Mary L. Clapp Passes Away

Mary Lincoln (Marybeth) Clapp, 37, died yesterday after a short illness. Miss Clapp was the daughter of Mrs. C. H. Clapp, instructor in English. Her father was the late Dr. C. H. Clapp, university president until his death in 1935.

Miss Clapp was born Feb. 16, 1916, at Tucson, Ariz. She attended Missoula grade and high schools. Miss Clapp was an honor student at the University of Chicago where she received the associate arts degree.

She won her B.A. degree in zoology here in 1937 and her M.A. degree in zoology in 1938 and was working on her Ph.D. degree at the University of Chicago when she was seriously injured. She returned to the university and was taking advanced work while recovering from her injury.

Miss Clapp was a member of the Newman club and of Phi Sigma, national biological honorary.

Designer Spriggs Is Also Actor

Edison Spriggs, Kalispell, is a busy man these days. In addition to designing and directing construction of the set for "Idiot's Delight," spring quarter major play, he now is taking an important role in that play. He is also in charge of moving the play set and furniture, et al, to Kalispell today for the special showing of the play there tonight.

Spriggs replaces Bob Fleet, Edgewater, Md., as Mr. Cherry, young Englishman caught in the Alpine resort hotel where the "Idiot's Delight" action takes place. Behind the scenes, he directs a crew of a dozen stagehands in erecting the set, striking it when the show is over and transporting it back to Missoula to set it up again in time for the university performance of the play Thursday and Friday nights.

Placement Bureau Receives Notices of Teacher Vacancies

Thirty-five Openings in High Schools Compare With Twenty-eight Which Were Received During March Last Year

Thirty-five notices of vacancies for teachers have been received by the Placement bureau during the past week, Adele Cohe, bureau secretary, stated yesterday.

Tennis Court Improvements Hit Snag

Three Loans Refused Pending Board's Probe Of Its Powers

A temporary snag may hold up the proposed tennis court improvement program, Dale Galles, Billings, chairman of the Student Reserve Fund corporation, said yesterday.

Central board's request for $500 from the student reserve fund, which would be added to ASMSU's current reserve fund, was discussed at last Friday's meeting, but the corporation voted to table the request until more information was available concerning the corporation's powers.

The question arose as to the specific duties of that body and whether it had the right to invest money in student projects. Three subdivisions of student activities, Athletic board, Central board and the committee for the improvement of the university golf course, have requested loans, but have been refused pending the report of the powers of the corporation.

The group will meet tonight to discuss the historical development of the corporation. Following a satisfactory report, the directors will lend funds as they see fit.

Clark T. Brown, '24, is an attorney for Paramount pictures.

This figure compares favorably with only 28 notices received during the entire month of March last year. Miss Cohe estimated the total for the month would more than double last year's figure with the major reason for the increase being the vacancies created by the defense program and the general national trend. Government agencies and private industry also indicate they will take more than their usual toll of university graduates.

The vacancy notices were sent the bureau in answer to a form letter sent out by Dr. G. D. Shallenberger, placement bureau director, to superintendents and principals in all Montana and Alaskan high schools; also to schools in North Dakota, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Idaho and Washington who have requested this information from the bureau.

Those students wishing teaching applications, who have not yet brought in the filled applications, or who have not completed registration with the bureau or their interviews with Dr. Shallenberger, should do so immediately, Miss Cohe warned.

Students who have no teacher's certificate may register at the bureau and have papers made up at no expense. There have been many recent requests by leading business firms for records of university students who have applied to them for jobs, and had the bureau each student's record, that student's chance for employment would be increased, said Miss Cohe.

Jarussi Wins Second Place At Havre

Montana Orator Speaks About "The Last Wall" In Peace Contest

Louise Jarussi, Red Lodge, won second place and $30 in the state peace oratorical contest in Havre Saturday. Miss Jarussi, first-place winner in the local contest, entered her oration, "The Last Wall," in the state event which is annually a feature of the Montana Intercollegiate Debate tournament.

Orval Grigsby, Northern Montana college entrant from Conrad, took first place with a prize of $50, and Robert Sullivan, Montana School of Mines, placed third for a money award of $20.

