Gross Registration Soars to New High

Enrollment Hits 2,042 for First Two Quarters

Figures May Reach 2,100 Mark by Spring; 1,870 Are Attending

Registration figures have reached a total of 2,042 this year, the highest in the history of the university. According to statistics submitted by the president's office, 1,870 students have enrolled for the winter quarter. Of this number, 1,154 registered are men and 716 are women. This is a gain of 230 students over last year's registration on the corresponding date when the number enrolled was 1,640.

Gross registration for fall and winter quarters includes 1,271 men and 771 women. Last year at this time the enrollment was 1,851. By the end of the academic year, the figures reached 1,906. Basing calculations on these figures, there is no doubt but that registration will reach the 2,100 mark by the end of this year, as was indicated by the increased enrollment last fall.

Fifty new students entered the university this quarter, 39 men and 11 women. The report shows that 45 men and 27 women who, although former students, were not here during the fall quarter, have registered since January 3. Eight men and two women who withdrew during the fall returned for the winter quarter. Of the 1,920 students enrolled last quarter, 1,062 men and 676 women returned to school.

The number of students who did not return to school is 173. Because registration is larger this year, the number who withdrew is proportionately the same as last year. One hundred fifty-six students failed to return for winter quarter last year.

Ruggiero Ricci, 14-year-old violinist, will be presented in concert at the Student Union theater on Thursday, January 23, in the first of a series of concerts sponsored by the Community Concert association of Missoula. Ricci made his New York debut at the age of nine, as soloist with the Manhattan Symphony association, and has been confounding the musical critics ever since. In some selections, one expert said, he has never been surpassed by any violinist. Little Ruggiero is noted for his facility and has a "beautiful tone, pure and sweet in melodious passages, always light and free." He plays a genuine, full size Stradivarius violin.

Students will be admitted to the concert if they present their A. S. U. M. tickets at the Student Union building between Tuesday, January 21 and Thursday, January 23, at 5 o'clock. They will receive reserved seats in exchange.

Vodvil-Goers Will Name Most Beautiful Co-ed Campus Queen

Selection Will Be Made at Varsity Vodvil Performance by Male Students; Social Groups, Barbs Working On Acts; Dean Gives Late Permission

Among the headline attractions of the 1936 Varsity Vodvil will be the coronation of the beauty queen of Montana State university, the management of the fraternity-sorority-independent show announced yesterday. A new method of selection has been worked out and it is emphasized that beauty alone must be the basis for the award.

Each sorority will select its most beautiful member. Independent women will pick the most beautiful co-ed in their ranks. These women may be from any class. Nominations must be submitted to the Varsity Vodvil management by January 28. Fraternities and the independent men will then vote on the candidates and will thus reduce the number of finalists to five. Every person who buys a ticket at the performance of Varsity Vodvil will then be allowed a vote for the queen, who will be crowned between acts of the show.

Jocko Shenk, Erie, Pennsylvania, manager of Varsity Vodvil, announces that he has secured 1 o'clock permission from Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson for co-eds living in residence halls or sorority houses, for the night of the show.

Tryouts are to be in the Student Union theater Sunday morning, January 26. At the last meeting of representatives, it was decided to run an act every fifteen minutes from 10 o'clock until 2 o'clock. Kappa Alpha Theta begins at 10 o'clock and is followed by Independent women, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Gamma, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Chi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Kappa, Kappa Delta, Sigma Nu and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

No costumes, properties, make-up, or stage sets are to be used in the tryouts. A piano will be on the stage for those groups which will need it. Entrants must turn in a complete script when their act goes on the stage. It is also advisable to have drawings of the stage set and costumes.

Les Smith's orchestra has been engaged to play in the pit during the show and as soon as the acts to appear in the final show have been selected, he will start rehearsal with them. Three men's acts and three women's acts will be chosen, while the seventh act will be the best of the remaining ten skits. The management has announced that no member of the pit orchestra may appear in any act.

Co-eds Granted Longer Leave By New Ruling

A. W. S. Favors Later Hour For University Women On Week-ends

Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson announced yesterday that the ruling requiring university women to be in their homes on Friday and Saturday nights by 12:15 o'clock has been abolished. A new ruling, going into effect immediately, will lengthen the time until 12:30 o'clock on Friday and Saturday nights.

