into the game.

Teamwork that clicked and a defense that kept the Mines away from the danger zone except for occasional shots, gave the Grizzlies a lead during the last half that ended in a 45-36 victory. The half ended, 17-21, for Montana. The Miners tied it up, 21-21, a few minutes after the second period opened, but never threatened again.

Montana's First Football Team

shape to be running mates with Captain Snick Lockwood, to replace Jimmy Jones, whose heart ailment will keep him out of competition against the Bobcats.

If Erickson and Fitzgerald can keep from being smothered by Ario and Breeden, tall Bobcat guards, their sharpshooting is going to give the "Cats" something to worry about.

The height of Lockwood, Lyman and Dahlberg and the weight and playing ability of Hinman and Murray, coupled up with the ball handling of Andrews, Logan and Steensland, should prove a combination to test both the college offense and defense.

Augie Vidro will uphold the heavy-weight wrestling end of the minor sports tournament in March against the State college.

McKay and Crowley have forsaken their titles and present the vacancies to anyone who can fling leather fast enough.

Out-of-Bounds
In comparison to the 9.55 average grade points made last year, the varsity football players scored 12.75 for the past fall quarter. The yearlings averaged 7.77 last year, as compared with the 10.33 average grade points this fall term. This is an increase of about thirty-three and one-third per cent and earned an expression of satisfaction from Football Coach Bernard F. Oakes.

Hec Edmundson took last Saturday off—left his Husky basketball to himself and ran through his 1932 prospects for track. No records were broken, but Hec did not appear worried over the performances turned in by his cinder squad.

Five lettermen are back with the 39 aspirants who turned out for Otto Anderson at Idaho this week, to work on 1932 track and field events. The veterans are Jossis, Lemp, Hanford, Thomas and Jensen.

Katherine Wilbur was the dinner guest of Ruth Bernier at the Delta Delta house Sunday.

Sporty Vents

With the crowd on its feet most of the closing minutes of the last half, Montana showed some classy teamwork in tying up the score and then pulling away to win in an extra session from the Mines in the first game.

The second game was more ragged, but none the less exciting, with both teams missing easy shots, making hard ones, displaying clever teamwork and battling haphazardly all over the court in pursuit of the ball. It seemed there was more pleasure in pursuit than in possession.

In the Hole
One week will be allowed the Grizzly team to recuperate from illness which has struck several members and kept Captain Lockwood out of one game. Then come the Bobcats. This will be the first rest for the squad since the middle of December.

The Huskies still cling tenaciously to the rung of the northern division ladder just beneath that occupied by the Cougars. Two wins over Idaho, while the Cougars took two nice trouncings from the University of Oregon this week, perched the divisional title on pretty unsteady surroundings.

On the Line
Yesterday brought out approximately thirty-five track and field men to hear eligibility, requirements, equipment drawing, workouts and the 1932 schedule discussed by Coach Stewart. A five-weeks schedule with three trips is tentatively arranged for the spring season. Daily workouts inside, with outdoor jaunts whenever the weather permits, face the squad until the frost is out of the cinder path.

M club tryouts for the annual tournament March 3, intramural swimming, fencing and other minor sports and intercollegiate basketball keeps a large number of athletes in training at the present time.

A toss of 51 feet 11 1/2 inches was made with the 16-pound shot this week by Leo Sexton, New York A. C. performer, for a new world record. George Spitz, New York university, broke the world high jump mark, clearing the bar at 6 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Personals
Dahlberg, Hinman and Murray will have plenty of practice getting in

Track Stars Answer Call For Practice

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Games to Be Played This Week On Tuesday, Wednesday And Thursday

To the tune of "After the Ball" or "You Call It Madness But I Call It Intramurals," the league teams will start once more after a week-end rest. Tonight the Foresters will meet the Pharmacists, and the Journalists will try to break into the victory circle at the expense of the Arts and Science who will be without the services of Charley Stroup, fast-scoring ace.

Tomorrow night Law will tangle with Pharmacy, and the Business Administration will try to stay in the lead with a win over the Arts and Science quintet. Thursday the Arts and Science will oppose the Foresters, with the Bombers and followers of Blackstone winding up the week's session.

The rollicking, rough and ready team composed of Journalism faculty and Print shop specialists fell before the Journalism students, 12-10, Saturday morning. Both the score and game resembled a football struggle. Mooney leaned over the ball, which had been everywhere but under the supervision of the referee, and seeing no one to whom he could pass, flipped it through the hoop for the decisive basket. The game will be replayed.

The Business Ad Bombers and the Lawyers lead the league, each having won two games. The Foresters and the Arts and Science quintets follow with one won and one lost and the Pharmacists and Newsmen lag with a total of zero won and two lost.

