Course Description and Objectives

Catalogue description: An introduction to visual language, concepts, and studio practicum. Focus on basic skills development in rendering volume, pictorial depth, and figure/ground relationships. Research in historical and contemporary approaches to drawing.

Instructor description: Students will develop an understanding of and ability to demonstrate several important historical and contemporary drawing techniques and concepts. These include but are not limited to: mark-making, proportional development, form, gesture drawing, contour line, light, value, composition, positive and negative space, repetition, rhythm, perspective (one, two, and three-point), subject matter, emotion and content.

Techniques and concepts will be introduced through lectures, slides, demonstrations, and assigned readings. This course takes the form of a traditional studio class with emphasis on in-class drawings. A detailed course calendar with all critical information will be available as an addendum to the syllabus on Thursday 28th.

Coursework

Students will demonstrate an understanding of these techniques and concepts through in-class projects, weekend homework drawings (to be completed outside of class and turned in at the beginning of each week), and a formal portfolio review.

In week 2, you will find a detailed weekly schedule, updates, and the most important images on the course's Moodle site. This specifically lists the projects we will undertake. We will introduce concepts or techniques each day and do a series of drawings in class that explore these concepts. The class requires you to draw 5 hours per week outside of class. Informal individual critiques will happen daily. Group critiques will happen every Monday. Students are required to thoroughly evaluate their own drawings, others' drawings, as well as understand/accept criticism given by others. A selective body of 5 drawings will be presented as your final portfolio. These will be culled from your coursework to establish a grouping of work that embodies your most important goals.

To be successful in this class, each student must:

- Attend and participate in class drawing sessions
- Actively participate in critiques
- Complete all assignments on time
- Keep notes on technical information
- Help maintain a safe, clean, and organized drawing studio

Attendance

Attendance is mandatory. 3 unexcused absences are allowed. For each absence after these three, your grade will be dropped one letter per absence. Upon receiving your seventh total unexcused absence, a failing grade is issued automatically. Come to class ready to work; students who are not prepared will be asked to leave class to purchase supplies. Demonstrations missed will not be repeated; the absent student must obtain notes from another student.

Safety

The drawing studio may be unsafe if not properly cleaned. Charcoal dust left on the floor may be slippery. PLEASE CLEAN UP AFTER YOURSELVES AND PROCEED THROUGH THE STUDIO SPACE CAUTIOUSLY. Clean-up will happen daily from 1:20-1:30 pm. Every Wednesday one of you will perform a quick sweep around the studio space and wipe down the tables. This will rotate amongst the class. This is in addition to you each cleaning up after yourselves.

Grading

Three factors will be considered in overall evaluation of your performance in the course:

1. Quality of the art produced---inventiveness, sensitivity to materials, technical understanding, compositional effectiveness, and idea development all in relation to the individual assignment goals.
2. Quality of learning process---your growth, content developed, risks taken, range of ideas explored, enthusiasm, and amount of overall effort.
3. Professional demeanor in the drawing studio--- contributions to class, attendance, effective use of time, clean work habits, proper treatment of materials, attention to studio space, and participation in class critiques
