Hel Romig Fuller of Portland, considered one of the outstanding poets of the northwest, will be the principal speaker at the Theta Sigma Phi Matrix table banquet which will be held May 7. Members of the national oratory journalism fraternity accepted an invitation to speak at the banquet.

In addition to her writing, which has a large market both in this country and in England, Mrs. Fuller edits the poetry column of the Oregonian, Portland, Oregon newspaper, and is writing special verse bits of homely philosophy for a radio program, "Mary and Her Garden," which is broadcast from station KOMO in Seattle, Washington, every morning except Sunday and Sunday.

During the past two years, Mrs. Fuller has written several articles for Travel, the Christian Science Monitor, and The Oregonian. At present she is working on several articles on conservation for various publications. Various types of magazines, from the American Curly to Wee Wisdom have published Mrs. Fuller's work. As a result, several of her longer poems have been printed in The Oregonian Scholar, which is the official Phi Beta Kappa organ.

Several new topics were discussed at the forestry club meeting Wednesday night in the forestry library, among them the spring dance, spring hike and a forestry club baseball team.

Norval Bonawitz, Missoula, was appointed manager of the baseball team, although no definite arrangements have been made as yet for intramural games.

Gene Cox, Helena; Ralph Hansen, Billings; and Joe Crisafulli, Glendive, were selected as committee heads for the spring hike, which will take place May 22.

The spring hike, an annual affair, is attended by forestry club members, faculty of the forestry school and friends of the members. Approximately 500 are expected, stated Arnold Boile, Watertown, Wisconsin, president of the forestry club.

Although no date was set, plans were made for a spring dance. Mike Hardy, Fullerton, California; Jack Miller, Missoula, and Bob Jansson, Chicago, will be in charge of the dance. The spring dance is held exclusively for forestry club members.

The Montana State University journalism school ranks high among the departments of its kind throughout the nation, according to a survey recently made by Hal S. Hepner, state university graduate, now assistant college editor and journalism instructor at South Dakota State college.

The survey included an analysis of courses in 115 schools and departments of journalism in state-owned institutions of higher education throughout the country. ## Barnard Hewitt Resignation Is Sent to Prexy

Andrew Corry to Resign At End of Summer Session

Dr. Barnard Hewitt's formal resignation from the university faculty was received in the president's office late Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Hewitt, who has been director of dramatics and English instructor here since 1932, is resigning to accept a position at Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa.

On receiving the resignation, President George Finlay Simmons said, "Dr. Hewitt has had a very fine background and excellent post-graduate training, and it is unfortunate that the university financial situation is such that we cannot compete with offers from larger and more affluent universities." The resignation goes into effect at the conclusion of the summer session in August.

President Simmons also announced the resignation of Andrew Corry, instructor in the English department since 1934. Mr. Corry's resignation stated that he is leaving (Continued on Page Four)

Vice-President's Letter of Resignation

Mr. James Meyers, President of the Associated Students, Montana State University.

Dear Mr. Meyers:

I wish to tender my resignation as vice-president of the Associated Students to take effect immediately. I am nearing the end of my second year of service on Central board and as time goes on I am becoming more and more aware that the present system of student government is neither representative nor designed to further the best interest of the majority of the students. The election conducted last spring was not a contest but a foregone conclusion whose outcome was known for at least three weeks before the primary vote on April day, and as a result polled the smallest number of votes that has been cast in student elections for several years. It has been a custom on this campus that the positions of vice-president and secretary of the A. S. U. M. be held by women, so after the other A. S. U. M. offices had been parceled out among the men, I happened to be the one selected by "the powers that be" to run for the office from which I am now resigning.

I wish to make it clear that I am not conforming to the current fashion of being a "probable" candidate for any office whatever, and that I do not desire the "backing" of even the small group of students" upon which the "probable" candidates are relying. I frankly doubt Mr. Province's sincerity, but I do agree with his "probable" campaign platform of a "general campus reform." And, to Mr. Province's own discomfort, no doubt, I too am aware of the painful inadequacy of Central board as a representative body, and of the petty bickerings of Interfraternity council; and I have decided that I no longer care to be a part of a system that has so dominated campus activities that the senior men's honorary has degenerated into nothing more than milk and water sops to reward the stooges of an unscrupulous backstage machine popularly believed to be closely affiliated with Theta Nu Epsilon, a national secret political fraternity which Baird's manual declares is held in ill repute on every college campus in the United States.

