Little Leaves To Assume CAA Duties

Dr. Edward M. Little, former associate professor of physics, left yesterday for Helena to begin work as inspector in the CAA pilot training program. His duties will consist of visiting the various ground schools throughout Montana, giving exams and seeing that reports are properly made.

His territory is at present confined to the state of Montana but after adjustments are made northern Idaho and eastern Washington may be added.

Dr. Little received the position as a result of a Civil Service examination.

When the university took on the CAA program last year, Dr. Little and Dr. Harold Chatland were instructors in the ground school. During June Little attended a three-week course for instructors at the University of Seattle, and later was in charge of the advanced course in Missoula. During the summer he also received flight training from the CAA and made his solo flight just before taking a year's leave of absence from the university.

Dr. C. Rulan Jeppeson has been appointed instructor in physics during Dr. Little's leave of absence.

Forestry Profs Study, Vacation During Summer

News of the past, not present, comes from the forestry school. Busy with tardy registrants and expecting more late-comers, forestry professors told of summer activities.

Dean T. C. Spaulding divided his time between Missoula and several Pacific Coast states making various forestry contacts. Professor J. H. Ramskill conducted research work with Clarence Muhlick, manager of the Forestry School nursery.

Assistant Professor Charles W. Bloom was engaged in surveying and administering the School of Forestry's land in the Blackfoot valley.

Professor F. G. Clark, who enjoyed what he called the "first vacation of real recreation in my life," spent a month with H. W. Whicker, former university English instructor, on the San Juan island off the southeast coast of British Columbia.

Associate Professor Melvin S. Morris did post-graduate work at the University of Chicago. Before returning to Missoula, Morris visited an experiment station at Lexington, Kentucky.

In addition to plant nursery work, Professor Charles W. Waters traveled to eastern Montana, where he inspected wind breaks and shelter belts and collected various soil samples for experimentation. Waters also drove through several Midwestern states and viewed Forest Service work in South Dakota and in Kansas.

NOTICE

General tryouts for all students in dramatics have been postponed until next week, because of presentation of "Hay Fever" in the Salon theater.

Fund Allotted For Fall Term

University students will supplement their fall quarter budgets with approximately $7,980 supplied them by the National Youth Administration, Dale Galles, Billings, student director, estimated yesterday, as he took applications from a steady influx of last-minute students wanting allotments.

First applications will be considered by Deans Miller, Jesse and Ferguson, Wednesday. Selections will take about three days, after which students and project heads will be informed of the grants.

Galles explained a change in the disbursement of funds over last year, when as much of the total allotment was used as was necessary—with the stipulation that payrolls did not deviate more than a set percent each month. Under the present system a set percentage of the university allocation will be earmarked for each quarter's use. Any funds unused at each quarter's end will be returned to Butte, there to be reallocated as office heads see fit.

Fall quarter allotments will amount to 34 per cent of the total NYA fund of $23,490.

Co-op House Elects Eaton

Carol Eaton, Hinsdale, was elected president of the first Girls' Co-op house on the campus at a meeting of house members at 601 Daly Sunday. Other officers are Marion Edwards, Great Falls, secretary-treasurer, and Lenore Cole, Darby, food manager.

The Girls' Co-op house is a unit of the Student Cooperative association and will purchase food in cooperation with the Batchelors' Buying club, also a unit of the Student Cooperative association.

"We should benefit by the social and educational as well as the economic advantages of cooperation with the buying club and other batching students," Miss Eaton said.

The house has large, comfortable furnished rooms for studying and sleeping purposes, a living room with a fireplace, a basement kitchen, and a dining room. Mrs. Harvey Baty is housemother.

Corporation Plans To Be Discussed By Batchelors

The Student Cooperative association, organized last spring for batching students interested in cooperative buying and cooperative living, will reconsider incorporation plans at the first meeting of the quarter at 7 o'clock tonight in the Bitter Root room of the Student Union building, Al Schmitz, Brockton, temporary president, announced today.

At the Pacific Coast Cooperative conference in Eugene, Oregon, which Schmitz attended last June, delegates agreed that a student cooperative is more successful when organized as a fraternal society with membership based on a small non-returnable fee than as a cooperative with membership based on stock.

Schmitz also learned that a cooperative such as the Batchelors' Buying club for scattered batching students is unique. The Batchelors' Buying club will take its first orders for the year tonight and will deliver tomorrow. Other plans will be discussed at the meeting.

The second unit of the Student Cooperative association is the Girls' Co-op house recently organized at 601 Daly. Plans for a boys' house should be well under way by winter quarter, Schmitz said.

Streit Group Meets Tonight

The Missoula chapter of Inter-democracy Federal Unionists will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Eloise Knowles room in the Student Union building.

