Petitions Circulated to Obtain Student Backing for Track Meet

Thursday Is Set as Final Day of Signing; 500 Names Must Be Secured In Support of Interscholastic

Tickets to the thirty-first Interscholastic Track and Field meet may be purchased for $1 this year provided 500 or more students sign the petitions now in circulation agreeing to pay the dollar at the beginning of the spring quarter in addition to the regular fees. This will allow admission to both afternoons of the meet. Petitions must be signed before Thursday.

In case more than five hundred dollars is taken in the surplus will be used to send track representatives to some invitational or national meet. The petition will be invalid if less than five hundred signatures are received.

Free cokes will be given to each member of the group having the largest percentage of signers. Petitions will be collected Thursday.

"This plan was started in 1932," said Ken Duff, A. S. U. M. business manager. "Previous to that time the annual meets were not making expenses. The Missoula Chamber of Commerce in years previous to '32 had been making up the deficit but this could not go on indefinitely. Very few season tickets were sold to students at the current price of $2.50 and it was thought that perhaps the solution to the difficulty could be brought about by offering season tickets to the students at a price of $1 payable at spring quarter registration time, providing 500 students paid it."

"This plan has proved successful. Five hundred twenty-two paid the first year, the required number subscribed last year and we hope the same attitude will be prevalent this year."

Distribution of the cokes will start at the beginning of next quarter and will be dispensed between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Branch to Teach Summer Courses

Author Will Conduct Short Story And Literature Classes

Professor E. Douglas Branch, now teaching at Northwestern university, will conduct courses in the writing of the short story and general literature at the State University summer school. He will give a series of six lectures on Thursday mornings at 11 o'clock on "Social History."

Mr. Branch received his doctor's degree from the State University of Iowa, and he has previously taught at Ohio State, Louisiana State college and Purdue. Three of his books—"The Cowboy and His Interpreters," "The Hunting of the Buffalo" and "Westward" have already appeared. "The Sentimental Years" is being published this year by the Appleton Century company.

Dr. N. J. Lennes of the Department of Mathematics discussed "The Federated Social Service—Past, Present and Future," at the colloquium of the First Congregational church Sunday evening.

Nobody Knows the Trouble He's Seen, Nobody Now But—

Curly-headed fellow, always around until very recently. Yan has passed on. Everybody in the Science building knew him. He attended every one of Doc Young's lectures faithfully.

Yan was not one to dawdle on the steps. When he started to go he knew where he was going and went. He knew, better than anyone else, where Doc Young was every minute of the day. In the morning he would race toward school, his long silky haired ears flying in the wind. At noon he would trail Doc home, making short detours wherever he felt he was needed. Alley cats were not the only creatures he detested. Many a rat has found his home in a hurry as Yan scurried about.

Yan was not a very chummy fellow with his own race. He was about the only rat-tailed Spanish cockerel in Missoula. And Yan was not the kind to chum up with just anybody.

He learned to behave in such a manner as to be agreeable to men on earth and if there is a heaven it is certain that he will be welcomed there.

SOME people are registering for courses to be followed next quarter and at the same time dropping one or more for this quarter. Rather a strange feeling, we should think—to work for a whole quarter at something for which one had registered with every good intention, and maybe some eagerness and expectation, in just the same manner in which he is now registering for more, and then to drop it just as the date of completion is near. There will probably be a good many of the petitioners who will find that their only choice in the matter is to make good or to take a flunk. Even if one's reason is sound the signatures necessary for the acceptance of a drop are difficult to secure because of the suspicion with which members of the faculty are inclined to look upon students who ask for anything out of the ordinary in their manner of securing an education. These instructors are often justified in this attitude; there are always those students who will slip and slide a subject and then try to get out of the bad grade. On the other hand, legitimate reasons for dropping a course are not so rare that they rate a place in Ripley's cartoon, and it is rather discouraging to a well-meaning student to be stalled by a hem-haw remark and a number of skeptical questions which indicate quite clearly that the instructor wouldn't have the student think for a minute that he really believed such motives existed.

AS THE TRAIN drew into the Northern Pacific depot Sunday afternoon, members of the Grizzly basketball team were greeted and cheered by a small, yes, very small, handful of student supporters. One of the campus women's groups was well represented and formed the greater part of the reception party. Its members on the whole are enough interested in the welfare of the State University and its activities and teams to use this means of expressing their enthusiasm for work well done. They are not the kind who wait until something goes wrong and then sit down to write a communication explaining why there is a lack of enthusiasm. And their interest will put them forward on this campus, make them leaders either as individuals or as a group, and mark them as representative of the best type of students at the State University.

A 20-VOLUME set of books has been donated to the State University by W. C. Siderlin. It is gifts such as this which have contributed to the building of the campus Library, one which ranks among the finest of its kind in the Northwest. The school is almost wholly dependent upon the good will of the people of this state for many of the most valuable pieces which are now available to students of the State University. In return the Library has a system whereby those districts of the state which are not served by adequate libraries have the advantage of books mailed from here. Thus people who give to the State University from their personal collections are benefitting not only the students of this school but also the readers in general among our state's people.

