MISSOULA--

A course entitled "Human Sexuality" will be offered at night beginning Tuesday, Sept. 28, at the University of Montana through the UM Center for Continuing Education and Summer Programs (CCESP).

The course, Psychology 491--Section II, will be taught by Dr. Thomas Rudegeair, assistant professor of zoology at UM, from 7-10 p.m. each Tuesday through Dec. 7 in room 11 of the UM Liberal Arts Building.

Rudegeair said the course will include discussions of cross-cultural sexual behavior, the evolution of sexual behavior and the socialization process of human sexuality. Sex roles, feminist alternatives to traditional sex roles and basic sexual anatomy will also be discussed, Rudegeair said.

The course is one of 50 courses offered this quarter in Missoula by the University through the CCESP.

Those enrolling in "Human Sexuality" can obtain three undergraduate credits at a cost of $63 or they may audit the course for $31.50. Registration will be at the first class meeting Tuesday night.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Cinda Purdy, administrative assistant, CCESP office, room 107 of Main Hall, UM, or by phoning 243-2900.
