Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Delt and Gravelle Receive Vodvil Honors

Alpha Phi and Sigma Chi Are Winners of Second Places;
Aristocrats Present Feature Finale Number;
Large Audience Views Show

Playing before two near-capacity crowds totaling 1,789 people, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Delta Theta won the first prize awards in the Varsity Vodvil finals in which seven Greek organizations took part in the Student Union auditorium last Friday night. John Gravelle, of Hamilton, baritone soloist, was awarded first prize in the cover act competition as a representative of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Alpha Phi and Sigma Chi were the winners of second places.

Tickets for the all-college presentation were at a premium as long lines of spectators formed at the ticket booths for both performances. Attendance at the first show numbered 816 paid admissions, while 973 people saw the final presentation and the announcing of the winners. The crowd at the performance was the largest since 1930 when 2,312 people attended the college production.

Each of the winning acts was presented with a 16-inch bronze cup and $25. Winners of second place were awarded ten-inch silver cups. Gravelle, winner of the cover act contest, was awarded a nine-inch silver plaque. Each of the Greek organizations entering an act was given an expense award of $25. Expenditures for the acts were limited to $75 for women and $50 for men.

Ray Whitcomb, Montana state university yell king, acted as master of ceremonies and provided a unifying element for the acts. He was assisted by Kai Heiberg who acted as stogie and wore a mask until just before the final curtain when he was unmasked. Judges for the competition were E. H. Henrikson, Dick Shaw, Mary V. Harris, Mrs. Barnard Hewitt and Stanley Teel.

Members of the staff who managed and promoted the contest were Jocko Shenk, manager; Arthur Kullman, assistant manager; Stanley Koch, publicity director; Collins Johnson, stage technician; Richard Pope, master electrician, and George Scott, ticket manager.

The festive theme of the evening was further carried out by a special issue of "The Abattoir," a tabloid sheet containing choice bits of gossip and humor. Campus personalities and campus organizations were featured in the small paper, which was published and distributed by members of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity.

All of the acts entered were of unusually high quality and the sets were especially elaborate. The Kappa Kappa Gamma act, winner of first place for women, used a set consisting of a cocktail shaker 15 feet high and two glasses of a large size. Phi Delta Theta used a circular platform eight feet high. Alpha Phi sorority, in presenting a musical skit, used as a background a music skit 20 feet long and seven feet high. Both sororities used a special luminous paint.

Local Alumnus Is Commended For New Book

D'Arey McNickle's Indian
Story Receives Favorable
Mention From Critic

D'Arey McNickle, who attended the university from 1921 until 1925, author of "The Surrounded," a story concerning the last of the Selish Indians, received a favorable review of his book in the New York Times book review section for February 16. The book was reviewed by Fred T. Marsh.

Marsh says: D'Arey McNickle, himself part Indian, was born on the reservation thirty-two years ago and went to a government Indian school there for a time. In this unusual and finished novel he has written a modern story of the Selish people in their modern desultory and formless way of life, a dramatic and thoughtful tale, written from the inside but without autobiographical point, and deeply imbedded in the historic past. "The Surrounded" is by no means without its faults and inadequacies. But there are not those of a first novel as such. The reviewer has been pondering over some of these things. The very fact that he ponders means that to him the story is significant and moving.

The novel has for its background the mountain country of Northwestern Montana within the original Jocko Indian Reservation, home of the Flathead people, and tells the story of Max Leon, a Spaniard, who came to the valley many years ago to live. He married an Indian girl—the children of this marriage are among the modern Indians who are characters in the book.

Record Crowd Is Anticipated At Co-ed Ball

Floor Show Will Be Special
Feature Carrying Out
Leap Year Theme

Ticket sales for Co-ed formal, which will be in the gold room of the Student Union building, Saturday, February 29, will begin tomorrow afternoon. Dorothy Russell, Bozeman, chairman of the ticket sales committee, says that at least three hundred co-eds—a record crowd—are expected to attend the leap-year formal.

Special salesmen will have charge of the sale of tickets at the sorority houses and residence halls. Independent women may obtain their tickets in Main hall on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 1 until 4 o'clock.

Both floral companies in Missoula will have gardenias ordered for the occasion, so that university women may purchase flowers for their date who will be escorted to the dance.

