Seven Acts Chosen for Varsity Vodvil at Tryouts Last Sunday

Final Show Will Be Presented at the New Wilma Theater March 2; Specialties to Be Presented Between Acts

At Varsity Vodvil tryouts held Sunday in the Little Theatre the acts of Alpha Chi Omega, Independent men, Independent women, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Kappa were selected for the final show to be given March 2 at the Wilma theater. The management this year is planning specialty numbers between the acts, a departure from former years. Some of the cleverest parts of the acts and the best campus talent will be used. More definite announcements about these numbers will be given later.

Dick Shaw, Varsity Vodvil manager, said, "The acts give promise of being the finest show in years. I've never seen tryouts as well done as they were Sunday. I might even go so far as to say that the worst acts Sunday were almost as good as the best acts in last year's tryouts, and last year's Vodvil was better than average. The acts show the results of a lot of hard work and bring out some wonderful talent. I am extremely pleased that the organizations have taken such an interest in the show."

The titles of the winning acts and their managers are: Alpha Chi, "And So—," Mary Emmett, Fromberg; Barb women, "Cavalade," Hermina Giron, Missoula; Kappa, "Good Heavens," Mary Kohn, Missoula; Sigma Kappa, "Lullaby Land," Marjorie Mumm, Missoula.

Barb men, "A Bum Steer or Who's Got Our Nell?" Joe Wagner, Missoula; Phi Delta, "Tony Pastor's Varieties," Phil Pollard, Red Lodge, and Phi Sig, "The Aerie or the Sweetest Story Ever Told," Sterling Stapp, Billings. Bernard Hewitt, director of dramatics, who was one of the judges, said, "I've seen only one other set of tryouts and I was very much surprised at the difference. All the acts this year were better than any in the last year's tryouts, and at least four in the tryouts were better than any in last year's finals. In short, this year's tryouts looked remarkably good."

Andrew Cogswell, instructor in the School of Journalism, another of the judges, stated, "The tryouts were much more finished than in other years. The acts show the results of harder practice, greater interest and more originality."

The acts that were eliminated are: Alpha Xi Delta, "A New Deal," Rose Spetz, Whitehall; Sigma Nu, "Two of a Kind, or Could Noah Take It?" Howard Gullickson, Missoula; Sigma Chi, "Death, Where Is Thy Sting?" Noral Whittinghill, Helena, and Students' Co-op, "His Only Night," Glenn Reddick, Kalispell.

Long Hike Taken By Mountaineers; Data Is Secured

Twenty Miles Covered By Club in Trip Around Bases of Hills Near Missoula

Walking 20 miles along the bases of the hills surrounding Missoula, the Mountaineers Sunday completed one of the longest trips they have ever taken and gathered data for perhaps sixty trips which will be taken in the future. Each hiker was required to gather data on some phase of the trip. Presentation of this information will be the subject of the next Mountaineer meeting.

The group, which included Vera Brunner of the Forest Service, Florence Grape, Viola Jacobs, Bud Myrdal and Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Spohr, all of Missoula, Dean Freeman Daughters of the School of Education, and Prof. C. H. Riedell of the Department of Fine Arts, left Van Buren bridge Sunday morning at 9:10 o'clock.

They arrived at the McClay bridge at 1:30 o'clock and were joined by Dorothy Gregory, Prof. and Mrs. E. M. Little, Theodore Shoemaker and Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Swan.

The party started on the second part of its tour at 3 o'clock, and arrived home about three hours later. Dr. C. B. Spohr's pedometer registered slightly more than twenty miles as the trip was completed.

Florence Grape took data on all the gulches and mountains that were traversed; Marion Porterfield noted birds seen; Viola Jacobs, the wild flowers; Vera Brunner took the time, direction and mileage of each major distance, and Dr. Spohr listed all possible places for future trips.

Basketball Convocation For Friday

Men's Gymnasium to Be Scene Of Enthusiastic Pep Rally

Hoping to equal the enthusiastic pitch characterizing the football rallies of last fall the first pep basketball convocation seen on the University campus in many years will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the men's gymnasium. The convocation is being held for the purpose of arousing spirit and enthusiasm for the first Grizzly-Bobcat game of this season.