THE 1934 Varsity Vodvil is a thing of the past, but we must stop long enough to congratulate the directors and assistants. This year's performance set a record in student production which will be difficult to meet in the future, let alone surpass. The nearly professional touches in many features of the show brought comment from all the audience. An added attraction was the tie-over skits offered between the acts; they made the show seem more smooth than the usual performances. This production did everything possible and necessary to re-instate student productions in the esteem of the people.

Fred Noyd, who graduated from the School of Pharmacy in 1933, is now working at the Siden Drug company in Lewistown. The owner of the store is a member of the State Board of Pharmacy.

Committee Plans To Have Lecture By R. Haliburton

Noted Author, Traveller May Come To Missoula Next Month, Says Dick Shaw

"Richard Haliburton, world-famous traveller, author and lecturer, will speak to the students of the State University the latter part of March or the first part of April if present plans materialize," says Dick Shaw, chairman of the Outside Entertainment committee. The lecture will be held in the Missoula County high school auditorium. Students will be admitted by presenting their A. S. U. M. books.

Haliburton's most popular book, "The Royal Road to Romance," tells how he worked, begged, borrowed, and bought his way around the world. In "The Flying Carpet" he flies from Hollywood to Timbuctoo and then into central Europe. "The Glorious Adventure" traces the route Ulysses followed on his return from Troy, and in "New Worlds to Conquer" he explores the Mayan ruins in Central America.

This program is the second of a series of outside entertainments brought to the University students by the fund voted for in a referendum submitted to the student body last spring. Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor of Christian Ethics at Union Seminary, New York, N. Y., spoke here February 1 on Soviet Russia.

Co-ed Group Will Discard Dating Rule

Restriction Will Probably Be Put Into Effect Again Next Fall Quarter

The freshman date rule, which was decided upon last quarter by the A. W. S. executive board and which went into effect this quarter, has been rescinded. The decision was agreed upon at a meeting of A. W. S. yesterday afternoon.

During the past quarter freshman women were allowed dates any place from 4 until 6 o'clock on week days, and in the dormitory from 4:30 until 6 o'clock. All restrictions are to be lifted during spring quarter.

"Since the freshman women have obeyed the rule fairly well during this quarter, we think it is wise to abolish it during next quarter," said Virginia Rigney, Laurel, president of the Associated Women Students.

The restrictions will probably be put into effect again next fall quarter, Miss Rigney stated.

Louise Harmon, a graduate of the Department of Physics, is now teaching the sciences at Plevna high school. She graduated last year.

Acceptance Notices Sent To Students

Applicants to Fulfill Requirements Before Being Allowed To Work

Notices of acceptance for jobs under the Federal Emergency Relief administration are being sent out today to more than two hundred students who have met the qualifications necessary to secure the employment.

The notices contain four provisions which the applicants for the jobs must agree to before they may go to work. The first of the provisions states that the student must remain eligible. The hours and aptitudes for the work to be done, must be of such a nature that they can be fitted to the available job by the assigning agencies. The third provision states that "the character of the work when once assigned must merit its continued employment."

A student must report immediately to the timekeeper, Dick Thomas, and to the member of the staff under whose direction the student is working any illness or other unavoidable cause for not appearing at work.

Acknowledgement of acceptance of these provisions must be made to Mr. Thomas before March 12.

It is thought that the full quota of 130 students will be working by the beginning of next quarter.

Virginia Sedman Sails for Berlin

Virginia Sedman, daughter of Dean Harriet Rankin Sedman, sailed March 1 for Berlin, Germany, where she will spend six months collecting material for a dissertation necessary to complete her work for a doctor's degree in sociology at Columbia university.

Miss Sedman, who entered the State University in 1925 and was graduated from Wellesley college in 1929, has been studying at Columbia university in New York City for the past few years.

Dr. Leon Richards of the School of Pharmacy discussed "Dental Prescriptions" before the Missoula County Dental society last evening. Dr. Richards will talk on "Dental Clinician" at the meeting of the State Dental society in Missoula during April.

Summer Session Will Begin June 11; Seven Week-End Trips Are Planned in Connection

Combining recreation and study, the State University summer session will start June 11. The six-weeks term will extend from this date to July 20 or from July 2 to August 10. The nine-weeks course will be held from June 11 to August 20.

The Montana Educational conference will be held July 9, 10 and 11 and the Northwest Conference of Writers will be in session from July 15 to 17. It is not yet known who will be the main speakers at these two conferences. Those enrolled in the School of Creative Writing or attending summer school will be permitted to attend the writers' conference without charge. Those attending only the conference will be subject to a charge of $1 for a registration card.

Special Dorm Rates

Enrollment fees for either the six- or nine-week session will be $22.50. Those carrying less than five credit hours or attending classes as listeners may register for $11.50.

Special board and double room rates of $50 for the nine weeks are being made. The fee is $62 for board and a single room. Board alone is $35 for the nine weeks or $26 for six weeks or may be secured for $21 per month. A double room for nine weeks will cost $18 per occupant for nine weeks, and $15 for six weeks. A single room will be $30 for the long session or $23 for the shorter one.

