State University Campus Benefits Under Civil Works Administration

Approximately One Hundred and Thirty Unemployed Hired; Delayed Improvements Are Underway in Buildings

Work long delayed on the State University campus because of reduced appropriations is rapidly being completed by approximately one hundred and thirty unemployed men and women hired through the Civil Works Administration, J. B. Speer, registrar, has announced. The term of employment will last until at least January 15.

"Many students had been hopeful of securing work with the CWA," Mr. Speer said yesterday, "but up to the present time no provision has been made for their employment. However, several graduates have secured work through the administration."

Of the women, 40 are employed in unskilled labor and the remaining 20 are engaged in clerical duties. Fifteen are doing cleaning work in the residence halls and 25 are performing similar tasks in various University buildings.

Approximately twenty laborers are grading the east side of Dornblaser field in preparation for the erection of new bleachers to replace the old ones at the north end of the field which will probably be razed, T. G. Swearingin, maintenance engineer, announced yesterday.

Ten carpenters are engaged in making the reserved seat section of the new bleachers more comfortable. Mr. Swearingin pointed out the fact that under the old arrangement there were 21 rows of seats allowing only 21 inches between the rows. The carpenters are rejuvenating the reserved seat section to provide 15 rows, thereby leaving 29 inches between rows.

There are 10 painters redecorating several of the buildings. At the present time they are working in the classrooms in the Library and in several offices.

In the forestry nursery there are about seventeen men engaged in various tasks, the major one being the relaying of a water pipe so that it will not freeze in cold weather.

Three carpenters are insulating the floors under Simpkins and Marcus Cook halls. It is expected that this measure will keep the buildings warmer and reduce the heating costs.

Registration May Exceed Last Year's

More Men Than Women Enrolled According to Temporary Statistics Given

Temporary enrollment figures for the 1934 winter quarter total 1,348, an increase of 33 over the corresponding period last year, President C. H. Clapp announced. However, as the present total includes no cancellations of registration it cannot be taken as an assurance that attendance this quarter will actually be larger than last year, President Clapp pointed out.

Of the 1,348, 798 are men and 550 are women. A year ago there were 760 men and 555 women, indicating a noticeable increase of men students this quarter.

Advance registration in December showed 1,253 students enrolling during that period. Advance enrollment a year ago totaled 1,216. The remaining 95 of the 1,348 are new students or former students who did not attend during the autumn quarter, as compared to 99 new students a year ago.

"Cancellations and late registration will change these figures so that probably no definite statistics will be available until the end of the week," President Clapp said.

Registrations of students who fail to pay their fees or make arrangements concerning them before January 13 will be cancelled.

CWA EMPLOYS SEVENTEEN AT FORESTRY NURSERY

At the present time 17 men, furnished by the CWA, are working on the Forestry nursery directly north of the campus.

The major portion of the work consists of laying a water main from the city main to the nursery packing plant. Experimental work on grazing and grasses will begin as soon as the nursery is in the proper condition.

Dr. C. L. Hitchcock spent Christmas vacation in California.

Montanans Are Active In Coast Economic Meet

Author of "Montana My Montana" Addresses Conference; Dean Line Is Director

Montanans played prominent parts in the Pacific Coast Economic conference which concluded December 30 at Seattle, according to Dean R. C. Line who returned Monday after attending the conference. Dean Line was elected as a director of the conference. George Greenwood, graduate with the class of 1904, author of "Montana My Montana," and now a president of one of the Seattle banks, addressed the conference. S. J. Coon, Dean Line's predecessor as dean of the Montana School of Business Administration, and now dean of the school of business administration at the University of Washington, served as chairman of the two-day meeting.

The conference was composed of the deans of various business administration schools of Pacific Coast universities and other members of the teaching staffs.

Papers on recovery were read and various aspects of economic conditions and methods of remedying them were discussed and made up the major part of the conference's work. All meetings were held in the University of Washington buildings.