"We want a large turnout at this convocation as the Grizzlies need the support of every student. It helps a team to know that it is fighting for a student body that is behind it to the last man. Get out and back your team and it will do its best to back you," urged Grace Johnson, A. S. U. M. president, yesterday.

President C. H. Clapp and Coach A. J. Lewandowski will speak at the convocation. There are still two other speakers to be chosen. One of these will probably be a local business man presenting the views of the merchants on the coming series with the Bobcats. The other will be either a faculty member or student.

Co-captains Al Dahlberg and William Erickson, both of Butte, will introduce the team.

"This convocation has been organized purely for the purpose of effectively portraying student spirit and enthusiasm in backing the Big Bear team on the eve of a crucial series," said Virginia Bode, Butte, president of Spur.

Yell King Noral Whittinghill, Helena, who will lead the students in cheers and introduce the speakers, expressed a hope that there would be a record-breaking attendance at the convocation. "Friday and Saturday nights the Grizzlies meet the Bobcats," Whittinghill said. "We want Grizzly victories over the quint that has long been supreme in state hoop circles. Every loyal student who dares call himself such will remember to be in the gymnasium at 11 o'clock Friday morning."

It is true that attempts to compel friendship between individuals seldom produces the desired result. The man or woman who brings two good friends together with the idea of making them like each other as well as he or she likes them has little chance of success. It may not be the essential contrary-mindedness of human nature which causes the intended boon companions to recoil from each other, but it must be something on that order.

Everyone is aware of a sensation of prejudice against the person whose praises have been sung too much. People who are told that they are certain to like a person they have never met usually begin with a stubborn determination not to like him.

This theory may be directly applied to the college student who has entered the institution because some one told him he was bound to like it. Praises have been sung too high. Perhaps the student may have expected too much, his basis of judgment may not have been carefully founded. At any rate he finds himself wondering whether he is getting just what he wants or whether he has made a mistake in coming to college.

It might be advisable to stop thinking about the opinions which someone else has tried to form for you. Friendships that are lasting ones come naturally and spontaneously. They cannot be forced with any degree of success, for the song and the words can't coincide properly unless they are sincere and correctly timed.

A Rendezvous With Life

Be it ever so humble, there exists in every human being the desire to escape for a time the humdrum existence of life as it is. Most of us are happiest while engaged in constructive work and others, frustrated perhaps, seek happiness in destructive work.

Students of crime have discovered innumerable causes for the acts of man which are anti-social and criminal. Most crimes against persons occur in tropical or warm countries, while the majority of crimes against property are perpetrated in northern countries. There is a higher ratio of criminals among unmarried and divorced men than there is among those who are married. Not poverty, but poverty where it exists side by side with great wealth, is found to be a factor in influencing men. Excessive wealth leads to viciousness and crime, but the wealthy offender has more numerous and efficient means of escaping detection and punishment. Swift and unexpected industrial changes bring about an increase in the number of lawbreakers.

The influence of social theories which tend to engender contempt for life and property; the absence of a deep-seated religious influence which would restrain men from yielding to evil impulses; corruption of partisan politics; lynching and public exhibitions of cruelty which tend to debase the human character; the influence of associations and suggestions by which gangs of shiftless men and boys form centers of criminal life under the leadership of unscrupulous chiefs; social disturbances, such as war, crises and revolutions—all these are held responsible for crime. All authorities agree that intemperance is a serious cause of crime.

The question of whether education reduces or increases crime is far from conclusively answered. Those states which have the best systems of education also have the most criminals. But as a rule the proportion of prison population that cannot read and write is considerably higher than the free population. It has also been found that the higher the position—that is, the means for earning a livelihood—the less likelihood is there for crime.

Hereditary criminality does exist, but criminality produced by social and economic causes is far more common and of far greater significance. What if we should make all men see that peace can be as adventurous and exciting as war and crime? What if this administration could enlist every man in a crusade, not against crime, but for an active interest in life; give each man hope that he may someday be a hero? Then civilization will have achieved happiness for men.