Trips Are Planned

Seven week-end trips totaling approximately one thousand miles of automobile travel with 11 days spent outdoors, are being planned in connection with the summer instruction. The first of these will be to the summit of Mount Sentinel on June 16. The next week-end students will go to the Ratlesnake falls. On June 30 and July 1 students will be at the Western Montana Boy Scout camp at Seely lake. Under the supervision of Prof. E. A. Atkinson, two state institutions, the insane asylum at Warm Springs and the penitentiary at Deer Lodge, will be visited on July 7. Starting on July 12 and returning on the fifteenth, an excursion will be held in Glacier park. The historical points trip will be held July 28 under the supervision of Dr. Paul C. Phillips. The final trip will be taken on August 4 when the students will go to Fish Creek.

With the exception of the Warm Springs and historical points trip, all excursions will be under the direction of Dr. J. W. Severy and Prof. Paul Bischoff.

Judges Choose Kappas And Phi Delt's Winners Of Varsity Vodvil Acts

Management Gratiified With Quality of Production and Satisfaction Expressed By Audience; Profits Still Undetermined; Will Be Given to A. S. U. M. Fund

Kappa Kappa Gamma, presenting "Good Heavens!" and Phi Delta Theta with "Tony Pastor's Varieties" won the silver loving cups and $25 prizes given to the best acts at Varsity Vodvil last Friday night. Mary Kohn, Missoula, and Phil Pollard, Red Lodge, were managers of those numbers. In addition to those prizes there were several other gifts donated by local merchants.

Dick Shaw, manager of the show, said, "The management is gratified with the high quality of the production and the general satisfaction expressed by the audience."

The financial result is not definitely known, but the show more than broke even.

Women's Acts

"And So—" presented by the Alpha Chi Omega sorority showed a lonesome man and woman brought together by the "three little cups." It was featured by song and dance numbers, including several popular pieces.

Independent women in "Land of the Shining Mountains" gave a review of the history of Montana from the time of the Indians up to "Copper, Silver and Gold" days, representing the State University. Indian, cowboy, tree and school-day choruses were given.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma act gave the audience an idea of what the astronomer sees—the moon lady, the moonbeams, the stars, the dawn and the sunrises, performing in their heavenly setting.

"Story-Book Land" by the Sigma Kappas presented famous characters such as the "Woman in the Shoe" and her family, the "Raggedy Ann and Andy" children, "Goldilocks" and the "Three Bears," and "Little Red Riding Hood."

Men's Performances

A typical farmyard was the scene of the Independent men's "A Bum Steer or Where's Our Nell?" A milk-maid chorus, farmhands being "taken in" by "Sam Slick" the traveling salesman, a couple of wise-cracking bums, synthetic cows and a horse, and piccolo solos were featured in the act.

The winning Phi Delta act was an early-time vaudeville. Highlights were the asbestos curtain with 1890 high-pressure advertising, lantern slide pictures with the story sung by the opera star "Dennis O'Hollahan," the floriadora sextet, and the minstrel chorus.

Phi Sigma Kappa's "The Faerie Ape or the Sweetest Story Ever Told" pictured the "eternal triangle" with "Thlivia," the heroine, "Donald Dauntless," the hero, and "Sillas Swindle," the crook with the "Merry Oldsmobile." A cornet solo, the "defective" chorus and the spring dance by "Thlivia" were novelties.

Six specialty numbers were given between acts. They were the Alpha Phi trio, the Sigma Nu trio, Tom White and his accordion, John Gravelle, soloist; Phyllis Oas in a tap number, and the Hi-Lo chorus.

Music for the acts and between shows was furnished by Les Smith and his orchestra.

It Went, Was Not Forgotten And They Want It Returned

Once upon a time, about two weeks ago, the Department of Fine Arts opened for business as usual. That is, as usual except that one of the appurtenances was missing.

Between the darkness and the daylight some low member of society snuck in and glommed onto the papyrus buster, the stationery severer or in patois, the paper cutter.

The head man up there has lost his usual cheery beam. Everyone leaving the joint is frisked for concealed window sashes, folding chairs or the 1904 model free-wheeling piano.

The structure was always rather delicate and no one ever really understood it. If it is now in the care of someone who does appreciate its versatile nature and gets any results from it, the ex-owner would be interested in knowing how it is done. It was never used much but was an admirable space filler as it sat there beside the old quarter horse power hand press.

Grizzly Supporters Book Famous Play To Help Establish Athletic Scholarship Fund

State University students will be given the chance to support their football team during winter quarter, and still receive the same high class entertainment given them during the last football season. The opportunity will be presented at the Wilma theater Friday and Saturday nights when a group of men interested in the Grizzly football team will offer Paul Robeson in Eugene O'Neill's play "Emperor Jones." The profits derived from the show will be used to establish scholarships for worthy Montana athletes.

The play itself has run on the legitimate stage in New York and Chicago for several seasons with the same cast as is presented in the screen version. The play was first presented in 1920 as a drama and distinguished Eugene O'Neill as a playwright. "Emperor Jones" was adapted and presented in January, 1933, by the Metropolitan Opera company and was highly successful.