This group, organized to promote the idea of union suggested in "Union Now," by Clarence K. Streit, '14, was founded by summer students who were meeting weekly to discuss foreign affairs.

Begun as a college chapter, the organization now includes faculty members and interested Missoulians. The chapter will meet every other Tuesday evening in the Eloise Knowles room.

Temporary officers elected to lead this movement are Arthur Mertz, president; Mary Beth Clapp, vice-president, and Walter King, secretary-treasurer.

The program tonight will consist of discussion of magazine articles attacking and defending the case for "Union Now." Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Students May Not Receive Benefits

Students who leave their jobs to attend school are not eligible to receive unemployment compensation benefits, Barclay Craighead, chairman of the state unemployment compensation commission, announced yesterday.

This act was not passed for the purpose of sending students to school but to aid laborers who are put out of work by seasonal and temporary unemployment, he said. In the past students have "capitalized" on the benefits of this act, but now they are required to sign an affidavit that they did not quit their work to attend school.

Our Fighting Muscle

A few days after the German-Italian-Japanese assistance pact was announced, President Roosevelt dedicated the new airport in Washington and staged a great air show for the spectators—among whom were many representatives of the pact nations. Several hundreds of army and navy planes participated in the surprise party air show which the president described as just a gratifying flexing of the kind of fighting muscle democracy can and does produce.

It may have been a wise policy to show the representatives of the dictator nations that our fighting muscle is strong enough to protect ourselves against any possible attack. But we hope that our leaders do not become so proud of that fighting muscle that they would like to demonstrate its might in real fighting. For while we naturally do not like the things the totalitarian countries are doing, we do not think that our feeling should overcome our judgment and lead us into another disastrous crusade to save the world for democracy, from totalitarianism or for any other reason except in defense of our own country and our own interests.

Office Course Has Increase

Student enrollment in office machines practice, a course offered in the School of Business Administration, has shown a marked increase over previous years, according to Dean Robert C. Line.

A recent addition of new types of office machines, together with the fact that students have come to the realization that this kind of training is becoming more valuable in the modern business world, are the two main factors responsible for the increase in this course, said Line.

Religious Groups Plan Cooperative Welcoming Party

The Interchurch conference is sponsoring a welcoming party for all students at 8 o'clock Thursday in the Gold room of the Student Union.

This year marks a departure from the annual church preference night of other years. Previously, the individual churches have had their own parties but this year one large cooperative function has been planned. Each church will be represented by its minister and the officers of its student organization.

ATTENTION, OLD SPURS

"Hay Fever," summer quarter Salon Theater production, will be presented again Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the Silver room of the Student Union building.

The play concerns the misadventures of the Bliss family when each of the four members of the family, unbeknownst to the others, invites a week-end guest. The resultant mixup produces the hilarious situations usual in Noel Coward comedy.

The cast is the same which acted in the summer presentation. Mr. and Mrs. Bliss are portrayed by Mike Skones and Joan Morrison, both of Missoula. Boyd Cochrell, Missoula, plays their son, Simon, and Joyce Hovland, Missoula, is the daughter, Sorel. Guests of the family are Tom Campbell, Missoula, who plays Richard Grethem; Margaret Price, Missoula, portraying Myra Arundel; Dorothy Taylor, Missoula, playing Jackie Coryton, and Richmond Pease, Butte, as Sandy Tyrell. Willa Lester, Missoula, plays Clara, the maid.

Reagan, Swarthout Score In 9-0 Opener With Cheney

Montana's Grizzly football team showed only flashes of power in winning 9-0 from Eastern Washington College of Education in their 1940 premiere Saturday under the lights. It was for the most part a listless Bruin who could push the Savages at will in midfield only to lose their punch as pay dirt neared. Coach Doug Fessenden's gridders showed power and, with a little polish and the help of injured players, who watched from the sidelines, Montana should develop into a fast-moving offensive club.

More than 3,000 fans came out despite the fact it rained from early afternoon until game time. Director Clarence Bell's Grizzly band put on a pleasing show between halves after only a single practice. It was climaxed by a lighted display of the American flag.

The first score came early in the game after John Reagan recovered a fumble on the Cheney 41. Don Bryan, Howard Farmer and Bobby Sparks combined to advance the ball to the Savage 8-yard line, where the Montana attack bogged. Reagan's accurate toe put the ball neatly between the uprights for three points and then the game went stale.

Action in Final Quarter

Until the final period neither team reached their opponent's 20-yard line. Cheney penetrated to the Montana 22 in the third period, but John Page, playing his first varsity game, crashed through and tossed Tortorelli for a 10-yard loss to stop the threat. Earlier Farmer fell on Crowe's fumble to end the only other Savage thrust on the Grizzly 25-yard line.

