USA Should Use Big Stick In Far East

Forum Speakers Urge Maintenance of Trade With Japanese

The United States should use the power gained from the recent abrogation of the trade agreements with Japan as a club to safeguard American interests in the Far East, agreed Student-Faculty Round-Table speakers in a radio broadcast Sunday afternoon. The forum speakers added that economic relations with Japan should not be severed because of the harmful effect such action would have on people and industries in America dependent upon imports from Japan.

Michael Mansfield, instructor in history and social science; Edwin W. Briggs, associate professor of law; Walter Niemi, Butte; Gay Kelly, Butte, and Lucie Clapp, Missoula, participated in the program.

If the Japanese are successful in China, the open door policy will be discarded as it was in Korea and Manchuria, said Briggs. Pointing out that the United States has been the nation least discriminated against by Japan, the speakers stated that there isn't much to do except use economic force to bring about the retention of the open door in China.

The Japanese government probably wants to adopt a more conciliatory attitude towards the United States but the army is too powerful for the government to oppose. Japan has benefitted greatly in the last three years from trade relations with the United States. Seventy per cent of her war supplies are imported from America. The speakers suggested that an embargo upon war goods and the imposition of a high tariff on imports from Japan might effect a lessening of the severity of Japanese policy in China.

There are several bills before Congress calling for action against Japan and Mansfield predicted the temper of Congress indicates that one of these may be passed.

Eugene Meet Is Acclaimed By Delegates

International Relations club delegates, returning from the annual conference at Eugene, Oregon, report an interesting and educational participation in round-table discussions and club reports. Robert Bates, Great Falls; Doris Mooney, Conrad; Lawrence Grape, East Rochester, New York; Angier Shelden, Ekalaka, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fox attended the conference February 23 and 24.

Five panels composed the round-table talks, each group discussing current issues and problems. In the reports of different clubs, methods of representation, size of the clubs and general requirements for admission were discussed.

A tea, dance and open meeting offered entertainment to the visiting students. Approximately 40 schools had representatives in attendance.

Hold That Rabbit!

Harry Colfer, Dillon, senior pre-medical student, prepares to inject serum into a rabbit's ear. Rabbits are used in conducting experiments in an immunology class.

It Ain't Sin When Bunnies Gin; It's Really Scientific

Strange things happen in the realm of science and Montana State university is no exception. Strange things are happening in the Natural Science department where bunnies go on binges and display the eccentricities of moths—and when a hare sings its hair, it's no joke. . . . But it's all in the interest of science.

A class of 45 is carrying on experiments in immunology in the Natural Science building—15 students and 30 rabbits. The human coordinate of the class is managing quite well, but the rabbits are entering into the experiment with doubtful enthusiasm.

Each of the students is entrusted with two rabbits. Black and brown rabbits roam the room at will, sitting atop boxes and hopping up and down "lab" tables. When asked why the rabbits do not run away, John Wiegstein, Butte, answered, "They don't want to."

In their freedom the bunnies run amuck in the lab; thus far, three tragedies have occurred. One of them suddenly died from causes unknown. Another was scorched when he investigated the hissing Bunsen burner flame. A third, in charge of Helen Holloway, Butte, has developed a craving for alcohol. The rabbits are inoculated with hypodermic needles and Helen failed to wipe all the sterilizing alcohol from the needle. Soon after the injection the rabbit was observed to be intoxicated.

None of the rabbits have been assigned official names and how students can tell them apart is not definitely known. Vaccine is injected into a rabbit's ear by one student while several others hold it still. Several of the experimenters are nursing scratches and bites sustained when the rabbits rebelled against the treatment.

At the end of spring quarter the rabbits that haven't been stepped on, scorched or died a drunkard's death will be killed and their blood used for scientific study. None of the homo sapiens have succumbed to date, but John Wiegstein and Ruth Weise, Chicago, are being observed closely. Several days ago, it seems, they consumed some of the rabbit "bugs" and are now being watched for rabbit symptoms.