Paul Robeson, the leading figure in the show, is a huge Negro who has the distinction of having been picked on Walter Camp's All-American football teams in 1916 and 1917 from Rutgers. He possesses a baritone voice which has thrilled audiences the world over.

Supporting Robeson is Dudley Digges, formerly of the Theater Guild, who plays the role of Smithers, the Cockney trader.

The show will run for afternoon and evening performances both days and the regular admission of 40 cents will be charged. Tickets may be obtained from members of the M club and at the Student store.

Registration Will Close Tomorrow

Advance Enrollment for Spring Quarter Must Be Completed To Avoid Penalty

Tomorrow marks the close of the advance registration period for the 1934 spring quarter. All students now in school who plan to attend the University next quarter must complete their registration by that time in order to avoid payment of late registration fees.

The delayed registration penalty is $2. An additional fee of $1 per day, with the maximum not to exceed $5, will be charged after March 20. The same penalty will be inflicted on new students who register on or after March 21.

Those registering in advance must pay their fees from March 20 to March 22. Failure to pay fees during the prescribed period will result in the usual penalty of $1 for each day of delay. The maximum is not to exceed $5. Late registrants and new students must pay their fees before they will be allowed to complete their registration.

Dr. R. H. Jesse, dean of the faculty, will be in his office between the hours of 1:30 and 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to advise and help students with their registration problems and to consider petitions that may be submitted. For the past several weeks some students have found it difficult to secure appointments with Dr. Jesse because of his increased work as head of the committee of selection of students for jobs under the Federal Emergency Relief administration.

Those who register in advance and find it impossible to return to school next quarter are requested to notify the registrar's office as soon as possible. Registrations of students who fail to pay their fees or make arrangements regarding them before April 1 will be cancelled.

Dr. Lennes to Talk Before Colloquium

Colloquium will meet Wednesday afternoon, March 7, at 4:10 o'clock in the Natural Science hall. Professor N. J. Lennes is to review "Whitehead's Adventure of Ideas." The talk will be preceded by a social half hour and refreshments. Students, faculty and townspeople are invited to attend.

Hats Off to the Champs!

A State Championship in basketball! A couple of years ago that title tacked after the names of the State University Grizzlies was something dreamed about but never realized. But here are the 1934 Grizzlies who now possess that coveted crown. Defeating their arch-rivals, the Bobcats of the State College, in four straight games and eliminating the other contenders, the Grizzlies now step out as the best basketball club in the state of Montana.

It is the successful finale to a satisfactory season. The Grizzlies started out this year with chances to cop a few games on their schedule, but they went farther than that and won the majority of their major contests and swamped a number of minor opponents.

This championship is the one effective answer to the State College's belief that "the Bobcats do not stand to lose the title this year or for many years to come." Any season is successful if the Grizzlies are able to cope with their traditional rivals, but to take four games in a row and the state title with those games is enough for any Grizzly team. Not too much credit can be given Coach Lewandowski and his Grizzly club for the basketball they have played this year.

The hoop crown adds another link to the successive chain that the State University is molding this year. Coach Bunny Oakes and his Grizzly football team started the procession by defeating the Bobcats by a decisive score to win the state championship in that sport. The State University minor sports squad took the annual meet from their rivals this winter for the first time in many years, and Lew and his club carried on. It remains to Coach Harry Adams and his men to end a successful season on the track and field this spring and give the Grizzlies a clean sweep for the year. But back to the Grizzly basketball squad—our hats are off to the champions!

According to the quality of the waters upon which we cast our bread, it returns water-logged and uneatable, or spread with butter and jam.

Help Wanted

Superiority complexes or inferiority complexes? The common opinion of persons who have not had a college education, is that the college student is a conceited "know-it-all" who considers himself too good to work under anyone who has been educated in the college of experience, rather than graduated from an accepted university with a sheepskin as evidence. As long as colleges and universities imply that their students are being prepared for privileged places that await them on graduation, this attitude of resentment will exist.

On the other side of the fence is the college student who has spent four or more years training himself for a specific vocation, only to find himself, at the end of that time, holding his diploma but no job. It's "bad medicine" for the ego and might seriously impair the mental health of those who struggled through college believing their degree would insure them a position.

When people find they are not wanted they are apt to charge unemployment to personal failure. College graduates are learning that more than the mere holding of a degree determines whether or not they get the job. Achievement, ability, and personality take their places beside the diploma when a position is to be filled.

Inconsistency goes as far toward making life attractive as its pleasures do toward spoiling it.

The Height of Fashion

In modern life people are being influenced more and more by childish thoughts and emotions.

In literature one finds that the novel is the most lucrative and popular form of writing. For centuries men got along without novels, but today they are children again and want to be told stories. Infatigable prattle is fashionable.

In art men have gone back to the childish scrawl of the caveman. Blundering chalk sketches by children are transferred to canvas and mural by modern artists, with glee and success.

The Greeks enjoyed the tragedy as a form of amusement because it required thought and reflection. The modern movie is a method of avoiding thought and reflection—no intellectual effort is required of the film patronizer. Intelligence, the attribute of the adult, is set aside.