"The present closing hour fails to give students sufficient time to get their wraps at the check room after social affairs and be home by 12:15 o'clock," said Dean Ferguson Monday. "In order to alleviate this condition, I am going to recommend to A. W. S. members that the constitution be amended to lengthen the time to 12:30 o'clock on Friday and Saturday evenings."

Members of A. W. S. discussed Dean Ferguson's recommendation at their meeting last night and decided in favor of the ruling amending the constitution.

University students have been particularly anxious to have the late permission on week-ends lengthened since the announcement was made at the State college in Bozeman that co-eds would be allowed to stay out until 1 o'clock on week-ends.

A meeting last Friday afternoon of the heads of the dance committees of the various campus groups with Dean Ferguson was followed by an announcement from that office that two Friday nights have been thrown open for Greek dances this quarter. Previously all Friday nights had been closed.

Co-ed formal, which was originally scheduled for February 23 was moved to Saturday, February 29. The Masquers' major production for winter quarter was changed from Friday, March 6 to March 5. Mrs. Ferguson stated to the committee heads that the dates given to North and Corbin halls for their dances could also be utilized by the fraternities and sororities, but that this would be contrary to the wishes of the Dean's office.

Three fraternity functions will be allowed on Friday, January 24, the night given to Masquers for the production of their three one-act plays.

The rearranged winter quarter calendar for all-school functions is as follows:

Friday, January 17, Interfraternity Ball; January 24, Masquers three one-act plays, this date now being open for three functions; January 31, Barristers' Ball; February 7, Foresters' Ball; February 14, North and Corbin hall dances, open to the Greek groups; February 21, Varsity Vodvil; February 28, open date; Co-ed formal, February 29; Thursday, March 5, major production of Masquers; March 6, now open; March 13, South hall dance.

Co-operation for Mutual Benefit

"No smoking in the auditorium or on the stage," the new rule recently approved by the Student Union social committee, and the appeal for dignified conduct by all persons who make use of the lounge, should receive co-operation for enforcement by all students. This co-operation is largely self-government which each student should impress upon himself.

The big aim in social control of the use of the Union building is to prevent restriction of its use. It was built for the benefit of all students. It is not difficult to realize how smoking in certain parts of the building can produce hazards. It is not difficult to realize that use of the coffee tables for foot stools is not only a breach of good judgment but abuse of public property. It is not difficult to realize that a monopoly of the radios by the few, can result in but one thing—the restriction of their use for others.

So, let us co-operate with the social control committee and the members of Bear Paw, Spur and Mortar board to make the Union building a place where dignified conduct and self-government shall reign.

This Bowl Bull

Once New Year's day had come and gone and with it the Sugar, Rose, Orange, Chocolate, Sun and Dust bowl football classics, plus the East-West game, we expected to bid farewell to 1935 gridiron activities. But still we, and the ghost of Will Rogers, peering over our shoulder, continue to "read by the papers" that the such and such football all stars smother some hapless rival by unpteen to zero and will rest until January 21 when they will again engage in football combat another foe in the Hawaiian islands or some equally remote spot. We are not objecting to our friends across the Pacific having the opportunity to view gridiron luminaries in action—rather we object to the undeniable professionalization of the great autumn (?) game.

In the past we have been accustomed to view the Rose Bowl game as a rather effective method of determining the superiority of either the east or the west in football, but with the influx of bowl games, rivaling in number the sum total of the punch bowls consumed at the birth of the new year, we see these purported classics in their true light. There is no further reason to doubt that the sole reason for their existence is to line the pockets of some community's Chamber of Commerce with the coin of the realm. It is all very well for these live wire cities to take advantage of the public's gullibility and yearning for football action, but it is far from being all very well insofar as amateur intercollegiate athletics are concerned. The mere labeling of any post season game a championship bowl classic does not make it one.

It involves no great investigation on the part of any observer, however casual, to realize that the wail about over-emphasis is not without a basis. In fact anyone is apt to be bewildered just how a man can depart from his studies for two months or more to play football on a jaunt well-nigh around the world and still graduate in June, as announced. Super men upon the gridiron they undeniably are, but we submit also that they must rank with the nation's greatest intellects. Either such is the case or a college diploma has become a farce and football the dominating influence in the American educational system.