Prizes amounting to $100 are given each year by the Misses Helen and Mary Seabury of New Bedford, Mass. Two national prizes are also given, first $60 and second $40. All three orations which have won prizes in a state peace contest are eligible for the national awards and are not judged as a speaking contest but as essays.

Scabbard and Blade will meet in the Eloise Knowles room at 9 o'clock tonight.

WORLD AND NATIONAL

BELGRADE—Morning reports say Yugoslavs are sticking to their guns, and although five Nazi divisions are reported on the Hungarian-Yugoslav frontier, no push is expected for 10 days as Germany is not prepared for action. Axis nationals are pouring out of the country and on their heels go peasants jamming their way to provinces—breaking the premier's no-evacuation proclamation. Officials seem pleased with general calm and unity, but perplexed with what to do with 700,000 Germans sprinkled along the borders.

LONDON—Riding the tailwind of Nazi set-backs in the Balkans, RAF pulled back the throttle and hauled high explosives into German towns and Brest, France, last night. One fire in Nazidom could be seen for 125 miles. Germans said raids were not large but highly successful. Belief is that Hitler will strike at England before he loses his grip in Yugoslavia and must either risk a two-front war or see a floundering partner go under.

WASHINGTON—Today Roosevelt is expected to put to put to work a major portion of the $7,000,000,000 appropriation, make plans for sending 75mm guns of the last war to Greece, and decide the disposition of the 69 seized ships. This seizure was protested by Axis countries as being unfriendly, but the press subordinated it to other news.

School to Offer Special Course In Summer

A special course to train students for Civil Service examinations will be offered by the School of Business Administration during summer session, June 16 to August 15. Mrs. Brenda Wilson, associate professor of business administration, announced recently. The course is given to aid students in preparing for the junior and senior stenographic and typist examinations.

Tests are similar to Civil Service exams. Training in regular work accompanying federal government positions is given. The course was given at the university two years ago and many students have requested it again this year.

Skill and speed courses in typing and shorthand are given along with courses in office machine work. All duplicating, transcribing, dictating, bookkeeping and calculating machines are used by students taking the courses.

Morris St. John, '24, Stevensville, and Marione H. Miller, Carrington, N. D., were married last month.

WHAT IS OUR DESTINATION— WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

Let's call a spade a spade. The United States is at war. The Axis powers are our enemy. The "Lease-Lend" bill was our formal declaration of war.

In war-time, because of shortage of war materials, time, etc., fighting equipment is worth much more than human material. Indeed, in this war, one fighting plane, because of the strategic part this war weapon plays, is probably more valuable than a thousand men.

We have sent Britain scores of planes alone, will send her, along with other tools of warfare, scores more. Whether we were wise to assume the role we are playing, whether we were wise to become actively engaged in this struggle to "save the world" is beside the point.

Two objects seem desirable. The obvious one—to win. The second might be to die, not for a cause, as in the last war "for democracy," but for a result.

It's not too early to plan now a lasting world-wide peace. Clarence Streit's "union of democracies" is not the answer, for hereby would be lined up one great group of powers against another group, with invitation for friction, and with friction a still greater war.

It seems that people are never harmoniously adjusted or actually suitably governed except under "home-rule," no matter what style of government may be employed. Have we become big enough, hindrances of our physical environment slight enough, that we may all govern ourselves co-operatively, victoriously, with our neighbors?

Would it be wise to insist now upon a treaty insuring the independence of every people in the world? Such a treaty would include the abolition of colonial government and would assure home-rule.

Such a program would need a powerful police force. Power, in itself, is not evil, but becomes so only when misapplied, that is, applied in such a way to cause human suffering and unhappiness. Could the United States establish and maintain such a police force to protect freedom?

Are we approaching that someday of world-wide law and tolerant justice? Are we ready for, can we die this time for—a lasting peace?—T. M.

Preview of "Idiot's Delight" Draws Favorable Criticism

By BOB WALKER

Comments selected at random from the highly critical audience which previewed "Idiot's Delight" Sunday afternoon indicated, with the exception of a few minor technicalities, an exceptionally good production.

Marge Mumm, secretary to the deans, said, "It is the best college play I've seen. I liked it better than the movie." Carlobelle Button thought the production was "superbly acted, excellent characterization—the best production Haydon has put on."

