Galles to Seek Clarification Of Corporation

Legislature Empowers Fund Body to Request Tax Exemption

Central board somewhat cleared up the status of Student Reserve Fund corporation at a special meeting yesterday when it authorized Dale Galles, Billings, chairman, to request tax exemption for the corporation from the collector of internal revenue, Helena.

Upon receipt of such tax exemption, Galles was authorized to proceed with assignment of mortgages and all transfer of titles in which ASMSU has beneficial interests. In order to do this, it was pointed out, an attorney must be hired.

Discussion of the corporation's powers began three weeks ago when Central board requested a $500 loan from that organization for construction and repair of tennis courts. Since the board had not met since its incorporation, May, 1938, the members did not know its powers.

Central board passed a motion expressing regret at the resignation of Dr. George Finlay Simmons and thanking him for the co-operation he has given the student body.

Marcus Bourke, Lewistown, will inquire into Dean John Crowder's request for music stands for "The Vagabond King" orchestra.

Four Hundred Seventy High School Students Will Attend Festival

Representatives of 35 Towns Will Participate In All State Music Meet; Culminating Recital To Be Broadcast Over KGVO

The third annual All-State Music festival will begin at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning with piano solo contests in Main hall. Approximately 470 high school students, representing 35 towns, are expected to attend the festival, which is the only nationally recognized solo and ensemble meet in the state, according to Stanley M. Teel, festival chairman.

Throughout Saturday, solo and small ensemble contests will be going on simultaneously in Main hall, the Student Union theater and the Silver room, culminating in an hour recital of vocal, piano and instrumental solos and ensembles which will be broadcast at 8 o'clock over KGVO from the Student Union.

Solos, Ensembles Entered

In this festival only solos and small ensembles are entered. Bands, orchestras and choruses will meet in five recognized district festivals in other parts of the state, Teel explained.

Contests, in which solos, small ensembles, choruses, bands and orchestras were entered, were discontinued in 1931, Teel said. Missoula

Large Crowd of U Students Hears Prexy's Farewell

Last night on the steps of Main hall, a crowd of students, hunched in the cold of spring twilight, listened as Dr. George Finlay Simmons told them good-bye.

Psychology Honorary Initiates Eight

Eight students were initiated into Psi Chi, national psychology honorary, last night, President Jean Knapp, Wilsall, said. New members are Thomas C. Burgess, Sidney; Ruth Clough, Missoula; Lillian Hanson, Missoula; Stan Halvorson, Scobey; Ross Lemire, Missoula; Melvin Mast, White Sulphur Springs; Helen Rae, Butte, and Jack Webber, Berkeley, Calif.

To be eligible for membership, students must have at least 12 credits in psychology and must be in the upper third of their class in psychology and in the upper half in other subjects.

After the initiation, Frank T. Kelly, sociology teacher of Missoula County High school, spoke to Psi Chi members on vocational guidance problems. Kelly told of the tests given to entering high school freshmen to help them determine vocations best suited to them.

Rogers Reviews Life Of Painter at Meeting

Myrtle Rogers, Reno, Nev., reviewed the life and works of George Braque, French painter, at last night's Art club meeting.

The club, which meets at 7:30 o'clock every Thursday night in the Art building, discusses the works of many well-known past and present artists, painters and sculptors.

Mentioning improvements of his administration—$1,000,000 in new buildings, betterment of the athletic standing resulting from return to the Pacific Coast conference—he said these were possible only with the full co-operation of the student body.

Student Support Must Continue

"Now it is up to someone else to carry on these improvements," the recently resigned president said, adding that he hoped whoever was chosen to carry on would receive the loyal support of the students so that the project could be culminated successfully.

Thanking students, officers and business men for their assistance with campus improvements, Simmons said he had enjoyed working with them.

"The past five years have been the most interesting and adventurous of my life," he added.

Then Simmons said, "You people will never forget your years in college . . . the greatest years of your life."

Pantzer Speaks

In opening SOS, Traditions Chairman John Kujich, Great Falls, introduced last year's student body president, Bob Pantzer, Livingston.