Several co-eds whose birthdays fall on February 29 have received free tickets to the dance. Esther Swanson, chairman of this year's formal, announced yesterday that if there are any other university women whose birthdays come only once every four years, and who plan to get free tickets to the dance, they should call her immediately and make arrangements to get their programs and tickets.

Dancing will begin promptly at 9 o'clock, and last until 12 o'clock. Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson has granted leave permission until 1 o'clock for all university women in order that sororities may have parties following the dance. The Students' store will remain open until 1 o'clock.

As a special feature of the evening, students from the Fisher School of Dance will give a floor show—carrying out the leap-year theme. Novelty programs have been secured. The decorations will be unusually attractive, Miss Swanson says.

ATTEND M. S. C. BALL

Bob Zeldier, Plentywood, and John Harrison, Harlowton, attended the military ball given at the state college at Bozeman Saturday night, February 22. Both report that it was one of the best dances they had attended. One of the reasons they attended was to obtain ideas for the prospective ball to be held on the Montana university campus next spring. Alex Blewett, Butte, was also a guest at the ball.

Faculty Committee Decides to Call for Additional Check On Undergraduate Opinion Regarding Plan; Previous Sentiment Was Favorable

Students will be given an opportunity to vote on the trial establishment of the proposed student-faculty council during registration for the spring quarter, according to plans announced by the faculty committee of the council. The committee decided to call for a second check on the opinion of students after having heard rumors of dissatisfaction with the vote taken at convocation earlier in the month.

Some 500 students attended the convocation February 13, at which time the plan was explained. A large majority of those present expressed willingness to give the plan a trial at that time. It was then proposed that the groups elect their representatives before February 24, with the first meeting to be held early in March.

A statement has been sent to all groups on the campus who are to be concerned with the council. It reads: "Realizing that there is some confusion and misunderstanding concerning the proposed student-faculty council, the faculty committee desires a check on the sentiment of the student body expressed in convocation on Thursday, February 13, before proceeding with the experimental organization. Therefore arrangements are being made for each individual student to vote at the spring quarter registration."

This vote will decide whether or not the council as proposed will be put into operation for a trial period until January 1, 1937, at which time, if the council is given a trial, another vote will be taken to determine the desirability of continuing the organization.

LeClaire Issues Financial Report

Pine View Detention Hospital Gets
$898 of $1,395 Total

Mrs. A. F. LeClaire, director of the university health service, has announced that $898 of the $1,395.75 which was disbursed for hospital bills last quarter went to the Pine View detention hospital. This sum was paid for bills incurred by students who were at Pine View with contagious diseases during the fall term. Mrs. LeClaire issued a financial statement of the service last week.

One university student, Tom Martin, Danville, Illinois, is receiving medical treatment at St. Patrick's hospital at present. Very few cases of illness have been reported to the health service recently.

NOTICE

An important meeting of all varsity football men is to be held in the gym Friday, February 28. All men interested in football be there.

There will be no matinee mixer this week, due to the inclement weather which resulted in small crowds at the last two mixers. The Montana Student Union will sponsor matinee mixers in the near future.

Matinee Show Is Presented For Students

'Midsummer Night's Dream'
Comes Here Tomorrow
At Reduced Prices

Special arrangements are being made to permit university students to attend the matinee of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," at the Wilma theater tomorrow at 5:15 o'clock. Four o'clock classes are to be dismissed at 4:30 o'clock and dinner will be served in the dormitories at 4:40 o'clock. Special buses will accommodate the students wishing to attend the show.

Tickets were on sale in Main hall this morning from 9 until 12 o'clock and may be secured until five this afternoon. If there are any seats left, tickets will be sold again tomorrow in Main hall from 9 until 1:15 o'clock.

Prices for the special showing have been reduced to 40 cents. According to the management of the Wilma theater, this is the only college town where lower prices have been offered university students.

"Max Reinhardt, the director of the picture, is without doubt one of the great men of the modern theater," said Barnard Hewitt.

For years Reinhardt was not only the leading director and producer of Berlin but also guest director at the famous Theater and Music Festival held each summer at Salzburg. His successes have not, however, been confined to Germany; his productions such as "The Miracle," "Everyman," and the stage version of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," have won acclaim in most of the theatrical centers of the world. He is noted for the grand scale of his productions, his dramatic handling of crowds, novel methods of staging and above all for the vigor and vitality of his direction. This vitality has been especially notable in his treatment of the classics. The plays of Goethe, Schiller and Shakespeare are no musty museum pieces in Reinhardt's hands; they spring into vigorous life for him and his audiences.

