Forestry Club Makes Plans For Fall Hike

Fall hike was scheduled for October 18 at the Forestry club meeting last night. Charles Thielen, Superior, president, introduced faculty members and club officers to the 130 members who attended the first meeting of the year.

Ray Helgeson, Missoula, chairman of the hike committee, said trucks would leave the Forestry building at 7:15 and 7:30 o'clock on hike night. Forestry club activity cards are needed to attend, said Helgeson.

Committee Named

Rud Jennings, Springfield, N. J.; Earl Cooley, Missoula, and Bud Nelson, Glendive, were named members of the senior sweater committee. The club decided that seniors would wear the same kind of sweaters last year's seniors wore.

A plan to organize forestry clubs throughout the United States and Canada was discussed by Walter Shaffner, Dillon. The club is affiliated with the Associated Western Forestry clubs, but under the scheduled arrangement it would consolidate with groups from the northeast, south and central United States under the name of Intercollegiate Society of America. The Society of American Foresters may sponsor the group, and has already tentatively approved the constitution of the proposed consolidation, said Shaffner.

Beaman Appointed

Bill Beaman, Missoula, was appointed executive board member from the sophomore class to succeed Bob Fisher, Chicago, who transferred from the forestry school.

Officers introduced by Thielen were Carl Simpson, Roundup, chief push of Foresters' ball; Cameron Warren, Missoula, editor of the Forestry Kaimin; Bob Newcomer, Rapid City, S. D., vice-president; W. Shaffner, secretary; Jim Sykes, Livingston, president of the ski team; Merritt Burdick, Brady, treasurer, and Ken Boe, Outlook, assistant treasurer.

Pre-Med Club Changes Name

The Pre-Medic club officially changed its name to Medical Science club by an unanimous vote last night in the first meeting of the year. Upper classmen were reminded that the medical aptitude tests for men's schools will be given November 8 this year.

Close cooperation is needed in the medical field, said Dr. D. M. Hetler, professor of bacteriology and hygiene, in his talk to the club. Chemists, pharmacists, dentists, bacteriologists and nutrition experts should be in contact with the physician constantly. Departments should work for a common end, the health of the public, and not for the almighty dollar. Each man should be a specialist in his own profession and never overstep it at any time, he concluded.

NOTICE

Students who have taken their Mantoux test are requested to report to the health service for a reading.

Student Co-op Staff For News Bulletin Is Appointed

Executives of the Student Co-operative association established office hours, appointed the news bulletin staff and a nominating committee for association officers at a dinner meeting last night at the Girls' Co-op house, 601 Daly. Al Schmitz, chairman, reported.

Warren Reichman, Wilsall, will edit the weekly news bulletin to be distributed among the batching students. Reporters are Florence Van Horne, Plentywood, for the association; Betty Mullikin, Hingham, for the Batchelors' Buying club, and Norma Prescott, Outlook, for the Girls' Co-op. The nominating committee includes Carol Eaton, Hinsdale, chairman; Betty Mullikin and Al Schmitz.

Office hours for taking orders are from 3:30 o'clock to 5:30 o'clock each Wednesday and Friday afternoon in 212 Craig hall.

The executives, representing the association as a whole and each of its units, the Batchelors' Buying club and the Girls' Co-op, planned a dinner and social evening for the association next Tuesday. At the same meeting members will vote on incorporation and adopt a constitution. Florence Van Horne and Betty Mullikin are in charge of arrangements.

Sociologists Start Welfare Case Work

Students who have had the theoretical course basic to social case work will have the opportunity to do such work as employed workers under supervision for a part of their undergraduate training. Dr. Harold Tascher, director of the Social Work Laboratory, said yesterday.

Bruce Ann Radigan, Shelby; Martha Halverson, Lonepine; Kenneth Bangs, Inverness; Fred Merritt, Helena, and Grace Jean Wheeler, Ronan, are allocated to the county department of public welfare. Barbara Blitz, Deadwood, S. D.; Jean Yardley, Livingston, and Jean Cameron, Missoula, are delegated to the Family Welfare Agency for social case work.