Philosophical club will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Eloise Knowles room. Dr. W. P. Clark will lead a discussion on the "Aims of Modern Education." Any student who is interested is invited to attend.

DELTA GAMMAS FIRST

Members of Delta Gamma report that they are supporting the Kaimin Track Meet drive 100 per cent. They are the first organization to endorse the petition en masse.

No Decision By State Board

Another delay in the decision of the State Board of Education in regard to the university situation was necessitated when yesterday's meeting was postponed until today. Enforced absence of two members caused the delay.

Governor Roy E. Ayers, chairman, said a full attendance was desired when the board took action.

Deliberations of the executive session thus far have progressed to the point where they will decide whether to "file charges or not file charges," Governor Ayers said.

Stock Exchange Opens Tomorrow

The Alpha Kappa Psi stock exchange will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, according to Miles Bush, Alpha Kappa Psi president.

Members and pledges of Alpha Kappa Psi and juniors and seniors of the business administration school are eligible to buy and sell in this market. All buying and selling must be done outright and will be based on the closing quotations of the previous day's New York market. Each person transacting business will be credited with $1000.

All transactions must be placed in the exchange box in Craig hall between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock in the mornings. The exchange will be open Monday through Friday.

World Famous Organist To Give Concert Tonight At Student Auditorium

Pietro Yon Will Appear Here Under Auspices Of Entertainment Committee, Catholic Group; Newman Club Reception Will Be Held Later

Pietro Yon, world famous organist and composer, will present a concert of organ music at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Student Union theater. The concert is sponsored by the Outside Entertainment committee and St. Anthony's National Council of Catholic Women. There is no student admission charge, but only 800 student tickets will be issued.

Salary Claim Is Presented To Board

Mrs. A. F. LeClaire, former director of the university health service, presented a salary claim for $6,930 to the State Board of Education when that body met in Helena Saturday.

W. A. Brown, Helena attorney representing Mrs. LeClaire, stated that his client was dismissed from her duties by President George Finlay Simmons on September 1, 1937, but that since she was on "permanent tenure" she was entitled to back salary of $2,310 for each of the past three years.

Mrs. LeClaire had been connected with the health service since 1920. Previously she had been employed at St. Patrick's hospital as resident pathologist. She received her nurses training at St. Vincent's hospital at Portland, Oregon.

Two in Hospital, Thirteen Are Out

Ted Saldin, Missoula, was admitted to the Thornton hospital Monday and Allen Fryberger, Charlo, entered St. Patrick's Sunday. Mary Jane Brust, Russell, Virginia Bell, Glendive, Bill DeGroot, Billings, and Sylvia Marsell, Colstrip, were released from the Thornton Friday, and Carol Bonde, Kalispell, left there Saturday. Fred Higgins, Glendive, left the Northern Pacific hospital Sunday.

LouRee Harley, Moiese; Jane Sloan, Belton, and Jack Brazelton, Helena, were released from St. Patrick's hospital Friday, and Olive Brain, Billings, Jayne Norwood, Missoula, Theola Miuli, Kila, and George Dixon, West Hazelton, Pa., left there Saturday.

Mavericks Win Contest

Maverick women won the Inter-sorority song tournament by eliminating Alpha Chi Omega and Kappa Alpha Theta in the finals of the contest Saturday night.

Members of the winning song team are Alice Nash, Missoula; Catherine Ambrose, Missoula, and Liala Jensen, Sidney.

Alpha Chi Omega won the right to compete in the finals of the song contest by winning from Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Phi Friday night.

Yon is organist and music director of St. Patrick's cathedral, New York, and honorary organist of the Vatican, Rome. He was born in Settimo-Vittone, Piedmont, Italy, where at the age of six he began his musical education under the guidance of his eldest brother. Later he attended the Royal Conservatories at Milan and Turin.

