FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Dean Nathan B. Blumberg was elected vice chairman of the accrediting committee of the American Council on Education for Journalism at its annual meeting last week in Chicago.

The Montana State University School of Journalism dean succeeds Dean Milton Gross of the University of Missouri, who was elected chairman. The accrediting committee, made up of seven journalism educators and six representatives of the major professional press and broadcasting organizations, is responsible for recommending national standards for journalism accreditation.

Only 47 schools and departments of journalism in the United States now are accredited. The Montana journalism school was a charter member of the association of accredited schools and departments.