Staff members of the agencies supervise the workers. The student, while performing a service for the community, develops professionally, gains first-hand knowledge and is better equipped to take the state merit examinations after graduation.

Grace Jean Wheeler and Jean Cameron, chairmen of their case work groups, make weekly reports to the laboratory on the training progress. All student case workers attend weekly class conferences to share in the experiences of the group work, research and public relations project managers.

NOTICE

Students who want to sit with their parents during the game Saturday can secure tickets for the reserved section of the east side bleachers by purchasing tickets for their parents at the Student Union ticket office. These students will be given seats in the reserved section at no extra charge, but they must purchase their parents' tickets before the game.

Jack Swarthout, end and back, will probably be used in both positions in the Parents' Day game against Texas Tech.

Local Union Elects Clark

W. P. Clark, professor of classical languages, was elected president of the University Teachers' union at a meeting Tuesday night.

Michael Mansfield, instructor in history and political science, and Ernest A. Atkinson, professor of psychology, were selected as union delegates to the Missoula Trades & Labor council. Lucille Speer, librarian, was elected secretary.

Law Committee Will Be Named

Honor committee members will be elected at the first annual Law association meeting at 11 o'clock Friday morning, Walter Coombs, Missoula, president, announced yesterday. The honor committee will make appointments to committees for Barristers' ball, High Court, the News Letter and the Law Review.

Dr. Charles W. Leaphart, professor of law and dean of the law school, will welcome the freshman students and explain the procedure of the school at the meeting.

Life-Drawing Class Starts Wednesday

A life-drawing class open to all students with some experience in drawing is tentatively scheduled from 7:30 to 10 o'clock Wednesday nights, according to George Yphantis, assistant professor of fine arts.

In addition to sketching there will be discussions of the various phases of drawing from life. Students have found these informal classes profitable and interesting in the past. Credit will be given if desired.

These classes are open to the faculty and townspeople as well as students.

PHELAN ELECTED GLEE CLUB PREXY

Gene Phelan, Chinook, was elected president of Men's Glee club at a meeting Tuesday night in Main hall. Other officers who were elected are Fred Barrett, Missoula, secretary, and Duncan Campbell, Butte, treasurer. Earl Dahlstrom, Missoula, was appointed librarian by John Lester, director and assistant professor of music.

Conscription Registration To Be Simple

Questions Are Confined To Identification; Card Must Be Available

Students and faculty members required to register next Wednesday for selective service will be asked to fill out only two forms, contents of which are confined principally to identification, sample cards from County Clerk W. J. Babington show.

Obverse side of the 4x6 card to be filed for registration involves questions regarding name, address, friend or guardian, employer and place of employment.

Reverse side of the same card will require information on the man's race, height, weight, complexion and other obvious physical characteristics.

The only other card to be filled out Wednesday, according to the county clerk's office, is the registration certificate, to be carried by the registrant at all times. It repeats in condensed form answers to questions asked for the larger of the two cards.

The certificate card is small enough to be carried in a billfold.

Both cards require little information that registrants may not already know and have not already been asked for university registration. Only possible lack of information, the sample forms show, might be inability of registrants to recall their telephone numbers.

Dean Daughters Resigns Position On State Board

Dean Freeman Daughters of the School of Education yesterday announced his resignation from the Montana State Board of Education examiners because "arduous duties in other fields makes it impossible to carry the load." Dean Daughters has been a member of the board for more than 21 years.

The board is composed of five members whose duties include issuing all certificates granted to teachers in Montana other than permits and temporary certificates which are issued by the state superintendent.

"Since June, 1919, the minimum requirements of training to teach in Montana have risen from the preparation of less than that of an eighth grade graduate to that of two years of college work beyond high school graduation. This means that minimum requirements have risen by more than six years of academic and professional preparation since 21 years ago," he said.

PRACTICE PERIODS ON ORGAN OFFERED

Mrs. DeLoss Smith, professor of organ and piano, announced today that there are still a few organ practice hours available. Anyone having had previous instruction on the Hammond organ may arrange to use the school's instrument any time it is available by contacting Mrs. Smith or the secretary of the music school. Persons unfamiliar with this type of organ are requested to take some instruction before using it.