Coal Consumption Strikes New Low

University Heating Plant Establishes Minimum Record

A new record for minimum coal consumption in the month of December has been set by the State University. During the past month only 368 tons of coal were consumed by the heating plant. This is a decrease of 42 tons in comparison with the previous December record of 410 tons set in 1929.

The record was made despite the fact that last month was not the warmest December since the heating plant commenced operations in February, 1923. The average temperature during the past month was 32 degrees. Corresponding months in 1925 and 1929 had an average temperature of 34 degrees.

During the last six months of 1933 a decrease in coal consumption of 230 tons in comparison with the corresponding period last year was also effected, according to T. G. Swearingin, maintenance engineer.

Welcome Mixer To Open Winter Quarter Activities

All University Students Are Invited To Attend Dance Saturday In Women's Gym

A welcome mixer, the first one sponsored by the A. S. U. M. for the 1934 winter quarter, will be held in the women's gymnasium Saturday. There will be no admission charge.

Grace Johnson, new A. S. U. M. president, has extended a general invitation to every student, assuring good music and a good time. "The purpose of this mixer is to welcome students, old and new, back to school. It is the first all-University function of the winter quarter. Similar mixers may be held at the beginning of each following quarter."

The A. S. U. M. social committee is in charge of the arrangements.

Gonzaga Bulldogs Bring Fast Quint To Play Grizzlies

Several Veterans Are on Squad That Meets Montana Here Next Monday Evening

With a short layoff after their trip to Billings this week, the Montana Grizzlies will again go into action on the basketball court next Monday when they meet the strong Gonzaga quint here. The Bulldogs come here with a fast, high-scoring machine, having lost a close scoring contest to the Washington State Cougars last week, and will make interesting opponents for Coach Lewandowski's boys who have won four of the first six games played this season.

The Bulldogs, coached by Claude McGrath this year, will show their wares in Missoula Monday with several experienced veterans and a flock of new tossers to aid them. Forwards are Cunningham, this year's speed demon on the gridiron, and Rowles, a good shot. Two of their best veteran team-mates are Jim and Bill VanSistine, the huge athletes of past Gonzaga fame. Jim jumps center, and Bill, who weighs more than two hundred pounds but is shifty and agile, will play one of the guard positions. In addition to these men, the Bulldogs have a talented group of newcomers on the squad.

Coach Lewandowski will use the following men in attempting to repel the Gonzaga attack: Jimmy Brown, who has been the leading scoring threat this season; Bill Erickson, another capable forward; and group of fine reserve forwards including Charles Flanagan, Henry Blastic and Homer Cushman. Al Heller is the leading candidate for center position but is closely contested by Al Dahlberg. Guards include Hileman, Reynolds, Steensland, Holloway, Rhinehart and Davison.

Russell White who was forced by illness to withdraw from school last spring, is again enrolled in the State University.

JOHNSON SUCCEEDS THIRLOWAY AS HEAD OF STUDENT BODY

Recent Appointment of Woman as A. S. U. M. President Sets State University Precedent; Thirloway Leaves to Take New Position at Washington, D. C.

For the first time in the history of the State University, a woman is president of the A. S. U. M. Grace Johnson of Harlowton succeeds Harvey Thirloway, senior in the Department of Economics, who left his home in Butte on December 29 to go to Washington, D. C., where he has secured a position as an elevator operator in the Senate building during the present term of Congress.

Scheuch Named On Commission Message States

Unemployed, Artists To Be Aided By PWA Fund; Buildings To Be Decorated

A message from Washington, D. C., states that Prof. F. C. Scheuch of the State University has been named a member from Montana of a commission to administer the northwest's share of the $3,000,000 segregated by the Public Works Administration for the relief of unemployed artists. The work that will be done by the artists given employment by the PWA will consist of doing murals for public buildings and otherwise decorating them. The University is eligible to receive some of this work.