He then entered the Academy of St. Cecilia, Rome, from which he was graduated with full honors in organ, piano and composition and was awarded the first-prize medal of the academy and a special-prize medal from the minister of public instruction.

Formal Debut

Yon made his formal debut as substitute organist at the Vatican and the Royal Church of Rome. Later he was appointed organist and choirmaster of the Church of St. Francis Xavier, New York City, elected honorary organist of the S. S. Basilica of St. Peter, Vatican, Rome and, in 1926, was appointed organist and music director of St. Patrick's cathedral, New York City. The king of Italy conferred upon Yon the honor of knighthood and later the title of Officer of the Crown of Italy. Notwithstanding his achievements in ecclesiastical circles, Yon's fame was won by his performances as a virtuoso concert organist and through his compositions. Included among his compositions are 29 pieces for the organ, 10 piano works, 10 songs, 13 masses, 19 motets and innumerable miscellaneous works.

The first number on tonight's concert features one of Yon's compositions, "Sonata Cromatica," of which has been written "A more interesting organ sonata would be difficult to imagine. It ranks with the very greatest organ works of our time. . . . It is the duty of our concert organists to give as wide a hearing to this sonata as they can; they should value it and be proud that its composer is with us and that the work was conceived in our country."

Varied Program

The remainder of the program includes "Toccata and Fugue in D minor" by Bach, "Theme and Ten Variations" by Angelelli, "Bourree et Musette" by Karg Elert, "La Goccia" by Remondi, "The Squirrel" by the American composer, Weaver, and "Toccata" by Remigio Renzi.

Yon will use the latest model cathedral-type electric organ, which has all the equipment of a standard pipe organ, including two expression pedals, a 32-note concave clavier, separate adjustable tremulants for each manual and regular couplers. The size of the organ with its attachments is indicated by the fact that it requires a truck and trailer for transportation.

Time, the Great Healer, Makes New Wounds

The following is an excerpt from an editorial of the first issue of the Kaimin, June 1, 1898: "Of the two giant powers of Europe, we have always chosen Russia as our traditional friend and England as our undoubted enemy."

"Since the war of the revolution, the relations between the United States and Great Britain have been tinged with the anger issuing from their conflicts of the past; venomous barbs have kept raw the wounds of '76 and 1812; mutual jealousies and ignorance have kept alive the prejudices derived from bygone clashes."

"How different has been our intercourse with Russia, who since the first years of our nation has ostensibly borne the best of goodwill toward us; her smiles have ever been ours, her powers being reserved for her servile, helpless peasantry, her sword for the ravishment of the freedom of Poland and attacks on the rights of others, her energies for the dictatorship of Europe and her malice for Great Britain who has thrice checked her encroachments."

This editorial went on to say that the Russians were brutes and her government was a dictatorship, while the English were of the same blood as we Americans and, as England was a democracy, the United States should choose England as a friend and should forget earlier troubles.

It is said that time is a great healer and it is true that time has healed our troubles with England. One must also observe that time, because of the turn-about, has made new wounds. Today it is our relations with Russia that are strained.

College Students "In the Groove"

Getting in the groove is all right for bowlers, but it's not so hot for college students.

This opinion was derived by a quick survey of Montana State university and colleges in general where one of the criticisms is that college students get in a groove and can't get out. The odds seem to be against them. There are too many rules and regulations and these, coupled with the tendency to follow the line of least resistance, hold back a student in his efforts to obtain a genuine education.

A student comes to college and decides what lines his student career should follow. As soon as he puts down his probable major he is gently eased into the groove and any tangents on his part are discouraged. No consideration is given to the student's individual bents and traits. He must follow the general pattern laid down for him in advance. As a result he becomes standardized. Individualism is crushed and the student, if he lacks the stubborn qualities of the true rebel, soon becomes intellectually lopsided.