Lively Pep Band, Pledging Will Highlight Convo

The livewire pep band will greet students as they file into the auditorium of the Student Union building Friday, Marcus Bourke, convocations chairman, announced after completing plans for the initial assembly of the year.

A pep rally with music and cheers, introduction of newly pledged members of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's national scholastic honorary, individual entertainment numbers by Brodie Small and Phillip Galusha are scheduled for Friday's program.

Bourke explained that this first convo of the year was designed to get students into the habit of attending the bi-weekly programs and stressed that if students would do their part to get there as soon as possible after 11 o'clock, he could promise them a full hour of good entertainment.

Bear Paws To Be Tapped

Members of Bear Paw, sophomore honorary, will be tapped by Silent Sentinel, senior men's honorary, at the SOS tonight on the steps of Main hall.

Coach Doug Fessenden, Captain Tom O'Donnell and John Kujich, traditions chairman, are scheduled to speak. John Lester, instructor in music, will lead the group singing.

Lawyers Pledge Six to Honorary

Ed Ober, Havre; Dale Galles, Billings; Bruce Gilbert, Dillon; Lloyd Skedd, Butte; Baxter Larson, Wolf Point, and Fred Higgins, Glendive, were recently pledged to Phi Delta Phi, national law school honorary, announced Ben Berg, Livingston, magister.

Bill Hirst, Missoula, was selected as representative delegate of the local chapter to the national convention at Sun Valley, Idaho, October 11, 12 and 13.

Newly initiated Spurs will meet in the Eloise Knowles room at 5 o'clock today.

THE AIRPLANE IS HERE TO STAY

They said then that the automobile would never replace the horse and buggy, that roads would be too expensive to build and keep up, that the automobile could not be produced at a price the man of moderate income could afford, that operation would be too expensive, and—Henry Ford put an automobile on the market that virtually spelled the doom of the horse and buggy stage of transportation and led to the world-wide adoption and popularity of the gasoline-powered vehicle. That was less than fifty years ago.

Only yesterday they scoffed at those men who hoped to fly in the air after the fashion of birds. Today thousands of young men throughout the world are being trained to operate aircraft. Many thousand more civilians are learning to operate planes. Aircraft manufacturers are producing flying machines at capacity output and still cannot keep pace with the ever-growing demand for these bird-like contraptions.

Yet, there are those today who belittle the future of aviation, who doubt that the airplane can find a permanent place in the workaday world and become a commodity rather than a luxury. In 1941 there will be over 60,000 trained pilots in the United States. There will then be a demand for an airplane a man of moderate income can afford to buy and conveniently operate. And as in the past, man's desires will not go unfulfilled, his demand will be heeded. Aviation has made its debut, and the airplane is here to stay.

Zucconi Joins Spanish Staff

Mrs. Ada Thibodeau Zucconi, '27, has been selected as instructor in elementary Spanish, supplying a demand caused by the great increase in enrollment this year, according to the president's office.

The enrollment in elementary Spanish autumn quarter in 1939 was 59; the enrollment this quarter is 112, almost doubling the teaching load. To ease this situation, another 8 o'clock section in elementary Spanish was added.

Mrs. Zucconi secured her master's degree in 1930 at the University of Wisconsin and did work there and at the University of Chicago toward her doctorate.

The MERCANTILE

I'm Right---You're Wrong

BY K. KIZER

Given a million prunes, my girl from Alabama, a 1941 car and a couple of Roman numerals after my rear moniker, I could probably write scads of copy on the coming tussle between Texas Tech and MSU. Suffice it to say I haven't got the million, the girl, the automobile or the capital I's. But regardless of who has what, in spite of the fact that all men in these United States aren't created equal, in spite of the fact that some of us have to be first-birds instead of third-birds, everyone should be looking toward a Grizzly victory over there on Dornblaser Saturday afternoon. Montana has a good squad this season. Texas Tech has a good squad this season. One good squad plus one good squad equals two good squads—only the squad that is going to win will have the fourth-down punch and student backing behind it. That's us.