REBEL AMERICA

Lillian Symes and Travers Clement

"Since the beginning of history, thoughtful and sensitive men have looked at the scene about them and finding it wanting in justice, kindness, and sanity have proceeded to spin out of their sympathies and imaginations pictures of an ideal world." "Rebel America," by Lillian Symes and Travers Clement is the sub-title suggests, "The story of social revolt in the United States." It makes no pretense to be a general interpretation of social forces in American history. The book is divided into three parts, "The Utopians," "Enter Karl Marx," and "Yours for the Revolution."

The first, "The Utopians," carries the story from such early examples of class conflict as Bacon's and Shays' rebellions down to the Civil war. Included are Robert Owen, "who began to suspect after twenty years of agitation for more civilized industrial practices—that reform was not enough"; Fourier, who also "believed that the new social order could be ushered in by the good will of the rich and powerful rather than by the aggressions of the poor and oppressed. Both Owen and Fourier were also convinced that they could demonstrate the practicability of their Utopian vision by the establishment of successful oases of co-operation in a desert of competition. Such experiments as New Harmony, Yellow Springs Community, and Nashoba were the outgrowth of these ideas. In this early period also came the rise of American anarchism under the founder Josiah Warren and the early exchange reformers.

The second section, "Enter Karl Marx," discusses European conditions to give the background of the whole modern revolutionary movement as well as a human picture of Marx, whose influence was to dominate the world thereafter, along with a brief plan of the Marxian theoretical system. The First International Workingmen's association was formed in London during this period and there followed an interesting battle among Marx, Bakunin and other exiled leaders for its control.

In America during the depression of the 1870s the spontaneous mass movements on the part of native American workers of the period known as the "Great Riots" first directed the attention of European revolutionary anarchists—men like Michael Bakunin and Johann Most—to our revolutionary possibilities. There followed mass discontent from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The last section, covering the period from 1900 to 1934, is a chronicle of contemporary radicalism in all its phases, socialism, syndicalism, anarchism, and communism.

The book will perhaps be discouraging for the ambitious person who is setting out to reform the world, because it is a chronicle of the series of defeats which have confronted the American reformers from the colonial period to the present day. "It was one thing to liquidate Russia's small and youthful bourgeoisie. It would be quite another to liquidate the American bourgeoisie even though the depression has reduced many of its members to the proletarian status." The authors even though they take no definite stand are in sympathy with the reformers and have organized their material into an interesting book. The complete bibliography of books and pamphlets and the detailed index make it a useful text for the student as well as an interesting account for the ordinary reader.

HALF & HALF MAKES ONE SWELL SMOKE!

No Bite!

No Bite!

Still no Bite!

What makes a pipe chummy? Half & Half . . . and how! Cool as the news: "We've got a flat tire!" Sweet as the sign: "Garage just ahead." Fragrant, full-bodied tobacco that won't bite the tongue—in a tin that won't bite the fingers. Made by our exclusive modern process including patent No. 1,770,920. Smells good. Makes your pipe welcome anywhere. Tastes good. Your password to pleasure!

Not a bit of bite in the tobacco or the Telescope Tin, which gets smaller and smaller as you use-up the tobacco. No bitten fingers as you reach for a load, even the last one.

Northern Invasion Ends Triumphantly; Grizzlies Defeat Two State Rivals

Havre College Falls Before Fast-Breaking Attack in 61-28 Runaway; Intermountain Panthers Relinquish Lead in Game's Final Minutes

Displaying a better brand of basketball than at any time previous this season, the Grizzlies got off to a flying start in the Montana hoop title race over the week-end, winning from the Northern Montana college by a 58-28 score and subduing the stubborn Panthers of Intermountain Union with a 43-34 count.

The fast-breaking play of the Grizzlies penetrated the defense of the Havre college as Montana overcame an early lead and steadily increased the advantage throughout the remainder of the game.

The Northern college held the Grizzlies during the opening minutes of play but a rejuvenated Montana offense and tight man-to-man defense proved too much for the Northern Lights Indian team as they were forced to resort to long shots in an effort to score.

Numerous fouls marked the play with Blastic of the Grizzlies and Longee, Dupree, Archdale and Goodheart of the Northern Lights being ejected from the game on personals. Blastic collected 17 points for the Grizzlies, being closely followed for the scoring honors by Glover and Thompson with 13 each. Dupree, Indian guard, was the most effective for the Northern Lights, collecting 13 points.

Triumph Over Intermountain

The Grizzlies came from behind in the closing minutes of the last half of Saturday's game to erase a slender Intermountain Union college lead and pull away to a 43-34 victory.