"I really think that this is a fine idea, putting murals, sculptures and other things on campus buildings such as the Library, the Forestry building and perhaps even the dormitories," said Professor Scheuch when interviewed concerning his recent appointment.

"As yet I know none of the details of the plan, but I expect to be notified soon by Burt Brown Barker, who is chairman of this regional commission. I feel sure that my appointment is largely due to the influence of Wayne Johnson, prominent New York attorney and graduate of the State University School of Law. Mr. Johnson has always worked for the University's advance, this being another of the many things he has done for us."

Mr. Barker is expected to call a session of the commission soon.

Dr. C. W. Waters of the Department of Botany, drove to Kansas to visit his mother during Christmas vacation.

Frosh Honor Sophomores With Dance

Annual Affair Will Be Held Friday, January 12, in the Men's Gymnasium

Freshman students of the State University will honor the sophomores at the annual Freshman-Sophomore dance to be held in the men's gymnasium next Friday night, January 12. The dance committee as announced by Erling Oss, freshman class president, consists of Marjorie Thompson, Butte, chairman; Clayetta Groff, Victor; Nan Divil, Butte; Kenneth Coughlin, Butte; Jess Lacklen, Billings, and Joe Mariana, Miles City.

Those on the ticket committee are Maurice McKay, chairman, Spokane, Wash.; Philip Isaac, Hysham; Dale Rankin, Missoula; Neil Helly, Columbus; Bill Shallenberger, Missoula; Richard Brome, Butte; Robert Tweto, Missoula, and Don Cowles, Livingston. Sophomore tickets will be distributed by George Yucanovich, Butte, and Cornelius Colligan, Butte.

Margaret Raitt Secures Position

Margaret Raitt, Helena, who was graduated from the State University last June with the degrees of Bachelor of Arts in Journalism and Bachelor of Arts with a major in Economics and Sociology, has been assigned to settlement work in a large Polish district of Cleveland.

Miss Raitt, now studying at the Western Reserve university in Cleveland, will supervise dramatic activities of Polish girls at a recreation center in that city.

When notified of her succession to the presidency Miss Johnson said, "I realize I am taking on a big job. It is going to be hard to carry on in the manner of such a successful president as Harvey. I sincerely hope that everyone will continue to give their whole-hearted co-operation, and I will endeavor, to the best of my ability, to complete the successful year already started."

Thirloway, aboard the Olympian en route to Washington, sent the following letter to all State University students:

"I take this means of saying 'so-long' to the many acquaintances and friends I have known on the Montana campus. I regret that my farewell must be so impersonal.

"The few months I have been honored as your president have meant a great deal to me. I shall never forget the exceptional support you have given our administration, and I know that you will continue to work with Grace as you have done with me this last quarter."

"As Al Dahlberg stated at a recent rally, 'The reason for all this spirit is co-operation.' Every student officer, whether appointed or elected, has done a great piece of work and although the entire student body support at games and rallies has accomplished wonders, your job is far from being done.

"The basketball team deserves your support; in the spring the track team will be carrying the University colors. As long as all the students, all the athletic teams, and all the faculty plug together as they have been doing you can't be beaten.

"With regrets that increase with the miles and with the most sincere wishes for a glorious year for everyone, I say—'so-long.'"

"HARVEY THIRLOWAY."

Innovations Planned For Foresters' Ball

Log Cabin Will Be Constructed In Rangers' Dream

A number of foresters who spent the Christmas holidays in Missoula devoted their time to gathering cedar boughs and logs for a cabin in the Ranger's Dream at Forester's Ball. This cabin will be an added feature at the ball this year. The lighting effects for the main dance floor as well as the Ranger's Dream have been rearranged and improved over former years.

Plans for broadcasting the music are being investigated and the foresters hope to be able to put the entire program on the air over station KGVO.

Just How Much Do They Count?