Francis Bacon, in one of his essays, said, "Reading maketh a full man." Unfortunately, few college students get time to read while in school. There is no provision made for this type of learning. They are not allowed to browse around and discover new and interesting ideas for themselves. They have no time to indulge in adventurous journeys into uncharted seas of learning. Instead, they must "hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may."

While singleness of purpose is a commendable trait, it is not overwhelmingly beneficial to a student acquiring an educational background with which to face life. There should be some provision in colleges whereby a student can branch out a bit on his own and permit his own individualistic qualities to receive nourishment.

Upperclassmen Are Entertained At Coffee Hour

Approximately 350 guests, including the upperclassmen from South and Corbin halls, were entertained Sunday afternoon by the residents of New hall and seniors of North hall at a coffee hour and open house at New hall. A blazing fire in the fireplace at the far end of the hall parlor beckoned hostesses and guests to pause a moment before drifting up to the third floor foyer for coffee, sandwiches and cake, being served by the senior women.

Arrangements for the coffee hour were in charge of Mrs. Frank Turner, social director of New hall, and Eleanor McArthur and Catherine McKeel, hall directors. Seniors helping in the serving and pouring were Jane Berland, Brady; Olive Brain, Billings; Mary Jane Brust, Russell; Audrey Darrow, Miles City; Mora Doherty, Great Falls; Gayle Draper, Kalispell; Dolores Dufour, Somers; Ruth Elgas, Ballantine; Marlice England, Great Falls; Wanda Finley, Bozeman; Helen Formos, Sand Coulee; Mary K. Gloudeman, Billings.

Anna Loris Greene, Billings; Elizabeth Grimm, Bridger; Joyce Gruel, Great Falls; Virginia Hagenson, Butte; Nancy Huntington, Billings; Beulah Jensen, Bainville; Sylvia Marsell, Colstrip; Josephine Maury, Butte; Montana Mayland, Great Falls; Rowena Minton, Butte; Leclerc Page, Butte; Virginia Strickland, Gallatin Gateway; Lucille Sweeney, Belt, and Verna Young, Fort Benton.

Music was furnished by Dean Brown, Eureka, at the piano for the first part of the "hour." Audrey Darrow, Miles City, accompanied by Josephine Maury, Butte; Margaret Hull, Anaconda, accompanied by Jeanne Bailey, Glendive, and Dorothy Borcharding, Moore, accompanied by Mary Louise Davis, Great Falls, were soloists for the afternoon.

Communications

Editor, Montana Kaimin
Dear Sir:

I take this opportunity to thank Mr. Reynolds for his excellent answer to my former letter. Though I realized before that the Athletic Board has nothing to do with Track Meet, and sincerely regret not having made myself clear on that point, Mr. Reynolds' article cleared up several points for me and many others.

Mr. Reynolds made one statement, however, which is the crux of the matter, and which is the basic point to which I object. He states, admits, that the purpose of Track Meet is to give the high school students a chance "to see your University and what it offers in the realm of higher education."

That is in the same vein as the excuse that is given for maintaining any and all of this Athletics on a big-business basis. Making a big name on the football field and basketball court—at any expense—is supposedly justified by dint of advertising our school and attracting students.

In the first place, if big-business athletics is justified on this basis, if this is a worthy purpose for Track Meet, I wonder how much more worthy these are than the many other activities on the campus, some of which I mentioned before.

And secondly, I doubt the worth of such advertising. Is it fitting that students should be sold a higher education in Montana by a display of brawn in Texas? Are high school students who come to Track Meet here to consider a higher education, or to defend the

Society

Beth Chaffin, Bozeman, was a Sunday dinner guest at the Alpha Phi house.

Marjorie McNamer, Shelby, spent the week-end at home.

Sigma Kappa Has Dinner Guests

Dinner guests at the Sigma Kappa house Sunday were Bernice Hollensteiner, Missoula; Kitty McLenegan and Mary Jane Enstrom, Butte, and Mrs. Kenneth Hufford, Butte, regional president of the sorority.

