FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOVIE INDUSTRY MAN
TO SPEAK ON CAMPUS

Ernest Callenbach, founder and editor since 1958 of "Film Quarterly," will speak on "What's Wrong with American Cinema?" in the University of Montana Music Recital Hall next Tuesday, February 15, at 8 p.m.

David Smith, English instructor at UM will introduce Callenbach. Smith said the lecture was open to the interested public without charge.

Callenbach has published articles in various periodicals, including Film Quarterly's predecessor, the Quarterly of Film, Radio and TV, The Nation, Fortnight, Printer's Ink, and Design. He has an article on movie theater architecture in the forthcoming issue of "Sight and Sound," a leading British film journal.

Callenbach has written a guidebook for film study courses, called "Our Modern Art: The Movies." He has made three films, one of which is "Wildwood Flower."

In 1964 - 65, Callenbach spent the winter in Europe visiting film production centers, film archives, and meeting critics, film makers, and others associated with films.