In tonight's games the Lumbermen are expected to crowd out the Pharmacists and the Journalists having an equal chance to down the Arts and Science team as Stroup, scoring threat, will again join the freshman squad under Lewandowski, this making him ineligible.

The two league-leaders do not meet until Thursday night when one of them will be shoved into a second position with the other having more than an equal chance to end the season undefeated.

DEPTH SOUNDERS FOR AIRCRAFT

WITH the application of electricity to aircraft instruments, another chapter was written in the annals of air transportation. To-day's ship is not only swifter but safer and more dependable. Modern depth-sounding devices indicate instantly the height of the ship above the ground surface. A unique feature of General Electric's recently purchased monoplane is the almost completely electrified instrument panel.

The most recently developed instrument is the sonic altimeter, which provides a quick means of indicating changes in height above ground. Sound from an intermittently operated air whistle is directed downward. The echo is picked up in a receiving megaphone, and the sound is heard through a stethoscope. The elapsed time between the sound and the echo determines the height. Tests show that water, buildings, woods, etc., produce echoes that are different and characteristic.

Besides developing a complete system of aircraft instruments, college-trained General Electric engineers have pioneered in every electrical field—on land, on sea, and in the air.

Editors of Alumnus Select Secretaries To Fill Vacancies

Resignation of Alumni Necessitates Appointment of New Officers For Classes

During the past year there has been a number of changes made in class secretaries corresponding for the Alumnus, official quarterly publication of the Alumni Association of the State University, owing to resignations.

Those in charge of the magazine, Jessie Cambron, '29, editor, and Henrietta Wilhelm, '25, editor of class notes, have chosen the new secretaries after consulting with various members of the respective classes and the alumni secretary.

The changes are: 1907—Mrs. Lynn Ambrose, Missoula, replacing King Garlington, Missoula; 1915—Mrs. Merle Kettlewell Ruenauer, Plains, for Mrs. Gordon Watkins, Los Angeles, Calif.; 1916—Mrs. Ann Rector Williams, San Francisco, Calif., who just recently returned from South America, for William Long, Seattle attorney; 1919—Elsie May Johnson, Hamilton, for Frances Theis, Spokane, Wash.; 1920—Ann Reely, Spokane, Wash., for Ruth Dana of Pocatello, Ida.; 1925—Henrietta Wilhelm, editor of the class notes section of the Alumnus, Missoula, for Mrs. Ellen Garvin Wilson of Los Angeles, Calif.

Grizzly Cubs Play High School Squad

Freshmen Will Try to Win Seventh Game From Stegner Team

The Missoula high school basketball team plays the State University freshmen tomorrow evening in the men's gymnasium. Coach Stegner's team from all appearances will give the Cubs the stiffest battle of any of the teams they have played this season.

Missoula has won six of the last nine games it has played, losing only to Butte, Butte Central and then Saturday to Deer Lodge.

Robert Taylor, Whitefish, has started practice with the freshman squad. Taylor went the first quarter to Whitman, and just recently transferred to the State University. He and Hileman played forwards on the Whitefish team that took second in the state basketball tournament at Bozeman last winter.

PAUL FAIR ADDRESSES JOURNALISTS' MEETING

"Moving pictures of western Montana wild life, photographed by Paul J. Fair for the United States Forest service, will be a feature of the entertainment planned for the joint meeting of Foresters and Journalists to be held in the School of Forestry auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening." Eddie Astle, president of the Press club, stated yesterday.

After the show, a short time will be spent in dancing and the Shack Splinter will appear with some new features.

City Clubs Pledge Support to Drama

Several Magazines Give Favorable Review of Masquers' Play

The Missoula Chamber of Commerce and various service clubs of the city have given assurance of their support of the Montana Masquer State University alumni play, "Death Takes a Holiday," which is to be presented at the Fox-Wilma theater February 19 at 7 and 9 o'clock.

The cast of this play is made up largely of experienced players. Rehearsals on the complete play have been going on during the past week. "The Catholic World" says of the play: "So beautiful is this play that a brief review can only touch here and there its high points. The nostalgia of the infinite is in it, and a rare loveliness like the twilights of Da Vinci. Perhaps only an Italian could have written it."

"The Billboard" writing of the drama said, "It is an interesting play, 'Death Takes a Holiday,' and Lee Schubert is to be commended for a splendid production. A study of a metaphysical subject with no attempt to explain, it is designed and built around a subject that confronts everybody who lives, not as a philosophical treatise, but rather an amusing drama constructed with good theater for the pleasure of audiences. It will prove a pleasure to some and a sad disappointment to others."

Eric (Swede) Erickson, former student at the State University and now a student at the State School of Mines, renewed acquaintances on the campus last week-end.

Mrs. Clapp Gives Talk to Students

"The life partner is the friend of all friends," said Mrs. Charles H. Clapp in her talk on "Choosing a Life Partner" before the resident of North and Corbin halls in the parlors of the latter last night.