"When I came in with my pitiable problems, Dr. Simmons always treated me as though I came in to donate a half-million dollars," Pantzer said. "Although his task was large and time-consuming, he was never too busy to be friendly, to drop in on student events," he added.

Pantzer expressed regret that Dr. Simmons was leaving, but felt that the student body should now give its support and loyalty to the acting president.

ASMSU President Rae Greene, Chicago, followed Pantzer on the speakers' platform, thanked Dr. Simmons for his cheerful assistance with student problems and presented him with a gift from ASMSU.

"College Chums," led by Dr. Emerson Stone, song director for the evening, ended the SOS.

The rest of the Yugoslav army has unconditionally surrendered, the Germans announced early this morning. Greeks felt the Yugoslav knockout immediately as it released thousands of Nazi troops to enter the Greek campaign. An Athens spokesman announced the increased German strength has forced the Greeks to retreat, and the "situation is developing unfavorably."

While English Imperial forces continue to cut down Axis fighters around Mount Olympus, the Greek retreat to the west threatens the entire Allied line.

CAIRO—While English navy gunners pumped shells into Fort Capuzzo, defenders of Tobruk, Libya, captured 25 German officers, hundreds of men, and demolished 20 tanks, it was announced last night. With 5,000 Italian and 4,000 Italian colonial prisoners already taken, the British are driving deeper into Ethiopia.

WASHINGTON—OPM Director W. S. Knudsen said today the automobile industry will cut production 20 per cent during the 1942-model season—1,000,000 fewer new cars—to make room for defense orders.

Coke Vending To Army Men Is Spur Job

Sophomore Honorary Will Try to Quench Soldiers' Thirsts

Spurs will sell cokes to ROTC students next Monday afternoon during the three-hour military science class, it was decided at Tanan-of-Spur meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Army men voiced their demand several weeks ago for the selling of cokes on the parade field during rest periods, believing this would lessen marching fatigue. Army students petitioned Spurs to initiate the campaign. Garvin Shallenberger, advanced army officer, reported today all army men unanimously approved the action taken by the sophomore women.

Twelve Spurs were appointed to sell the pop during the rest period at 4 o'clock. Another 12 women will supply refreshments at 5 o'clock. Spurs said cokes will be sold every Monday if the experiment is successful.

"ROTC students are urged to bring nickels Monday afternoon," Mary Jane Deegan, Big Timber, Spur president, said. "We request them to return the bottles because a deposit on them will not be charged."

Cosmetic Field Is Discussed By Chemists

Roger Wilcox, Drummond; Earl Hendrickson, Missoula, and Jim Millegan, Whitefish, spoke at the American Chemical society meeting Wednesday night about "The History of Cosmetics," "Hair Dyeing" and "Hair Removal," respectively.

Wilcox said traces of cosmetics have been found in tombs dating as far back as 2000 B.C. The Egyptians used different forms of cosmetics and perfumes in their embalming processes.

The Greeks used perfumes for spray in theatres and also used hair dyes and lip coloring. Even the Romans used coloring and many times had to resort to using false teeth and wigs. The Romans made a mixture of starch, bone powder and other ingredients to make the first all-purpose creams, said Wilcox.

The Babylonians used pumice for a dentifrice, while the Chinese used many oils, eye shadows and finger-nail polish. The Inca Indians probably made the best of ancient cosmetics and bases for perfumes. The English originated the black beauty mafs because of the guinea tax put on powder, said Wilcox.

Hendrickson discussed the four types of hair dyes—the vegetable, metallic, a mixture of the two, and synthetic organic dyes, of which the synthetic dyes are the most used today.

Millegan said that the hair removal process was more mechanical than chemical. The mechanical process consisted of an electric current to kill the hair, while the chemical process is done by the use of an alkaline solution of sulfides.

LET'S VOTE FOR A PERSON— NOT FOR A PARTY OR CLIQUE

School politics, campaigning and elections are all a part of college curriculum, and an interesting part at that.

Already wires have hummed between the houses with the messages, "You vote for our man and we'll vote for yours." At the weekly meetings everyone is informed who to vote for and why. Thus the rifts widen as each group tries to get in their favored brother or sister.