The Grizzly came out of hibernation in the final minutes long enough to blast Cheney's defense for the lone touchdown of the game. Jack Swarthout picked up 14 yards on an end-around. Sparks spun through tackle for 23 on a fake reverse and Jack Emigh found a hole for 11 more. Sparks hit the line for five yards to put the ball on the Cheney 7, where the end-around was repeated and Swarthout went over standing up. Coley Vaughn's place-kick for the point failed.

Cheney Men Star

Satterlee, Cheney's huge center, carried the brunt of the Savage defense and his brilliant punting kept Montana from running wild. Tortorelli, freshman, and Anderson were Cheney's best hopes on offense.

Sparks and Swarthout were the standout players on the field in both offense and defense. Bryan's passing and punting were fine, while Farmer, Reagan, Strom and Emigh all had their moments in the Montana backfield. Captain Tom O'Donnell, John Duncan and John Page played stoutly in the line.

Szakash, Brown Added to Coaching Staff This Fall

Paul Szakash, a star Grizzly fullback in 1935 and 1937, and Jimmy Brown, Custer County high school coach and former Montana basketball star, were added to the university coaching staff this summer.

Szakash, catcher and manager of the Missoula baseball team, shattered a bone in his leg in a State league game this summer so was unable to report to the Detroit Lions for professional football play. Szakash was named assistant varsity coach shortly after the mishap.

"I have a high regard for Paul Szakash as a football player, and believe that he will be able to contribute to the Grizzly football program as a varsity assistant," Head Coach Douglas Fessenden said. "We are lucky to be able to obtain Szakash's services. He will devote most of his time to the ends and will assist with the backs."

Szakash played football for Fessenden at Fenger high in Chicago and first came to Montana in 1934, playing with the Cubs that year. As a sophomore he played regular fullback, but lost all of the 1936 season from an operation for appendicitis. He assisted in coaching the freshmen that year. He was varsity fullback in 1937 and joined the Detroit Lions the next fall.

Brown comes back to the freshman coaching job he left in 1937 to go to Miles City. Jim was an outstanding athlete at Butte high before coming to the University, where he played three years of varsity basketball. After graduation Brown directed freshman athletics in 1936 and 1937.

I'm Right---You're Wrong

BY K. KIZER

There was one good thing about the game Saturday night—the Washington State and Gonzaga scouts didn't learn a single thing. In spite of a 9-0 score against a comparatively weak Cheney outfit, Coach Doug and his lads succeeded in accomplishing a win without committing themselves. Only three plays were used in excess of straight conventional football. Montana has the offense and by the end of the week they hope to have the defense also. Hint: Plays won't work unless the opposition charges.

School is in the air, fall is in the air, the wind and the rain is in the air and King Football has claimed the sports roost, knocking down the Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds to second place on most sport pages. This corner won't take the time and effort to prove itself, but a wager is up that this is the closest pennant race ever to be recorded in the dusty archives of major baseball. Street-corner umpires claim Cleveland's chances are ruined by mismanagement of Feller and other hurlers. (Unquote.)

If you want to play football, go to Montana State college. The Bobcats opened their season with a win against Western State, a Rocky Mountain conference member, two weeks ago last Friday. The following Monday saw them being tromped on by San Jose State, highest scorer last season, and then Drake took them into camp last Friday in Des Moines. They continue their seasoning against North Dakota State this week-end at Bozeman.

Anacin advertisement: Getting the first game under their belts, the Montana Grizzlies go to Pullman this week to play the Washington State Cougars, who are fresh from a 14-tie with Southern Cal. Texas Tech comes here October 12, followed by the Butte classic with the Bobcats, which is always a tuffy. Then Gonzaga, Oregon, Idaho, Marines and Portland follow in only too quick succession. Grizzly guards and reserves will have to shape up in a hurry.

Pleasing comment overflowed the campus after the game Saturday night on the performance of the Grizzly band under the direction of Clarence Bell. A single practice a few hours before the game constituted the preparation for the half-time entertainment, climaxed by a lighted American flag and the Grizzly trumpet sextet's rendition of "God Bless America."

Managers to Plan Annual Dance

Freshmen formed a bucket brigade to aid in getting the 50-pound sacks of lime and the necessary water and equipment up to the "M."

"Three girls reported at 1 o'clock but they must have been scared out," Shallenberger said.

Latin and Greek Aid Vocabulary

How is your vocabulary? Would you like to have it improved? That is, would you like to learn how to make words of your own besides learning the derivation of all the words you and Webster use?

If so, enroll in the Latin and Greek in current English course, Dr. W. P. Clark, professor of classical languages, said yesterday.

"The meanings of words that are troublesome, both in spelling and meaning, are usually derived from Greek and Latin origin. That is why this course will aid students in practically any field the university offers," Clark stated.
