MONTANA KALIMIN

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1932

VOLUME XXXII. No. 9

STATE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA, MISSOULA, MONTANA

From the SENIOR BENCH

WELL, we've been to Butte, and here we are back home again. We had a good time, although we were sorry about the way the game turned out. But we can't see that any one person is to blame for the result. It was a fair game, but there are more games coming, and anyway we never did care for hash. To tell the truth, the crowd was so entertaining that we couldn't concentrate on the game as we should have. Did you see the elderly Buddha-plump individual doing the highland fling? Bozeman's hobkitten was, we readily admit, a "sweet kitty." We liked the way the two bands played together. The harmony was nearly as colorful as the costumes.

THEATER prices are being reduced. Depression-hit students can render their gratitude to the Interfraternity committee and the officer of the Associated Students who made the reduction an actuality instead of a hoped-for possibility. That extra dime has purchasing power, these days, and we don't mind hanging on to a few of those that used to fall carelessly by the wayside. We used to dislike going to shows because the previews of shows we couldn't afford to see were so tantalizing. Now, if you save a dime on a piece on four shows, you can see another show. And by the way, Hi-Jinx is only going to see you back four-bits this year! A depression has its uses.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES have always been hard for the American tongue to encompass. French and Spanish are not so hard to learn to read, assuming the application of a little time and intelligence, but the pronunciation is more than slightly difficult for most students. The lack of practice in pronunciation is the handicap, of course. It sounds a little absurd to mutter Spanish syllables to oneself, or to converse in French idioms with an uncomprehending roommate. And since, after all, college is a place to learn such things, the new classes in pronunciation seem to us to be fulfilling a need in the educational program of the Department of Foreign Languages.

LAST Friday, after the Kalimin was published, two journalists were admiring the appearance of the front page. It was their opinion that it was a good-looking job, from every standpoint. A student from another department of the State University sat listening, and laughed at the journalistic enthusiasm. The front page of a newspaper had never struck that individual as particularly beautiful. It occurred to the journalists that there was probably a good deal of unappreciated effort expended upon newspapers. Then, extending the subject of contemplation, the three students decided that a good deal of unappreciated effort was spent in most of the departments of a university, and in most of the professions and businesses existent. The classification of a library is taken for granted by those who have not been intimately concerned with the labor expended. The preparation of legal briefs, biology "slides," chemical compounds and presentable plays, all require much more effort and study than the general public realizes. Only the man on the football field knows how hard he is working for that touchdown. It is because certain people are trained to do certain jobs well that the world clicks along as satisfactorily as it does. But do, sometime, take time off to appreciate the work that goes into the other fellow's job.

Ida Patterson of Big Timber was a dinner guest at the Alpha Xi Delta house Thursday evening.

A new radio was installed in the parlor of South hall last week.

Dramatists Will Sponsor Play Contest

Royalty Will Be Given by Masquers For Best Written Play If Produced

Montana Masquers have announced an original one-act play contest which is open to all undergraduate and graduate students. This contest is the first of its kind to be conducted by the Masquers on the campus.

A royalty of $10 will be given for the best play written if it is judged suitable for production by the Masquers. If there is more than one play which may be produced, a $5 royalty will be given for second and third places.

A committee composed of H. G. Merriam, Prof. E. L. Freeman and Bernard Hewitt will judge the plays. If one or more plays are worthy of production, the Masquers will present them spring quarter.

The manuscripts may be submitted any time until December 2. The authors are to sign a pen name to their plays and enter them with a sealed envelope enclosing the real name, with the pen name on the outside. The manuscripts are to be placed in the campus mail box, addressed to Bernard Hewitt.

Spanish Group Elects Lesell As New Leader

Mrs. Elmer Herold Gives Talk on Characteristics of Filipinos

Seventy-five members attended the Spanish club meeting at the Alpha Phi house Wednesday evening. Officers elected for the year were: president, Eva Lesell, Belt; vice-president, Virginia Hancock, Butte; secretary-treasurer, Martin Hinnaland, Brockway. Faculty sponsors are Cecile V. Sughrue and Elsie Eminger.