"Let the Artist Starve"

Artistic painting, as a profession, has never been looked upon very seriously by the general public. "Let the artist starve" has been the popular sentiment of the past, but the CWA is utilizing the talents of unemployed professional artists to beautify our public buildings. And it's an excellent idea. What one of us doesn't admire a beautiful painting or an inspiring statue wherever he sees it? It somehow adds "something" to a drab existence—satisfies an aesthetic longing.

The unemployment program of the CWA is serving a twofold purpose—artists are being given jobs, and at the same time, interesting and artistic decorations are being added to otherwise commonplace interiors.

With the announcement that the State University is to benefit by this program, comes an increased satisfaction with the CWA program. The School of Forestry will receive a series of panels depicting the lumber industry, all done by a graduate of the State University Department of Fine Arts.

Surely there could be no more appropriate utilization of unemployment funds, especially when a portion of those funds have been set aside for artistic endeavors. We shall await with interest the completion of these historic panels.

The Goodrich-Zeppelin company has been given a contract for the construction of an army balloon with a capacity for 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas. We might find a use for congressional leaders after all.

Dr. Margaret Daniels, psychologist, complains that women are too aggressive and have given men a "flight complex." This may account for the rapid developments in aviation.

At last we were able to convince the students that there is such a creature as the "Little Man." The morning after Foresters' he was seen in about one hundred different places at the same time. The little rascal certainly had his hands full annoying as many people as he did. Some say that even on Sunday he appeared at the Bowling Alley and Varsity Vodvil tryouts. The little rascal!

FREE COKE SECTION

Today's FREE COKE goes to Doc JESSE for leaving the Xmas Wreath up for another week. It's a very good idea, Dean, because you know, Easter will be along before very long and it will ably serve as a "Bunny Day" decoration with a little fixing up.

Very sorry that we have to talk so much about Foresters', but you folks who went to fill your tummies at the "Second call" and found the cupboard bare—do you know that next morning the boys found 11 pies and 12 quarts of ice cream—such a business!

Psi Chi Prepares Questionnaire Data

To Study Temperaments of College Students, Personality Traits

Psi Chi, national honorary psychological fraternity, made final arrangements for a study of temperaments of college students at a meeting in the psychology laboratory last week.

The members of Psi Chi will ask students to answer certain questions and fill out a questionnaire as soon as the data can be arranged, according to specifications set forth by Prof. E. A. Atkinson.

The questionnaire concerns various ways in which people manifest their temperaments and personality traits together with the frequency of occurrence of such manifestations.

In addition to regular business, the club voted to buy pictures of five world famous psychologists to be hung in the psychology laboratory.

Psi Chi will meet again Wednesday, March 7.

Grizzlies Nose Huskies in First Game But Drop Second Contest

Montana Club Upsets Coast Conference Leaders By 32-29 Margin But Is Swamped 60-24 in Saturday's Fray

The Montana Grizzlies put a satisfactory finishing touch on their Pacific Coast tour last Friday and Saturday by breaking even in a two-game series with the University of Washington's Coast conference title leaders, surprising the Seattle team in a 32-29 victory, but dropping the second fray by a 60-24 margin.

The Seattle contests closed the Grizzly invasion in which they won two games and lost three, splitting games with the Huskies and the College of Puget Sound and losing to Ellensburg Normal. The showing made by Coach Lewandowski's men was good throughout, despite the fact that they were matched against some of the leading aggregations of the Coast. Ellensburg has a fast squad, the Loggers are the leaders of their junior circuit, and the Washington Huskies are easily the class of the Northern division of the Pacific Coast conference.

Grizzlies Upset Huskies

In the first game of the series, the Huskies were taken by surprise by a fast-breaking, accurate-passing band of Montana hoopers who ran up a 16-10 margin at the half, and played on even terms throughout the second period to come out ahead, 32-29. Coach Edmundsen started his second string against the Grizzlies, but ran in the regulars when the Montanans went on a scoring spree. The regulars were not able to cope with the Grizzly attack, and their rally at the end was cut short as the Grizzlies stayed ahead to win.

