500 ENROLL IN SPRING QUARTER
UNIVERSITY CENTER COURSES

MISSOULA--

About 500 University of Montana students and members of the Missoula community are taking part in the University Center Courses being offered during spring quarter at UM.

Three courses have been added to the spring offerings.

"The Unified Family of Missoula" is sponsoring a free course entitled "Spirit and Society." The course features films, discussions and speakers on topics related to spiritual and humanitarian ideals, problems and values. The seminars meet on Monday evenings at 8 p.m. at 324 Daly Ave., three blocks from the University.

Brad Morris, a former instructor at Arthur Murray Studios and a teacher with 16 years experience, is offering a course in ballroom dancing on Mondays from 6:30-7:30 p.m. in the UC Ballroom. All phases of the dance form will be covered at a cost of $11..

Dog obedience is again being offered on the UM Oval from 6-7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays. The course, which costs $14, concentrates on the basic commands.

There is a $2 registration fee which is nonrefundable.