On Aber day the mass-minded student body will go up to the voting table with these instructions in its ears. The house which has influenced the most voters to trade votes will probably win.

Individuals and their abilities are forgotten, the name is forgotten and the organization is the determining factor. Consequently a few people from a few organizations govern the student body for the four years they are in college.

What do they do when they get in? Chalk up another office for the house and gloat over it when they send in their national reports. Half the persons on the campus have to stop and think who the presidents of their classes are.

Politics could be good, clean fun, but usually are carried on in everyday life and last from one year to the next. So when we vote this time we would do well to remember names and qualities rather than voting down a group en masse.

Some people, it is evident, take their politics too seriously.—D. D.

TWO FROSH DOPE OUT ABER DAY

"Hey, Joe, where you going Aber day?"

"Oh, I hear everyone pitches camp up the Rattlesnake somewhere."

"Have you heard anything about the Foresters planting trees on the golf course for their Aber day project?"

"Yeh, there's a Forester rooming next to me; and that's the goods. I guess the Forestry club voted on it. They're the ones that fixed that M up there."

"They did that last year; those Foresters have a lot on the ball."

"Yeh, I hear the Lawyers are planning to clean up around the law school, do a lot of work over there."

"I heard a funny thing the other day, too; those pencil-pushing Journalists thought, or someone suggested, that they might level off that road coming up to the journalism and chemistry-pharmacy building. They were thinking about asking the Chemists and Pharmacists to help."

"Say, it might be a good idea for every department or school to decide upon some sort of project, instead of running around picking up paper and wrestling on the oval."

"A fellow told me the other day that all the M club men do is run around wiping lipstick off co-eds that are only too willing to put it on in the first place so they would get caught in the second place."

"I heard a prof say the other day that Aber day is dead, that these days it's just a Roman holiday for picnics."

"Yeh, I was talking to Dick the other day; he's that proctor over at South that caught Smith coming in the other night. He said it didn't really make any difference if no one remembered this Daddy Aber, but he thought that even if the students didn't give a hoot about all that guff, we still ought to have enough pride in our campus to take advantage of the tradition."

"Well, there's plenty of room for improvement around here; the Foresters always seem to make a real improvement each year."

"That's right, isn't it? Well, I'll have to hurry or be late for class again, so I'll see you later."—D. R. C.

International Club Hears Mansfield

History Prof Outlines Development, Policies Of China, Japan

There is considerable precedent for the imperial policy which Japan is pursuing in the Far East, declared Michael Mansfield, instructor in history, before International Relations club last night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Clark T. Norton, 724 Hastings avenue. Mansfield's talk was entitled "The Far East."

Following an outline of the history and development of China and Japan, Mansfield drew comparisons between the two nations. China, he said, has never been a truly unified nation, and the conception of nationalism, as Americans recognize it, is even now unknown to the average citizen. Japan, on the other hand, has long been under centralized control, first under the Shogunate, later under the emperors, and, finally, under military despotism.

Japan has always held the soldier in highest esteem while the scholar and merchant have been little regarded, but in China the reverse has generally been true, he said.

Today, he concluded, both states are dictatorships, China under the personal rule of Chiang Kai-Chek and Japan under a cabinet controlled by the military.

Saturday will again bring to the campus one of the highlights of the year for both high school and university music students. At this time the annual state solo and small ensemble music festival will take place under the direction and general management of the music school.

We have a music school of which we can be justly proud. Perhaps in the hurry and rush of everyday life many of us have overlooked the fact that "music hath charms to soothe the..." The spring tour of the Grizzly band last year brought that astute and talented organization before students of at least 60 high schools of the state. Maybe it was the first time for many of them to know that there even was a band beside the Bobcat "gang" from Bozeman.

While we're on this campaign to "Know Your University," why not give the music school a little attention now and then? Just drop in Saturday morning and listen to the high school students performing in the Student Union, Main hall and the Silver room. You'll find every bit of it well worth your time.