By this resignation I do not mean to imply that I have no more interest in student activities, but rather that I wish to feel free to devote my efforts to any move designed to improve student self government. I am glad that the general agitation in student politics this spring is creating among the bulk of the students awareness of the actual conditions of their campus government.

Sincerely yours,
BETTY ANN POLLEYS.

Early Rule Banning Vardis Fisher Book Modified by Board

Members Place Responsibility for Maintaining "High Level of Good Taste and Decorum" on President And Faculty of Various Units

Expressing unanimous consent, nine members of the Montana State Board of Education Tuesday modified their earlier order banning Vardis Fisher's "Passions Spin the Plot" and placed with the president and faculty of each unit of the University of Montana the responsibility of maintaining a "high level of good taste and public decorum."

"Copies of the board's resolution shall be distributed to the faculty members and if any regulation is necessary in accordance with the action it shall be left entirely to them," President G. F. Simmons said yesterday.

The resolution was proposed at the meeting in Billings by W. S. Davidson of Bozeman and was seconded by W. M. Johnston of Billings. Johnston was the proposer of the September 6, 1935 resolution which resulted in the removal of the Fisher book from the library shelves. Davidson seconded that proposal.

Petitions which had been sent requesting the replacing of the Fisher book were not discussed at the meeting, it was learned. The resolution as adopted by the nine members of the board present says:

WHEREAS: This board on September 9, 1935, ordered the removal from the libraries of the six units of the University of Montana of certain objectionable or controversial books;

RESOLVED: That as a matter of practical operation such order be and is hereby modified to read as follows:

The president and faculty of each unit of the University of Montana are charged with the responsibility of seeing that proper standards are maintained at each such institution in the selection, purchase, (Continued on Page Four)

Officer Quits; Is Dissatisfied With "System"

Freedom to Help Change Situation Given As Motive

Says Offices "Fixed"

Resigning from the position of vice-president of the A. S. U. M. because of avowed dissatisfaction with the present system of student government and the desire to be "free to devote my efforts" to improving the situation, Betty Ann Polleys, Missoula, yesterday added a new and confusing chapter to the turbulent political upheaval which has occupied campus attention the past few days.

Miss Polleys struck at the inadequacy of Central board, labelled Silent Sentinel, senior men's honorary, a group of "milk and water sops," decried the petty bickerings of Interfraternity council and cast personal doubt upon the sincerity of Nate Province's platform as a probable presidential candidate.

She expressed the belief that all campus offices were distributed and the occupants of them determined upon before the elections and placed the blame for the existing conditions upon Theta Nu Epsilon, a group which is claimed to be in existence here.

"I no longer care to be a part of a system which has so dominated campus activities," she said in her resignation which was submitted to President James Meyers yesterday afternoon.

She requested that her action not be interpreted as an indication that she no longer possessed interest in student activities and expressed satisfaction that the present agitation in campus politics was producing an awareness among the students.

Active in New Party

Miss Polleys has been active in the work of the new political party, started here and at several neighboring colleges under the impetus of the national office of Mortar board, senior women's honorary.

She has held numerous offices. She was a freshman class officer in 1932-33 and was elected to Central board as junior delegate in 1934. Last spring she was placed in the position of vice-president of the student body. She was elected to membership of both women's honoraries, Tanan-of-Spur and Mortar board.

Wesley Fellowship will meet at 6:30 o'clock Sunday night at the First Methodist church. Jean Printz will lead the meeting.

Nearly Three Thousand Cases Reported by Health Service

Four University Students Undergo Operations During Period

During the winter quarter, 2,885 visits were made to the university health service office, according to the regular quarterly report recently issued by the health service director, Mrs. A. F. LeClaire.