National Officer Of Sigma Kappa Arrives

Mrs. Robert Parker, traveling secretary of Sigma Kappa, arrived Sunday from San Francisco to spend four days with the local chapter.

Dean Brown, Whitefish, spent the week-end visiting friends in Corvallis.

Jennie Lind, Forsyth, was a guest of Vivian Medlin, Butte, at the Delta Gamma house for Sunday dinner.

Delta Gammas Spend Week-end at Homes

Several Delta Gammas went home for the week-end. They were Margaret Marion Murray and Laura Lee Murphy, Butte; Helen Margaret Hyder, Philipsburg; Mary Beth Dwyer, Anaconda, and Shirley Ann Kincaid, Whitefish. Betty Dratz, Great Falls, spent the week-end visiting in Butte. Helen Holloway, Butte, and Joan Kennard, Great Falls, went to Butte Sunday.

Week-end guests at New hall included Billie Meade, Butte, and Mary Jane Enstrom, Butte.

Betty Tobin, Helena, was a week-end guest at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

Ann Sullivan, Butte, and Helen Metcalf, Philipsburg, spent the week-end at their respective homes.

Louise Lepper and Ruth Arger-singer, Lewistown, went to Bozeman Saturday to attend the Pi Beta Phi winter party.

Pat Fletcher spent the week-end at her home in Helena, and Patty honor of Podunk Valley High School?

Furthermore, is a person who is so fickle as to let a football team or an athletic meet sell him his Alma Mater worthy of a higher education? I doubt it.

Now, I do not object to athletics. I don't think anyone does. As sports, I like football and basketball. But I like them as sports, not as big businesses. Even if they are necessary and worthwhile as advertising, is it fair or even sane to finance the advertising medium on a level higher than is granted to the educating facilities advertised? Is it right to grant more in scholarships to the potential advertising medium than is granted to the proven, high-standing student? Why go out of the State to buy football players, when one could get real students at home for half the price?

And as for Track Meet, I think it misses its calling. Even if it doesn't, should it be financed more willingly and generously than the Band, Glee Club, and other potential advertising media which are cultural, worthwhile, as educational and intellectual as that which Track Meet purportedly advertises and can't measure up to?

I thank Mr. Reynolds for answering a lot of my questions. Now I'd like to see how he'd tackle these.

Respectfully yours,
Eugene W. Elliott

Geagan, Butte, went home for the week-end.

Alpha Chi Omega Entertains Six at Dinner

Sunday dinner guests at the Alpha Chi Omega house were Jenni Farnsworth and Mary Jane Deegan, Missoula; Tina Warren, Glendive; Jo Webb, Big Timber, and Rose Doherty.

Annetta Grunert went home to Butte for the week-end.

Sigma Chi Have Formal Initiation

Beta Delta of Sigma Chi formally initiated 11 members of the chapter Sunday. Bill Quaintance, Boulder; Clarence Gustafson, St. Paul, Minnesota; Marcus Daly, Missoula; Pierce Baily, Toledo, Ohio; Bill Wheeler, Billings; Bruce Gilbert, Dillon; Jack McGinty, Anaconda; Jerry Coffee, Choteau; Ross Toole, Missoula; Jack Schiltz, Billings, and Pat Latta, Missoula, are the new initiates.

A formal banquet was given following initiation at which Walter McLeod, James Spittler and Frank Blorz were honor guests.

Phi Delta Theta Has Dinner Guests

Mr. W. P. Hall, Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Francis Clapp, Missoula, and Leroy Seymour, Butte, were dinner guests of Phi Delta Theta Sunday.

SPORTALES...