NOTICE

The women's Interclass basketball tournament will start at 8 o'clock instead of 7:30 o'clock as announced, in order that participants will be able to attend the special matinee Wednesday.

Colleges for the "Brightest"—A Dream

What difference will it make a generation from now if the state university had three thousand students or three hundred in 1936, providing the number of really useful citizens be the same for the two figures, glibly asks the Sunday Missoulian in expressing the belief that tax-supported schools should function only for the student of quality.

For the sake of speculation, suppose this belief should be turned into a serious proposal, directed through the necessary channels and turned into a regulation whereby only the three hundred "brightest" students would be admitted. Who would support such a movement? Certainly no local business house, the Missoulian included, for the reduction of a two-thousand student school to one of three hundred would be no boon to the community. No one cares how many Harold Ureys might appear from such an institution a generation later. Community pride and community profits would not be much concerned with the operation of a public school for a select few; they would not be heartily in favor of expending the same amount of money on three hundred students as required for two thousand or three thousand. The educational facilities would not be improved for the expenditures would be reduced, the faculty cut and the institution would become a one-building school. To this would come the three hundred "brightest" students and out of it, supposedly, would come three hundred "really useful citizens."

Those 1,700 who had been eliminated by this system would look elsewhere for "four pleasant years at a country club." Some of them might find jobs, yes, but the majority would go to college somewhere, even though they knew that there was little room and little recompense for them in the world after graduation, but simply because of that greatest of human traits—hope—driving them on in search for an adequate life. This would be the class discriminated against, but more often than not this is the class which gives the leaders to the next generation. It is not always those who ranked in the upper 10 per cent of their graduating class who fill the executive positions. The student who graduated with honors is frequently the one who winds up in a minor clerk's job. The folks back home shake their heads and say he should never have come to college. "He would have been better off if he had never left the farm." On the other hand the student who has difficulty with his studies is the one who often succeeds and the home town folks remark that he has certainly done well and that they wished they had had a chance to go to college.

The Missoulian further seems to think that "so strong is the belief that possession of a college degree opens to one and all a life of 'successful' ease and security, that parents insist on sending their stupid as well as their bright children, and that the university here has been foiled in every attempt to subject applicants to strict entrance examinations." Certainly there is not a single college student today nor a graduate of recent years who believes that a college degree will provide him with the "Open Sesame" to fame, fortune, happiness and success. And there are few parents who do not share this belief. Back in the early twenties, the university did have an entrance examination for those high school students who were in the lower third of their classes but an entrance examination, when given to youths of 16 or 17, will not adequately prove whether or not a student is capable of college work.

The important thing is not the elimination of "those who do not care to work and those who do not have the inborn intelligence needed to absorb an education," but rather the adjustment of education to meet modern needs. The student who can solve a quadratic equation but cannot keep his bank balance straight; who can name the kings of England since the War of the Roses, but does not know the qualifications of the candidates in the next election; who knows the economic theories of Malthus and Adam Smith, but can not live within his income; who has studied the psychology of James and Titchener, but can not control his temper; who can recite hundreds of lines of Shakespeare, but knows little of the Declaration of Independence, Lincoln's Gettysburg address or the twenty-third Psalm, is far from being a "really useful citizen."

The prime purpose of education is to develop to the fullest extent the capacities with which every person is endowed, to give the college student the means of evaluating his world and to teach him how little he has learned in his four years of college. The "superstition attaching to a college education will die out" only when the college fails utterly to supply these needs to a large number of the nation's young men and women.

A Credit to Montana

It has come and gone, the revived Varsity Vodvil, bringing an excellence which surpassed any previous show and leaving the pleasant memory of truly fine entertainment. Bouquets go not alone to the winners but to all organizations which competed in the finals. All acts were far above average; those who did not win should feel well satisfied that they did their groups proud by presenting more than creditable performances. Certainly the task of judging must have been far more difficult than in previous years. Congratulations are due Manager Jocko Shenk and his assistants who were instrumental in making the 1936 production the finest ever.

