10 OPENINGS AVAILABLE IN LOCAL
'SUMMER ENRICHMENT PROGRAM'

MISSOULA--

The "Summer Enrichment Program," a full day-care service offered by the University of Montana during summer months for school-age youngsters, still has 10 openings available for children of families in need of this service.

The program, in its fourth year of operation, is for youngsters from 6 to 12 years of age, and is presented from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays. Recreational facilities in Missoula and nearby areas will be used, including city parks, playgrounds, University facilities, public playgrounds and hiking trails.

Dr. Lloyd Heywood, assistant professor of health, physical education and recreation at the University, who is in charge of the "Summer Enrichment Program," said the program is the only full-time day-care program for the 6-to-12 age group in Missoula, and is open to everyone in the community, including families with parents who are attending classes at the University this summer.

Food service, including one hot lunch and two snacks per day, is being coordinated with the Sentinel High School Food Services.

The fee for the entire program is $250 per youngster, and financial aid will be offered to those families expressing a need for assistance.

Interested persons may contact Pat Godbout, coordinator of ASUM Day Care, at 626 Eddy Ave., University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59801, or by phoning 243-5751. Additional information also may be obtained by contacting Heywood, room 210 of the Harry Adams Field House at UM, or by phoning 243-4211.