By BOB PRICE

It is seldom that athletic coaches and sports writers have the same opinion on sport subjects. In fact, the coincidence of minds is so rare that when there is a junction of ideas there is usually a story. We might not have a story here, but we did have an agreement with Hoop Coach Jiggs Dahlberg on why his team was good. We found out all of this in spite of being interrupted by Milt Popovich breaking in with his views on football, with a resultant argument with Dahlberg on the merits of collegiate football. etc. The genial Jiggs attributes speed as one of the outstanding reasons why this year's team is above par with those he has coached here before. Better shooting, is, of course, the main factor . . . the uncanny ability to pour baskets in like Ryan, Jones, DeGroot and Hall have been doing so consistently of late.

Taking each player, Dahlberg summed up his individual merits, being suavely non-committal on whom he thought was the outstanding performer.

Captain Barney Ryan's consistent leadership, excellent shooting and general floor work make him, over a season's period, the outstanding player on the team. His shooting average is not sensational, but when he's "on," as he was in the second Gonzaga game here, he's good enough to make any quint in the country. Ryan has dropped in 182 points so far this season. He'll be a hard one to replace.

Senior guard Art Merrick is "at times the best man on the team." Clever on offense and defense, and boasting a good shooting average, Merrick will be hard to replace next year, as will Frank Nugent, a tough footballer who finds it hard to leave his natural inhibitions off the basketball court. Nugent is a close checker, a fair shot and a good mixer-upper.

When speaking of his sophomores, Bill Jones and Willy DeGroot, Jiggs unconsciously gets verbose. "Jones," asserts Dahlberg, "is the hardest driving forward I've ever seen. He's a good defensive player, speedy, relaxed and has the best full-time shooting average on the team." DeGroot has basketball fire, and is the squad's most sensational shot from far and near the basket. Both immediately hit for the basket if there's the smallest opening, and this aggressive offensive knack and ability to turn it into points makes these two sophs create a bright gleam in Doctor Dahlberg's eyes.

Biff Hall's work under the basket, bordering on the sensational at times, is his biggest asset. He is potent under both baskets, a fair guard, not overly consistent and lacks speed, but manages to come out of a ball game with his share of points.

Rae Greene, the smooth Chicagoan, is an exceptional defensive guard, clever ball handler and drives hard toward the basket. His shooting average isn't high but he's consistent.

One of the biggest little men in the Northwest, Butch Hudacek fits in Dahlberg's scheme of things because of his speed and shooting ability. He has the best offensive average on the squad, makes few mistakes and guards well.

That is the team which has distinguished itself by winning eight of its last nine games and, in the process of winning, has chalked up some amazing feats. The finale is played this week-end in Bozeman against the Aggies for the state championship. Right now I don't concede the Aggies much of a chance to capture the throne, but anything can happen on a basketball floor . . . especially in Bozeman. The thing that is ap-

Frosh Quintet Downs Ronan Independents

Burgess Is Cubs' Star; Davids Outfox Clowns In Feature Game

Freshman basketballers, winding up their home-court season, rolled over an inferior Ronan Independent club last night as Coach Chawky Miller's Cubs tallied 60 points against their opponents' 19. Burgess and McKenzie gathered high-scoring honors with 14 and 12 points, respectively, while Trosper for the invaders connected for eight points.

Davids Beat Clowns

House of David hoopsters outfoxed the Colored Broadway Clowns in the night-cap, scoring 34 points to the Clowns' 24. "Porkchops" Brimes and Greg Deim were the comedy dust of the night, although the game lacked the spice and showmanship of previous traveling clubs that have appeared in Missoula.

Boyd of the colored club was continually spotted to score most of the buckets for the Negro clan. "Buzz" Mathews and Joe Bryant were checked closely throughout the game, failing to connect except during the closing minutes.

Don "Horsie" Peterson and ex-Missoulian Frank Lee sparked for the Whiskers. Lee played here several years ago with the Forest Service softball club. Greg Deim, manager of the House of David travelers, amused fans with his ball handling.

