1974-75 LAW SCHOOL APPLICANTS
ASKED TO TAKE LSAT EARLY

MISSOULA--

Students who intend to apply to the University of Montana law school for the 1974-75 academic year are encouraged to take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) on the July 28 testing date in Missoula, according to Sandra R. Muckelston, assistant dean of the law school.

"It would be advantageous to the prospective law applicant to take the LSAT in July in order to be included in the first review of applications during fall 1973," Muckelston said. "However, applicants may also take the October test and still be included in the early review."

Registration for the July 28 examination, which will be the only LSAT test conducted in Montana before fall quarter, must be received by the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N. J., no later than July 6. The applications should be mailed by July 1, Muckelston stated.

Applications and additional information concerning the test procedures may be obtained by writing the University of Montana School of Law, Missoula, Mont. 59801, or by phoning 243-4311. Applications also are available at Carroll College, Helena; Eastern Montana College, Billings; Montana State University, Bozeman, and College of Great Falls, Great Falls.

The LSAT is a half-day objective test used by the UM law school to assist in evaluating prospective law students.