The ideal of the old fashioned woman was the matron; today, the ideal woman is the stripling. Women of sixty-odd years speak of themselves as "we girls". It is a disgrace to be recognized as a grandmother in modern society.

In the breaking of records the childish instinct for competition comes to the fore. Man has brought this mania for competition to bear on things both futile and serious. The ideal of the ancient was wisdom, peace; today, the ideal is to break a record—in top spinning, for instance.

The machines of today are only enlarged toys made dangerous. What else would you call automobiles and radios? Most people who buy these things use them for pleasure. Passing other cars, tooting and so forth, are, after all, only childish tricks.

So it is all about us. In economics, we are going back to barter, in philosophy to intuition, in advertising to fear. On the campus, students have been roller skating, bicycling and perhaps rolling hoops. A hundred years from now the height of fashion may be marked by a diaper and a rattle.

The trouble with revolutions and uprisings is that so many persons fight, bleed and die for doctrines they don't understand.

We wonder what a dentist thinks when his offspring is cutting a tooth.

Nothing sickens a man of his pet theory like seeing it in operation.

Definitions De Luxe

For those poor, muddled-minded students who face almost certain destruction in the coming finals we offer the following gems taken from the newest of the unabridged dictionaries. They may help to clear up several of the mental difficulties you mugs are facing on the eve of the great stress and strain.

Cram—A kind of sea food, like an eraser.

Crib—A fraternity handshake.

Exam—A skin disease.

Final—The tin thing you pour stuff in a bottle with.

Quiz—To pinch something with your fingers—". . . dunt quiz de feesh."

Conflict—A guy that lives in the pen.

Grade—An ex-student who now has a diploma, seen mostly on Alumni day.

Equation—An imaginary line around the world.

Zip—The proper way to drink wine.

Study—Solved. "I'll have to get my shirt washed 'study'."

Math—A kind of butterfly or something that flits around light bulbs.

Psych—What they put flour and sugar in, mopes.

Pass—A bore that's always hanging around.

Flunk—Oh well, we could go on.

PERSONAL INTERVIEW

Today Robert E. Jones took the stand and after having been sworn in by the proper manner submitted the following bits of philosophy and wisdom:

Q. What is your pet peeve?

A. People who think the Montana Kaimin is a nest egg to be used by anyone free of charge.

Q. Why can't you wear a hat?

A. It offends my nose too prominently, and besides it won't keep my nose dry when it rains.

Q. What is your favorite food?

A. The milk of human kindness.

Q. What do you dislike the most?

A. People who walk around the campus with empty pipes expecting me to fill them. Next to that comes this column.

Q. How do you define love?

A. Distinct biological phenomena.

Q. Who, in your opinion, is a most interesting man?

A. Certainly not the "Little Man."

Q. What is your favorite sport?

A. Indoors—beefing; outdoors—football.

Q. What is your greatest failing?

A. I'm too soft-hearted.

Q. What is your most memorable experience?

A. A trip to the Chicago World's Fair with G. M. Crutchfield and "Scoop" Luke on a fast sheep train.

Q. At what do you hope to work in the future?

A. Advertising of all sorts, kinds and descriptions—excepting the radio.

Q. Who is the most attractive girl on the campus?

A. I didn't know there were any.

And Frances Richards
Is Secretary

"A constant changing panorama of human problems" is the way Dr. Harold Tascher of the Department of Economics and Sociology describes the work being done in the Federated Social service and the Montana State Relief survey by several graduates of the State University. Working quietly, the little group is engaged in a field of endeavor which is new to many people, but it is unrivaled in opportunities for social betterment. Permanent location in the profession is the anticipation of all those who are now working at either office.

At 47 Higgins block is the office of the Montana State Relief survey. Here, buried in reports, are the desks of Dr. Tascher, who was appointed director of the survey by State Relief Director T. C. Spaulding; Frank Thraikill, case worker, and Frances Richards, secretary.

Survey Studies Agencies

"The purpose of the survey," says Dr. Tascher, "is to study present methods of state and county relief administration, particularly from the point of view of old legally established agencies. The survey does not include a study of recently established agencies, however."

It is expected that the survey in Missoula county will be completed in June. The office will then be moved to the headquarters of the State Relief commission in Helena and a similar survey of selected counties will be made during the summer. The selection of counties to be studied will be made by the State Relief commission.

Students Aid Work

Twelve graduates and students are connected with the survey offices. Mr. Thraikill was graduated from the State University in 1931 with a B.A. degree in mathematics. Later he undertook work in psychology at both the University of Minnesota and Montana State University. Miss Richards was graduated in 1933 with a B.A. degree in English. Under the direction of Dr. Tascher, the students comprising the class in Laboratory in Social Case work at the State University are doing investigational work for the survey.

Those students are Gaylord Barnhill, Missoula; Howard Bischoff, Kalispell; Ralph Brandt, Joplin; Mrs. Jean Corry, Missoula; Jeanette Duncan, Missoula; Lewis Gomavitz, Great Falls; Elinor Marlowe, Missoula; Gladys Mayo, Missoula; Gladys Pierson, Garibaldi, Ore., and Catherine Sinnott, Butte. Those people are making home visits and interviewing county relief clients.