That such a show should succeed financially is inevitable but that is not the chief source of gratification. It is the pride of a job well done and the knowledge that the university possesses such capable talent. "The show was the best example of undergraduate talent of its kind I have ever seen," was the remark made by one member of the audience who has witnessed many collegiate productions throughout the country. "The state university can well be proud of the artistic ingenuity, originality and dramatic, dancing and musical talents of its students."

To all of those connected with Varsity Vodvil we pass that tribute on as best summing up the opinion of everyone fortunate enough to have seen a real show.

A ROUNDER and ABOUT

And from our beauty experts we learn that after the beefy gal had taken the thirty-day diet she decided that she was feeling like her old slyph again.

Equestrians who bounce
From horn to cantle
Eat their dinner
Off the mantle.

A recent poll conducted in eastern Montana shows that the favorite musical number in that section of the state is "I'm Billings Up to an Awful Letdown."

A Columnist's Lament

Once upon a midnight dreary
While I pondered weak and weary
Pounding out my sheet of gore
Suddenly there came a crashing
Someone's teeth were wild gnashing
And a tongue was wildly lashing,
Lashing at my office door
Simply this and nothing more:

"This one of my fans, I know his knock,
But the door I won't unlock
For if he gets in he'll clean my clock."
So I let him keep ranting at my door
Simply this and nothing more.

And from our Hawaiian correspondent we hear that the newest greeting given to tourists by the natives is "This is Hilo, not goodbye."

Questionnaire for Co-eds

(If the answers given are "Yeses," figure it out for yourself why you don't get more dates.)

1. Are you always hungry?
2. Do you insist on sitting in loges?
3. Are you opposed to necking?
4. Do you use the same, simple line on every guy?
5. Do you go to the libe to study?
6. Are you a pseudo-sophisticate?
7. Do you chatter all the time?
8. Are you a blonde?

A college degree
May be
All right
But a few degrees
Of Fahrenheit
Will fill
The bill
On a moonlight
Night.

Dear Rounder:

When I am around girls it is a foregone conclusion that I am the boss, but I can't do a thing with the men. What is the solution?

Your troubled fan,

FANNY.

Dear Fanny:

The only thing for you to do is start singing in a church choir and find out how to handle the hymns.

THE ROUNDER.

Parables of Hudamore the Seer
And lo it came to pass that on the first day past Varsity Vodvil as Hudamore the Seer did lie in his tent and partake of some much-needed Shut Eye, a Great Multitude, numbering five score and sixteen did come unto his abode and cast stones and empty bottles therein, and indicate that they were Fair Gripped, moreover.

So the Wise One did disguise himself in strange robes, and going forth mingled amongst them, to find out what was the manner and means of their Beef.

And when he had arrived in their midst there came forthwith the Following Tale: Upon last eve when we were in attendance of the Shenk Show, there was sold unto all comers a Rag, in which was carried our Names, in connections Most Libulous. And gathering together each another, we did decide that perhaps it was the Seer who was Responsible for the Guff, and for him the Hour of Atoneement is at hand.

So Hudamore the Seer did rise among them, and casting aside the Robe of Hiding spake unto the assemblage in stentorian tones: My people, go thy way in peace, for against me you have no Just Grievance. Because for the past months I have endeavored to show you your Erring Ways in a manner most mild, but since you cannot resist the Evils of Life, it is fitting that your sins be published to the world by persons less Noble than I.

And so the Multitude left well pleased, and within themselves did make the pledge that again next year they would have Outside activities to entitle themselves to space in the Abattoir.

Local R.O.T.C. Men Are Given Chances For Marine Posts

Navy Department Head States That 111 Positions Will Be Filled; Unit Has High Rank

Colonel G. L. Smith has received a letter from Claude A. Swanson, secretary of the navy, indicating that the policy inaugurated last year, when 86 outstanding graduates of colleges and institutions maintaining senior units of R. O. T. C. were commissioned as second lieutenants in the U. S. marine corps, will be continued.

"The group of young officers from the R. O. T. C. units obviously are young men of unusual promise," Secretary Swanson writes. "Due to the operation of the laws affecting promotions and retirements in the marine corps, which have only been effective for two years, they again face the problem of obtaining from civil life 111 second lieutenants to be commissioned on or about July 1. It is my hope that you will again offer the resources of the R. O. T. C. to fill these vacancies from honor graduates of the 1936 classes of the colleges and universities."