Huskies Reverse Second

A peeved Husky aggregation took its revenge on the Grizzly squad Saturday night by administering a 60-24 drubbing to the smaller Montana team that was unable to cope with the straight-shooting and fast-passing attack put on by the Coast conference leaders. The first string started the game, but the Grizzlies got away to a substantial lead until the Huskies got under way to even the score. Then, in the last period, the Huskies turned on the power and ran away with the contest, leaving the alternates to keep the score going until the game was ended.

Grizzly Freshman Track Meets Listed

Team Expected to Be Exceptionally Strong in Hurdles, Pole Vault

University freshmen will compete in three telegraphic track and field meets with other conference freshmen teams this spring according to Coach Harry Adams. May 12 the Cubs will meet University of Oregon and Washington State college freshmen and on May 19 will compete with yearlings from the Universities of Washington and Idaho. The Pacific coast conference telegraphic meet for freshmen will be May 26.

Outstanding prospects for the Cub team include Popovich, hurdler; Williams, middle distance; Sheridan, hurdler; Higham, discus; Stein, pole vault; Preston, sprints; all former interscholastic stars. Numerous others are enrolled and are expected to turn out for spring workouts.

Adolph Zech, '33, is working for his master's degree and teaching German at Stanford.

The fireworks are due to start this week-end when the State College Bobcats come over here to play the first two games of a four-game series this season. The Cats started the year with few veterans and plenty of freshmen, and they have developed into a real threat.

They lost 11 games in the Rocky Mountain conference, but each loss was less than the previous one, until they were extending the best teams in that circuit. They recently beat the Miners handily and gave fans a prediction of what they will do when they come to Missoula for the series.

The veterans of the team are co-captains Young and Harding and two or three alternates, and the rest are freshmen or first-year players. Some fine stars are included in this lineup of Edwards, Vavich, Zupan, Doyra, Stebbins, Taylor and Bilant.

Every one of the players who see most of the action are six feet or taller, and the two or three substitutes are five feet ten inches or better. Which means that the Cats will have height to their advantage when they meet the Grizzlies.

In the past, Bobcat teams have ruled Montana basketball circles without much trouble, and this year's edition seems to be doing well in spite of a bad start. They are the only state club that has a victory over the Montana State Normal College, which at present rules the race with the Grizzlies.

On the other hand, it is the best chance the Grizzly team has had for some time to avenge past defeats. With the state hoop race a toss-up now, Coach Lewandowski's men will have to work hard for the title position.

The Grizzlies puzzled the fans on the coast, winning and losing when they were least expected. They split their series with the Puget Sound Loggers, and then went to Seattle and upset the mighty Huskies of the Uni-

Heily and Jarvis Fight Fast Draw In Prelim Match

Card for M Club Final Event Nears Completion With Most Events Arranged

With most of the contestants already selected for the M club tournament, only one bout was held yesterday in the eliminations. Monday's bout was between Randall Jarvis and Neil Heily in the lightweight class.

Both fighters started fast but slowed considerably in the second round. Heily used a left jab to do considerable damage to Jarvis in the first round, but Jarvis came back in the second round to turn the tables and carry the round. The bout was declared a draw and an extra round was fought. At the end of the fight the judges still voted a draw. The same boxers will fight Thursday.

In the wrestling room, three matches were run off. Grattan threw Mungle, Copenhagen won a decision from Scott and White threw Jones.

With such veterans as Reynolds, Stansberry, Kuka, Rhinehart, Hawke, Caven, Vickerman, McDaniels and a few others leading the field. The middle distance and long runs are the only sore spots.

They Satisfy

... people know it!

Same thing with a good cigarette or a good wood-fire.

All you need is a light.

And all you want is a cigarette that keeps tasting right whether you smoke one or a dozen.

That's what people like about Chesterfields. You can count on them. They're milder—and they taste better.

