FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Montana State University Law School, Missoula, is one of the centers at which the Law School Admission Test will be given on Nov. 14, 1964, Feb. 13, 1965, and July 17, 1965.

Educational Testing Service administers the test, which is required of applicants for admission to most law schools, according to Dean Robert E. Sullivan of the MSU Law School.

ETS advises candidates to make separate application to each law school of their choice and to find out from each whether it requires the Law School Admission Test. Since many law schools select their freshman class in the spring preceding entrance, candidates for admission to next year's classes are advised to take either the November or the February test.

The morning session of the test measures ability to use language and to think logically. The afternoon session measures writing ability and general background.

Sample questions and registration forms are included in a Bulletin of Information, which should be obtained six weeks in advance of a test date from: Law School Admission Test, Box 944, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J. 08540. Completed registration forms must reach ETS two weeks before the test administration date.

Information about the test is also available at the MSU Law School.