Sixteen contagious diseases were reported to the office during this period. Of these cases, seven were scarlet fever and nine mumps. Four university students underwent operations last quarter. The university nurses made 29 visits to homes of students and 112 visits to hospitals to see students who were ill.

The report shows that 11 women and 42 men were sent to hospitals for treatment; 157 men and 74 women were sent to doctors; 49 women and 62 men were sent to the infirmary. Two thousand, one hundred and twelve treatments for colds and minor ills were given and 499 dressings applied, in the health service office. Claims amounting to $2,696.50 were made to the department for hospital and doctor bills. Town hospital charges (paid in full) amounted to $731.75; Pine View hospital charges, (paid in full) $136, and infirmary charges (paid in full) $22.45. Doctor's claims for their services amounted to $1,556.30

A MATTER FOR THE FRATERNITIES

Spring football practice stands in a fair way of being ruined. Key men on the teams which are now participating in the fundamental spring drill, also, unfortunately, are members of various fraternity baseball teams. Excluding three or four or more men every afternoon so that they may play with their house ball teams means the serious disruption of football practice. The Grizzly team will either be made or broken by the knowledge and experience the players gain this spring. Next fall there will be no time to build a football team. The schedule opens with a game against W. S. C. almost immediately after the beginning of the fall training period.

Yet Doug Fessenden does not want to issue any rules regarding his players in this matter. He has already excused some men and would be glad to continue to do so if both the baseball games and football practice could be so arranged as not to conflict with each other.

Football practice is over by 5:30 o'clock every afternoon and since all baseball games are scheduled for only five innings, it might be possible to arrange a twilight league. Failing in this the only possible action which can be taken is to drop football players from fraternity baseball teams and this must be done by the houses themselves. If football players were permitted to take part in baseball games when they did not interfere with the more important sport, there would be an obvious unfairness to those houses which could not use their football men in other games because of the conflict.

The problem is becoming a serious one and if it is deemed impossible to play games in the early evening, then the fraternities must choose between Fessenden's New Deal or a Raw Deal for Fessenden and having made the only possible choice agree not to use any football players in the Interfraternity competition.

EVERY MAN A CRIMINAL?

Definite and wholesome development of educational programs in American prisons was recorded in the annual report of the Osborne Association, Inc., released in New York City last week. This trend was said to have offset in a number of instances "the devastating effect of idleness brought about through the closing of prison shops."

In our more progressive prisons and reformatories all recreational activities have been placed under the direction of trained leadership. No longer do progressive institutions feel that recreation is simply diversion for the inmate population, but that it is for developing leisure — time habits which may be followed after their release from prison. This advance is of particular significance for it is generally during leisure hours that many men, both while in prison and on release, get into trouble because they know of no legitimate recreational outlet to command their interests.

It has long been realized that America's prison problem has been made difficult by inadequate equipment and poor administration. Suggestions have therefore been made by numerous qualified observers that machinery for classifying and segregating offenders should be installed and that better living quarters to overcome and improve discipline by measures of positive control are badly needed. Poorly administered parole and probation systems are also cited as a cause of difficulty in solving the problem of crime reduction. Economic conditions of recent years have been mainly responsible for delaying progress in our prison reform.

When we consider that the prison population of these United States increased 100 per cent between 1924 and 1934 the realization comes that something must be done and that something immediately. Fourteen billions of dollars were expended in the cause of combatting the criminal tendencies of the American Homo Sapiens and an additional $125,000,000 went toward maintaining inmates of juvenile reformatories for young offenders. As depression is blamed for hampering the cause of prison reform so is it deemed responsible for the astonishing increase in crime during the past decade. From 1910 to 1924 the nation's jailed population increased but 12 per cent as contrasted to the 100 per cent gain in the succeeding period.

It is to be hoped that research and legislative activities in the subject of penology will continue to increase and that the efforts of those individuals engaged in this work shall succeed, in a measure at least, in not only rehabilitating our present prisoners but persuading the remainder of our people that crime does not pay. It is not alone the apprehended criminal whom we should convince of the error of his ways but we should endeavor seriously to keep the younger generation in the good old "straight and narrow."