Mrs. Elmer Herold of Baguio, P. I., sister of B. E. Thomas, professor of Spanish, gave an interesting talk to the club members on varied experiences while living in the Philippine islands. She also spoke on the customs, characteristics and languages of the Filipinos. Mrs. Herold was accompanied by a Filipino girl dressed in native costume. Elsie Eminger gave a Spanish dance in costume, accompanied by Marion Smith at the piano.

"Hereafter meetings will be held on the second Wednesday of every month. Students registered in 13b and advanced courses are eligible for membership," stated Miss Eminger. She also stated that dues will be 25 cents a quarter and may be paid at her office.

THREE GRADUATES HAVE CLEVELAND FELLOWSHIPS

Irene Cunningham, Missoula, Naomi Sternheim, Butte, and Catherine Johnson, Mullan, Idaho, all graduates of the State University last year, hold three of five similar fellowships granted in 1932 by the School of Applied Social Sciences at Western Reserve university, Cleveland, Ohio.

Sedman Will Speak Over Radio Tonight

"The Orientation of Women in the University" will be the subject of a half-hour talk to be given over station KGOV this evening by Mrs. Harriet Rankin Sedman, dean of women at the State University. Mrs. Sedman's talk, which will take place between 9:30 and 10 o'clock, is one of a series of talks being given by members of the faculty of the State University on the "College Knowledge" program every Tuesday evening. Mary Isabel Stewart will present a vocal solo and Pauline Ritchey will present a violin solo, on the same program.

Prof. Rufus A. Coleman of the Department of English, and director of the broadcasts, is particularly anxious to receive comments and suggestions from student and faculty listeners.

Helen Dahlberg, Polson, was a visitor at the Kappa Delta house Saturday.

Clouds in Grizzly Football Realms Vanish at Meeting

Team Pledges Complete Support to Coach Onkes and Also to Team Mates

Tangled misunderstandings which have racked the 1932 Grizzly football squad were ironed out during a round-table discussion yesterday in lieu of the regular practice session.

Pledging their complete support to each other, the coaches and the men resolved to devote their entire efforts to the winning of their next conference football game. The ironing out of the many misconceptions under which the team had been laboring instilled in them renewed confidence and enthusiasm.

Having admitted to themselves that they had not played the brand of football of which they are capable since the Washington game in Seattle, the men resolved to turn over a new leaf. Upon their own accord, the Grizzlies planned to follow industriously the training program outlined by the coaching staff at the beginning of the fall practice session. They further planned to exonerate themselves to the extent of their ability and to endeavor to live up to the pre-season expectations.

Concluding amongst themselves that considerable part of the misunderstandings may be laid to the numerous misconstrued statements accredited to members of the coaching staff and to members of the squad, the Grizzlies unanimously agreed to refute all such statements and to stand accurately behind the team and coaches from now on.

Only three days of practice remain for the Grizzlies to prepare to meet the Washington State power attack in Pullman. Intensive workouts will mark those days and scrimmages with the freshman squad will be held today and tomorrow.

Home Economics Enrollment Is 61

Enrollment in the Department of Home Economics is about the same as usual this year.

There are 46 majors and 15 minors in the department, while for the last three years there have been between 45 and 50 majors. There are several transfers from other schools. Seventeen sophomores and 13 juniors are enrolled in the department, the records of Prof. Helen Gleason indicate.

Instructors Will Check On Absences

Department of Military Science Is Most Exact in Dealing With Cuts

Class cuts may not mean a great deal to the individual during the quarter but when an instructor looks over his list of absentees at the end of the quarter it may mean a great deal to him.

Last week there were 63 reported absences, which was small compared to the number of classes which were cut with no excuse made to the proper authorities.

Formerly, seven cuts were allowed with a penalty of grade point reduction but with the change of system the absences are left entirely to the individual and his instructor.