A few doors from the survey offices are those of the Federated Social service of Missoula county. The office serves as a central information-gathering and relief-distributing center. Working as case aides under Miss Ethel Riordan, executive secretary, are Marjorie Fee, who was graduated in 1933 with a B.A. degree in English; Henry Murray, 1933, B.A. degree in English; Mamie Nicolet, 1932, B.A. degree in psychology, and Robert White, 1933, B.A. degree in physical education. All of these graduates were appointed by Miss Riordan on the recommendation of the Department of Economics and Sociology. Mrs. Mary Mansfield Easton is employed in the office as receptionist, and Dorothy Hayes, who attended the State University in 1930, is office assistant.

Miss Riordan is highly pleased with the ability of her assistants. The case aides have displayed professional interest in social work and expect to take further training in anticipation of permanent location in the profession.

Grizzlies Triumph Twice To Cop State Hoop Title And Stop Bobcat Reign

State University Takes First Crown in Twelve Years With Two Victories Over Rivals; Brown Tosses Basket to Win Deciding Game by 37-36 Margin

State University Grizzlies were back in Missoula yesterday after stopping the Bobcats of the State College in two straight games and winning the state intercollegiate basketball title for the first time in 12 years. The Grizzlies won the first encounter by a single point Friday night, nosing their rivals by a 37-36 count to cinch the crown, and came back with a strong finish Saturday evening to win 31-23 and take the fourth straight contest from the Cats this season.

The double victory at Bozeman spells finish for the Montana collegiate basketball season, and the Grizzlies have only two games remaining. They play a series here with Olsen's Terrible Swedes this week, and then hang up their suits until 1935 when they will defend their newly-acquired state championship.

Grizzlies Win Title

Jimmy Brown, the star Grizzly forward who led the attack throughout the contest, slipped through the Bobcat defense in the final seconds of play Friday night to ring up the necessary two points to win by a 37-36 margin and sew up the state hoop title for the Grizzlies. The victory gave the State University club its first state basketball title since Bernie Bierman's quint gained that distinction in 1922.

The Bobcats started the game with their customary driving style and forged into a strong lead. The Grizzlies retaliated, but the Cats increased their lead to a 23-13 advantage at half time. A string of baskets in the second period evened the score at 33 all, with but a few minutes to play. The Grizzlies scored on a long toss, but Doyra, the tall Bobcat guard, tallied with a free throw and a field goal to put the Cats ahead. With 10 seconds to play, Brown ended the struggle by slipping through to score, ending the game for the Grizzlies.

The game was hard fought and both clubs showed a fine brand of offensive and defensive ball. The Grizzlies went to Bozeman determined to repeat the two-game victory here in February, and the Bobcats were set to reverse the Missoula losses. Both teams played bang-up ball, with the Grizzlies coming from behind in a strong rush to win the crown for the best hoop team in the state.

Bobcats Drop Second Fray

With the crucial game of the series already in the hands of the Grizzly men, the two teams fought a slow, uninteresting game Saturday night, the Grizzlies coming from behind again to cop their fourth straight win over their arch-rivals, 31-23. The Cats led at half-time by a 12-11 count, but the Grizzlies made that up in the second half, although they lost the lead and remained behind until the last stages of the game.

It was a slow anti-climax to the first game, and the two teams were not inspired to play anything but listless basketball. The Cats started with a strong rush and kept their lead most of the game. With six minutes to play, the Grizzlies forged ahead, and the score was never threatened after that time. Taylor, the Bobcat forward who was held to one free throw in the first game gathered 14 points to lead the scorers, while Dahlberg looped the ball for eight points to pace the Grizzlies.

Terrible Swedes Will Hit Grizzly Club This Week

State University Will End Season Wednesday and Thursday Against East Squad

A two-game series with Olsen's Terrible Swedes, here Wednesday and Thursday evenings, will bring to a climax the most successful season that a Grizzly basketball team has had in the history of the institution.

For years the Terrible Swedes have held the title of the world's champion traveling amateur basketball team. C. M. Olsen of Cassville, Mo., organized the Swedes 13 years ago. At that time it was a brother combination but now the team includes on its roster some of the best basketball talent in the country.

Over 1,500 games have been won by the tow-headed boys during the 13 seasons they have played together. Last season they played 123 games and were victorious in 120 of the contests. They are as dexterous and entertaining a bunch of ball tossers as can be found and hold wins over the country's best teams. The diminutive Olsen, who is in his late forties, is probably the greatest individual player of the game today.

When it is realized that the Swedes hold victories over the House of David club that played here recently and are regarded as one of the best drawing cards in basketball circles, some idea of the calibre of the Terrible Swedes can be imagined.

The Swedes have been on a more extensive tour this year than in any of their past seasons. They have played games in Mexico and Cuba as well as all over the United States.