"Frankly, I was amazed," Ann Johnson said. "The play is excellent. It's by far the best I've seen on this campus."

Ira B. Fee, superintendent of Missoula grade schools, said, "I enjoyed 'Idiot's Delight'. The acting is good and the theme impressive. I have no criticisms, only appreciation."

"The play is excellent," Sentinel Editor Walt Millar concluded. "It's the best I've seen in four years." Dale Galles, NYA director, believes "it deserves a week on Broadway."

"The play, with touching up in a few places," Allen Chesbro said,

Anne Platt Named Home Ec Officer

Anne Platt, professor of home economics, was selected vice-president of the Montana Home Economics association at a convention in Great Falls last week. Miss Platt has been secretary of the group for the past year.

"should be a brilliant success."

Probably the most direct and simple of these written opinions was an unsigned one which read, "I liked it."

Debaters Handle Full Schedule For Week-end

Montana debaters had a busy week-end, both at home and on foreign floors. While Ralph Y. McGinnis and his squad of five represented the university at the State Intercollegiate Debate tournament in Havre, Garvin Shallenberger and Glen Nelson, Missoula, participated in a non-decision match against Stanford university Saturday night in the Bitter Root room.

"Resolved, that the Western Hemisphere should be united into a permanent union," was the topic, with the university men upholding the affirmative side.

Walter Coombs, Missoula, varsity debater for the last three years, was debate chairman in the absence of McGinnis.

Montana Delegates Attend College of Idaho Meet

Isolationism, British imperialism and aims, aid to Britain, Senator Wheeler's stand, and international organization all came in for a thorough, critical discussion at the Northwest conference of International Relations clubs at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, during spring vacation, according to Walter Coombs, Missoula, Montana chapter president.

Montana delegates who attended the convention were James Besancon, Missoula; Mrs. Robert C. Line; Dr. and Mrs. Clark Norton and Coombs. Other convention delegates represented universities and colleges in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Alberta.

Principal speakers at the conference were Harold Quigley, professor of political science at the University of Minnesota and authority on Far Eastern affairs; Dr. Dexter M. Keezer, noted economist and president of Reed college, Portland, Ore., and Amy Hemingway Jones, New York, representative of the Carnegie Endowment, which sponsors the conferences.

Commenting upon the delegates' opinions of the war, Coombs said, "Students from the various campuses reported little war hysteria among the student bodies, but said faculty members in some places were very militant. All of the speakers stressed the need for international organization but felt that if America entered the war it would be extremely difficult to bring about such a union."

Apple Polishers Polish Prof

Mouth open in the middle of a descriptive adjective, Edward B. Dugan, journalism instructor, stopped short Friday morning rudely interrupted by the 12 lilt-ing voices of his promotional advertising class blasting "Happy Birthday to You," as Grayce Loble and Kay Kester proudly marched 15 minutes late into class bearing a lighted birthday cake with many, many candles.

The surprise party was a "surprise" to the entire class until just previous to class time and was "cooked up" by Mrs. Loble and Miss Kester. Significantly, the interrupted lecture was on the subject of public relations.

Dugan, breathless amid happy blushes, had little to say but was able to voice one small complaint: The cake had one too many candles, whereupon the co-eds pertly explained, "That was one to grow on."

Members of Sluice Box business and editorial staffs will meet at 3 o'clock today in Journalism 203.

Exhibition Distance Race May Highlight Track Week

Chairman Rowe Expects to Match Greg Rice
With John Munski; Don Lash or Mel Trutt
Might Compete Here May 16

Plans are progressing to bring at least one, probably two, and possibly three of the nation's outstanding track men to the Interscholastic Track meet here May 16. No word has yet been received from Greg Rice in answer to the invitation to compete in a special mile race with John Munski, formerly of Lewistown and one of the top milers in the world today.

As Munski's specialty is the mile and Greg's the two-mile, it may be impossible to bring the two men together in a feature mile race, but arrangements will be made to match the two men in some distance. If this is impossible, probably Don Lash or Mel Trutt will be invited to participate, according to Dr. J. P. Rowe, Interscholastic chairman, who also announced the program of the meet and the officials in charge.

Arise, My Love! Time's a'Wastin'

Corbin hall men believe John Strong established a record when he arrived seven hours early—and at 1 o'clock in the morning—for a final during exam week.