Each week a list of reported absences is sent to instructors to check with their lists of absences. Some maintain that if a student is clever enough to "make the grade" without coming to class, he is that much better off. Others take no particular notice of cuts but let the student attend class at will and have his grade determined by examination. Most instructors believe, however, that they enjoy an audience and absences will count in the final grade.

Most exacting is the Department of Military Science, which punishes its absentees by giving them 15 demerits for each unexcused absence.

Mrs. A. F. LeClaire, University nurse, is in charge of absences caused by sickness and the deans of men and women will report excuses for out of town trips or other reasons.

Straw Vote This Thursday Will Show Campus Trend

State University students, faculty members and employees will have an opportunity to show their preference in the presidential race next Thursday when a straw vote will be taken on the campus.

The polls will be set up shortly after 8 o'clock and will be open until 5 o'clock with a half-hour recess between 12:15 and 12:45 o'clock. The poll will be conducted by the Kalimin, and all students, faculty members and employees of the State University are eligible to vote. Names will be checked from a list secured from the registrar's office in order to prevent duplication, and every attempt will be made to make the vote show the true feelings of the school on the issue.

Ballots will be given out at the time the person registers at the desk, which will be located either in front of, or in Main hall, depending upon the weather.

There will be three names on the ballot: Herbert Hoover, Republican; Franklin Roosevelt, Democrat; Norman Thomas, Socialist. Ballots will be counted under the supervision of a faculty member and the results will be published Friday.

Nothing but official ballots will be accepted or counted and no names written on the ballots will be taken into consideration. Ballots will not be signed and no check will be attempted to show the preference of individual voters.

Drama Group Will Present Three Plays

Colen Clements, Former Student, Is Author of One Production

Colen Campbell Clements, a former State University student, is the author of "Spring," one of the three one-act plays being presented by the Montana Masquers Friday night.

Clements is the author of two books of one-act plays and was co-author with his wife in writing a novel, "Fear to Fear." He also assisted S. S. Van Dine in the adaptation of his mystery novels for screen production.

"Three Lepers of Suk-el-Gorab," which is one of the one-act plays in Clements' "Plays for a Folding Theater," was given production at the French Theatre in Beirut, Syria, where Clements was living when he wrote the play. "The Siege," also in this collection, is based on an actual experience of the author's in Arabia in 1920. Speaking of this play, Henry Bordeaux of the French Academy said, "I should like to see it done in French. Mr. Clements makes one feel that thing that is the East."

"Spring" is included in a collection of one-acts called "Plays for Pagans." It is typical of the author's varied and fresh style of writing. For several of his plays Clements has designed the set.

Clements attended the State University from 1912 to 1916. He transferred to the University of Washington where he was graduated in 1918. After his graduation he traveled through Asia Minor and the Balkans. In 1921 he returned to the United States and is now living in California.

Alumnus Will Open Second Drug Store

Ronald Miller, '29, Is Advertising Manager for New Firm

Orville W. Peek, '21, owner of Peek's Drug company, at 642 Woody for the last nine years, will open a second store Wednesday at 132 N. Higgins. Besides a complete line of drug equipment, a feature of the new establishment will be a fountain and luncheonette, where breakfasts, lunches and dinners will be served in addition to the regular fountain service.

Ronald Miller, '29, will be advertising manager for the new firm. After Miller's graduation he spent a year working for his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin, and the following year held the position of advertising manager for the Sawyer stores in Billings. Since then he has been employed by the Peek Drug company.

State Board Okays Budget For Schools

Construction of Nine Buildings at Five University Units Is Planned

A budget of $1,050,000 a year for the next biennium to carry on the activities of the Greater University of Montana was approved Saturday by the State Board of Education upon the recommendation of Chancellor M. A. Bragdon.

The plan will necessitate a tax levy of three mills following a $30,000,000 drop in the assessed valuation of the state since last year. This will be an increase of one-half mill over last year. The appropriation for last year totaled $1,098,867.