"Wha'd ya get?" That simple, pertinent sentence represents a quarter's work, a quarter's wondering and another grade harvest. Again it stands for sorrowing and rejoicing for the individual, his associates and his parents.

One looks around. He hears about someone getting "A" and "B" or another passing grade that he knows was not deserved. He thinks of the sincerity of work and effort he himself put into a course, while his neighbor, who cheated a little, soft-soaped a little, or had a little "pull," passed with astounding grades.

At first it hurts a bit. Certain things are not explainable to certain people. One contemplates on how much effect his present troubles will have on his life ten years from now.

Few dads and mothers understand; the University, coldly indifferent, refuses to understand. Again that smugly contented, seldom apparent, superb thing called conscience comes to smother every disappointment. It may be that conscience and God alone love the honest worker.

People in Glass Houses

With the arrival of the new year, United States Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has announced that "our college life has expressed its vitality in such rackets as organized football, or college activities of a sort which remain essentially the same from generation to generation."

Perhaps you are right, Mr. Wallace. Perhaps America has never had a youth movement worthy of the name as you say. Of course your position and experience is far superior to our own but has not America prospered and grown fairly well during its brief history? Surely our leaders with all of their wisdom and ability to cope with the problems did not come into the world at middle age.

The accusations of Mr. Wallace are not new. Preceding generations have always been the objects of worry. University life may be a farce, a comedy or a "racket" but we wonder if there are not some tainted spots in the careers of college students of Mr. Wallace's time. It may be that his theory is sound but again we would like to know if Mr. Wallace ever stopped to consider that it is the young man and woman of today going through what he believes are wasteful college years who will tomorrow pay without a whimper for the mistakes his generation may be making now.

The Professor's Plight

Few institutions have suffered more from the long-continued depression than the colleges and universities. Particularly is this true of the state universities of the Middle West, most of which being dependent upon current taxes find themselves the pet targets of politicians desirous of reducing taxation. Of course the financial stress of the institutions finds reflection in privations for the faculty members. I hear of one very large institution which is contemplating a reduction of its teaching staff by no less than six hundred.

From one state university comes the tale of an assistant professor who eked out a too slender stipend by managing a gasoline station. Shocked, the president called him to account. The university might be poor, but no such sacrifice of the dignity of its professors could possibly be permitted. Noblesse oblige, you know, my dear fellow. The professor went home and reflected. He gazed upon the abundant crop of infants which always seems to sprout among professorial families. He studied the comparative income from vulgar gasoline and the higher lights of intellectual endeavor. Finally he sent his resignation to the college president.

The story reminded me of an experience I had in one of our Massachusetts college towns. A long street, shaded by beautiful old elms, runs by the side of, and at places through, the campus. One side is given over largely to very spacious and beautiful fraternity houses. I was walking along this avenue one day with a professor who suddenly revealed deep bitterness of spirit over the economic status of his profession.

"Look at that!" he cried, waving an indignant hand at the fraternity row along the way. "Those palaces! Actual palaces in every respect. Occupied by a lot of young wastrels! Students who are coddled like young royalty. And see this decrepit frame house here? Three professors' families live in it, with barely enough room for the decencies of life. Abominable, I call it!"

The contrast was, I admitted, rather shocking. It led me to wonder why, amidst the uncounted gifts and bequests for students' living quarters in our colleges, nobody ever thinks to establish a quadrangle for the professors. But just now the question is rather academic. Nobody is giving to anything nowadays, except to meet the bitter needs of victims of the depression.—Christian Science Monitor.

Graduate Studies

Art in Stockholm

Mary Kirkwood, a graduate of the Department of Fine Arts in 1926 who later taught at the University of Idaho, is now in Stockholm, Sweden, studying the minor arts. She was awarded a year's study abroad and chose Stockholm rather than Paris because of her interest in the crafts.

"She is the daughter of Professor J. E. Kirkwood, former head of the Department of Botany and was one of our most promising graduates," said Professor C. H. Riedell who received a Christmas card from her.