FINIS TO "CENSORSHIP"

Do you remember way back when the campus was all astir over censorship? When we believed that we were being deprived of our liberties and our lives while at college were about to be regulated by stringent rules and administrative tut-tuttings? It really hasn't been so long ago. Was it last week? Or the week before? It might just as well have been last month or even last year for the whole of that very paramount — at the time — affair has become already just another of memory's possessions, something to recall and laugh over, especially when one remembers his own indignant feelings during some of those heated discussions.

Tuesday the state board of education, having previously received the petitions asking for the replacement of the Vardis Fisher book, modified its earlier action and left the matter entirely to the faculties and presidents of the six units of Montana's higher educational system.

The board asked the directors of each institution to maintain the proper standard of good taste and public decorum. No books were ordered off the shelves although it was requested that writings unsuitable for immature students shall not be placed on the general or open shelves. Co-operation was asked from those people in charge of plays and publications.

Admittedly the power of censorship is embodied in the resolution but it is extremely doubtful if that power will ever be exercised. By his own admission, President Simmons is contemplating no censorship and as far as the state board's resolution is concerned he merely plans to supply the faculty members with copies of the action and leave the matter of departmental regulation, should any ever be necessary, entirely to the individuals of the departments concerned.

The only way to prevent war is to put the fear of God into the hearts of your bloody congressmen.—General Smedley D. Butler.

Contemporaries' Opinions

Politics Blamed for Crime Wave

In a recent address before a New York audience, J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, speaking of the unprecedented spread of crime throughout the entire country during the past few years said, "When a man commits a crime and starts upon his escape, the easiest avenue towards freedom is after he has been apprehended by a law-enforcement agency." And further, "The American should make it his business to combat crime and all of the filthy and stultifying influences which foster crime." In other words, the citizen's obligations to the country is not satisfied by the establishment of a police system — but his interest, in what is ultimately his own well-being, must extend into the courts to the final conviction and incarceration of the law breaker.

These charges are by no means new. The connection between rotten politics and crime is too tacitly understood by the majority of people for it to come as a surprise. But, when the pronouncements of a man whose position and experience lend credulity to his words, are speeches of those stultifying influences of which "the most important of all is rotten politics" it is time that the ordinary citizen take interest.

It is a well-known fact that many criminals have enjoyed a long life of crime before they are brought to the higher courts, and this in many cases is not due to the lack of vigilance on the part of the police. The fault lies in the lower courts, where a little bit of "pull" judiciously exercised can bring about a man's release for offenses that merit jail terms.

The public is failing to interest itself in this matter of "cleaning" the lower courts, is forced not only to bear the onus of the situation, and its unnecessary expense, but is also increasing the likelihood that he, himself, will be the next victim of the purse slim footpad.

And verily, with the advent of the Elections came the customary amount of Mud Slinging, Fence Sitting, Mugwumping and general Yammering from all parties whether concerned with the outcome or not.

So while Hudamore the Seer employed himself in his tent by applying the latest Sunburn potions, and weighing the merits of Vitamin D and moonlight plinies, he was visited by a vast multitude who were of a Troubled Mind and for an explanation of the Political Setup.

Kirk Badgley Attends Coast Athletic Meet

North Division Managers Discuss Basketball Officiating

Kirk Badgley, athletic manager, attended a meeting of the athletic managers of the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference which was held in Spokane, Washington, last week. This group meets between the times that the regular conference meetings are held in the spring and fall each year.

The managers discussed the basketball officiating problem which has been causing so much dissatisfaction recently. A plan was drawn up to secure a uniform method of officiation at basketball games so that fouls are called and judged in the same manner in all localities. This plan will be submitted for discussion at the regular conference meeting which will be held in Spokane, Washington, during the first week of June.

Tennis and golf were also discussed at the meeting. The conference golf meet will be held in Pullman, Washington on May 30, and the tennis meet in Seattle on the same date.