Eso Naranche sustained the sole injury against the WSC Cougars last Saturday, re-wrenching his side and pulling a couple of floating ribs again. "Ees" should be called "Wrenche"—last season it was a knee that kept him on the bench. All the other players have recovered, however. Brauer's back is top-notch, Lutz's ankle is ready for duty and Page's sore beak again looks like a nose instead of a piece of rancid hamburger.

Even if this corner doesn't have that million, there are some major leaguers who are rolling in the dough. The Redlegs of Cincinnati each collected over $5,000 per man for their share of the World Series boodle and the Tigers got a little over $3,500 apiece. Still sticking to the wager that this was the closest series, another is on the boards that it was the funniest, too. Detroit went into the game with a consistently higher batting average, higher net earned runs, less errors, and came out with three games won and four lost. Cincinnati is "it" and will have to keep away from the taggers next fall.

Head-n'-shoulders: Among those players on the Pacific coast who have sent radio announcers balmy in 60 minutes of play, Rudy Mucha and Dean McAdams of Washington and Jack Sewell of Washington State seem to have the edge. Mucha cooled his fan mail just a little by giving Minnesota's Gophers a couple of points with a bad pass, from center, but that's in the game and he still is the best center in the northern division of the PCC. McAdams doesn't do much ball-lugging but leaves it up to his teamster, Stackpool. He does act as field general and is the smoothest boy on the grid as voted by NBC's program, "Stick Your Neck Out." Marvelous punting by Sewell ballots him the most dangerous kicker within miles of Montana (that's in the U. S., you know) and his rip-tearing runs through a tough Montana line says that he is a mean runner, too.

Spectacle

Tom Duffy, junior tackle, is due to see plenty of play this Saturday in the forward wall. Duffy tips the scales at 200 pounds.

Parents' Day Clash Will Be Colorful One

"Grizzlies on the Spot" For Saturday Fracas With Tricky Texans

In Montana's Parents' day football game Saturday the Grizzlies will have a double-barreled reason for winning from the high-flying Red Raiders of Texas Tech.

The Fessendenmen's number one incentive for victory undoubtedly will be the 20-14 and 13-0 lickings they have absorbed from the howling Raiders during the past two years. Montana won the first episode in the rivalry by a 13-6 count in 1937 and a victory Saturday would even the score.

Secondly, the Silvertips must win or disappoint a lot of Grizzly fans who have been looking forward to a touchdown-minded offensive club. Mothers and fathers of Grizzly players will be among the Montana partisans pleading for scores.

Right Side Is Solid

Only two seniors were able to make the Scarlet and Black line, Captain Lonnie "Primo" McCurry at right guard and Prince Scott at right end. Durwood "Big Mama" Herring, 235-pound junior tackle, plays between McCurry and Scott to make the right side of the Texans' line pretty solid. The rest of the line is composed of juniors and sophomores, none of the juniors being regulars last year.

The squad primarily is the greenest and lightest Coach Pete Cawthon has had since coming to Tech in 1930. Half of his players are sophomores and only four of the entire team tip the beam over 200. The majority of the boys hit

Adams May Drop Marathon Meet

Harry Adams, track coach, fears he will have to abandon the cross-country meet scheduled with Idaho between 175 and 187. It is the reserves that lack most of the beef, as Cawthon's starters average a little over 192 pounds. The Raiders use plenty of subs, however, so there won't be that much weight on the field often.

A variation of the Notre Dame system is employed by the Texans' backfield, with the players dancing into position and then attempting to blind the opposition with speed. Cawthon claims he has several backs who can sprint the century in 10-flat, besides being able to pass and punt. A trio of veterans are Billy Brown, Glenn Lowe and C. L. Storrs, while steady, flashy newcomers are Jumbo Webster and Thayne Amonett.

Last Saturday the Red Raiders walked over Loyola of Los Angeles by three touchdowns in a game which was tabbed by sportsters to be close. In their opener they fought the Oklahoma Aggies to a 6-6 tie. The Aggies rolled up 27 points against the Oklahoma U eleven Saturday.

for Homecoming day, November 9.

