1976 UM ALUMNI COLLEGE
TO MEET JULY 30-AUG. 1

MISSOULA--

Alternatives for the future will be discussed by those participating in the 1976 University of Montana Alumni College as they attempt to answer the crucial question, "Where do we go from here?"

This year's program, set for July 30-Aug. 1 at Camp Lubrecht near Greenough, is intended as a sequel to last year's seminar on the theme "The American Dream."

The College is a chance for alumni, parents and friends of the University to hear lectures and readings by UM faculty, to participate in discussions and to enjoy numerous recreational activities. Nine faculty members will be on hand to give presentations and lead discussions and activities.

Dr. Harry Fritz, associate professor of history at UM, will begin the discussion Friday afternoon, July 30, with a presentation on the theme, "Where do we go from here?" He will be followed by Dr. Walter Berard, UM associate professor of education, who will present ideas concerning the benefits and drawbacks of humanistic behaviorism.

"The Feminist Alternative" will be discussed by Dr. Judy Smith, UM assistant professor of social work, and Dr. Robert R. Curry, UM professor of geology, will speak on "The Montana Lifeboat," presenting alternatives for Montana concerning its resources and its relationship and obligations to the rest of the nation and world.

Madeline DeFrees, UM professor of English, will discuss the devaluation of language resulting from its misuse in the media, politics and business, while fellow poet and UM English professor Richard Hugo will read from his book entitled, "What Thou Lovest Well Remains American."

Alternatives to the corporate economy will be studied in "Small is Beautiful," a book used at the UM Alumni College by Dr. Ron Dulaney, assistant professor of economics at UM. Dr. Louis Hayes, professor and chairman of political science at UM, will focus on "Watership Down" during another lecture.

Dr. Andrea Friedman, UM English instructor, will lead an activity entitled "The Bombshelter," in which participants exchange views on human value and societal priorities.

Openings still are available for those wishing to participate in the 1976 UM Alumni College. Cost of the program is $50 per person, which includes all accommodations, food and books.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to Deanna Sheriff, Alumni Center, University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59801, or by phoning 243-5211.