Because the local R. O. T. C. unit has been awarded an "excellent" rating, it is authorized to designate 5 per cent of the graduating advanced course class as "honor graduates." Stanley W. Trachta, graduate from the law school in 1935 with an L.L.D. degree, received the appointment from Montana in 1935 and was commissioned as second lieutenant in the marine corps effective July 1, 1935. Trachta is now attending marine school in Philadelphia, Pa.

Prelim Bouts Of M Tourney Nearing Close

Nineteen Boxing, Wrestling Matches Advance Race To Final Bracket

Fourteen fights and five wrestling matches have advanced the M club eliminations past the second round and into the final eliminations to determine the competitors for the tourney to be held Wednesday, March 4, in the men's gym.

The boxing eliminations started fast Monday when Bradley Ekstedt won on a technical knockout from Bill Andrews. Andrews started fast, but weakened in the second round when Ekstedt pummeled him all over the ring. Andrews was down when the fight was stopped by Referee-Instructor Cale Crowley.

In the second bout Stacy Struble won a two-round decision from M. Dugan. This fight had plenty of action. In the first round the fighters threw enough leather for any four round fight. Struble was far superior and received the unanimous vote of the judges.

Connolly Wins
Pat Connolly showed clever boxing and punching power to kayo John Ryan in the first round. Connolly maneuvered his man into a corner and placed a well-timed one-two punch to the chin and the fight was over. The boys fought in the light heavyweight division.

Ray Walsh fought a fast two round fight to win the judges' decision over Walt Jensen. Walsh won the first round by a good margin and broke even in the second to earn the victory. This fight was almost brought to an abrupt stop when Referee Cale Crowley was hit flush on the chin with a wild punch. The sock staggered the doughty instructor but did no apparent harm.

Ed Halland and Bruce Farnum fought for the second time with Halland copping the decision in a close fight. The first time these fighters met they battled the regular two rounds to a draw. After the extra round was fought the judges could not select a winner and they had to fight the bout over again yesterday. Halland won the return engagement with more solid blows at the end of the regular fighting period.

Blehl vs. MacFarlane
Clarence Blehl set a new record for quick finishes when he planted solid rights and lefts to Don MacFarlane's chin to drop him glassy-eyed to the canvas twice before Referee Crowley stopped the fight after 15 seconds of milling.

Ernest Reed won from Perry Moholt in one of the fastest fights of the eliminations. Both boys tossed caution to the spectators and traded punches toe to toe. Reed finally won the decision due to more effective infighting.

John McCauley won his second fight of the tournament when he took a decision from Ralph Blayden. McCauley was the master all the way and could have finished his opponent any time he cared to.

The fights Friday saw Cuthbert Smallwood win a decision from Earl Martel, John McCauley kayo J. More, Sid Wharton win a technical knockout from Keith Ross, Paul Fidler drop a close fight to K. Lewis, and Wayne Lindgren win from Henry Bennett.

Wrestling
In the wrestling eliminations R. Scott won from J. Paulson in two minutes 15 seconds. D. Sharp forfeited to Ted Falacy. H. Leidhead put a cross body-lock on J. Vielleux to win in two minutes 15 seconds. C. Williams won from Lee in eight minutes, and V. Seidensticker dropped a close match to Gail Lundberg. J. Crusofull won the decision from F. Willig in eight minutes.

Starting Wednesday all the bouts will take place at 4 o'clock. The fights for Wednesday: Smallwood versus Reed, Jarvis versus Hollow, Blankenship versus Donahue, C. McCauley versus Struble. Friday the final eliminations will take place with Fritz fighting the winner of the C. McCauley-Struble fight. Ekstedt will meet Blehl, Lindgren will fight Walsh, Lewis meets the winner of the Blankenship-Donahue fight, and Sid Wharton meets Tonnaco.

WAR DEPARTMENT FIXES AGE LIMIT FOR R. O. T. C.

The military science department of the university has received instructions from the war department prohibiting the initial enrollment of any student in the R. O. T. C. after he has attained his twenty-sixth birthday. This notice also prohibits the re-enrollment of a student at any age which would make his graduation impossible before the attainment of his thirtieth birthday.

Eunice Pinkney, Missoula, has withdrawn from school due to ill health.