Following the approval, Montana architects presented specifications for the construction, on a percentage basis, of nine buildings at University units. They have estimated the work at $1,500,000 which the board hopes to receive from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. It has not yet been determined whether such a loan can be obtained, members of the board said.

However, if this money is obtained a residence hall and a student union building will be erected at the State University; a residence hall at the School of Mines; a residence hall at Dillon Normal school; a union building and three dormitories at the State College; and a combined recitation and residence hall at the Northern Montana College.

Dr. Francis A. Thomson, president of the School of Mines, was permitted to serve without pay as consulting engineer for the Helena advisory board of the Federal Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Class of '36 May Get Tickets Thursday and Friday at Main Hall

Completed plans for the annual sophomore dance complimenting the freshman class were announced yesterday by Jack Coughill, president of the class of 1935. The dance this year will present an innovation in class affairs in that it will be featured as a prize dance.

The dance will be held Friday evening, November 4, in the men's gymnasium and is the only campus social event scheduled for that evening.

The prize theme of the dance has been adhered to in the formation of all plans. The programs and decorations will be in complete harmony with that theme.

Freshman men students may secure free tickets by applying at a table to be placed in Main hall Thursday and Friday afternoons.

"The annual sophomore dance," said Jack Coughill in extending an invitation to the members of the class of 1936, "is given by the sophomore class of the State University complimenting the members of the freshman class."

"We of the class of '35 desire the presence of every member of the class of '36. Freshmen men may secure complimentary tickets Thursday and Friday afternoons at a table in Main hall. Get dates and be there, we promise everyone a good time."

New York Geologist Consults With Clapp

Chester W. Washburne, geologist of New York City, stopped over in Missoula Thursday afternoon for a consultation with Pres. C. H. Clapp on the geological faults in Western Montana. Mr. Washburne was with the United States Geological Survey for several years, but for the past 16 years has been in private practice. His studies of oil investigations have been made on practically every continent of the world.

Following his meeting here, he left for Butte to study the detail maps of the Anaconda Copper Mining company geological department and consult with Pres. F. A. Thomson of the School of Mines.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE SELECTS FOUR MONTANA MEN

Cale Crowley, Richard Lake, Rubin Lewon and Eugene Sunderlin Will Represent State University in Montana Examinations At Butte on December 10

Four State University students were selected from a group of 25 candidates Friday afternoon to represent this institution in competition against delegates from other Montana colleges in the state Rhodes scholarship examinations at Butte, December 10. The four men

Convention Of Teachers Is This Week

Twelve Faculty Members Will Take Active Part in Meetings of Teachers' Association

Twelve faculty members and four students of the State University will take part in the program of the annual convention of the Western Teachers' association at the Missoula county high school October 27, 28 and 29.

School will not be held on Friday in either the grade schools or high schools of the city. J. G. Ragsdale, president of the Western District convention, will be in charge of the program. More than five hundred out-of-town teachers are expected to attend the convention.

The Western Teachers' association is one of the three units of the Montana Education association. Other district units will hold conventions at Great Falls and Billings.

Persons connected with the State University appearing on the program are Pres. Charles H. Clapp, who will give the address of welcome; W. E. Maddock, professor of education; B. E. Thomas, associate professor of foreign languages; Lucia B. Mirrieles, professor of English; A. L. Stone, dean of the School of Journalism; Rufus A. Coleman, assistant professor of English; J. Earl Miller, dean of men and professor of history and political science; Helen Gleason, professor of home economics; Anne Platt, associate professor of home economics; Emily MacLay, commercial instructor; Robert C. Line, dean of the School of Business Administration, and C. H. Riedell, professor of fine arts.

Musical numbers will be presented by Russell Watson, Kathleen Dunn, George Diekel and Marian Wold of the State University School of Music.

Graduate Students Are Now Seeking Advanced Degrees

State University Alumni Are Well Represented on Many Campuses.

Prof. William G. Bateman of the Department of Chemistry has recently received letters from several graduates of the State University which give reports of their present positions.