College Applies For Accreditation

The Northern Montana college at Havre recently applied for a three-year work accreditation, according to Freeman Daughters, dean of the School of Education. If the application is favorably received by the commission on higher education of the Northwest Educational association, the college will then rank as a three-year rather than as a two-year institution which it now is.

parent is this: Barring a bad case of inflated Grizzly ego, or an Aggie team that happens to play far above their heads, the Grizzlies have all the odds in their favor for walking off with their second consecutive state championship.

But one thing that most agree on, even the coaches and the sports scribes . . . the Grizzlies have a basketball team.

PDT's, SX's, Sig Eps Take Bowling Sets

Phi Delta Theta increased its lead in the Interfraternity Bowling league in winning three sets from Theta Chi Saturday, Sigma Chi moved into a second-place tie with Sigma Alpha Epsilon by winning three games from Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Phi Sigma Kappa in three sets to move into a third-place tie with Theta Chi as the tournament passed the half-way mark.

Hammond, Phi Delta Theta smashed a 619 high three-game total and captured high single-game honors with a 234 game to lead his teammates to victory and the high team total of the day—2,713 pins.

Cagers Win Two Tilts As Grizzly Seniors Play Their Last Home Games

Grizzly Captain Barney Ryan put on a one-man show Saturday night to wind up his home-court basketball playing when he led the Montana hoop men to a double victory over the Gonzaga Bulldogs. The Terrible Watson, Zag stellar forward, was bottled up in the first game, being content with three buckets, but went wild Saturday to tally eight field goals and four free throws for 20 points.

Montana surged to an early lead in Friday's game and held it all through the fray. Jones, Ryan and Hall were responsible for most of the points, with DeGroot recovering from a sinus infection to see action later in the game. Stroyan's 17 points was high for the night, Watson and Sepich gathering eight apiece.

A late rally by the Bulldogs threatened the Grizzly lead but Jones batted in a rebound and Ryan hung a long shot to push the Montanamen ahead before the gun. The final score stood at 59-44.

Grizzlies Win Again

Chalking up 49 per cent of their shots in the first half, Coach Jiggs Dahlberg's basketballers played tag with the Zags in a second appearance Saturday night to win 64-49. Ryan's spectacular shots from 'way out and Jones and DeGroot's 13 points apiece filled the basket to keep Montana ahead from the opening whistle. Watson showed fans his press report form to garner 20 points, followed by Stroyan with 10 and Evavold with nine.

Montana led 43 to 27 at the half but sagged in the first half of the second period to let Evavold and Sepich score on sucker shots. Gonzaga lost the game by failing to match the Montana sharpshooting while taking more shots. The game was close as to aggressiveness and fight, but the Grizzlies were not to be beaten.

Ski Team Is Taken By MSC

State Collegians Defeat Grizzlies by 40 Points In Intercollegiate Meet

The Montana State college ski team outdid the university team by a 40-point margin at the Bear Canyon ski run near Bozeman, Sunday, in the first official ski meet ever held between the two schools.

Henry Hibbard, captain of the college team and a former Dartmouth skier, was high-point man of the meet with times of 30.5 in the downhill and 1:22.6 in the slalom runs. It was estimated that Hibbard averaged 50 miles per hour on the downhill race.

Walter Krell, university, was high-point man for his team with 33.0 in the downhill and 1:23.3 in the slalom. Bob Dowell, university, won third in the downhill with 34.6, and Jack Hay, university, ran seventh with 41.2. College runners Kirby Whitham, Bill Downs and Kent O'Kelly took fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively, with 35.8, 36.4 and 37.3. Downs also took third in the slalom with 1:33.4 and Whitham won fourth with 1:34.1. Jack Strong, college, slid to fifth place in the slalom, while Jack Newman and Jack Hay gleaned sixth and seventh in the slalom for the university with 1:38.6 and 1:39.8.

Points won by the college totaled 580.2 while the university ran up 620.9. Scores were calculated under the system used in the Olympic ski events, which gives the honors to the team with the lowest number of points.