At the recommendation of the president of the Pacific Coast conference, it was unanimously decided to transfer the conference track meet from Los Angeles, California to Berkeley, California, because of the fact that the American Legion had been given prior authorization to use the coliseum in Los Angeles on the date set for the track meet.

Those who attended the meeting were Hugh Rosson, University of Oregon; Carl Lodell, Oregon State college; Earl Foster, Washington State college; George Horton, University of Idaho; Charles Frankland, chairman of athletics at the University of Washington; Carl Kigore, secretary of athletics at the University of Washington, and Kirk Badgley.

Bob Hileman is another newcomer and has run the high hurdles in 16.3 seconds. Oliver Roholt will also run the high hurdles as well as working on the high jump. Phil Muchmore won his numeral in the pole vault last year and will enter both the vault and the high jump this year. Wayne Gitchell, a distance man who Thursday ran the mile in 4 minutes 47 seconds, is a transfer student.

Tex Glover, another transfer student, is also a track newcomer. He is throwing the javelin and discus but has not tossed either for distance this year. Ted Garlington will enter the two-mile event this year. His best time in this run last year was 10 minutes 30 seconds. John Seidensticker and Boris Vladimiroff are both new men who are miking off the weight events.

Sport Sketches

Dizzy Dean will not trust more than $5,000 to any one bank. It is rumored that he has more than $100,000 in different banks.

This is the season of the year when sports writers are pounding out the guff which, perhaps, they will hate to view next October.

Most of the sports writers are saying it is a cinch that the St. Louis Cardinals will win the National league race and the Detroit Tigers the American. Somebody is going to hate to look over clippings dated in April, because these shots are going to be slightly different.

In the American league it looks like the Boston Red Sox, Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees to finish in that order. The National league will finish with the New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals on top and in that order.

It is estimated that $3,000,000 has been spent to make the Red Sox into a pennant winning team by the addition of such players as Jimmy Foxx, Roger Cramer, Eric McNair, Heinie Manush and Johnny Marcum. Much, however, depends on the pitching of Fritz Ostermueler. If he can take his turn at the box with Grove, Ferrell and Marcum, Boston will be hard to beat.

The Detroit Tigers, winners of the World Series last fall, are being generally picked to repeat because of the addition of Al Simmons to the outfield, but it must also be remembered that Goose Goslin is a year older and that Crowder is being referred to as "the venerable right-hander."

Even with the addition of Joe Dimaggio and Roy Johnson, who led the Red Sox in hitting last season, the Yankees will have to fight for third place.

Now for the National league. Starting with the New York Giants. They have a well-balanced team this year, both offensively and defensively, since the addition of Burgess Whitehead at second base. Let it be remembered they lost 20 games through second base last year.

The Cubs are not stronger this year than last, which would make

Golds Engage Red Warriors This Saturday

Losers to Blue Team Are Anxious to Tounce Untried Foes

Reds and Golds will clash at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow in the second game of the round-robin tournament. The Gold team, which was defeated by the Blues 21-0 last week, will seek revenge in tomorrow's contest after spending the week polishing up on plays and formations.

The Reds have a strong line with Captain Roy Babich, John Shields, Chuck Williams and Lyman Gibson at ends; Blackie Johnson, Joe Strizich, Bunny Jones, tackles; Aldo Forte and Monk Gedgond, guards, with Phil Peterson at the pivot position.

In the backfield are Charles Whittinghill calling the signals; Clifford Olson, fullback, and Brown and Tom Rolston, halfbacks.

The Golds will have much the same lineup as they presented last week with Al Jenkins, Carl Swanson, Addy Morris and either Paul Szakash, who has an injured wrist which prevented him from playing last week, or a substitute from the Blue team.

Pat Connolly and Frank Smith are Gold ends; Joe Pomajevich and Leonard Noyes, tackles; Walter Zimmerman and Joe Golden, guards, and George Peak, center. All of the games in the round-robin tournament will be played on Saturday mornings. In case of a tie the game will be decided on the final Wednesday. The final contest between two evenly matched squads will be played on a Saturday afternoon to be selected later.

them close to the top, but not quite at the peak.

