APPLICATION DEADLINE JAN. 22
FOR STUDY PROGRAM IN VIENNA

MISSOULA--

Jan. 22 has been set as the application deadline for University of Montana students wishing to participate in a study program in Vienna during spring quarter 1973.

The study program, sponsored by the UM foreign language department, will be conducted in Vienna, Austria, from March 22 to June 1.

Joan Birch, assistant professor of German at UM, said the program will be offered for credit on an experimental basis to all students who have completed at least one year of college German or the equivalent. She said students who are not German majors will be required to take language courses in German while in Vienna. She added that students may also do independent projects in their own fields of study and receive credit from their own department.

"One German faculty member will accompany the students and be responsible for supervising and certifying the student's grades," Birch said.

"Students will be instructed by native Austrian teachers and will attend an opera or theater performance at least once a week," she explained.

The program is structured to allow students to pursue their own interests while learning about Austrian culture.

Birch said the cost of the trip will be approximately $900 depending on the individual's private expenses. This total includes the student's class fees, books, room and board, theater tickets and round trip ticket from Missoula to Vienna.

Students can earn 17 credits for completing the offered classes: German Drama, Intensive Language Practice, Contemporary Austrian Culture and an independent study project, Birch stated.

Application forms may be obtained from Joan Birch, room 215, Turner Hall or the UM Department of Foreign Languages, room 313, Liberal Arts Building. Persons desiring more information may phone 243-4396 or 243-2401.