In two words, they satisfy. That says it.

Lennes' Publication Wins Commendation

Letters Praising Book Are Received
By Publishers

Purchasers of the new Lennes' "Essentials of Arithmetic" have written the Macmillan company, publishers, that the workbook-texts are outstanding in their field. The first books in the series were published in January.

"The samples of Lennes' 'Essentials of Arithmetic' for grades three and four have been very carefully examined by our grade teachers and myself," A. L. Rosenhall, superintendent of schools at Bingon, Wash., wrote the publishers. "I can say without hesitancy that they are the best units that I have ever seen or had the pleasure to examine. I congratulate you upon their publication."

Other testimonials received by the Macmillan company have been sent to Dr. Lennes, who is now completing the sixth grade series.

New Assignments Made at Meeting

Assignment of duties was the business of the staff meeting of the Pharmacy News Letter at its first meeting. Each of the five members of the editorial board and Dean C. E. Mollett of the School of Pharmacy have been assigned to a definite task.

Dean Mollett will handle the alumni department; Bob Dussault, Butte, chairman of the board, will handle athletics; Winifred Keyes, Missoula, society; Dorothy LaCasse, Missoula, junior and senior pharmacy class news; Amoretta Junod, Spokane, Wash., sophomore news, and Waldron Boger, Dillon, freshman news.

Purchase Blanks to Check Poison Buying and Selling

A book of "poison purchase blanks," now used by pharmacists throughout the state, has just been received by Dean C. E. Mollett. These blanks must be filled and signed by individuals desiring to purchase poisons from drug stores. Dean Mollett has added a description and explanation of the blanks to the course in Materia Medica.

"Retail druggists," says Dean Mollett, "selling the poison, as well as the purchasers must sign these blanks."

At their meeting in Billings in July, members of the State Pharmaceutical association adopted this plan of selling and checking poison. All purchasers of arsenic, corrosive sublimate, chloralhydrate, chloroform, ether, cyanides, strychnine and other potent and toxic drugs must not only sign the blanks but reveal what they intend to do with the poison.

"Through this measure, persons buying and using these poisons can be traced by authorities of the law," Dean Mollett says. "Most other states have such laws. This new idea is being carried out in the interests of public safety."

Dean Mollett has also received copies of a standard table of poisons, which is reprinted from the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical association. The report on the table was made by the committee on potent and toxic drugs of the National Drug conference. Copies of the reprint may be obtained through the Journal of the pharmaceutical association. Pharmacy students will receive free copies from Dean Mollett.

Flicker Discussed In Smith Article

F. O. Smith, professor of psychology, has recently written an article on "The Study of the Perception of Flicker."

Some interesting observations were made on flicker. While collecting material for the article it was found that when one eye is stimulated by a flickering light the flicker can, under certain conditions, be observed by both eyes, as if both eyes were being stimulated. The effect of this binocular flicker is influenced by the presence of various objects or objects of different shapes in the field of vision.

The experiment shows that flicker is not simply a reaction of the retina, but involves a number of psychological factors.

"Alma Mater"

"Alma Mater," the closing selection on the Glee club concert last Sunday, is an original composition by Dean DeLoss Smith of the School of Music. Dean Smith composed the music but adapted the words from a song written by a classmate, Burt Doan. "Alma Mater" has been sung in public but twice.

The words of the song follow:

'Mid the mountains of the West, O Montana,
By the sylvan bower's blest, O Montana,

We have come to hymn the lays
Of our Alma Mater's praise,
And our hearts in thanks we raise
For Montana.

May thy future glories be, O Montana,
Choicest blessings rest on thee, O Montana,

To the world the fairest fame
Of thy loved and honored name,
Shall thy children e'er proclaim,
O Montana.

Professor Lennes has been informed. He is now working on his thesis, the subject of which will be "A Modern Study in Logic."

Examinations in the history of philosophy, logic, Aristotle, Leibnitz and Manuel Kant were taken by Lennes, in addition to examinations in French and German. His Ph.D. degree will be in philosophy and languages.