Grizzlies Will Meet Gonzaga's Strong Quint Tomorrow Night

Game Postponed From Saturday; Washington Squad Has Fine Record This Season; Blastic to Play Last Home Game; Snowslide Delays Team

Gonzaga Bulldogs, who were forced to cancel the basketball game with the Grizzlies Saturday when their train was delayed more than seven hours because of a snow slide, will meet the Montana quint tomorrow night in the men's gymnasium. The Spokane hoopsters, who were stalled at Avery, cancelled the game and took a return train at Haugen.

Both the Harlem Globe Trotters and the House of David quints which appeared here last night have been beaten by the record-breaking Bulldogs. Gonzaga has broken even with Cheney Normal this year, losing the first game by a wide margin and winning the second by two points.

The Grizzlies were overwhelmed by the Bulldogs in the first game at Spokane. At the end of the half the score was 17-16 but Gonzaga pulled away in the second half.

Claude McGrath, Bulldog coach, will have Captain Herman Brass, Coerte Van Voorhis, Dave Hurley and Jim Mathers, forwards; Gale Seigle and Frank Pettyjohn, centers, and Leonard Yandle, Ray Leonard and Chuck Flajole and Tom O'Donnell, guards.

Grizzly Coach A. J. Lewandowski will have Captain Hank Blastic, who will play his last collegiate home game, Bob Thomson and Doug Brown, forwards; Marvin Glover and Don Holmquist, centers; Paul Chumrau, Charles Miller and Ray Stevens, guards. Mitchell, Keithley, Quam, Marsh and Castles are alternates.

Probable starting lineups:
Grizzlies Bulldogs
Blastic Brass
Thomson Van Voorhis
Glover Seigle
Miller Center Yandle
Chumrau Guard Leonard

Sullivan Urges Big Attendance At M Tourney

Final Arrangements Being Made; Special Bout To Be Feature

"M club tournament is only a week from now—next Wednesday," John Sullivan, president of the university lettermen's organization, said this morning. "For that reason I am calling another M club meeting for Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Student Union building. Final arrangements for the staging of our big boxing and wrestling show will be made at that time and committees will be instructed in their various duties. I hope every M man in school shows up, because without the co-operation of everyone we're going to have a difficult time making the tournament the success it has been in previous years."

"Fourteen wrestling and boxing bouts will be held in addition to a special fight between Roy Babich, Pacific coast A.A.U. amateur heavyweight champion, and Bill Perusch, former Pacific coast A.A.U. lightweight champion. Perusch is now in the heavyweight class and was given a decision over the Grizzly football

Sporty Vents

The return engagement of Gonzaga and Montana scheduled for last Saturday will be played Wednesday. This game will be the last of the home season for the Grizzlies and a fitting one for a finale. If we were asked to pick the best all-around rivals of Grizzly teams, the designation would have to go to Gonzaga. In football, the games are always hard fought and close. In basketball the type of game is the same as that played against the Bobcats. Although the Bulldogs already hold one decision over the Grizzlies this year, tomorrow night's game is far from in the bag for the Bulldogs.

A headline in the Idaho Argonaut reads: "Idaho Fans Pray for Miracle Against Huskies." The Huskies, if you don't know, represent the University of Washington. They had gone through the season undefeated and only needed to win two games from the lowly Vandals to set a new record of consecutive victories for Washington basketball teams. The miracle happened and Idaho walked from the floor with a 40-33 victory. The next night the Huskies came back to win the second game. Two victories from Washington State will clinch the northern division title for them.

Eliminations for the right to fight in the M club tournament finals are progressing rapidly and it will not be long before the finalists will be determined. One finalist last year, Sam Raffety, is not sure whether he will defend his title. Raffety has asked to be given until Wednesday to find out if he can reach good enough condition to warrant his entering the fights. If he does not fight, two finalists will be chosen to battle for the vacated crown.

The special match between Babich and Perusch will bring together two of the best fighters in Montana. Both have held major boxing titles for many

Globe Trotters Defeat Davids By 46-35 Tally

New York Negroes Clown
During Fourth Period;
Many Fouls Called

Playing consistent basketball for three quarters and clowning the fourth, the Globe Trotters, negro professionals of New York, defeated the House of David Bearded Beauties last night in the university gym by a score of 46-35.