Ole Ueland, Brockway, and Sam Parsons, Cascade, are the only two runners who have reported, and as there is less than a month to prepare for the event, others who aspire to compete must report immediately, Adams says. "Experience is not required to run cross-country, but a little courage and about a half-hour practice each night is needed."

GUARANTEED for LIFE

by Parker's Blue Diamond

What's the use of being a quick-thinker if your pen won't work when your brain does?

A college professor found that this gets many a student down. So he invented a brand-new way of filling pens—a way that makes more room for ink INSIDE by dispensing with the customary rubber ink sac.

Parker spent 5 years to engineer this revolutionary principle to perfection—this sacless "One-Hand" Filler—the Parker Vacumatic—the largest selling pen in the world today.

A pen that holds nearly twice as much ink as our old style, and shows days ahead if it's running low, so it won't run dry. Whose lubricated 14 K Gold Point—non-brittle, extra resilient—is tipped with Osmidium so smooth and hard and dense that it won't wear scratchy as long as you live!

And its crowning glory is that streamlined Pearl and Jet style—laminated, Ring upon Ring, as shimmering as velvet—wholly smart, original and exclusive—winner of the Pen Beauty contest.

Go and see it and try it—don't make the mistake of writing "the hard way" throughout your college course and life's career.

Exclusive One-Hand Filler, the EASIEST, most convenient, as verified by Devoitt Laboratories testing 24 models of best-known makes.

Northern Rockies Receive Attention From Geologists

Further study to determine information as to the origin of the Northern Rocky mountains and for purposes of mapping was carried on this past summer by Dr. Charles Deiss, professor of geology, and his two party companions, R. N. Garrels, Northwestern university, who acted as recorder, and A. J. Storey, packer.

An assistant geologist in the United States Geological survey, Dr. Deiss resumed studies which he and the late Dr. Clapp carried on between 1930 and 1933 in the Cooper quadrangle of the Lewis and Clark range. The work last summer was carried on entirely in the Saypo quadrangle in the Saw Tooth, Lewis and Clark ranges, about 30 miles west of Augusta and 90 miles west of Great Falls.

Pack horses were necessary for all the field trip work done this year, making possible the mapping of 225 square miles, the traversing of 565 miles (distance to Salt Lake City), and the climbing of 131,000 feet, vertically. In addition, 147 plane table stations were set up.

The geologic mapping project calls for eight to twelve years of work, at the end of which time it should be completed, Dr. Deiss said, "if the foreign situation as indicated by this morning's paper doesn't interrupt."

HESDORFFER LAUDS LARGER ALLOTMENT

The student health service, which has been struggling along for years on inadequate allotments from small fees, will be greatly improved by the increased fee this year, said Dr. M. B. Hesdorffer, health service head. The fee was raised from $2.50 to $3.00 per quarter this year. Most of the added money will go for supplies, Hesdorffer said.

The work last summer consisted of mapping of formations and in obtaining data on the entire geologic history of this northern area. This data would furnish the evidence for understanding the structural geology of the region, which in turn, Dr. Deiss hopes, would give information as to the origin of the Northern Rocky mountains.

Once these problems are solved, Dr. Deiss stated, he will have a sound basis for the understanding of forces which produce the economic deposits of that part of the Cordilleran region. Besides mapping and climbing, Dr. Deiss and his party found time to extinguish a forest fire on the south side of Allen mountain.

Noo Joisey Ham Changes Mr. Zero

Meek little Mr. Zero of Elmer Rice's "Adding Machine" probably turned over in his grave Tuesday night when David Milstein, freshman, read the part at dramatic tryouts.

Milstein endowed the timid, henpecked bookkeeper, who went berserk for a brief moment and killed his boss, with a Humphrey Bogart sneer and the best of Brooklynese accents.

"Sure I killed 'm. I ain't sayin' I didn't, am I? What I say is, when a boid kills anudder boid, you got a right to call 'm fer it. Dat's what I say."

When the scene was finished, Larrae Haydon suppressed his laughter long enough to inquire, "Where are you from, Milstein?" "New Joisey," said the embryo actor, and fled.