Franklin A. Long, who received his M. A. degree in Chemistry in 1932, is employed as a teacher in the chemistry department at the University of California. Long was well known to State University students as an excellent student who was active in campus activities. Vernon Mickelson, who received his M. A. degree from the Department of English at the end of the summer session, is also teaching at the University of California.

Newton E. Chute, a graduate of the Department of Geology in 1930, was employed as a teacher in the geology department at Michigan State College during 1931. At the present time he is working for his doctor's degree at Harvard. Robert Young, a graduate of the Department of Physics in 1930, also is attending Harvard.

Dr. Reynold Fuson, professor of organic chemistry at the University of Illinois, was recently appointed to the board of editors of "The Journal of the American Chemical Society." Dr. Fuson graduated from the Department of Chemistry at the State University in 1920.

Former Governor Will Speak Here

Hon. Joseph M. Dixon Will Speak in Main Hall Tomorrow

Hon. Joseph M. Dixon, assistant Secretary of the Interior, will speak to students and townspeople tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in Main hall on "The Private Life of President Hoover and the policies of the Republican Administration."

"Mr. Dixon has been prominent in state and national politics for more than 30 years and close association in the national capitol well qualifies him to speak on so interesting a personage—President Herbert Hoover," stated Robert Corlette, president of the "Hoover-for-President" club.

The student public and townspeople are invited to attend this meeting.

Through our entire college career we have listened to our fellow students "gripe" about something or other every day. The usual theme song, however, seems to be, "Good grief, why doesn't something exciting happen around here?" Most of them never seem to realize that there are thousands of little things to do, things to be seen, that in themselves may not amount to much, but when accumulated make one see how much may be missed in this world because we are just too lazy to go out and look for them. Students here at the State University have the opportunity every day of seeing masterpieces in the blending of colors, but more than likely all they think about when they step outside the door on their way to class is how boring it is going to be or what is going to happen because they can't remember how to conjugate a verb.

There is an ever-changing panorama going on over our heads all day long. Have you ever watched the clouds change formations? It's a very interesting occupation. We have often seen figures which bore a remarkable resemblance to Lincoln and Washington, and almost any time one can watch a regular circus pass in review across the sky.

The campus at sunset can almost take one's breath away with the beauty of it. The tall, sentinel-like pines with Main hall in the background, guarding and watching over the hurrying students, and the big clock slowly ticking away the minutes, make a picture we can carry always, no matter how far we stray.

Have you ever stood on Main hall steps and looked down University avenue? Try it some time and see what you see. There seems to be a kind of haze at the end of the street which causes it to look as though it stretched on forever, far over the watching mountains into new lands.

Little things like these don't seem to amount to much. We hurry on our way to a waiting class or lesson and fail to find time to glance at the beauty around us. Tomorrow morning when you step out of your door to go to a class, just stop and take in the scenery. Away off over there you may see a shaft of sunshine breaking through the clouds and making a plot of grass gleam. Those shafts of sunshine have a strange way of lightening the day's load of worries. Try it and see.

The Broadcast

By Mike

The Butte game is over.

Until all of the reports are in, there is no use commenting further. In fact, there is no use commenting further anyhow. Let us forget.

Here's a little verse that appealed. Perhaps it intrigued us because—well, we still have our pipe, too.

PIPE DREAM

When a man falls in love with an ideal and can't have it, then it's time for him to look for higher things. To strive for, to gain, to accomplish.

I lit her cigarette, my pipe, And we proceeded to talk, to bare our souls; People called it love, but we did not; It was a beautiful friendship—but people talk.

Now it is over. I still smoke my pipe. And she—well, some one else lights Her cigarettes. Often I visit the spots we knew.

But they aren't the same; she isn't there, thank heavens!

WE START THE BALL ROLLING

Hoover: What this country needs is a good new joke.

Weber and Fields: Well, how about our present congress?

