MISSOULA--

Fourteen University of Montana coeds have been selected to serve at UM as members of Angel Flight, a women's extracurricular organization which assists Air Force ROTC cadets in civic, charitable and service activities. The 14 new UM Angel Flight members join nine returning members. All are scheduled to serve during the 1974-75 academic year.

UM Angel Flight Commander Debra K. Erickson, Sidney, said the campus group is recognized as one of the top flights in the nation. She said the local organization has won several major women's drill events in the northwest region and also has received various service and excellence awards on the national level.

Capt. Carl D. Lawson, assistant professor of aerospace studies at UM, is serving as Angel Flight adviser at UM. Mrs. Emma B. Lommasson, associate director of admissions and records on the Missoula campus, continues to serve as Angel Flight faculty adviser, a position she has held since 1957.
