The University of Montana baseball team, 9-12 on season, travels to Bozeman to finish a game called after five innings in Missoula two weeks ago and for a doubleheader, all against Montana State University.

Coach Lem Elway said he would use Kendall Kallevig to finish the last two innings, then pitch Mike Potter in the first game and follow-up with freshman Bob Hayes.

Montana had a 3-1 lead after five innings in Missoula before rain cancelled the last two. Kallevig was pitching in that contest and the Sidney senior will be looking to chalk-up the win. He is 1-4 on the season with a 2.94 ERA.

Mike Potter is 2-2 on the season for Montana and beat the Bobcats 7-5 in Missoula prior to the cancelled game. Hayes is Montana's leading pitcher with a 3-1 record and Saturday's game will be his first Big Sky action.

Elway said he was disappointed in last Sunday's Idaho series. Montana committed 11 errors and gave up eight unearned runs. "Idaho didn't score an earned run and the errors we committed were silly. I think we have that worked out now," he said. The Vandals beat Montana 2-0 and 6-2.

Tom Bertleson continues to lead the club in hitting with a .387 seasonal average and a .400 Big Sky mark. The Grizzlies have two other hitters over the .300 mark for the season and five in Big Sky action. Pitcher Gary Smith leads Montana in Big Sky hitting with a .500 average.

Elway said the Gonzaga doubleheader rained out last Saturday has been cancelled permanently.

Montana has defeated Montana State twice this year, 4-0 at the Banana Belt Tourney and the 7-5 Missoula win.

The Grizzlies travel to Butte, Tuesday for a doubleheader with Montana Tech. Montana defeated the Orediggers twice in Missoula earlier this season, 14-6 and 5-2.