H. That's a good one, boys, but it's not a new one.

W. and F. Well, then, how about Roosevelt and Garner?

H. (with a broad smile): Good-bye, boys; see you later.

AND TO KEEP IT ROLLING:

What this country needs is a GOOD president.

The major parties' candidates are too austere and sensible; we need a new candidate—a man who is a man. The broadcast will support 100 per cent such a character. In fact, we've scouted around and believe that there is such a man in existence.

Next week, we hope to divulge his (or do you think it should be her) name. The political pot is brewing. Listen to the Broadcast Friday.

Out of the Past

Old Kaimin File Reveals the High Lights of Twenty Years Ago on the Campus

Recovered from a musty grave in the dark recesses of the Department of Geology, the bound volume of the 1912-13 issues of the Kaimin was found lately by Dr. Charles F. Deiss. The papers bring back memories of the early days of the State University, when women wore bustles and cross-country runs were the shining features of the athletic realms.

In those days the Kaimin was edited in the basement of the old Library, now the Law building. The paper was a weekly and consisted of six pages, five columns on each page. Sports held the limelight, and the State University teams were playing against the high schools of this section. The editor-in-chief of the paper was Carl Dickey, who later became a member of the staff of World's Work, and who is now with a popular trade journal. The Kaimin was edited by Lewis Hunt, now assistant city editor on the Chicago Daily Tribune. The Kaimin alumnus news was edited by Winifred Feighner, now of the State University Library staff.

Paul Dornblaser, after whom the athletic field is named, was the president of the Associated Students and was famous as the State University's outstanding athlete. Edwin B. Craighead was the president of the school, having come from Tulane university to take his position here.

It was during 1912 that one of the school's most famous traditions, Singing on the Steps, was initiated to arouse spirit for the coming football season.

That year the popular sentiment among the students, as now, was to beat the Bobcats, while the heads of the state institutions were attempting to unite the colleges of the state into one school. According to a story in the Kaimin, the conditions were highly favorable.

Magazine Wants Youthful Writers

"Modern Youth," a magazine to give recognition to young authors and students, has been established recently.

No author is to be more than 30, and short stories, poems, editorials and discussions will be used. For material published, the author will receive payment, according to the editor of the Modern Youth magazine, New York City.

Some of the contributors to the magazines of today are young people but usually they are well known authors. Modern Youth is giving opportunities of recognition to those who ordinarily are only recognized in college magazines and papers.

although a new generation is entering the State University, the spirit and ideas are yet the same, and the search for education goes on forever.

"What on earth are you up to now?"

FINDING things out, smarty! I thought I'd examine the tobacco in a cigarette.

"Look here...this is Chesterfield tobacco. Notice its lighter color...you don't see any dark heavy types, do you? I guess that's why Chesterfields are milder.

"I'm told that uniformly lighter color is due to cross-blending. It sort of welds all the tobaccos into one.

"And here's something else. Notice that these long shreds are all cut the same width. It stands to reason they burn smoother and cooler.

"I don't pretend to be an expert but it looks to me as if they make Chesterfields right.

"Here, light one. That's the best test after all. They Satisfy."

Bobcats Defeat Grizzlies By Sensational Offensive On Clark Park Gridiron

Hinman, Team Captain, Makes Touchdown for State University;
19-7 Score Gives Bobcats Second Victory in 24 Years;
Fourth-Quarter Rally Comes Too Late

Montana State's fighting Bobcats crawled out from the underdog's position and battled their way to a 19 to 7 victory over the State University Grizzlies at Butte Saturday afternoon. The heavier Grizzly was outchugged and outplayed from the start and the Bobcat backs maintained the Grizzlies, especially when the goal-line was near.

The Grizzlies took advantage of the first break of the game when Dale Hinman, Grizzly captain, intercepted Bobcat pass, breaking up a College great and turning it into a Grizzly touchdown, running 93 yards behind fast-forming Grizzly interference.