Going through tap dances and limping while dribbling, the Globe Trotters won the admiration of the crowd. Many fouls were called on both teams, but this proved useless because of a previous agreement between the teams.

Russian, small forward, and I. Jackson, 220-pound center, put on an exhibition on playing "ring around the rosie."

Bunny Leavitt, now holding the world's record for free throws—making 499 out of 500—put on an exhibition at the half, making 91 out of one hundred.

The Grizzly band helped to entertain one of the largest crowds—1,400 persons—which has witnessed a game in the men's gym.

Kezba opened the scoring with two free throws and Beelman matched them with a short field goal. Johnson scored a short one. Kezba scored a one-handed shot. Brown scored two free throws. Kezba scored an overhand. Jackson matched it. Beelman scored on a sleeper and Russian swished from midfloor. Curtis hooped from the hole. I. Jackson scored on a one-hander to start the second quarter and Russian matched it. Beelman scored on a sleeper and Johnson followed a long one to score. Frazier connected a long one which was followed by one from Russian, which gave the Globe Trotters the lead. Frazier again hit and then dribbled in for one. Russian again hit from away out and Johnson made two free throws. A. Jackson and Russian converted to end the first half.

Curtis started the scoring in the second half on a rebound and A. Jackson connected on a spinshot. Frazier swished a long one and hit again on an underhand at full speed. Brown hit on an overhead shot and Johnson made a free throw. A. Jackson pushed in a rebound and Brown connected a free throw. Frazier pushed in one and Johnson connected on a one-hander. Kezba connected a close-in and swished a long one later to end the scoring.

Spring Practice Will Start Soon, Fessenden Says

Gridmen to Report Friday; Mentor
Plans Preparatory Talks,
Early Indoor Sessions

First steps toward organized spring football practice will be taken Friday when all the interested footballers will meet in the men's gym at 4 o'clock. The meeting will be held in order to discuss and outline plans for the coming practices. Regular workouts will be in the gym under the direction of Head Coach Douglas Fessenden and his assistants. When favorable conditions allow, the practice sessions will be held outdoors.

"With Montana's schedule such as it is, it is highly important that all players who expect to play next year report," said Coach Fessenden yesterday. "Two of our biggest games are first on our schedule next year, and a successful spring football session is our only chance to compete on an equal basis with the teams we are playing. Those two games are important and we do not expect to start our season with the third game," he continued.

Montana starts the season against Washington State, and then travels to Los Angeles to meet U. C. L. A. The Grizzlies have never had a really successful spring practice and a good session will go far toward producing a winning team.

vin Glover, T. Scheffer and Walter Wetzel. In second place with a total of 39 is Howard Wheatley. Robert Stoebe, L. Smith, Cliff Smith and Don Holmquist are tied for third place with 37 baskets each.

"The third round is scheduled to be run before 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Those men who are on the varsity squad will have to throw before they leave Thursday afternoon on the Bozeman trip," said Harry Adams, director.

Journalism Senior Has 7th Birthday Saturday

A youngster who Saturday will celebrate his seventh birthday has the distinction besides being a college senior, of being able to stay up as late as he wishes. Two nights each week he departs for bed an hour or so prior to the time most university students are arising for breakfast and none of his elders ever remonstrate with him. And in spite of the irregular habits of this youth he has been earning his own way in the cold cruel world for nigh onto twelve years. But how can that be? First we say he'll celebrate his seventh birthday on Saturday and then we claim that he's been drawing a pay check for twelve years. Now that's manifestly impossible.

A few words of explanation will suffice to clear up the mystery. The precocious one of whom we speak is Howard Hazelbaker—one of those unfortunates who rate birthday presents only during leap year. As for the late hours he keeps, they are not occasioned by an unwillingness to retire at a more seasonable time of night, but since enrolling as a freshman in the school of journalism four years ago, Howard has had the night shift on the Kaimin linotype, setting type for the student newspaper long after the editorial staff departs homeward.

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO — "IT'S TOASTED"

Center Leaves

The top leaves of all tobacco plants tend to give a definitely harsh, alkaline taste. The bottom leaves tend to acidity in the smoke. It is only the center leaves which approach in nature the most palatable acid-alkaline balance. In LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes the center leaves are used.

LUCKIES ARE LESS ACID!

Recent chemical tests show* that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.