Lawrence Baker, Bronxville, N. Y., who withdrew from school last quarter has returned to resume his studies.

WORK OF ART STUDENTS

NOW BEING EXHIBITED

Five hundred drawings out of four thousand completed last quarter by the students in the Department of Fine Arts are on exhibition in that department on the third floor of Main hall. The display shows the work accomplished by the students and will be on exhibition this week and through next Monday.

GRADUATE SECRES POSITION

Bob Cooney, Canyon Ferry, '31, is now employed by the Federal Forest service at the Missoula headquarters and is enrolled for graduate work in the School of Forestry.

Things I Remember

Remember when, in the days when freshmen had to wear green caps? Well, those were the days of real sport. They wore them diligently, too, because there were enough Bear Paws and Men who carried paddles to see to it. Only once did we have an outburst. That was the time the frosh, now juniors, attempted to buck us and discard the green. It all happened in front of the Student Store. A few Bear Paws were hanging around talking when a loud noise started down the road a ways and about fifty frosh all minus their green caps came marching past. Of course there were not enough of us to quell them so an appeal was sent out to all M men and Bear Paws. Well, the fight that started then was nothing short of slaughter; frosh were flung high and low and beaten with heavy paddles till they could hardly walk. I'm not saying that they didn't fight back, but they were outnumbered and they took their beating good naturedly. Something like that always helped out the school spirit idea and its too bad that it had to be abolished because the frosh today are certainly getting by easy.—August W. Vidro.

Graduates Direct University Work For State Cities

CWA Funds Provide Teachers With Correspondence Study Positions

Unemployed teachers who are graduates of the State University are being given work in many of the larger cities of the state as directors of correspondence work issued by the University. Funds for the employment of these teachers are being given through the Civil Works Administration. Thus far approximately twelve teachers have been employed to act as readers and graders of work submitted by about one hundred students. In addition, a number of other assistants have been hired by the various local school systems.

No charge is being made by the University for the work taken except a one-dollar fee to cover postage costs. The students taking this work are given University credit for all courses passed. Present indications are that this work will be expanded throughout the state. Lists of eligible unemployed teachers are being submitted to the superintendents of the different school systems for selection.

Grizzly Quint Concludes Holiday Basketball Series Winning Four Out of Six

Polson, Helena, Billings Poly and Eastern Montana Normal Drop Games To Montana Hoop Squad; Golden Bobcats and Idaho Vandals Triumph Over University

Winning four out of six contests, the Montana Grizzly basketball squad started its first round of games during the 1934 season, a holiday trip to Helena and Great Falls netting the club one win and one loss, and another trip this week bringing two victories over Billings Poly and Eastern Montana Normal.

The season was opened in Missoula with a win over the Polson Independents, and Idaho won the other home game.

Coach Lewandowski used a squad of ten men on his trips and had more material for the two home games. With little chance to have an organized practice schedule during examinations last quarter, the men have worked into a smooth point-getting aggregation, and will improve with later games.

Poison Opens Season
Opening the 1934 season for the Grizzly quint, Polson Independents, composed of ex-collegians, journeyed to Missoula to lose to the Montana squad by a 34-29 score. The game was fast and rough, with Montana outlasting the visitors to triumph.

Brown and Erickson, the two Grizzly forward mates, shared scoring honors for the University club with 10 tallies. Al Heller was close behind with eight points. Most of the visitors' punch came with the accurate shooting of Roullier, ex-Ronan high and St. Charles player, who accounted for 22 of Polson's points.

Helena Is Defeated, 38-29
The Grizzlies journeyed to the Capitol city for the second contest, defeating the Helena Independents, composed of Intermountain Union players along with Lyman and Fox, former Grizzlies. Eight of the nine Grizzlies who entered the fray also were in the scoring column, Monte Reynolds leading the scoring with seven points. Marcus Brandford was high point man for the opponents, scoring 12 points. Helena led at the half, 20-19, but a faster Grizzly attack in the second period put the game away, 38-29.

