AUTHOR JAMES WELCH TO KEYNOTE
UM ALUMNI COLLEGE AUG. 15-17

MISSOULA--

Native American author James Welch will be the featured speaker at the third annual University of Montana Alumni College Aug. 15-17.

Welch will discuss his recent novel, "Winter in the Blood," during the seminar at Camp Lubrecht, 35 miles northeast of Missoula on Highway 200.

Joining Welch in discussions on the theme, "The American Dream," will be five UM professors. The program includes Dr. Harry Fritz, associate professor of history, "The American Dream--Myth or Reality?"; Dr. Maxine Van de Wetering, assistant professor of humanities, "The Deferred Dream: Woman's View"; Dr. Lane McGaughy, assistant professor of religious studies, "Is There an American Creed?"; Dr. Thomas Power, assistant professor of economics, "Free Enterprise: The Great American Myth," and Dr. Richard Adler, associate professor of English, "Francis Macomber's American Dream."

Deanna Sheriff, UM Alumni College director, said the seminar is "a reunion with a difference--a time for alumni and friends of the University to get together for a stimulating, enjoyable weekend."

Sheriff said reservations will be accepted from interested persons other than alumni, space permitting.

Also during the weekend will be opportunities for softball, swimming, hiking, fishing and volleyball and a river float on the Blackfoot River.

The cost of the seminar is $50 per person, which includes tuition, books, meals and lodging, instruction and recreation from Friday noon to Sunday noon. The fee is payable by check, cash, Master Charge or BankAmericard.

Reservations of $10 should be sent by Aug. 13 to Deanna Sheriff, Alumni Center, University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59801.