Remember, the best way to create a good impression on the people of the state is by being a good host. Be friendly to the high school students who are coming. Remember how bewildered you were when first you came to the campus. If you see some poor perplexed persons around this week-end, don't be afraid to ask them if there is anything you can help them with. They'll appreciate it and it's going to depend largely on YOU and YOU, Joe College and Betty Co-ed, what sort of an impression they will take back with them to their respective schools.

Is it a date, then? We'll be seeing you at the music festival Saturday with a lot of boosting for our university in general and our music school in particular.

Rowe to Install New System At Meet

Drawings for heats and lanes in the interscholastic track events will be completed in the gym in the mornings prior to the races of May 15 and 16, Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of Interscholastic Track and Field meet, announced yesterday. Scratches must also be made at the morning meetings by the coaches or other school representatives. Dr. W. E. Schreiber, athletic chairman, will handle the work, said Rowe.

The reason for this, said Dr. Rowe, is to speed up the events in order to make for more continuity. When the lane drawings were made before the race, milling around and confusion resulted. Belated scratches caused empty lanes and extra heats which would not be necessary under the new system.

Track Champions To Be Honored

Greg Rice, Mel Trutt and Dixie Garner, the three national track champions who will compete at Interscholastic May 16, will be honor guests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Missoula at a dinner at the Grill cafe Wednesday evening, May 14.

George Varnell, official starter, well known by track fans throughout the Northwest; Dr. J. P. Rowe, Interscholastic chairman, and many prominent track enthusiasts and Interscholastic officials also will be guests.

Song Requests Are Received

Clarence W. Bell, director of the bands, announced yesterday that he has received 92 requests of old favorite concert band numbers for the all-request, outdoor program to be presented by the band on the oval May 7.

The selection drawing the most requests was a band arrangement of Bennett's chorale "Weep, O Mine Eyes," by Bob Langen, Missoula, band member. It was played at the band's last concert and 23 requests were received to repeat it on the request program, said Bell.

The program will consist of everything from symphonic concert literature to modern swing, Bell said.

The GRIZZLY PARADE

By J. ROY ELMS

Coach Harry Adams' Montana cindermen will enter the meet against Eastern Washington college Savages tomorrow with a perfect record against that squad in track competition. The Grizzlies have never dropped a meet to the Savages since the competition began in 1938. The closest meet between the two institutions was in 1939, when the Savages came within three points of the Montanamen. The score of the meet that year was 67-64, with EWC outdoing the Grizzlies in first places 8-7. The Grizzlies dominated seconds and thirds to come out on top.

In 1938, Montana had little trouble romping to an 87.7-to-44.3 victory over the Savages. Last year was another easy year for the Grizzlies as they took the meet 86 to 44.

You can bet your wooden nickel that tomorrow's meet won't be a walk-away repetition of last year's engagement. The result may not be as close as the '39 meeting but it will be close enough to produce an interesting track meet throughout the afternoon.

The frosh eligibility rule will give the Savages several strong freshman entries. The weakness of the Grizzlies in the sprints will also probably give Adams a few gray hairs before the afternoon is over.

The half-mile event will be bolstered by the Savages' Babkin, a freshman. Veteran Ike Brown will also run the event for EWC. The Grizzlies will depend on co-captain Ole Ueland for the half-mile. Ueland will also be the Montana hope in the mile run and the Savages will enter a pair of freshmen, Roy Simmons and Garth Everett.

The Grizzlies stand a chance of making a sweep of the 440, with Earl Fairbanks, Al Cullen, Ed Murphy and Francis Ferko all looking good in practice this week. Cullen and Phil Yovetich should win points in the hurdles.

Grizzlies will be strongest in the field events. Gene Clawson will undoubtedly cop the discus throw. In fact, I think he will set a new state record. Lloyd McDowell should take the javelin and George Ryffel the shot. The pole vault will probably be dominated by the Savages.

Co-Captain Bill Murphy is the Grizzly white hope in the sprints. He should cop the 220 with little trouble. The century will be a different story. Russ Odell of the Savages has been clocked at 10.1 several times in practice, which is quite a bit faster than any Grizzly has done.

In any event, I'll still stick with the Grizzlies and predict that their superiority over Eastern Washington college continues. I don't know what the score will be but the Grizzlies will win the meet with something between 15 and 20 more points than the Savages.