The sophomore from Billings went to bed early Tuesday night so he would have a clear head for his 8 o'clock algebra test.

At 1 o'clock his roommate, Mike Ivankovich, and John Sherwood pushed Strong's alarm clock and his wrist watch seven hours fast. They woke the victim and told him he was late. Strong glanced at his clocks and then swung into action, into his clothes and out of the hall.

The three rushed to the gym. Strong jerked the handle. The door was locked. He rattled the catch and shouted for someone to let him in. Then he looked around.

"Say," he screamed, "it can't be 8 o'clock yet; it's still dark."

The high five students include Pederson; James Lyon, Anaconda, 1,250; Robert Wylder, Havre, 1,240; Teresa Johnson, Hilger, 1,231, and Cecil Brown, Stevensville, 1,217. Both Wylder and Lyon earned over 400 points in the final exam.

Sigma Chi Bowlers Down Phi Delts in Close Match

Sigma Chi took undisputed possession of first place in the second half of the Interfraternity Bowling league by upsetting Phi Delta Theta in a close match Saturday. The result was disputed and not officially settled until yesterday morning, 36 hours after the contest.

The misunderstanding arose when Bob Helm, bowling for the Phi Delts for the first time, was given a "dummy" average of 140, to which a new man is entitled, after he bowled 135 in the second match. Helm then bowled 197 in the final match but National Bowling congress rules state that if a "dummy" average is used it must be used for all three matches, which knocked 57 pins off the final score for the Phi Delts.

Handicap Altered

Sigma Chi actually won the final match by a single pin but the apparent four-pin handicap gave the appearance of a Phi Delt victory until the ruling on Helm's handi-

The GRIZZLY PARADE

By J. ROY ELMS

After writing sports for Kaimin readers for the past two quarters, Ken Kizer asked me if I would like to take over the sports column for spring quarter. Would I? All my news stories on sports through the first part of the year were severely criticized at one time or another for editorializing the sports news. Now I can editorialize all I want. The wrath of the editor won't come crashing down on my shoulders. I only have to worry about the wrath of you, my prospective readers.

Fight Song To Be Printed

"March on, Montana"
Will Go to Printers
In Near Future

Clarence W. Bell, instructor of music and band director, said yesterday that he has received word from Frank W. Stoddard, '23, that the song, "March on, Montana," will be published in complete concert band arrangement in the near future and will be dedicated to the university band and Bell.

Stoddard is the author of the words to the song while the music was composed by Milo Sweet and Thornton W. Allen. Bell used it in the last band concert and it was encored twice by the audience.

"March on, Montana" is well liked on the campus and should attain nation-wide popularity after it has been published, Bell said.

Wright Will Report To Army April 3

Jack Wright, Missoula, former university student who has been attending the University of Washington in Seattle for the past two years, returned home during spring vacation. Wright has been ordered to report for duty to Fort George Wright in Spokane April 3 for training under the Selective Service act.

WAA NOTICES

There will be life-saving classes at 4 o'clock every Monday and Thursday, Jane Potter, physical education instructor, said yesterday.

Physical Education club luncheon will be Wednesday noon at the home of Jane Potter, 420 McLeod avenue, June Willes, Missoula, president, said yesterday.

The first co-recreational party has been scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Wednesday, April 9, in the men's gym, Miss Potter said.

I won't promise you that I'm Right—You're Wrong; on the contrary, I'll give you my opinion and you may judge whether I am right or wrong.

Enough of this autobiography. This is a sports column. Spring has sprung! The signs all around prove it. The sun is shining brightly every day. Students are beginning to think about their new Easter outfits. Coach Harry Adams is putting his cindermen through the motions for the initial track and field meet April 19 on Dornblaser field.

Doug Fessenden has started spring workouts for his frosh griders and will have varsity men out in two weeks in order to line up next fall's eleven for a tough schedule. The Grizzlies will tangle with Washington, Oregon State and UCLA on foreign field during the 1941 season and Coach Doug will need a bearcat of a team.

Coach Ed Jewett has his tennis squad working out for what he hopes will be the greatest year in Montana tennis history. Jewett was a member of last season's team which dropped only a late-season match to Idaho.