Since some sports writers say that pitching is 70 per cent of baseball, one is likely to choose the Cardinals with the two Deans and Roy Parmelee in the box, but the danger of internal friction is always present. Frank Frisch is getting along in years and not likely to stand up over the full season. Bill Delancey, their first-string catcher, is not available because of illness, and if the dizzy Dean and Catcher Davis cannot get along it looks bad.

"Tiny" Thornhill, football coach at Stanford, is training a man for his backfield who has never played football before. He is Larry Bayer, a junior college transfer. Thornhill says he is fitting into the job nicely. He also has Bill Baulman, who made the headlines on almost every United States daily paper January 2, 1936, the day after the Rose Bowl game.

Four of six major sport coaches at Stanford, excluding Thornhill, declare that football is detrimental to their athletes. They all declare that football slows up youths who would be basketball, baseball, golf or swimming stars.

Last Tuesday this column stated that the oldest interscholastic record was the shot-put record set in 1922. The relay record set in 1908, which still stands, is older.

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes.

They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product.

All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Noted Socialist Will Address Student Group

Norman Thomas, Twice Presidential Candidate, To Speak Here

Norman Thomas, twice Socialist party candidate for President, will speak at a convocation here Wednesday, April 29.

This will be the second time Mr. Thomas has spoken in Missoula. During the election campaign in 1932 he spoke from the platform of the train during a stop-over en route to the West coast. Thomas will be brought to the campus through the efforts of the outside entertainment committee, headed by Dick Ormsbee, Helena.

Norman Thomas, the son of a Presbyterian minister, was born in 1884 in Marion, Ohio (the home town of Warren G. Harding). He was sent to public schools and later, after his father moved to another church at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, the boy entered Bucknell college. The following year he transferred to Princeton and was graduated in 1905. He volunteered for social work in the slums of New York City and spent four years in that capacity. He entered Union Theological Seminary and in 1911 was ordained a Presbyterian clergyman.

In the autumn of 1910 Thomas married Frances Violet Stewart. They have had five children.

For seven years Norman Thomas was pastor of the East Harlem church in New York. During this time his basic religious and economic creed underwent many modifications. It was here he became interested in the laboring class and their problems. The World war broke out, and he discovered that he did not believe in war. He said so, and becoming out of sympathy with his congregation, resigned his pulpit.

He joined the Socialist party and became an active crusader for its principles. A desire to put his faith into words led him to found a monthly magazine, "The World Tomorrow," which he edited in 1921. He contributed to the "New York Call" and worked for a year on the staff of "Nation." He helped to organize the American Civil Liberties Union and the League for Industrial Democracy, becoming director of the latter.

Mr. Thomas is described by Claude Moore Fuess of "Current History" as "plainly no black-bearded, red-shirted anarchist breathing fire and implications against the government. His spirited kinship is with St. Francis of Assisi, with Tolstoy and with Gandhi, the immaculate idealists of the race."

Nagle to Speak At Newman Club Meeting Sunday

Will Discuss Government, Student Relationship at St. Anthony's Parish, April 19

Attorney-General Ray T. Nagle will speak at the Newman club meeting which will be held in St. Anthony's parish hall Sunday, April 19, following the 9 o'clock mass. Mrs. Nagle will also be a guest of the club at the opening meeting of this quarter. The relationship between students and the government is the topic which Nagle will discuss.

Peggy Holmes, Helena, is in charge of the program for the meeting. Charles Whittinghill, Helena, chairman of the membership committee, announced that the drive for spring quarter members will be closed Sunday.

An extensive program for the quarter has been planned, including a reception for Bishop Gilmore of Helena, on May 3, a pilgrimage to the St. Ignatius mission and a picnic trip to Flathead lake.

The Newman club will sponsor an extensive membership drive during the spring quarter, according to an announcement made by the president of the organization, Joe McDowell, Lynwood, California. Bud Whittinghill, Helena, is chairman of the membership committee which consists of representatives from the various campus organizations.

Every Catholic student registered in the university is automatically eligible for membership in the Newman club. Dues are $1 per quarter, which includes the cost of the monthly breakfast.