Golden Bobcats Win
Traveling to Great Falls to meet the famous Golden Bobcat team which embraces such all-American players from Montana State as "Cat" Thompson, Frank Ward, and Max Worthington, the Grizzlies were smothered by a smooth-working, clever team by a 57-32 score.

The Golden Bobcats who have lost only to the Ogden Boosters, another all-American aggregation, proved that they are still as good as they were when they defeated the best teams throughout the country by accurate shooting, clever floor work and brilliant passing. Frank Ward and Thompson shared scoring honors with 13 points apiece, while Chuck Flanagan led the Grizzlies with seven tallies.

Idaho Edges Grizzlies
Returning to Missoula for their next game, the Grizzlies dropped a 29-27 thriller to the University of Idaho. The Vandals and the Montanans were evenly matched, the Grizzlies leading at half-time, 22-15, and the visitors quickly tying the score and going into the lead in the final minutes. Grenier and Klumb, Idaho's giant members, were too much for the locals, keeping the ball out of their reach most of the time. Klumb was high-point man for the visitors with 12, while Jimmy Brown led both teams with 13.

Montana Beats Poly
Last Tuesday at Billings the Grizzlies hit their stride to smother the Billings Polytechnic quint, 52-38, leading most of the way and never being in danger. Coach Lewandowski's men were the masters throughout the game, leading at the half by a 33-18 score and then running up the big score to put the game on ice. Jimmy

Sporty Vents

Winter here is bringing basketball, bowling and most of the other sports that are common on the campus, but the spring weather that is prevailing will stop any plans for a State University hockey team or Interfraternity hockey tournament.

While other parts of the state are suffering the rigors of the cold and snow and are getting practice in hockey and skating, Missoula basks in weather that calls for the diamond and the track. But, if the weather does break, the rink and the students are ready and waiting for the ice.

O-O
The Grizzlies are getting off to a good start in basketball, having won four out of the first six games played. Coach Lewandowski's squad has stopped the Polson Independents, the Helena Independents, Billings Polytechnic and the Eastern Montana Normal, and has dropped contests to Idaho and the Golden Bobcats.

O-O
The Idaho game was the closest, only two points separating the clubs at the end of the struggle. The Golden Bobcats led the scorers again with 18 tallies, while Rogers at center led the Crusaders with 16 points.

Grizzlies Win Again
Wednesday evening in Billings brought the Grizzlies another win, this time drubbing the Eastern Montana Normal school by a 59-35 count. At one time in the first period, the Billings squad led by 11 points, but when the Grizzlies got under way, they were not to be stopped. Al Heller tossed 16 points to lead both teams in scoring, while Stevens led the Normal list with 14.

Bobcats mowed down the Grizzlies, but in no worse fashion than they have mowed down all their other Montana opponents. The Grizzlies went on scoring rampages twice to defeat the two Billings collegiate teams.

O-O
This is a big season for touring hoop teams, many of them being due to pass through Montana. The Grizzlies played the Golden Bobcats and have games signed with the House of David and Olson's Terrible Swedes. The Cook's Painter Boys are around and the Ogden Boosters of Ogden, Utah just finished a Montana tour.

O-O
The Golden Bobcats have won every game except one, splitting a brace of games with the Ogden Boosters. Both of those clubs furnished plenty of all-American talent when they met. The Cats were supported by "Cat" Thompson, Frank Ward, Max Worthington and "Brick" Breeden, all of them winning the distinction, while the Boosters had on their squad such all-American names as Miller and Gibbons and several others who played with the Wichita Henrys, when that club won the national amateur title.

O-O
More basketball is in store for the Grizzlies next Monday when they meet the Gonzaga Bulldogs from Spokane. The Bulldogs always present a snappy aggregation with plenty of talent and a whole floor full of sharpshooters.