Signs of spring practically stab a sidewalker in the back on Fraternity row these days. At least he gets hit in the back with a baseball if he is not very careful. The Greek lads have been working out for the spring season of the "Great National Game" for the past three weeks. Working out on their front lawns, interfraternity softballers are still in the Hot Stove league stage.

Another sure sign of spring: The Interscholastic committee is talking loud and often about bringing Greg Rice to the Montana campus again this spring. Another distance man of national fame would be brought to run a special mile event against Rice. Prominently mentioned are John Munski and Mel Trutt, who came within 20 yards of Rice in his last race.

Personally, I would like to see Munski race Rice. Munski, like Rice, is a product of the Interscholastic and such a race would make the affair an All-Montana event. However, it won't make much difference who is brought here to run against the former Notre Damer. There'll be a large crowd in the Dornblaser stands whoever is at the starting line with Greg Rice.

Dr. W. R. Ames Finishes Summer Session Plans

School Will Offer Curriculum for Graduates, Teaching Qualifications, Certificates; Smith, Atkinson, Maddock to Teach

The program of classes and courses to be offered in the School of Education at the university's 1941 summer session has been completed by Professor W. R. Ames, acting dean for the summer session. Six well-known guest instructors, in addition to the four regular faculty members, compose the staff. The regular faculty members this summer will include Dr. Ames; W. E. Maddock, professor of education; E. A. Atkinson, professor of psychology, and Dr. F. O. Smith, professor of psychology and philosophy.

The School of Education will offer 15 courses for students of graduate standing, five courses of teaching certificate requirements and two courses for students desiring qualifications to teach out of state.

Offer Many Courses

The education school covers a wide variety of courses which gives the student an opportunity to select work in the form of problems, research, methods of demonstrations and discussions. New courses announced by Dr. Ames include school surveys and graphic methods, survey of vocational education, curriculum research, recent trends and current problems, the latter two subjects being offered in conjunction.

Two of the several extra-curricular conferences scheduled at the university this summer will be furnished by the School of Education. "Education for Defense," which probably will be the outstanding conference of the summer session, is scheduled for July 15 and 16.

Educators to Speak

The program will consist of lectures and discussions by prominent educators with round-table talks. Second conference of the education school is a vocational guidance conference, July 17 and 18. It will include discussions of methods, evaluations and materials used in vocational guidance.

Some of the more important courses this summer are curricular research, school survey and graphic methods, contemporary problems in education, educational psychology and high school supervision.

Ames to Be Director

Dr. Ames, in charge of the School of Education during summer session for the third year, will direct the program and act as adviser for graduate students in education working toward their master's degrees. Dr. Ames, whose chief interest is in psychological testing, came to the campus in 1919 from Wisconsin.

He is one of the state's outstanding educators and an authority both on secondary and college educational principles and activities.

Speakers Predict Allied Victory Over Axis Powers

American aid to Britain under the lend-lease bill will result in victory for the democracies in the present war, said Roger Wilcox, Drummond, summing up the views expressed in the university round table discussion Sunday afternoon.

Ralph Y. McGinnis, instructor in speech, directed the broadcast, which had as its speakers Dr. E. E. Bennett, associate professor of history; Walter Niemi, Butte, and Wilcox. The subject was "Will American aid to England under the lend-lease bill result in a defeat for the Axis?"

Materials Are Needed

Five categories of materials most needed by Britain were suggested by Wilcox. These were ships, planes, food, raw materials and manufactured materials.

British shipping has been destroyed at the rate of 350,000 tons per month since the war began, said Niemi. At present, he added, England has 18,000,000 tons of ships available which will last for about five years at the present rate of destruction.

Discuss Ship Output

Niemi expressed doubts that the United States can produce enough ships to help offset the loss which England has suffered. Wilcox took the view that America can supply the needed boats. Dr. Bennett pointed out that during the last war the United States produced some 9,500,000 tons of ships and that present facilities for shipbuilding are superior to what they were 25 years ago.

Day for First Tick Shot Is Changed

First shots of tick serum will be given on Thursdays instead of Fridays at the Health Service, Doris Rankin, technician, said yesterday.

"We will give the second shots on Fridays as usual and no firsts will be administered at this time, because there is a great number of students receiving the shots this year," she said.