As this will be the last opportunity for Grizzly followers to see them in action, a capacity crowd is anticipated. Plans are being made by officials to handle the huge crowd which is certain to attend to see the wizardly antics and fast playing of such a team as the Swedes.

Plans have been made for a preliminary game Wednesday night although the contesting teams have not as yet been announced. On Thursday, the last Grizzly game of the season, the finals of the free throw contest will be held during the half-time intermission.

Cheer leaders will be on hand to lead the students in yells, while Prof. Stanley Teel will most likely have a few Swedish songs on hand. Admission prices for townspeople are 55 cents general admission and 75 cents for reserved seats. Students will be admitted on presentation of their A. S. U. M. books.

Exam Schedule

Final examinations for the 1934 winter quarter will be held from Monday, March 12 to Thursday, March 15, inclusive. The examinations this quarter are of two-hour duration in all courses.

Track Prospects Draw Equipment For Spring Sport

Appearance of Twenty-seven Cub And Varsity Men Forecasts Strong Team

Twenty varsity track men and seven cub prospects have drawn equipment and are starting training in the spring sport, according to Coach Harry Adams. Prospects are bright for a successful track season despite weakness in several events.

The sprints, hurdles, jumps, javelin and discus will be especially strong with the middle distance runs, pole vault, shot put and longer races displaying a shortage of experienced material. Manager Harold Kohlase is at the gymnasium every afternoon issuing equipment, with all varsity and freshmen track prospects urged to sign up immediately.

Serious work will begin between quarters in an effort to start getting the squad in shape early in the season. Weather conditions have been especially favorable this year with many distance men having been out for the past month or more warming up.

Varsity track men who are now working out include Co-captains Hawke and Caven, Browning, Bernhard, Case, Crowley, Duff, Davis, Dillon, Gits, Gratton, Maury, Previs, Peden, Robertson, Stearns, Smalley, Taylor, Wagner and Vickerman. Other varsity prospects expected to turn out shortly are Burg, Blastic, Dahlberg, Gilham, Holloway, Holmquist, Lowney, McDaniel, Price, Rutherford, Rhinehart, Reynolds, Thomas and Wheaton.

As yet only seven freshmen have drawn equipment but a large number of former interscholastic stars enrolled in school will be out next quarter. Any freshmen interested can get equipment from Manager Kohlase or Coach Adams. Cubs already out are: Jarred, Popovich, Preston, Sheridan, Schultz, Vadheim and Williams.

It looks as though the days of the Golden Bobcat supremacy were decidedly over. At least the Grizzlies spilled the highly-touted Cats this season to win the state championship for the first time in a dozen years. Let's give the Grizzlies a big hand—they deserve it after such a successful season.

O-O

Coach Lewandowski and his club finished a grand collegiate season in grand style, taking the pre-season favorites—the Miners and the Bobcats—in straight series, while the other favorite teams of the state slowly but surely passed out of the picture after good starts.

O-O

Lew's combination of Brown, Erickson, Dahlberg, Heller, Hileman and Reynolds worked like a charm against the Bobcats, and they also showed some fine basketball in their other games against teams like the Washington Huskies, Ellensburg, Gonzaga and the Miners.

O-O

When that lineup didn't click, there were Blastic, Flanagan, Holloway and Rhinehart to step in and lead the way for the Grizzlies. Of these ten men, there are only three graduating seniors and those men are Co-captains Erickson and Dahlberg, and Reynolds.

O-O

Brown, Blastic, Flanagan, Cushman, Heller, Hileman, Holloway and Rhinehart will be back next year to lead the Grizzlies in their defense of the state title. A few more impressive victories such as the boys won this year, and the high moguls of the Pacific Coast conference will have to start worrying about Montana as a top-notch member of the conference.

O-O

The Grizzlies will swing into action this week in their final series of the 1934 season, entertaining another fast traveling amateur team—Olson's Terrible Swedes.

O-O

It is up to the student body to be out there for both of these games, giving the Grizzlies a final backing before they end the season. It will be your last chance to watch Erickson, Dahlberg and Reynolds in action on the Montana court, so take advantage of it.

O-O

The Washington Huskies and Southern California Trojans will meet for the Pacific Coast conference championship. The Huskies were the northern division in a walk, while the Trojans came out ahead in the southern circuit after a strenuous season with U.C.L.A. and California.

O-O

The Huskies, boasting a star lineup including such luminaries as Bobby Galer, high-point tosser in the conference; Hal Lee and Jackie Hanover, breezed through their season, knocking over Oregon and Oregon State and stopping Washington State and Idaho.

O-O

The Grizzlies, having won state titles in football, basketball and minor sports, now must turn to track for a clean sweep in the state athletic program. Coach Harry Adams will be starting his Grizzly track and field stars next quarter for their preparation of the coming season.

O-O

The weather remains changeable, but the track men are getting work-

Lack of Interest Causes Failure Of Ball Schedule

Splitting of League Given as Factor In Fate of Intercollegiate Competition

Intercollegiate basketball competition was cancelled last week by Harry Adams, director of intramural athletics, because of lack of interest and failure of the various college teams to appear for their games.