"Living is itself a life work. A life may be interiorly successful though not exteriorly so. The only reason which should be recognized for the choosing of a life partner is love," she said. She mentioned the strong influence that morals have on the well-being of an individual.

At the close of her talk, she invited those present to ask questions. She told of friends of hers and how their lives had run.

Magazine Publishes J. B. Speer Article

J. B. Speer, registrar and business manager at the State University of Montana, wrote an article on "Co-ordinating the Business Office and the Registrar's Office," which was published in the Educational Business Manager and Buyer for November.

Commenting on the article, the Journal of Higher Education declares: "The advantages (there are no disadvantages) of a highly developed central office of administration for a college or university are deftly portrayed by J. B. Speer, registrar and business manager at the State University of Montana, who has drawn on his experience in a successful project at that institution for material for his article."

"The merging of forces by the registrar and business manager permits employment of more highly skilled special workers than would be possible if a number of separate offices were to be served; records are centralized and in their new more complete form are more accessible, and faculty members are freed from administrative, clerical duties to turn to more scholarly pursuits. Mr. Speer has argued well for a central office of administration."

Mountaineers Plan Extended Journey

Two-day Trip to St. Paul's Pass Will Be Undertaken By Group

Montana Mountaineers, local outing organization, plan to take advantage of the cent-a-mile rates being offered by the railroads and make a two-day trip to St. Paul's pass, 130 miles west of Missoula. The trip will be made this week-end.

The plans are to arrive at the summit of the Bitter Root range by the Milwaukee railroad at 3 o'clock Saturday morning and stay in the depot until daybreak, when the seven mile descent to Saltese will be undertaken. The gradient drops 1,000 feet in this distance.

"Those intending to make the trip should get in touch with me as soon as possible," stated Dr. E. M. Little, leader of the party and associate professor of physics at the State University. "The cost of the round trip will be about $23.00."

Dr. Little stated that toe-and-heel harness for skis would be absolutely necessary for those making the trip. There is about nine feet of snow over the course which will be traveled by the group.

JANUARY IS BUSY MONTH FOR THE HEATING PLANT

During the month of January, 408 tons of coal were burned in the State University heating plant to warm the 14 buildings cared for on the campus. In January of 1930, 700 tons of coal were required to keep away the frost and last year 445 tons were burned during the same month. Elliott hall is the only building on the campus heated from sources other than the central heating system. During January the average temperature was 27 degrees above zero, being colder than last year and appreciably warmer than January of 1930, figures released by T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, show.

State University Marks Anniversary

The present campus sit was donated to the state by Frances G. Higgins and Edward L. Bonner of Missoula.

In 1901 another bond issue was authorized and from its proceeds Craig hall, a dormitory, and the women's gymnasium were constructed. The present Law building was completed in 1907 and was then the library.

Duniway Becomes President

Clyde A. Duniway of Stanford University, became president in 1908. During his administration the School of Law was established and the summer session was made a part of the State University. In 1912, Edwin B. Craighead became president and during the next few years business administration, journalism, pharmacy, home economics and forestry were added to the schools and departments of the institution.

Professor Scheuch was appointed acting president in 1915 and served until 1917 when Edward O. Sisson became president. He served until 1921 when Charles H. Clapp, the present executive, was appointed. Since 1915, eight new buildings have been erected and the school has grown in enrollment, faculty members, courses of instruction and scholarship standing.

Many of the traditions that exist in the school today had their origin in the secret meetings of Silent Sentinel. Among the accomplishments of this group, which was made up of the president, two faculty members and five students, are S. O. S., and the Kaimin. The first football game at the State University was played on "the flat," north of the campus on the banks of the Missoula river. The students sat on the nearby terraces. The major games were played with a college at Deer Lodge that has long since been discontinued.

is necessary in these times. But is it economy for you to neglect the only pair of eyes you will ever have? If they are strained, we can fit glasses which will protect them, for a moderate cost.

"I was afraid Grandfather would be Shocked.."

"HE'S rather a bossy old darling, and I didn't know how he'd like the idea of my smoking."

"The first time I lit a Chesterfield in front of him, he sniffed like an old war-horse...and I braced myself for trouble. But all he said was, 'That's good tobacco, Chickabiddy.'"

"You know Grandfather raised tobacco in his younger days, so he knows what's what. I don't, of course—but I do know that Chesterfields are milder. It's wonderful to be able to smoke whenever you want, with no fear you'll smoke too many."

"And it doesn't take a tobacco expert to prove that Chesterfield tobaccos are better. They taste better...that's proof enough. Never too sweet. No matter when I smoke them...or how many I smoke... they always taste exactly right."

"They must be absolutely pure... even to the paper which doesn't taste at all. In fact...as the ads say... 'They Satisfy!'"
