One of a number of resolutions which were approved by the ninth annual MMUN General Assembly involves the petroleum shortage.

That resolution, submitted through the Special Political Committee of the MMUN by the Paraguay delegation from Twin Bridges High School, calls for the study and research of petroleum in underdeveloped countries, with the United Nations to select a committee which would provide assistance. The committee selected would choose crews of skilled laborers from developed countries to research and study the petroleum wells within the underdeveloped countries, provided the underdeveloped countries approved of the program.

Members of the Paraguay delegation to the MMUN from Twin Bridges High School were Laree Lott, Robin Klemo and Brad Medlock. Medlock was a member of the MMUN Special Political Committee.