From that time on the Grizzlies were out of it. The Bobcat linemen tore holes in a sagging Montana forward wall and their backs charged through repeated gains. The Grizzlies clung to the lead during the opening period but the ball was in their territory most of the time. Both teams played a kicking game, waiting for the breaks. The ball was on the State University's 20-yard line when the quarter ended.

Score Tied
At the start of the second quarter, the Grizzlies punted out of danger but the Bobcats were not to be denied. A 23-yard march, featuring Edwards' hard-hitting fullback, resulted in tying the score, Buzzetti carrying the ball the last six inches. Parke kicked the extra point.

The rest of the period was a punting duel, with the Grizzlies getting the better of it because of the strong wind. But Bobcat running plays worked better and evened up the difference in the kicking. The half ended with the score 7-all and the ball in the possession of the Grizzlies near the middle of the field.

The Bobcats kicked off to open the quarter and the Grizzlies began their most offensive of the day. Stansberry, Hileman and Hinman carried the ball to the Bobcat 9-yard line, but there the gold-shirted linemen dug in and held for downs. The Bobcats' kick was short and the Grizzlies wasted another opportunity a little later when a pass dropped incomplete behind the goal-line.

Bobcat Defense Strong
The remainder of the period saw the Bobcats in a courageous defense of their goal-line. Time and time again they halted the Grizzlies but could not get out of danger because of the wind which held their punts to short distances. Consistent line plunging, aided by a fumble and a couple of penalties, carried the ball to the Grizzlies' 7-yard line, as the quarter ended with the Bobcats in possession of the ball.

The Bobcats scored on the fourth play of the new quarter after a penalty gave them a first down on the one-yard line. Edwards carried it over. Parke missed the extra point. The Grizzlies came back with a drive to the Bobcats' 17-yard line after the kickoff but lost the ball there as a pass went astray. The Bobcats were making a great fight whenever the Grizzlies moved into their territory.

Conversation Club In French Shows Unusual Progress

Registration Surpasses Limit First Day; Meetings Will Be Held
Twice Each Week.

Unusual progress was shown in the Tuesday and Wednesday meetings of the French conversation club, sponsored by R. O. Hoffman, professor of French in the Department of Foreign Languages.

Registration in the class was limited to 25 and that number was surpassed the first day. However, there are a number of listeners who are not taking active part in the work of the class. The necessary prerequisite for the conversation course is French 13b and an average grade of A or B. Meetings will be held on Wednesdays and Thursdays of each week from 4:10 until 5:30.

"The response and interest shown by the young men and young women registered in this course are indeed very gratifying; my only regret is that lack of time prevents me from opening a second section," Mr. Hoffman stated.

not make the proper connections. Buzzetti scored for the Bobcats near the end of the quarter, making sure of the Bobcats' second victory over the Grizzlies in the last 24 years and the seventh in the 35 years of rivalry between the two institutions.

Stansberry, who had been playing a great game for Montana, opened up with a passing attack, completing three to Hileman, Vidro and Emery before the final gun stopped them on the Bobcats' 20-yard line.

Pharmacists Receive Herbs From Canada

Twenty-Five Specimens Are Sent To Mollett From University Of Toronto

A shipment of 25 herbarium specimens was recently received by the School of Pharmacy from the University of Toronto at Toronto, Canada. Dean Charles E. Mollett explained that he collected the specimens while attending the tenth annual meeting of the National Plant Science Seminar at Toronto last August.

An annual feature of the meeting is the collecting of specimens of medicinal plants which are found in the vicinity. These were put in plant drawers by officials at the University of Toronto and shipped, when they were dry, to the various men who had collected them.

The School of Pharmacy is building up a collection of medicinal plants found in all parts of the world. These are acquired by exchanges with different schools and by collections made by faculty members. At the present time there are about two hundred and fifty plants in the collection. Dean Mollett sent in 25 specimens of tropical medicinal plants while he was in Florida last year.

During the meeting last year Dean Mollett was elected a member of the executive committee and chairman of the publicity committee. Acting in the latter capacity Dean Mollett is sending out reports of the meeting to drug journals all over the country at the present time.
