LIBBY, MISSOULA MEN TO SPEAK TUESDAY
IN 'MODELING REGIONAL PATTERNS' SERIES

MISSOULA--

The third in a series of informal seminars being conducted during April at the University of Montana under the theme, "Modeling Regional Patterns: Economics, Environment and Politics," will be held from 4-5:30 p.m. Tuesday (April 16) in room 109 of the UM Mathematics Building.

The seminar will feature two speakers, Mark Schoknecht, Libby, resident manager of the St. Regis Paper Co., and Robert E. Benson, UM faculty affiliate and research associate in forestry at the Forestry Sciences Laboratory in Missoula.

Schoknecht will discuss "Economic Projections for the Forest Products Industry in Montana" and Benson will discuss "The Forest Industry in the Perspective of the Total Forest Resource."

The seminar is open to the public without charge.

The University's Bureau of Quantitative Studies, under the direction of Dr. Robert McKelvey, a UM mathematics professor, organized the series.