O-O
The VanSistine brothers have in the past been mainstays of the Gonzaga quint, while several other veterans appear on the roster. Fans can look forward to a good contest when the Grizzlies and the Bulldogs tangle claws and teeth on the basketball floor.

O-O
Interfraternity athletics get their start early this quarter with basketball and bowling being started immediately. The basketball schedule opens January 9, and the bowling, which this year will be managed by the athletic department, will start soon.

O-O
Last year, the basketball title was won by the Sigma Chi quint after a tough schedule. Plenty of students got a chance to handle the ball in games and many got the benefits of the games. Swimming this year was handled during the fall quarter, and the lack of cold weather prohibits ice hockey, so it looks as though basketball and bowling will furnish all the athletics for the students this quarter.

Oakes Goes To Football Conferences

Montana Coach Represents Ninth District at Annual Coaches' Meeting in Chicago

That the football rules governing collegiate competition will remain intact for the 1934 gridiron season is the opinion of Coach B. F. Oakes of the State University who attended a series of meetings of the American Coaches' association at Chicago, December 27, 28 and 29. Coach Oakes was the Ninth District representative, representing the schools and coaches of the Rocky Mountain division.

Two measures that were considered by the coaches did not pass, according to Coach Oakes. The plan to move the goal posts back to the goal-line was discouraged by the representatives, while the "dead ball" rule was voted down. Another proposal, that one allowing forward passes anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, was greeted by a barrage of dissection, and did not go through.

He said, "The only rule to receive a great amount of enthusiasm was the rule to move the ball in to the 15-yard line instead of the 10-yard line on an out-of-bounds play."

On December 26 and 27, Coach Oakes attended a meeting of the National Football Coaches' association at the Sherman hotel in Chicago where he made a report on the Ninth district, which comprises all colleges west of the Rocky mountains. On December 28, he attended the College Physical Education meeting, and on the next day, he was present at the meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

FRATERNITY HOUSE BURGLAR HAS PENITENTIARY RECORD

Joseph Shean, who was arrested here last week and sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary for burglary of the Sigma Nu house, has served most of the past 20 years in prison, according to word received here from Austin B. Middleton, warden at Deer Lodge.

Shean gained access to the fraternity house by climbing the fire escape and breaking a "Siberia" window. He entered one of the rooms by chopping out the door panel and escaped with several suits of clothes and other wearing apparel. He was later arrested by police who tracked him to a storehouse after he had left the fraternity house.

At the time of his trial, Shean declared that he had never been in trouble before, and was sorry he had done wrong.

Student Drawings Will Be Exhibited

Local Work Will Be Sent to National Display in New Jersey

An exhibit of five drawings is being sent to Asbury Park, N. J., to compete with drawings of students from all universities in the country. The State University works entered are those of Nemesio Borge, Missoula; Vivian Bower, Tarkio; Nedra Galbreath, Browning; George Hillman, Livingston, and George White, Lewistown.

As the Department of Fine Arts does not save the student drawings for more than one quarter, a comparatively small number was available from which to choose, as compared to some of the larger universities which save all student work.

The exhibit will take place from January 21 to 31.

Housman Located For Thesis Work

Professor R. L. Housman of the School of Journalism and his family arrived in St. Louis on the evening of December 24, according to word received here.

The Center Leaves have the finest Tobacco Quality

that's why only center leaves are used in Luckies

The first thing people see and like about Luckies is how round and firm they are. The tobacco doesn't spill out and there are no loose ends to cling to lips. That's because we pack each and every Lucky full to the brim with long, even strands of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos—only the center leaves. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed.

Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves—because they are the mildest and fully ripe for perfect smoking. That's why Luckies always draw easily, burn evenly—and are always mild and smooth. So smoke a Lucky, a fully packed cigarette. And remember, "It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.
