2 UM JOURNALISM STUDENTS
RECEIVE CONGRESSIONAL
INTERNSHIPS FROM SEARS

MISSOULA, Mont.--

Two students in the University of Montana School of Journalism have been awarded $1,500 Sears Congressional Internships for 1972.

Ronnene Anderson of Missoula, and John Cloherty of Chicago will work in Washington, D.C., on the staff of a senator or representative during the winter quarter.

They were among 20 students selected nationwide from 65 applicants.

Miss Anderson, a 1969 graduate of Sentinel High School, Missoula, was editor of the Sentinel Konah. A sophomore journalism major, she has worked for The Missoulian and currently is employed at the UM Alumni Center.

Cloherty, a senior journalism student, was editor of the UM student daily newspaper, the Montana Kaimin, from October 1970 to April 1971.

Their selection brings to five the number of UM journalism majors who have received Sears internships since the program began in 1969. Previous recipients were James Grady of Shelby, Nedra Bayne of Spokane and Charles Johnson of Helena.

Miss Anderson is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Anderson, 521 Dearborn, Missoula, and Cloherty is son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cloherty, 5200 Winnemac, Chicago.