A complete schedule was prepared for the six schools which had entered in previous year's competition but with the exception of the Forestry, Pharmacy and Journalism schools no other teams appeared when scheduled to play.

It is believed that the splitting of the fraternities and independents into two separate leagues this year was responsible for the fate of the intercollegiate competition. Practically every student in the school desirous of playing basketball was given an opportunity to play this year and the intercollegiate league was rendered unnecessary as a result. A complete intramural program was provided by the Department of Physical Education throughout the quarter. Schedules have been arranged for competition this spring in golf, tennis, horseshoes, baseball and track.

O-O

There is one weak spot—the middle distance and distance events—where the points will be few and far between unless some of the present runners have developed a lot from last year.

O-O

Speaking of track, let's see all the students sign those petitions for interscholastic track meet tickets. If enough signers are obtained, the students will be able to see the interscholastic for a great deal less money than they otherwise would, and it will mean some money to send a relay team to the Kansas or Drake relays.

O-O

That relay team, if sent, should do well back there. Wouldn't you like to see the State University on the athletic map and wouldn't you like to rub shoulders with a competitor in the Drake relays? How about some support for that interscholastic petition?

Increased Size and Color Design Will Be Features of '34 Sentinel

Staff Will Represent Every University Organization and Activity in 300 Page Annual Campus Yearbook

The 1934 Sentinel, annual yearbook of the University of Montana will contain approximately three hundred pages, nearly double the size of last year's book. "There will be a color run throughout the book and pictures will be arranged differently from the pictures in any yearbook of former years. It has been the aim of the staff to represent every activity and organization on the campus. Everyone has co-operated well with the staff," said Mrs. Mearl Freeman, editor of this year's book.

Attractive cover designs have been worked out which will carry out the theme of the book.

The following people have been chosen as members of the editorial staff: Nemesio Borge, art editor; Lyle Griffin, cartoonist; Colin Raff, sports editor; Hermina Girson, editor of women's athletics; Mabelle Willard, editor of University; Helen Huxley, editor of Classes; Bessie Webster, editor of Clubs; Tom Wigal, editor of Honoraries; Tevis Hoblitt, editor of activities, and Donna Hoover, editor of Greeks.

Faye Nimbar, business manager of this year's yearbook, said, "As far as advertising is concerned, there is a much greater representation this year, not only in Missoula, but in many towns throughout the state."

The advertising section will contain cartoons that have a unique arrangement that has not been a characteristic of Sentinels in the past.

Miss Nimbar has appointed the following people as members of the advertising staff: Kenneth Hufford, Dorothy Griffin, Laura Nicholson, Stuart Volkel, Dick Shaw, Bob Zeidler, Howard Rutherford, Erling Oss, Dorcas Keach, Augie Vidro, Melvin Magnuson and Mulford Crutchfield.

Play Contest Will Close On March 9

Manuscripts Must Be Submitted
To Hewitt By the End
Of This Week

The original one-act play contest, open to State University students, will close Friday, March 9. All plays must be submitted to Mr. Hewitt by that time. They must be suitable for Masquer production and if adapted from a short story, must have the permission of the author.

Judges for the contest will be B. W. Hewitt, dramatics director; H. G. Merriam, head of the Department of English, and Prof. E. L. Freeman. Entrants are instructed to sign manuscripts with pen names and to enclose real names in a separate envelope. A $10 royalty will be paid to the author of the winning play and a $5 royalty to any other plays produced. The plays will be produced spring quarter.

Melvin Maury, Miles City, won the contest last year.

Taxation Problem To Be Discussed By Snell Tonight

Federal and Local Debt Situation
And Montana Tax System
To Be Reviewed

Professor Hampton K. Snell will speak on "Taxation Problems: Your Dollar and Mine" tonight in Main Hall auditorium at 8 o'clock. This will be the ninth lecture in the series which is being sponsored by the Public Exercises committee.

Professor Snell will discuss briefly the debt situation, both federal and local, and will analyze the Montana tax system. He will give some time to the subject of indirect and direct taxes and show what the individual tax bill totals.

He will also deal with the national tax system and suggestions for reform, as well as discussing the new state income tax, including the important regulations as to exemptions.

High Schools Enter Ninth Play Tourney

Ten Entrants Listed in Little Theatre Interscholastic Competition

The ninth annual Little Theatre tournament will be held May 9, at the Little Theatre and at Missoula County high school in connection with Interscholastic Track Meet. At present there are ten entrants and several more are expected.

Entrants to date are: Stanford high school, Stanford; Hamilton high school, Hamilton; Thompson Falls high school, Thompson Falls; Whitehall high school, Whitehall; Helena high school, Helena; Valley high school, Belt; Fergus County high school, Lewistown; Libby high school, Libby; Butte high school, Butte.

Little Theatre tournaments were started by Carl Glick, director of dramatics in 1927, when the Little Theatre was constructed. Missoula County high school won first place last year, presenting "The Marriage Proposal," by Anton Chekov.

"This year's tournament will be run off much more easily and with better stage facilities, as we will use the high school stage instead of the Main Hall auditorium," said Harold Shaw, assistant director of the Little Theatre tournament.