Crowder Gets Inquiries About Summer Session

High School Students Request Information; Staff to Include Oakland, Metcalf, Anderson; Varied Program Planned

"Inquiries are already beginning to come in from administrators and high school students requesting information about the music school's summer session program for high school students," John Crowder, dean of the music school, said yesterday.

The staff for the music summer session, which begins June 16 and ends July 11, will include several distinguished visitors in addition to the regular faculty, said Crowder. These are Lloyd Oakland, head of the public school music department, Cornell college; Leon V.

Dean John Crowder

Metcalf, noted author, composer, and conductor at Pasadena, Calif., and Emmett Anderson, an authority on reed instruments.

Regular Staff Will Teach

In addition to these, there will be the regular faculty staff of John Lester, baritone, who was a distinguished voice teacher in New York City prior to his coming here; Stanley M. Teel, associate professor of music, who has been prominent in the Northwest and National Music Educators conference as officer and committeeman; James

On the Open Shelf

"The Field of Paradise," Ralph Bates.

Mr. Bates should require no introduction by now; but it is surprising to discover how many readers who ought to have become acquainted with him have passed him by. He entered the Spanish Civil war as an officer on the loyalist side, served at the front and was sent over here on a military mission. Since the Spanish conflict he has divided his time between Mexico and the United States.

"The Field of Paradise" is a novel of Mexico. It is, suggestively, a symbolical story of Mexican history from the time of the dictator Porfirio Diaz, involving aspiration and violence, revolts and betrayals, continuous revolution.

This novel has all those special qualities which distinguish the others. It is worthy to stand beside the richer "The Olive Field" and the more brilliant "Rainbow Fish." It is compounded of the same earthy vigor and spiritual grace in indissoluble union. In addition, it has a character of its own.

Huff, instructor in voice, who received his training at Ohio and Iowa universities; John Crowder, dean of the music school and professor of piano, and Mrs. Bernice Ramskill, well-known teacher of piano.

An attractive program has been arranged for high school students, Crowder said, and includes such courses as sight singing and ear training, theory and conducting, music appreciation, chorus, band, orchestra and drum majoring, private lessons in piano, voice, organ, wind and string instruments and several others.

Recreational Program Planned

Besides the regular work, Miss Dorothy Langdorf, social and recreational director of the music summer session, has planned a complete sports and recreation program. Swimming, tennis, fishing, horseback riding, picnics, badminton, ping-pong, roller-skating and dances will supplement the musical activities, Miss Langdorf said.

were reluctant to bring large groups for long distances. It was then decided to divide the state into districts for bands, orchestras and choruses. The Montana Music Educators' association voted to keep the solo and small ensemble festival in Missoula, sponsored by the university and the music school.

Festival entries will be judged by the music faculty. Those not wishing to be judged may perform before the audience without receiving a rating. Those receiving ratings are eligible for entrance in the regional competition of the National Music Educators' conference.

O'Donnell Sets Rules For Aber Day Conduct

Seven rules governing student conduct on the campus Aber day were drawn yesterday by Tom O'Donnell, Casper, Wyo., manager.

"The rules are not new but are as traditional as Aber day itself," O'Donnell said. "As in the past, the M club will be on hand to enforce them."

The rules are:

1. Girls will not be permitted to wear makeup.
2. Men will not be allowed to wear neckties.
3. Everyone must wear old clothes.
4. No dates will be permitted until lunch time.
5. Picnics are prohibited until after High Court.
6. Candidates for office will not be permitted on the campus until 11:45 o'clock, at which time they will be allowed to vote.
7. Old clothes must be worn to the dance.

O'Donnell expressed the hope that everyone will observe the rules and the purpose of the day. He urged that all report promptly to their assigned jobs and do the work under direction of the foreman.

"We want everyone to have a good time but we also want the campus cleaned," O'Donnell said. "Unless Aber day serves its purpose as the traditional clean-up day, there is a possibility that it may be discontinued in the future."

Mrs. Mary Elrod Ferguson, acting dean of women, has granted 11:30 permission to the women.

All Music club members are requested to report to the registration desk Saturday morning.