Midway in the first half the Panthers rallied to come within two points of the Grizzlies but the state university team had extended the gap to four points by half-time, 22-18, an advantage which was quickly overcome by Intermountain early in the second half as they forged ahead, 25-24. From that time until within five minutes of the game's end the Panthers held the lead although it was never more than four points.

A Montana field goal sent the Grizzlies ahead, 34-23, and a short time later R. Ortmayer dropped a free shot, the Panthers' final score of the game, to even the count. The last four minutes saw the Grizzlies add nine points to their score while blanking the Panthers.

Greener, Intermountain center, carried off the scoring honors with 13 tallies, one more than was collected by Blastic.

Bearded Stars Outplay Alumni In Slow Game

Varsity Ineligibles Swamp Montana Flour Mills In Preliminary

Bearded giants from the House of David outscored the University Alumni Silvertips 2 to 1 in the final three minutes of a listless game at the men's gymnasium Saturday night to break a tie and win 43-39. The University Ineligibles won the preliminary game, swamping the Montana Flour Mills, 31-8.

Heller, Silvertip forward, out-talked the Benton Harbor quint while he piled up 20 points to take individual honors in scoring. Red Johnston, David forward, counted 17 points to lead the traveling team. Martin of the Whiskers with eight points, was the other high scorer. Rhinehart shone at guard and Crowley and Brown were consistent performers. Lyman, who played in the preliminary contest, used his height to an advantage to take the ball on rebounds. The entire David team played well.

Most of the humor which was provided the crowd was furnished by the Silvertips. Heller's constant chatter was the most amusing act presented during the game. Crowley, who gave an Allah act to make a free throw good after he had missed the first shot provided the outstanding humorous incident. The House of David's foolishness was centered, on body blocks to pave the way for teammates' shots. None of the fancy ball handling was exhibited by any whiskered player. Instead, the Davids seemed content to keep ahead of the aggressive alumni team.

Montana's ineligible team trounced the Montana Flour Mill quint 31 to 8. Joe Mariana was the outstanding performer for the ineligible, scoring 8 points. The Flourmen were behind, 12 to 7 at the half and made only one point for the remainder of the game. Currie, forward on the Mill team, made the two field goals scored by the independent team.

Instructor Attends Chicago Meeting Of Commercial Teachers

Mrs. Brenda F. Wilson, instructor in business administration, attended the meeting of the National Federation of Commercial Teachers at the Sherman hotel in Chicago, December 26, 27 and 28.

The purpose of the trip was to get first hand knowledge for the new functional method of teaching shorthand. This method is being taught in only about fifteen schools of university standing in the United States. Mrs. Wilson saw Louis Leslie, who wrote the new method. She received a number of ideas which she will put into practice.

Women's Rifle Team to Enter City Matches

W. A. A. Will Start Annual Competition in Garden City League

The university women's rifle team will start its annual competition in the Garden City Rifle league next Thursday evening, when it shoots against Company B on the R. O. T. C. range.

Rifery for women was inaugurated at the university in 1933 and to date 180 co-eds have completed a thorough course in marksmanship. In 1934 and 1935 the Women's Athletic association entered a team in the Garden City league.

During these two years the women fired handicap matches when competing with men; in 1934 they won first place firing once prone and twice sitting, against men teams which fired prone, sitting and offhand. They captured third place in 1935 when the handicap was lessened, and women shot prone, sitting and kneeling, while men shot prone, sitting and offhand.

During the current season the W. A. A. team will meet the men teams on an equal footing, without handicap of any kind.

Captain Rothermich, who has sponsored and coached women's rifery since its beginning, said, "Our women's rifle team is probably the only one of its kind in the United States which competes with men teams in three positions and without handicap of any kind. They have no cause for the development of an inferiority complex. They may be beaten, but certainly will make a creditable showing in the league matches."

There is no charge for admission to the contests.

Comparative Strength Is Discussed By Forestry Professor

In an effort to promote the marketability of western forest products, J. H. Ramskill, professor of forestry, is preparing a handbook, giving the comparative strength of Douglas fir timber which will be used by engineers, architects and contractors.

Research on the subject was started after difficulty was found in filling government contracts because there was no data pertaining to the strength of fir grown in the western half of the United States.

The study is being made in co-operation with the Western Pine association.
